

THE LEGISLATURE

Assembly.
In the Assembly on the 4th a joint resolution was adopted giving Assemblyman McGrath permission to introduce a bill conferring jurisdiction on the Wisconsin public roads. Under authority of a joint resolution the committee on public roads reported a bill for the payment of taxes in villages, and Mr. McGrath introduced a bill relating to the public roads. The bill was referred to the committee on public roads. The bill was referred to the committee on public roads.

CONGRESS

Senate.
The Senate on the 4th in extra session with Vice-President Sherman presiding, opened its session at 10 o'clock. The closing of the old session was marked by the reading of the report of the committee on the resignation of the late Senator Sherman. The report was read by the Vice-President. The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the bill for the relief of the late Senator Sherman. The bill was passed by a vote of 75 yeas and 15 nays. The Senate then adjourned until the 11th inst.

LINEN, GLASS AND TEA.

Advice from Mrs. Gillette on Three Important Topics of Housekeeping.
A "wifemaker" should understand the handling of linen, said Mrs. Gillette in the fifth lecture of the course at Pratt institute. "It only signifies to the housewife how she wishes her table and napkins folded, and she must certainly know the treatment of stains on the fabric." Various models of folding napkins were explained—the princess feather, joints and the others—with the quality of the word that fancy folding is not in the least basic, and simplicity in this respect is advocated at the most carefully.

LATE TELEGRAMS CONDENSED

The monitors Amphitrite and Ferrer steamed out of Charleston and proceeded to sea for practice with their heavy guns as well as their smaller armament. It is officially announced by the trustees of the Packer estate at Philadelphia that they have arranged with Deane & Co. to purchase the Packer estate for the sum of $1,000,000. The second annual convention of the Sovereign camp, No. 1, of St. Louis with about fifty delegates present from nearly every state in the Union. Two hundred and thirty-five delegates were in Chicago from North, South and East last Chicago in a special train over the Burlington road to attend the annual convention of the Sovereign camp, No. 1, of St. Louis.

RESERVES CALLED OUT

Warlike Maneuvers in Some Parts of Europe.
Belgrade, Serbia, March 10.—The entire military reserves of the Serbian militia have been called out in detachments. The reason given is that they are necessary for reinforcing the Serbian insurgents, the foreign admirals agreed to dispatch a cruiser to prevent their landing. The Mussulmans who were besieged at Candiano have arrived here on board an Italian warship.

SHINGLED HER HAIR.

Miss Lulu Reeder Cut Off Her Locks While Walking in Her Sleep.
Janesville, Wis., March 10.—[Special.]—Miss Lulu Reeder of this city was much astonished when she got up and looked in the glass, to find that during the night her long hair had been cut off close to the scalp. She was so much surprised that she could not have cut it off as she slept, and she was much mystified. When the mystery was explained, she was told that she had been walking in her sleep, and had cut her hair while she was in that state. The young lady's hair was twenty-seven inches long, and she was very proud of it.

EXPRIED IN HER CHAIR.

Mrs. Drew Succumbs to Heart Disease at Burnett Junction.
Burnett Junction, Wis., March 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Drew, an old resident of this village, died very suddenly of heart disease yesterday, at her home. She was 75 years of age. She had been ill for some time, and was confined to her bed. Her death was a great loss to her family. She was buried in the local cemetery.

STOLE A MARCH ON PAPA.

Daughter of Senator Hanna Runs Her Own Matrimonial Bureau.
Washington, D. C., March 10.—Miss Hanna, daughter of the senator from Ohio, appears to be a good deal of a matchmaker. She has started a matrimonial bureau, and is busy with the matter. She has already arranged for several marriages. Her father, Senator Hanna, is a prominent politician, and his daughter is a well-known social figure. Her new venture is a departure from her usual life.

ST. LOUIS PEOPLE SCARED.

How a Theatrical Agent Advertised His 'Tornado' Company.
St. Louis, Mo., March 10.—A theatrical agent advertised his "Tornado" company in a sensational manner. He claimed that the company was the best in the world, and that they were coming to St. Louis. He used a lot of dramatic language, and claimed that the company was the best in the world. He also claimed that they were coming to St. Louis. The advertisement was very sensational, and caused a lot of excitement in the city.

MASS MEETING AT KENOSHA.

Electric Railway Project to be Considered Again.
Kenosha, Wis., March 10.—[Special.]—There will be a mass meeting of the citizens of Kenosha this evening for the purpose of discussing the electric railway project. The project has been a long time in the air, and the citizens are now being asked to express their opinion on it. The meeting is expected to be a very interesting one, and will attract a large number of people.

PREACHER OBJECTS TO WHIST.

Refuses to Recognize a Church Officer Who Belongs to a Club.
New Haven, Conn., March 10.—Rev. B. F. Kibler of Trinity church, New Haven, has refused to recognize a church officer who belongs to a club. The officer in question is a member of a social club, and the pastor has decided that he cannot recognize him as a church officer. This decision has caused a lot of discussion in the church, and has led to some controversy.

OLD MANAGERS REMAIN.

No Reciprocity for the Belle City Railway Company.
Belle City, Wis., March 10.—[Special.]—The bondholders of the Belle City Railway company held a meeting in Chicago yesterday. It was the intention of the bondholders to put in a receiver, but the showing was not satisfactory, and the matter was dropped. The old managers of the company will remain in charge of the railway.

Have to Use Snow Plows.

Menominee, Mich., Has a Snow Show in Wisconsin.
Menominee, Mich., March 10.—[Special.]—There is a snow show in Wisconsin. The snow is very deep, and is causing a lot of trouble for the people. The snow is very heavy, and is causing a lot of trouble for the people. The snow is very deep, and is causing a lot of trouble for the people.

Hold Under Heavy Bonds.

Eloy, Wis., March 10.—The adjourned hearing of the young men are charged with criminal assault on the 15-year-old daughter of C. Stange, a farmer residing near here, was called yesterday and James O'Boyle was examined and placed under $1000 bail to appear at the circuit court.

BADGER EDITORS MEET.

Fourth Annual Gathering of Wisconsin Press Association in Madison.
Madison, Wis., March 10.—[Special.]—The fourth annual session of the Wisconsin Press Association began in the Agricultural society's rooms at the capitol at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon with about 100 editors from all parts of the state in attendance. After the reading of the minutes, Mr. Bowron delivered the annual address. Mr. Bowron said: "However much I may desire to do so, I have not the time, in the crowded condition of our program, to enlarge upon the advantages of our association or to enter into eulogiums of our calling."

INDIANS OBJECTED.

Trouble Near West Superior Over the Exhuming of John Nagano-Super's Body.
West Superior, Wis., March 10.—[Special.]—Coroner Downs and Dr. C. C. Pillsbury, who went to Gordon under orders of District Attorney Sloan to exhumate the body of the murdered Indian, John Nagano, had a thrilling experience and narrowly escaped violence at the hands of the enraged Indians. The purpose of the officers was to secure evidence that the knife wound by which Nagano was killed was a homicide. When they commenced to open the grave the Indian bucks and the squaws began to shout the ultimatum of which was that the work must stop. Mrs. Nagano-Super, mother of the dead man, threatened to shoot the first man to touch the body and the officers had to exhibit their weapons and with the assistance of the local constable, Pillsbury, also an Indian, they held the crowd in check while the operation was performed. When they had Nagano's heart for the purpose of bringing it to Superior, Taylor said that if it was known they would not return to the village. The Indian superstition which would have an uprising. The heart was smuggled away and will be examined in a private laboratory. Further trouble is expected when the facts become known.

Kewaskum Statesman.

Communications should be accompanied by the name of the writer; not necessarily for publication, but as evidence of good faith on the part of the author. Write only upon one side of paper, and, in giving names and dates, be careful to make them plain and distinct.

GEN. NUGENT, Editor.

It would be cruel to insinuate that the many "big guns" of the east who are now taking a trip out west for their health, have the Carson City fever.

The senate will adjourn in due season, but the place-hunters will continue in session while there is an office in sight.—Evening Wisconsin. Yes, and the latter fact is what bothers the present administration the most.

His lordship, Salisbury, gave some blather which quite a rap when he made the following remark at the Bayard dinner: "If you will keep the official people in order, I will promise you the official people will never make a war."

Our new president deserves credit for deciding to call a special session of congress, as when the people (by such a large majority as elected McKinley) decide in favor of having a change in our national administration, it should be given them as soon as possible.

Now that the supreme court of West Virginia has affirmed a decision under the state law, requiring all oleomargarine to be pink, the matter may as well be carried up to the United States supreme court, the members of which are old enough to be "color blind."

In commenting on the performance of "Hamlet" in a North Carolina town, the country editor was evidently hard pressed with job work, as he covered the matter as follows: "The plot of the play and the history upon which it is based is too well known to need any description at this late day."

IS the recent investigations of the coal trust it was admitted that the price per ton had been advanced $1, but without any increase of pay to the miners. The increase in price was accomplished by four successive advances of 25 cents each, "in order to obtain a fair remuneration," in which nobody shared but the trust.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE contractors who are endeavoring to procure eight marble columns thirty-two feet high for the main entrance of the new Baltimore court-house, evidently never heard of the Ashland monolith, after all that was said about it—or, perhaps the quality and price of the much advertised shaft is still fresh in their memory.

THE Michigan legislature is wrestling with a bill which provides that all menu cards shall be printed in the English language. But what is the English for "hot tamales"?—Evening Wisconsin. Why, "Mexican bricks," of course. Any of "the boys," who have been on the Military plaza in San Antonio of a Saturday evening, could answer that question.

A KENTUCKY paper has discovered that, so far as the tax assessor's books show, there are in its county only a dozen diamonds, a few cheap pianos, and $100 worth of paintings, whereas it weeps for the local 400 hundred who have to wear paste diamonds and furnish their homes with inferior paintings and musical instruments. However, "there are others."

THE New York paper which figured up the cost of inaugurating a president makes the total sum over $2,500,000, and says that all but 6 per cent of this amount is computed as being spent by sight-seers in transportation and expenses while at Washington. As the expense is generally borne by people who can afford it, every four years would seem none too often.

THERE is a movement on foot to abolish the Common Council of Milwaukee. We presume this is because the expenses of the Cream City have become uncommonly high and the people want to strike at the root of the evil. However, the proposition to have an upper and lower house will not reduce the city's taxes any. Better representative men and fewer of them is what Milwaukee needs.

A RECENT report from Washington says that "the new administration will not go far out of its way to search for filibusters or to punish men engaged in a legitimate trade. There will be no more detective work in the interest of Spain at our expense. This rule of course applies only to the shipment of arms and ammunition, and not to armed expeditions of men going forth to fight against a nation with which we are at peace."

THE great agnostic, R. G. Ingersoll, delivered a speech in Milwaukee last Tuesday night on "How to Reform Mankind." Speaking of the money wasted in maintaining churches he said: "The interest on this would be $5,000,000 a year." He would abolish both prisons and churches and have ministers employed teaching science. He favors divorce, but makes a difference between a man and a woman because the latter "dowers her husband with youth and beauty" and says the husband "should not be allowed to desert her because she is wrinkled and old" as then "her capital is gone, while on the contrary he may be far better able to succeed than when he married her."

ON the labor problem one of his sentences was: "It is not liberality for a man to accumulate vast wealth by robbing his neighbors and then making a compromise with God by building a theological seminary." The address is said to have been the best of the kind ever delivered in the Cream City, but some of the ministers there will attack it tomorrow, as is customary.

GEN. BRAGG slipped and fell while in the bath-room of his residence recently and sustained a fracture of some ribs; and now comes a report that his brother's wife in Chicago was shot while sleeping with her adopted daughter. However, at last accounts Mrs. C. E. Bragg had sufficiently recovered to change her will, which bequeathed her property to the only child, Josephine. Although unable to state who did the shooting, the change of the will would seem to indicate that Mrs. Bragg believes that the shot was fired for the purpose of enriching her adopted daughter.

THE experience of the past two years in potato culture is what must occur a good many times probably before farmers will come to look at the matter intelligently. The profits of potato culture three years ago were very extensively heralded and the establishment of starch factories in many communities seemed to insure a market for all that could be grown; so every farmer within reach by wagon or rail planted potatoes and little else, and the second crop glutted the market before it was half out of the ground. So it would be with the beet sugar business, and so it undoubtedly will be with the cornstalk, whose utility seems to have been demonstrated recently. The potato lesson, like the wheat lesson that has so frequently been taught and so poorly learned by the farmers, points the farmer to the safe middle-of-the-road plan of diversity of crops. Having a fair amount of half a dozen products, the failure of one does not leave him without available resource. So the farmer who plants his average potato crop this season will no doubt get a price that will not only pay for the digging, but leave him a fair profit.—Superior Telegram.

The largest bog in Ireland is the bog of Allen, which stretches across the center of the island, east of the Shannon, and covers nearly 250,000 acres. Altogether there are nearly 3,000,000 acres of bog in Ireland—that is to say, about one-seventh of the total area of the country is bog.

The old canal which was constructed many years ago between the city of Tampico and Tuxpam, Mex., at great expense, is to be cleared, dredged and opened for traffic. An American company has a concession for operating the enterprise. The canal passes through a country rich in dye woods and native tropical products, which will be taken in boats to Tampico and exported to the United States and Europe.

An old citizen of Paducah, Ky., told of a swift case of justice back in 1834, instances of which have never perished from earth. The Register says: "A boat landed at the foot of Broadway and one of the crew, on mischief bent, came up to Ender's store and stole some articles of wearing apparel. He was detected by the city marshal and taken before Judge Smedley, who sentenced him to ten lashes, which were immediately administered, and the punished prisoner went back to the boat and remarked to the captain, 'this is the fastest town I ever struck—stole some dry goods, was caught, tried, convicted and punished since I left the boat ten minutes ago.'"

A New Yorker who has spent time and money developing carrier pigeons and may be called Jones for short, is credited with the following story: He was boasting at his club one night of the great flights that his pigeons had made, when Brown said: "I'll bet you the best dinner that the club can provide for everyone present, that you haven't got a pigeon that can fly from Philadelphia to New York." "It will be simple robbery," said Jones, "but I'll take your bet." Brown stipulated that he should carry the pigeon to Philadelphia himself, and he did. Before releasing the bird he clipped his wings, and then he returned to New York by a slow train. "Well, I released your pigeon in Philadelphia this morning," he said to Jones that night at the club. "Has he returned yet?" "Not yet," said Jones. The next day Brown again asked Jones with the same result, but the latter would not admit defeat. Finally, on the third day, Brown jeeringly asked: "Isn't it about time for that supper? I don't suppose your pigeon has returned." Jones replied promptly: "Yes; he has; but—er—well, his feet are very sore." Brown paid the bet.

The funeral took place at 10 a. m. last Thursday with services at the Moldenhauer church.

A Pleasant Social Event.

Last Sunday afternoon a party of about 100 were entertained at Marx's hall, where Aug. Backhas consented to repeat the speech for which he was given the first prize at the Oshkosh Normal school, as mentioned two weeks ago. Preparatory to the address, Gustave Koepke gave quite a biographical history of "Charles Sumner," which contributed toward the fact that one could have heard a pin drop between the sentences of August's delivery, and the applause which followed at the close was flattering, indeed. The quartette, which made such a decided hit at the Farmers' institute, sang a song, and several selections of appropriate music was rendered by members of the party, which contributed towards making the occasion a very enjoyable one. CAMPBELLSPORT CULLINGS. Frank Koepke left for Milbank, S. D., last Tuesday. Guy Matteson spent a few days at Fond du Lac this week. Henry Schimmelpfeng went to Chicago this week for a few days. Frank Meenk went home for a short visit, and—"he never came back." Leopold Schimmelpfeng made a business trip to Fond du Lac Tuesday. Invitations are out announcing the marriage of Miss Alma Ebert to Stratton Hendricks next Tuesday. Anybody in need of a good cistern cream tank, tedder, etc., should call on E. F. Martin and get them at a very reasonable price. Just because one of the Kewaskum boys got left on one of our girls, is no reason for him to get angry. "There are others," here. Miss Annie Ferguson, who visited in this vicinity for a few days, returned to her home in Milwaukee, accompanied by Miss Aggie Klotz, who intends to spend a few weeks in the Cream City and at Chicago. P. W. Harns of West Bend will open a marble shop here April 1st in the west side of the McCullough Bros.' old store. The shop will be run by John Homerig, who is an experienced stone cutter, and it will be one of the finest shops in the county. The N. C. and C. literary society will meet this evening and render the following: PROGRAMME. Opening Song.....Full For the Shore Recitation.....Catherine Follenz Music.....Mrs. Kohler Reading.....Mrs. Wreoke Duet (mandolin and piano).....Celia Goss.....Eva Suel and Mamie Durand Song.....Daisy Folts Essay.....Edna Flint Reading.....Grace Hendricks Music.....Flora Kohler Recitation.....Mertie Folts Song.....Mrs. Armond Reading.....Mrs. Folts Music.....John Kohler Song.....Lou Flint Reading.....Mrs. Cisco Trio.....C. Fellenz, B. Husting, J. Pass Reading.....Celia Goss Continued Story.....Mamie Goss Closing Song.....Yield Not Unto Temptation ELMORE ETCHINGS. Miss Mat. Romens left for the Cream City last Monday. Samuel Zulaorn of Milwaukee spent Monday with his parents, here. Charley Reinhardt, who has been quite ill, has recovered and is still in our burg. Messrs. and Mmes. Kleinhaus and John Litscher were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hess last Sunday. John Guntle is improving his residence grounds by digging a new well thereon. Good success, John. We hear that several of the young men intend to leave for Minnesota with Ulrich Legler in the near future. Miss Katie Schmitt, who has been stopping with her brother, John, in Campbellsport is now home again. Mr. and Mrs. Nic and Louis Ott of Theresa, and Ed. Bassler of Hartford, were visiting G. Hundertmark last Wednesday. Charley, this going across lots to the sharp corners will soon be stopped, for he will soon drop in and force you to take to "the well-beaten path." Miss Jennette Hundertmark, who left this burg about a year ago, has been visiting at her home a few days this week, and she gave the young people a pleasant party last Sunday evening. The Elmore "sports" understand the insinuation of the Campbellsport reporter; but, at the same time, we "sports" will not feel insulted if the Campbellsport police gang does not attend, for we had but one dance, and we all had a jolly, good time without a Campbellsport police gang. Bear it in mind in the future.—THE "SPORTS." ST. KILLIAN SHARPS. Charley Meyer of West Bend was in our burg last Thursday. Joseph Straub moved on his farm, 1 1/2 mile northeast of here, last week. Andrew Strachota made a business trip to the Cream City last Wednesday. Gerhard Weber, the brewery owner of Theresa, was here on business last Wednesday. P. Strobel took his daughter to West Bend, last Thursday, where she is working for Fred. Stork. Fred. Luedke has sold a stallion, which formerly belonged to P. Jansen of West Bend, to John Mack. Jos. Mack and daughter, Maggie, made a trip to West Bend, last Thursday, and called on John Mack. Anton Kohler, who had such bad luck by the runaway reported several weeks ago, is still being treated by Dr. Hoffmann of Campbellsport. Philip Bradel has auctioned his farm, 4 miles south of here, to A. Knell of the town of Herman for $5,100 and moved to West Bend, where Philip will work at carpentering.

ST. MICHAELS MITES.

Nic. Schaefer is on the sick list. Miss Carrie Rodenkirch is seriously ill. Some of our people are down with the gripe. Anton Wolters is able to be around again on crutches. Jo. Weiser called on friends at New Cassel over Sunday. Mat. Miller of Barton was seen in our burg last Wednesday. Jo. Fellenz made a business trip to the county seat last Monday. David Casey of Kewaskum was seen on our streets last Monday. Willy Schneider made a business trip to West Bend last Monday. Willy Weddig of West Bend was a caller in our burg last Monday. Carrie Oeder returned home after spending two years in the Cream City. Miss Mary and Johnny Schneider called on friends at Fond du Lac last week. Miss Anna Marx has returned home after spending three weeks in Milwaukee. Rev. G. Muenzer, assisted Rev. Stupfel at the 14-hours devotion on the 4th and 5th inst. Miss Tina Schladweiler of St. Mathias was the guest of G. Schneider the fore part of this week. Andrew Roden and Herman Geiese left last Saturday to spend the coming season in Illinois. Willy Marx of New Fane made a social call at the home of Miss Katie Schneider this week. Peter Dricken is improving his place by digging a well thereon. This makes the fourth one sunk there. Miss Gertrude Berres returned to the Cream City last Tuesday after spending a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Berres. The Rev. Muttman of Newburg, Rev. Stupfel of West Bend, Rev. Vogt of Kewaskum and the Rev. Wenker of Barton assisted Rev. Muenzer with the 40-hour devotion last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The Root of All Sin. The sin which is going to condemn the world is the root of all sin. It is the willful refusal of God's priceless gift. A life of outward sin is the result of an impenitent soul. The disease of sin has laid fast hold of mankind, and while man is not blamable for the disease being in his heart God accounts it the sin of sins if he refuses the sole remedy for his recovery.—"Mr. Moody's Bible Class" in Ladies' Home Journal. Circumstances Alter Cases. Sister—Stick out your tongue and try your powder like a good girl. You never heard me complaining about such a little thing. Flossie—Neither would I if I could take it on my face like you do.—Brooklyn Life. The Difference. What's in a name? Everything. You can't begin to think how much better Snawley feels, who used to be only "night watchman" at a swimming school, since somebody called him "night commander of the bath."—Boston Transcript. The diadem of Shah Jehan, according to Tavernier, had 12 points, each tipped with a diamond of large size and the purest water. In the center was imbedded a huge pearl, and the rest of the crown was a glittering mass of rubies, diamonds and other gems. The lily of the valley is, in floral lore, emblematic of happiness. In Portugal this flower is symbolic of modesty, its lowly growth and retiring habits giving it a symbolism closely akin to that of the violet. When cementing your cistern, remember that one bushel of cement and two bushels of sand will cover 3 1/4 square yards one inch thick. A letter mailed in New York will be delivered at Cape Coast Castle 38 days later. A low barometer almost invariably betokens a coming storm. RHEUMATISM AND HEART TROUBLE

From the Reporter, Oconto, Wis.
A representative of the Oconto County Reporter, while in conversation with John Daley, of Kellybrook, Wis., the other day elicited the following interesting story, which for publication would do him no harm.
"For about fifteen years I have been so troubled with heart trouble, that I have been unable to make a quick movement. I have been hardly able to climb a flight of stairs and it has been as much as my life was worth to attempt to lie down for any length of time on my left side. And for the last ten years rheumatism has so beset me that at times I could not raise my hand to my head. I believe I spent the price of a good farm for medicines during those years of illness, but with no permanent relief.
"About a year ago I noticed in the paper accounts of wonderful cures attributed to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and made up my mind I would try them. They could at least do me no harm.
"I had taken them only about ten days when I began to feel better and I have steadily improved up to the present time. I can now go up and down stairs as lively as a 10-year-old girl, and all trouble with my heart has disappeared. My rheumatism has almost entirely left me, and the headaches which formerly kept me sick a large part of the time are less frequent and painful.
"My son was also troubled with nervousness and sleeplessness, but three boxes of Pink Pills have made him a well man. I am glad to recommend this remedy to any who have been troubled as I have been."
(Signed) "MRS. JOHN DALEY."
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 1st day of October, A. D. 1900.
JOHN J. GILLIGAN,
Justice of the Peace.
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They are also a specific for the blood, and give health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental overwork, or from excesses of any kind. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or by mail by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

MUST DO WITHOUT THE FOOD.

The importation of Sea Bird Eggs to San Francisco stopped.
The government officials will stop the importation of sea birds' eggs from the Farallones. The Lighthouse board at Washington, which has the care of the Farallones, has issued a decree that the traffic in the eggs of the sea birds must cease.
The mandate of the lighthouse board will bring to a close a unique industry of San Francisco. The eggs of the murres, or foolish gullies, have been shipped to the markets of San Francisco in quantities amounting to 18,000, at which date they were almost all the fresh eggs to be had, bringing $1 a dozen. As late as 20,000 dozen of the eggs were annually brought to market by the Greek and Italian fishermen. They are the size of an ordinary hen's egg, for which they are sold to be an excellent substitute, and they sold at retail from 15 cents to 20 cents per dozen.
During the last four or five seasons the Greeks have been driven off, and the egg industry has been carried on by the lighthouse keepers on the Farallones.

Smokehouse for Curing Meat.

A smokehouse so arranged that the attendant need not enter when filled with smoke to replenish the fire is but rarely in use. The plan illustrated obviates such annoyance. The house is square, and may be of a size dependent upon the amount of material one may have yearly to cure by smoke. For common use, a house ten feet square is ample proportions. In the cut, an entrance door is shown in front and a small window near the top that can be opened from the outside to quickly free the inside of smoke. At the bottom of the side is a small door, from which extends a small track to the center of the room, in which slides a square piece of plank, moved by an iron rod with a hook on one end. On this plank is placed an old iron kettle, with four or five inches of earth in the bottom. On this the fire is to be built, when the kettle can be slid to the center of the room with the iron rod. It can be drawn to the small door at any time to replenish the fire without entering the smoky room or allowing the smoke to come out. The house has an earthen floor and a tight foundation of brick or stone. The walls should be of matched boarding and the roof shingled. Corn cobs make an excellent smoldering fire with an abundant evolution of smoke. Chips from the woodpile with some earth and sawdust, if not too moist, also make a smoldering fire that answers very well.—Farm and Home.

Whipping Bally Horses.

Notwithstanding the fact that the press continually admonishes whom it may concern that it does no good to whip a bally horse, almost every owner or driver of one does it to-day. It is probably the greatest piece of horse folly in existence. It is not a remnant of barbarism, but it is continued habitually, and hence on the part of a man there is in a man. The brain of a horse can retain but one idea at a time. If the idea is to skip, whipping only intensifies it. A change of that idea, then, is the only successful method of management. This may be accomplished in a score of ways, a few of which are here named: The handkerchief about his eyes; tie a tail to the bellyband or backband; fasten a stick in his mouth; tie a cord tightly about his leg; clap his nostrils and shut his wind off until he wants to go; unhitch him from the vehicle and then hitch him up again, or almost any way that strikes his mind on something else. Whipping or scolding always does harm. The treatment should always be gentle. There are more bally drivers than horses.—National Stockman.

Poor Tramps Make Good Roads.

It was estimated to break up the tramp nursery this season, and in establishing some extensive rock-breaking plants at Waterville, central New York. A tent was erected in which the tramps were given shelter and food, and it was stipulated that each tramp was to earn his shelter and food by work on the rock pile. The rock-breaking camp lasted twenty-two days, and during that time 716 men and 64 boys, all tramps, availed themselves of the opportunity to work on the rock pile. They succeeded in breaking up 400 tons of rock, worth to the community for their macadam roads $15 per ton. The cost of their entertainment amounted to less than $375. The experiment was satisfactory in every respect. The conclusion was found that the hard times have influenced the character of tramps. Ordinarily the opportunity to work for a meal or a night's lodging is rejected.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Success in Fruit Gardening.

Publishers' accounts are given of the success of small orchards planted a few years ago in northern Ohio. Among others that of Aaron Teeple, who ten years ago bought three acres of land, built house and barn on it, and planted it with a general collection of fruit trees, including peaches, pears and plums, and twenty of the most popular grapes. One-half of the ground is devoted to market gardening. For three or four years he has taken premiums for fine fruit. It is said that the receipts this year will exceed $600. The plum crop was over fifty bushels this season, and the fruit large and highly colored. This furnishes a fine example of the brief time required to bring fruit trees into profitable bearing.

Profit in Young Animals.

It is mighty poor stock that will not pay a profit while it is young. The cost of keeping is smallest then, and its growth from the same feed is greatest. An old farmer who always grew hogs said that the market never got too low for him to make some profit. All he did as the price went down was to kill the pigs or sell them alive while still young. "It is curious," he used to say, "how many farmers toward spring wait to buy young pigs. They will often pay nearly as much as the same animal will be worth after a summer's growth, especially if the price of pork declines, as it is apt to, between spring and fall.

Saves All the Year.

The farmer who grows a variety of crops can if he chooses select such kinds as will furnish him always something to sell at any time of the year. All the family expenses go on without ceasing, and unless income does also the debts accumulated when the winter has been so hard to make a heavy load when the few main crops are marketed. The necessity for peddling his products in small dribbles may seem a hardship, but it teaches how little sums of money accumulate if they are saved, which is a much better lesson than that of learning how fast they add up when they are carelessly spent.

Water Over Underdrains.

It often happens when ground is frozen deeply and thaws suddenly that water will stand over the drains for several hours. This only means that the frozen soil does not let the water through to the drain. But this never occurs long enough to do any injury even to winter grain. The warm air from the drain is always thawing the soil from below, and it does not take many hours if the drain is deep, one for the warm air to break through.

Sow Plaster Early.

The experience of farmers who have used plaster most shows that it cannot be relied upon to do any good if sown after most of the spring rains have passed. How early it can be sown with advantage cannot be said. It was a common practice of an old farmer of our acquaintance to sow plaster on the snow at the same time he sowed his clover and grass seed. If there is a clover seeding on the ground, the plaster may be sown any time in winter or even the previous fall. It will help the clover until the field is plowed again. It is supposed that one advantage of the plaster is in absorbing ammonia from the air and rain. But there is more ammonia in most snow in proportion to the water it contains than in any rainfall. For that reason sowing plaster on snow that fell in large, open flakes, and therefore absorbed most ammonia from the air, will probably be advisable.—American Cultivator.

Wood Ashes for Heavy Soils.

All heavy soils contain some potash, but it is often in form not available for crops. Hence ashes or other forms of available potash may do as much good on heavy loams as they do on sandy soils naturally deficient in this mineral. It is supposed that one advantage of the plaster is in absorbing ammonia from the air and rain. But there is more ammonia in most snow in proportion to the water it contains than in any rainfall. For that reason sowing plaster on snow that fell in large, open flakes, and therefore absorbed most ammonia from the air, will probably be advisable.—American Cultivator.

Coal to Boil Sap.

Under the old methods of tapping trees enough were killed by the severe frosts made to keep the fires supplied that are needed to boil the sap. But in most places coal is quite as cheap as wood, especially if thifty maple trees have to be used to feed the fires. A wood frame is sure to be uneven, not furnishing the steady regulated heat which is needed to make the best product.

Poultry Points.

Have you selected your best and sold the chicks? If not, why not? We should manage not to keep a fowl or chick any longer than they are a source of income.

To sell our best even at a good price is foolishness; as long as we wish to breed we should keep them.

The knowing just what to sell and when to sell is often the difference between success and failure.

It is no earthly use feeding a lot of chicks that are of no use only for the pot; sell them before they are fed for the rest.

Of course our best breeders must not be disposed of even when they are not laying, as they must be kept for breeding purposes.

It is not good policy to sell all the cockerels, even if you do not want but one as a breeder; by keeping three or four you will have a better selection, and then if you keep but one, he might die, then you would be compelled to buy a breeder.—Institute Poultryman.

He Liked Sausage.

One of the glories of the city of Lyons, which claims the attention and admiration of every visitor, is an article the product of the butcher known as saucisson de Lyon, or in English Lyons sausage. It is made of donkey—raw donkey—and no writer has celebrated the gastronomic excellence of this patient, vexatious and often ill-used beast with more delicate appreciation than the late Philip Gilbert Hamerton, in "Chapters on Animals."
Of the ass, when living, I could not say much that is wholly favorable, but when he appears in the state of saucisson he may be praised without the slightest reservation.
In sections like dark-red marble dashed with white, it may be cut to an infinitesimal thinness, but it has a surface smoother than the finest veneer. In the mass it is closely wrapped in silvery foil, to guard against the influences of the air.
In the sweetest associations of the memory the saucisson has its place. Whay takes it from his knapsack, and boys upon his bread those dainty dishes which are his slices. The strength of his youth comes back to him, and the Alpine snows no longer seem inaccessible.
At the stately imperial banquet the saucisson is not absent. At the pleasant picnic by the shady river, it is the element in the welcome basket. The angler has it in his bag, the shooter in his capacious pocket, the canoeist in his Lilliputian cabin of stores.
O saucisson de Lyon, sad is the moment when you take the skiny remnant of the into the stream, but a little fishes congregate eagerly to the banquet, and ask each other what noble animal has yielded his flesh for their feasting.

His Views.

The Rev. R. S. Hawker, rector of Morwenston in Cornwall, was the poet of his rocky and beautiful corner of England. It has been said of him that he was a poet first, a divine afterward.

His great and stirring song: "And shall 'Trelawny die?' will never be forgotten in Cornwall, and all his lyrics of the region are touched by such true and haunting local color that they can never be dissociated from the place.

But aside from his poetic gifts, this noted churchman had a fine sense of humor. Many persons doubted whether or not 'Trelawny die?' would ever be written, or whether he had inner leanings to the ward of the Papal communion. Querists, however, got little satisfaction out of him. One day some one asked him pointblank, "What are your views?"

He walked up to his window, and looked out at the Atlantic.

"It," he said, "my eyes were strong enough, I should have a perfect view of Labrador."

William the Conqueror fell in love with Matilda, the daughter of a French nobleman. She refused him, and he forgot her at once with his own hand, and she was riding, pulled her off her horse and beat her with a stick. The act won her admiration, she immediately concluded that he must be a very brave knight to give her a thrashing in sight or her father's castle, and a few months later married him.

The most exact poet was Pope. He frequently rewrote a poem eight or ten times before allowing it to go to the printer.

MRS. BEECHER IS DEAD.

Passes Away on the Tenth Anniversary of the Death of Her Husband.

Stamford, Conn., March 8.—Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher died today, the tenth anniversary of the death of her famous husband. She was 85 years of age.

Mrs. Beecher had been sinking steadily since Saturday noon and during the twenty-four hours preceding her demise had been unconscious. William Beecher, one of her sons, reached Stamford Saturday evening, and remained until last night, when he left for New York. Her Wastefulness.

Every careful housekeeper knows how easy it is to deplete her husband's purse by permitting small leaks to continue about the home, and how much may be saved by a judicious attention to little things. Little fishes spoil the vines and it requires no effort of a careful woman to keep up a constant drain from the exchequer. A list of the avenues through which wastefulness makes itself felt would occupy much space. A few of them, however, may be mentioned:

Lemons left to dry.

Cold fish thrown away.

Sour milk thrown away.

Spices exposed to the air.

Fat put in earthen dishes.

Cheese permitted to mold.

Bits of meat thrown away.

Towels used for wash rag.

Dish towels used for holders.

Sheets used for ironing table.

Napkins used for dish towels.

Cold potatoes allowed to sour.

Tea and coffee pots neglected.

Mops and brooms not hung up.

Carpet brooms used to scrub with.

Bits of metal scattered about.

Canned goods left exposed in a can.

Bread pan left with dough sticking to it.

The mustard cruse remaining open to dry.

Rice and sugar wasted in the handling.

Too much starch made and thrown out.

The kerosene can left open to evaporate.

Soap left in dishpans to dissolve and waste.

Pieces of lace and ribbon thrown away.

Pails and washtubs left to dry to fall to pieces.

Beats of the egg beater allowed to get wet.

Silver spoons and forks used in the kitchen.

Tin dishes improperly dried when washed.

Corks left out of vinegar and molasses jugs.

Spices kept, forgotten and left to sour.

Turning skirts wrong side out when hanging them up.

Falling to dry a box of soap for several days before using it.

Wearing the same clothing each week as it comes from the wash.

Buying articles because they are cheap and will come in some time.

Wearing the house dress in the usual morning dress with head uncovered.

Pieces of bread and cake allowed to dry and mold and then thrown away.

Leaving a silk umbrella in a case, thereby causing it to split in the folds.

Allowing wheelbarrows to rub through the waist, thereby marring an elegant gown.

Falling to sew glove buttons on before wearing, or mending them before cleaning.

Dried fruits left uncovered and consequently allowed to become wormy.

The face of flannel used to crack nuts on.

Wearing rubbers over new shoes, thereby making the leather dry and hard and easily cracked.

The Care of Beds.

Many housewives who in all other respects are model housekeepers are apt to neglect the proper airing of the beds. The desire of the energetic housewife is to have her work "all done up" and her house in perfect order every day in the morning, and as a consequence what is intended for neatness and order becomes quite the reverse, for a bed should never be made up in less than two hours after it has been occupied. When leaving the sleeping room in the morning, throw, or rather, spread, the covers over a chair by an open window and turn the mattress up so that a current of air can freely pass over it. If this is not thoroughly done, the bedding not only comes to have a close and disagreeable odor, but that very odor becomes in itself a warning, for perfect and healthful rest is impossible in a chamber with the covers lying in a heap. Have the coverings light and warm. Woolen blankets are far better than heavy comforters, which retain the exhalations of the body and do not allow free ventilation. The spread should also be light and open in texture, and full rests frequently change it. Pillows are better than those made of feathers, and should also be placed in a free current of air daily.

The Cozy Kitchen.

The modern kitchen, increased in brick walls at the back of the house, lacks much of the charm associated with the old-fashioned kitchen of a generation or so ago. Yet a small expenditure of time and money will make bright and cheerful an apartment where at least one human being spends three-quarters of her life. A clock ticking cheerily and full rest in perfect order every day in the morning, and as a consequence what is intended for neatness and order becomes quite the reverse, for a bed should never be made up in less than two hours after it has been occupied. When leaving the sleeping room in the morning, throw, or rather, spread, the covers over a chair by an open window and turn the mattress up so that a current of air can freely pass over it. If this is not thoroughly done, the bedding not only comes to have a close and disagreeable odor, but that very odor becomes in itself a warning, for perfect and healthful rest is impossible in a chamber with the covers lying in a heap. Have the coverings light and warm. Woolen blankets are far better than heavy comforters, which retain the exhalations of the body and do not allow free ventilation. The spread should also be light and open in texture, and full rests frequently change it. Pillows are better than those made of feathers, and should also be placed in a free current of air daily.

To Clean Oilcloths.

Cut into pieces half an ounce of bees-wax, put in a saucer, cover entirely with turpentine, and place in the oven until melted. After washing the oilcloths thoroughly with a flannel, rub the whole surface lightly with a bit of flannel dipped in the melted wax and then wipe with a clean dry cloth. The wax will be produced, and the surface is lightly coated with the wax. When the floor requires to be cleaned the wax is washed off, together with the dust or dirt that may have gathered, while the oilcloth is preserved.

Cranberry Pie.

One cupful of cranberries cut in halves, one half cupful raisins stoned and chopped, one-half cupful of sugar with one large spoonful of flour mixed together, one cupful of boiling water poured on all the rest. Stir thoroughly, and put in a plate with under crust, then pour one teaspoonful vanilla over the top. Frost top of pie, or put on upper crust.

Hot Water Gingerbread.

One cup molasses; one tablespoonful melted butter; one teaspoonful soda in the molasses; one tablespoonful ginger; half teaspoonful of salt; one-half cup of boiling water and two cups of flour. Mix in the order given, beat well and bake in well buttered shallow pans.

BIG STRIKE IN CHICAGO.

Between 2000 and 3000 Plasterers and Hodcarriers Have Quit Work.

Chicago, Ill., March 8.—Between 2000 and 3000 plasterers and hodcarriers went on a strike this morning, following the course of action decided upon on Saturday night, and work on buildings in course of construction here is practically brought to a standstill. The only important exception in the downtown district is the new Illinois and Trust building, where the 200 hodcarriers, the contractor having agreed to sustain the old rate of wages. Before the morning's work was completed, it is reported to have sent in notice of their willingness to agree to the terms of the strikers. No trouble is anticipated, and a general strike is expected to follow. Chairman Herman Lilen of the strike board stating that the board had decided to meet every job separately, and the possibility of calling a sympathetic strike of the twenty-one trades allied to the building trades' union was therefore remote.

A special meeting of the Masons and Bricklayers' unions was held this afternoon and resolutions adopted setting aside the agreement between the Bricklayers' union and the construction on the subject of employing union labor. It is feared that when the arbitration committee meets to exist in the next few months a general strike of bricklayers will be declared.

New York, March 8.—The first of a series of strikes that will probably involve 10,000 mechanics of the building trades was ordered by a committee of the board of working delegates of the new Columbia college buildings. Over 200 workmen quit work. The committee will order other trades to order strikes and at latest advices it was said that every large structure under way in construction in this city were listed for a strike on the day ended. The strike is the outgrowth of the dispute between labor organizations as to which should control the work on elevators.

DARED HIM TO SHOOT.

Kansas City Man Wounded His Wife and Killed Himself.

Kansas City, Mo., March 8.—After a night of dissipation Gus A. Northing, a stereotypist, aged 35, shot and fatally wounded his wife today and killed himself. Entering his room, Northing saw the woman two minutes to leave the house, pointing the revolver at her. Mrs. Northing defied him to shoot, baring her breast, and a moment later fell fatally wounded. The woman's name is Mrs. Miss Stella Patterson of Leavenworth, Kas. She is about 32 years old.

CAPT. HART SENTENCED.

Two Years' Imprisonment for a Philadelphia, Pa., March 8.—Capt. John D. Hart, owner of the Fifth Street Laundry, was sentenced in the United States district court here today to two years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $500 and the costs of the prosecution.

Cuban Expedition Gets Away.

Perth Amboy, N. J., March 8.—That a large Cuban expedition has succeeded in getting away from Bermuda is now reported. Capt. "John" O'Brien, it is said, is in charge of the expedition. He was sent away from Bermuda by the United States South Portland put in for coal and provisions.

Over the Precipice.

Hosts of invalids tremble in destruction simply because they will exercise no discretion in the matters of eating, drinking and the avoidance of exciting causes, and above all, in the use of medicine. They persist in dosing themselves with violent purgatives, and the result is a substitute for such harmful remedies is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, potent for medicinal, cathartic, dyspeptic, nervous and bilious complaints.

A Remarkable Prophecy.

During the American Revolution an English magazine published an estimate of the future population of the North American colonies. Placing the population then at 2,000,000 and assuming that it would double itself every twenty-five years, the writer estimated that in the year 1880 the number would have increased to 64,000,000. This may be taken as a most remarkable prophecy, inasmuch as the census of 1880 fixes the total population at 62,622,250.

Gold and Silver Beetles.

The most remarkable gold beetles in the world are found in Central America. The head and wing cases are brilliantly polished with a luster as of gold, and the size and touch they have all the seeming of that metal. Oddly enough, another species from the same region has the appearance of being wrought in solid silver, freshly burnished. These gold and silver beetles have a market value. They are worth from $25 to $50 each.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors prescribed local treatment, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local means, proved that Catarrh was a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hood's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful, and it cures. It acts on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case not cured. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

The manager of the Gold Creek mines in Nevada has put himself on record by predicting that silver will sell for $100,000,000 in 1900.

204 BUSHELS CORN PER ACRE.

It's marvelous how we progress! You can make money at 10 cents a bushel when you get 274 bushels corn, 1,200 bushels oats, 173 bushels barley, 1,000 bushels potatoes per acre! Salzer's creations in farm seeds produce.
