PRESIDENT IS SHOT.

Anarchist Fires Twice at Mr. McKinley, One Bullet Taking Effect. AT PAN-AMERICAN FAIR. Would-be Assassin Approaches While President is Shaking Hands with the Crowd.

WEAPON IN A HANDKERCHIEF. Miscreant Threatened with Immediate Lynching but is Protected by Officers. GIVES NAME OF LEON CZOLGOSZ.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 7.—In the presence of thousands of people President McKinley was shot down by an assassin yesterday afternoon in the Temple of Music at the Pan-American exposition grounds.

The first bullet struck the sternum in the President's chest, deflected to the right, and traveled beneath the skin to a point directly below the right nipple. The second bullet penetrated the abdomen and pierced both walls of the stomach and lodged in the back.

Only a superficial wound was caused by the first bullet and within five minutes after the assassin reached the President it had been removed.

An operation was performed on the President at the Mackay hospital on the Exposition grounds at 6 o'clock by Dr. Matthew D. Mann, Dr. John Parmenter and Dr. Hervey H. Meyer. The President's stomach was opened, but the second bullet was not found.

The wound in the chest was sewn up and at 7:45 o'clock the President was removed to the home of John C. Milburn at Delaware avenue and Ferry street.

Diagrams showing points where the bullets entered the body of Mr. McKinley, one striking the sternum and the other entering the stomach.

struck him. Half turning his head to the officer, he asked: "Am I shot?" Evidently he had been so stung with surprise that he had not felt the impact of the bullets.

"Yes, you are," said the President. "I fear you are Mr. President." Secretary Cortelyou sank on one knee before the President's chair and gasped anxiously into his face.

"Do not be alarmed," said the President. "It is nothing." His head sank forward into his hands a moment and then he raised it briskly, while the stream of crimson welled from the wound in his breast and spread in an ever-widening circle on his white shirt front.

"But you are wounded," exclaimed Mr. Cortelyou. "Let me examine." "No, no," insisted the President. "I am not badly injured, I assure you."

The President sank back with one hand holding his abdomen, the other holding his forehead. His eyes were open and he was clearly conscious of what had transpired.

"Cortelyou," the President's secretary bent over him. "Cortelyou," said the President, "my wife and my children, don't let her know."

Moved by a paroxysm he withdrew to the left and then he stepped forward, prostrate form of the would-be assassin lying on the floor, bloody and helpless beneath the blows of the soldiers.

The President raised his right hand, forward to the crowd and placed it on the shoulder of his secretary. "Let no one hurt him," he gasped, and sank back in the chair.

The Power of Speech.

One should be familiar with the current news of the day and the topics occupying public attention, with the names of new books and their authors, and be able to say something worth hearing relative to what one has seen and heard. True culture carries with it an atmosphere of breadth—the world and not the village. A woman lacking in this was said to conversing lightly a mind bounded on the north by her servants, east by her children, south by her ailments, and west by her clothes. The mind grows shallow when perpetually occupied with trivialities. A course of solid reading is a good tonic.—Exchange.

SHE FACED DEATH.

A Doomed Woman Saved By a Scrap of Paper.

"Did I ever tell you?" asked W. H. Cole, a leading druggist of Fort Smith, Ark., lately of a traveling salesman, "what I consider the most wonderful experience of my life?" No, said the salesman, "let's hear it." "Well," said Mr. Cole, "several years ago there came into my store about the most feeble old lady I had ever seen. She could scarcely walk, and could not have weighed 70 pounds. She had just come from Pennsylvania. The doctors there told her she could never reach Fort Smith alive, as she was in the last stages of Consumption; but she determined to see her son and daughter here before she died. Some time before this I had wrapped an article, bought by her daughter, in a scrap of newspaper. This bit of paper happened to tell her Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds had cured a woman of Consumption, so the old lady wanted to try it. She bought a bottle, then went to her son's in the country where she stayed, taking this medicine all the time. One day a plump, rosy-cheeked elderly woman came in, and could hardly believe it when she said she was the old lady, who had been here five months before, expecting to die almost any day. She now weighed 150 lbs., and could do any kind of work. This great cure and long cure will sell at 50c and $1.00 at all druggists. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free.

SPLINTERS.

Some men use all the material they have at hand in making flogs of themselves.

The average man doesn't know his poor relations, and his rich ones don't know him.

It is difficult to realize that the sweet girl graduate once was a short-haired baby with a red nose.

It is the long hours and short pay that make the average country-bred youth down on the farm.

A busy man's day is when he stays at home to rest and his wife gets him to do a few odd jobs around the house.

Fortune, instead of knocking at a farmer's door, sometimes waits until he visits the city and meets him at the depot with a gold brick.

If a man had to propose more than once before being accepted, his wife only adds insult to injury by reminding him of it in after years.

When a woman accuses her husband of having poor judgment, his mind slowly wanders back to the time when he asked her to marry him.

The rich man is thankful if he has a good digestion, and the poor man is thankful if he has something good to digest.—Chicago News.

Henry Braydon, Harris, N. C., says: "I took medicine 20 years for asthma, but a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure did me more good than anything else during that time. Best cough cure." All druggists.

Evening Wisconsin, Sept. 11th: A feature of the Czolgosz case which impresses some of the Milwaukee police officials is that however much developments of yesterday point to a plot in which nearly every Anarchist of prominence is implicated, Czolgosz would not have blurted out that Emma Goldman influenced him, had it been such a perfectly organized conspiracy as it is said to be.

Judge—Have you anything to say before sentence is passed upon you? Prisoner—No, judge; I had $10 but my lawyer got it.

Oil for the Children.

Give them oil—cod-liver oil. It's curious to see the result. Give it to the peevish, fretful child, and he laughs. Give it to the pale, anemic child, and his face becomes rosy and full of health. Take a flat-chested child, or a child that has stopped growing, give him the oil, and he will grow big and strong like the rest.

This is not a new scheme. It has been done for years. Of course you must use the right oil. Scott's Emulsion is the one.

Scott's Emulsion neither looks nor tastes like oil because we are so careful in making it pleasant to take.

MOUND BUILDERS RAISED CORN

Seed Found in Colorado is Planted—Grows 12 Feet High. An Indian mound in the remote wilds of Colorado, dating back no one knows how many hundred years, would not ordinarily be considered a likely place to go for an improved type of seed corn.

It was discovered, however, that the modern essentials of advanced civilization, knew a thing or two about corn. It was a worth knowing even in the present day exalted ideas in agriculture.

Two years ago, says the Minneapolis Journal, a Chicago gentleman, while browsing around in Colorado, investigating the evidences of ancient Indian civilization in that state, took a notion to open one of the numerous mounds. He found many interesting relics, and among other things, sealed in a jar, a few kernels of Indian corn.

It was discovered, however, that the modern essentials of advanced civilization, knew a thing or two about corn. It was a worth knowing even in the present day exalted ideas in agriculture.

A METHODIST BISHOP GIVES PE-RU-NA GREAT CREDIT.

Writes His Recommendation For the Famous Catarrh Remedy, Pe-ru-na. The day was when men of prominence were to give their testimonials to proprietary medicines for publication. This remains true today of most proprietary medicines. But Peru-na has become so justly famous, its merits are known to so many people of high and low station that no hesitates to see his name in print recommending Peru-na.

The following letters from pastors who use Peru-na speak for themselves: Rev. E. G. Smith, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of Greensboro, Ga., writes: "My little boy had been suffering for some time with catarrh of the lower bowels. Other remedies had failed, but after taking two bottles of Peru-na the trouble almost entirely disappeared. For this special remedy I consider it well nigh a specific."—Rev. E. G. Smith.

Rev. A. S. Vaughn, Eureka Springs, Ark., writes: "I had been prostrated by congestive chills and was almost dead; as soon as able to be about, I commenced the use of Peru-na. I took five bottles; my strength returned rapidly and I am now enjoying my usual health."—Rev. A. S. Vaughn.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Consolation and Comfort. Who is it that does not wish to be out in the open air or alive in some field of sport, whether it be with the bat, rod or gun; whether we go coasting over the hills and vales on the wheel or sailing over rough waves or into serene coves, it is all sport, and the springing muscles seem to need it. It is found to happen that some mishap will occur. Thus it is that we have sprains in abundance. Light sprains, sprains that cripple, sprains that give great pain, sprains that rob us of sleep, but sportsmen of all kinds have come to know that there is nothing better than the old, reliable St. Jacobs Oil. Have it with you for use; you may rely on its cure of the worst sprain and restoration to the comforts of life.

Lighting Suburban Bridges. McCuen is considering a plan by which the city can light its bridges in the northern section at the mere expense of wiring the bridges and equipping the lamps. His idea is to secure the power for the lights from the Mount Royal pumping station. He says there is plenty of power there which could be used to advantage in this respect, and he will consult with an Engineer. Quick in regard to the scheme. If properly lighted now, the city will be able to save the cost of the city $4000 a year, but if the Mount Royal pumping station power is available the saving will be practically nothing—Baltimore Sun.

Couldn't Wear Shoes. Sumpter, Ill., Sept. 9.—Mrs. J. B. Flanigan of this place had suffered with Dropsy for fifteen years. She was so very bad that for the last three years she has not been able to wear her shoes. She had doctored all the time, but was gradually getting worse. Last winter Mr. Flanigan, who was very much discouraged, called for Dr. McCuen. He gave her a box of Dr. McCuen's Kidney Pills, and she was cured. She is now as sound and well as ever she was, completely restored to health, and free from any symptoms whatever of Dropsy.

New Italian Coinage. The new Italian coinage bearing the head of King Emmanuel III, is ready and it will shortly be issued. Most of the coins bear the head of the King on the obverse and the Savoy eagle on the reverse.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it swells and closes the space, and the hearing power is lost. It is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which may be cured by the use of the Mucous Membrane.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humour. Consisting of CUTICURA SOAP, to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales, and soften the diseased matter. CUTICURA OINTMENT, to instantly relieve itching, inflammation, and irritation, and soothe the inflamed surface. CUTICURA PILLS, to cure the internal condition of the mucous surfaces.

THE SET. A SINGLE SET is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, and dangerous humors. It is made and bottled in a modern manner, by exact machinery operated by skilled experts. THEY SHOOT WHERE YOU HOLD. ALWAYS ASK FOR THEM.
