

THE SEMI-CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

Now that the semi-centennial celebration is over, the visitors may go to their homes with an idea of what the "Cream City" is capable of doing in the way of decoration, entertainment, and accommodation, on short notice.

Though the people of Milwaukee expended money and pains to make the celebration a success they will be amply repaid for both in the near future. Never before was the city and its business more thoroughly advertised; never before has the city made such a demonstration of her wealth, power, and grandeur.

Perhaps it was only by such a demonstration that Milwaukee was able to impress upon the people of the northwest the rapid strides which she has made in size and business enterprise within the past few decades; perhaps it was only by such a demonstration that she was able to apprise us of her future glory.

SOME KIND WORDS.

Inasmuch as words of encouragement are second only to material aid, in our estimation, we reproduce the following: We are in receipt of the first issue of the KEWASKUM STATESMAN, which appeared last Saturday.

No. 1, Vol. 1, of the KEWASKUM STATESMAN reached our table last week. The paper is an eight-column folio, newsy and well patronized with home ads.

The initial number of the KEWASKUM STATESMAN, a weekly paper published at Kewaskum by C. E. Krahn, is the latest arrival among our exchanges. It is a bright, newsy eight-column folio, and one which the citizens of that thriving little village may justly feel proud of.

The KEWASKUM STATESMAN made its appearance last Saturday. It champions the cause of no political party, but as it claims to be a paper published in the interests of the people it will, of course, advocate Democratic principles.

"Bill" LYONS was hanged yesterday in Chicago for the holding up and slugging of a man who died some days later as a result of the injuries he received. The holding up and slugging was not different from that usually practiced by Chicago foot pads, and it is not claimed that the killing was even pre-meditated or intentional.

When even native Americans make such havoc with their language it is not singular that foreigners have severe struggles to master it. Translators who consider themselves competent to express in English the literature of their own lands sometimes prove themselves amusingly unequal to the task.

ASENT the trouble in China, those complaining of wealthy Americans spending time and money in missionary work abroad are not finding consolation in contemplating that even the heathen Chinese has turned against foreign missionaries. However "Home first, the world afterwards," would be a pretty good motto to follow in missionary work.

THE proposed segregation of the tops of Wisconsin and Minnesota for the formation of a new state, although a well-laid scheme, will meet with the united opposition of the twin cities of our neighboring state and ultimately be defeated.

AS AN advertising scheme, securing the site of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons mill is a success. Moreover, the "reading notices" which follow take better than the "patent medicine" brand, and are equally as alluring.

IF feeding upon the golden rod proves as deadly to horses as is claimed by the state veterinarian, C. F. Scott, equines which have outlived their usefulness may be successfully "turned out to die."

THE demand for wives from this country makes it probable that the hand which rocks the cradle will yet succeed in completely Americanizing Great Britain.—Washington Star.

FROM latest advices we learn that Edward Bellamy, the author of Looking Backward, is finishing up a work which will be a socialistic exposition of civilization.

Dr. E. J. Orvis and Platt Durand and family, have gone to Milwaukee.

E. L. Peck and wife visited friends in Fond du Lac several days this week. Jos. Orvis, who has been on an investigating tour "in the wild west," returned recently.

John Wenzel and wife left for Milwaukee Tuesday morning to help boom the big celebration.

Mr. Editor, whenever you come to Campbellsport you are cordially invited to visit our school. We feel assured that you will feel well rewarded for your trouble. Kindly ask your friends to do likewise.

John Hill met with a serious accident while drilling a well at B. Ulrich's place. In attempting to raise the drill by means of a windlass the same was caught in some manner, causing one of the cogs to slip and reversing the windlass. The crank struck him on the head, tearing the scalp.

Married, at St. Matthew's church, Wednesday evening, Chas. McGinty of Stevens Point and Mary Curran, daughter of Thomas Curran, Rev. E. X. Heller officiating. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which the happy couple departed for their future home.

English as it is at times written. Some of the queer phrases of native and foreign bookmakers.

All editors are astonished at the poor English written by many of their would be contributors, whose spelling and penmanship indicate that they have had a fair degree of education.

Usually this stupidity in the use and choice of words seems to arise from a lack in the sense of humor. Even a university course, as every one knows, cannot make up for this essential quality, which is absolutely necessary to literary success.

A writer need not be humorous, but he must have a quick perception of what is ridiculous, in order to avoid making himself so.

Thus only a person deficient in this vital respect could have written of her heroine that she had "deep, dark hair;" that she had "that rareness of expression which baffles the most learned to understand;" that "Maud had grown weary of setting in the porch;" that her lips were "wreathed in a smile that strangely reminded me of an angel," and that "her strange nature enchained my fancy."

Also, only such a one, or a person phenomenally ignorant, could conclude a stanza of poetry, as did one young woman, with the line:

May gladness and joy be your doom. This individual may have been related to him who chanted:

Oh, put me in no sepulcher, Or dim vault, sad and gloomy, But let my narrow bed be laid Within some meadow roomy.

When even native Americans make such havoc with their language it is not singular that foreigners have severe struggles to master it. Translators who consider themselves competent to express in English the literature of their own lands sometimes prove themselves amusingly unequal to the task.

THE success that Dentist Hildreth is meeting with every Tuesday at Campbellsport is due to first-class work at reasonable prices.

TREACHEROUS LAKE MICHIGAN.

Some Interesting Statistics Relative to Loss of Life and Property on the Great Lakes.

According to the annual report of Gen. Supt. Kimball, of the life saving service for the year ending June 30th, the great lakes are divided into the Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh districts, the latter including all of Lake Michigan.

The statistics for the Eleventh district are as follows: Number of disasters, 131; value of vessels, $1,067,095; value of cargoes, $738,225; persons on board, 723; number of persons lost, sixteen; number of days succor at stations, eighty-three; value of property saved, $1,198,645; value of property, $255,760; total losses of vessels, eighteen.

The totals for the lakes are as follows: Number of disasters, 265; value of vessels, $2,427,475; value of cargoes, $738,225; persons on board, 1,509; number of persons lost, 17; number of days succor at stations, 106; value of property saved, $2,717,900; value of property lost, $447,800; total losses of vessels, 26.

It will be seen that Lake Michigan is credited with nearly half of the disasters and with all of the lives lost except one, which was lost in the Ninth district, which includes Lakes Erie and Ontario.

Of the twenty-six total losses all but eight were lost on Lake Michigan.

The total losses for all the United States were 91; value of property lost, $2,225,895; number of persons lost, 68; number of disasters, 596.

The total number of casualties on the lakes during the year, including those where the life saving crews served, were 322, distributed as follows: Foundering, 20; standings, 113; collisions, 72; other causes, 117.

Our Monthly Cattle Fair.

In accordance with what has been the practice here for the past twenty years, Kewaskum will don her holiday attire the last Saturday of the month. However, Oct. 26, 1895, promises to prove an unusually fine day in the history of the village, the weather permitting. Our merchants have figured that most of the farmers have finished up about all their work of a pressing nature, and preparations are now being made to attract and accommodate a crowd on the occasion of our October Cattle fair.

Accidentally Shot Himself.

After the burning of the Kippenhahn barn in Wayne yesterday, Wm. Petri retired to his room for the purpose of putting on some dry clothes. The pantaloons of his corduroy hung upon the wall over the clothing desired, and upon pulling them aside a revolver therein was discharged and a bullet sent clear through the palm of his hand. The victim was being given all necessary attention at last accounts and will undoubtedly undergo the ordeal without any serious results.

MORE LIGHT FOR KEWASKUM.

The Village Streets to Be Illuminated by Electricity—Our State's Motto, "Forward."

The Committee which was appointed by the Village Board to look up ways and means of lighting our streets, have reported in favor of the electric system. There are to be thirty 32-ampere power incandescent lights distributed as follows: Twelve on Main street, 9 on Fond du Lac avenue, 2 on Railroad street, 2 on Wilhelmine street, 2 on West street, and 3 in "Canada."

The lights upon our main thoroughfare will hang from wire lines extending from poles on either side of the street, while the balance will be suspended by means of beams extending from present poles on one side of the streets.

The work of placing the plan in operation will be commenced as soon as the necessary preliminaries are completed, and will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

The thanks of the community are due the committee for the prompt and perfect action taken in this matter, and the STATESMAN bespeaks for them a hearty support in their every undertaking on behalf of the Village.

Several of our young men went out gathering beechnuts last Saturday, taking with them one gun, three sacks and two baskets. On coming to the woods the hunter thought he would try his marksmanship upon a squirrel. Bang! went the old musket, and the squirrel still sat up in the tree. Then another one of the young men tried his luck without injuring the squirrel, whereupon our hunters and gatherers picked up their packs and moved on where the hunter saw a woodpecker. Bang! went the old flintlock, four times in succession. Then one of the nutgatherers picked up the woodpecker saying: "Why, I don't think that fellow could fly anyway." With cloudy brows, our young men tramped for home with one quart of beechnuts to divide between them. When you go hunting nuts go where there are some!

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The report of the attendance and absence of Kewaskum Public Schools for the month ending Oct. 11th, 1895, is as follows:

UPPER DEPARTMENT. No. of pupils enrolled..... 48 Whole No. of days attendance..... 827 Whole No. of days absence..... 85 Whole No. of days taught..... 19 Average attendance..... 49

LOWER DEPARTMENT. No. of pupils enrolled..... 73 Whole No. of days attendance..... 1143 Whole No. of days absence..... 247 Whole No. of days taught..... 19 Average attendance..... 60

A glance at the above report will indicate, to those interested, an undue amount of irregularity. Any parent or guardian who thinks about this matter knows that any pupil who is absent from one to three days of each week can accomplish very little in school work. You will notice from the above statement that on the average 5 were absent each day from the upper department and 13 from the lower. Upon investigation it will be found that about one-fourth of the pupils are responsible for all of this absence and irregularity, while the other three-fourths attend regularly. Upon further investigation, it will also be found that much of the absence is not necessary. This should not be the case, and parents should not keep their children out of school for trivial causes, but should see that they attend as regularly and promptly as possible. Though the schools are crowded, with co-operation of parents regarding the above matters, we hope to make the present school year one of the most profitable.
