BOUGHT POISON A MONTH AGO.

Discovered at Inquest that Florence Blake Planned Sulcide Long Ago.

Racine, Wis., Nov. 28,-[Special.]-A the inquest over the body of Florence Blake, who died from a dose of poison, taken with suicidal intent, it was discovered that the young woman had purchased the poison October 29. John Deane testified to having known the woman for about eight months and that he was with her Sunday. He was in his room with two friends when there was a rap at the door and upon opening it he saw Miss Blake, who desired to talk with him. The two went into the hall and had somewhat of a quarrel. Deane and the woman went into the kitchen, the woman claiming that she felt weak. From that room Ald. Nathan Heath.

Dr. E. J. Orvis Does Not Intend Boiler Explosion in Detroit Factory to Resume Practice in Fond du Lac County.

DAUGHTER HEARS FROM HIM.

Man Who Mysteriously Disappeared Some Months Ago is Located -Guardian for His Child.

Milwaukee, Nov. 27, 1901.-[Special.] There is one man in this city who knows the whereabouts of Dr. E. J. Orvis, the man who suddenly disappeared vis, the man who suddenly disappeared from his home in Oakfield, Fond du Lac county, formerly a practitioner in Milwaukee, a couple of months ago in a most sensational way, leaving no trace behind him of his whereabouts. That man is G. L. Head, superintendent of the Boston store. Mr. Head has been in communication with the doctor for some time and has received letters from him, some of which have been addressed to those interested in the doctor's private interests and which were to be forwarded from here so that the postmarks on them interests and which were to be forwarded from here so that the postmarks on them should not betray the place of the doctor's concealment. A few days ago Dr. Orvis wrote a letter to his daughter, Florence, and had it forwarded to her at Oakfield, and another letter was written to be forwarded to Dr. Burns of Oakfield, in which the doctor told of some of his private affairs which seemed to Dr. Burns more or less obscure and which Burns more or less obscure and which Dr. Burns had in his hands for settle-

Fond du Lac Judge Informed. Mr. Head has also received information from Dr. Orvis concerning some of the matters pending in the Fond du Lac county court, which it was highly important and necessary County Judge A. E. Richter should know, and Judge Richter came to Milwaukee a few days ago to inform himself on them. It is now given out by both these gentlemen that there is absolutely nothing in the affairs of Dr. Orvis which need in the least frighten his bondsmen. Every assurance is given that all matters in assurance is given that all matters in the doctor's affairs will be properly taken care of

Now all these things only help to deep-en the mystery of Dr. Orvis' sudden dis-appearance. It was apparent when he appearance. It was apparent when he went that he went away never to return again. He took with him all his surgical tools, his diploma and all other things connected with the practice of his profession that he would be apt to need in a new field of labor. All he carried with him were packed in two small grips, and without bidding his family, between whom and himself there were the strang. whom and himself there were the strong est ties of affection, goodbye, he said he would go to Campbellsport and remain over night and from there would go to Milwaukee, and that he expected to return home within the next day or two He remained here over night with Mr Head and without saying a word to him 5.808.82 about where he was going he started for 8.985.80 the train in the morning, and from that 12.002.91 time all trace of him was lost. Two or Orvis was interested and enclosing several valuable securities sent to cover what might otherwise appear to be shor-ages in the accounts of Dr. Orvis in the handling of certain estates for which he was administrator. From that time nothing more was heard of Dr. Orvis.

Wife Prostrated. Dr. Orvis left a wife, a 14-year-old daughter and 5-year-old son behind. The wife and daughter were prostrated with grief, since there appeared not the least grief, since there appeared not the least reason for the mysterious actions of the head of the family. As soon as Mrs. Orvis could recover sufficiently she took the little boy, a son of the doctor's by a former marriage, and went to Montana, where it is said she still resides. Miss Florence was left with relatives at Oakfield. It is said that she does not yet know where her father is, but expects to know where her father is, but expects to in a very short time, since the doctor is now contemplating establishing himself in practice in a small town in Oklahoma, which is now said to be without a physi-

Dr. Orvis has been a wide wanderer on the face of the globe since his disappearance, so it is said. He has always had the reputation of being an exways had the reputation of being an ex-tremely conscientious man, and whatever impelled him to the course he has tak-en seems to have weighed heavily upon his mind, and he has taken every means in his power, wide travel included, to relieve his mental stress. Mr. Head be-lieves that when he left home his troulieves that when he left home his troubles, whatever they were, and no one was ever permitted to know them, had unsettled his mind to some extent. Mr. Head knows where the doctor had been, knows where he now is, and has the doctor's full confidence concerning the causes of his strange actions. This confidence he refuses to divulge.

Guardian for the Daughter. At Fond du Lac today the relatives of Dr. Orvis appeared before Judge Richter, together with Dr. J. W. Burns and E. H. Orvis, an uncle, and asked to have Mr. Orvis appointed the guardian for Miss Florence Orvis, the daughter of the dector. She stand at the courthers the doctor. She stated at the courthouse that she had received a letter from her father, which had been forwarded to her by G. L. By this time the town was very quiet and still, for the folk in those parts were all early bedgoers, save when some special occasion kept them afoot. We rode slow by together through the silent streets, our horses' hoofs ringing out sharply against matters as engage the mind of youth. The moon was shining very brightly above us, silvering the broad streets, and casting a fretwork of shadows from the peaks and pinnacles of the churches. At Master Timewell's courtyard I sprang from my saddle, but Readen attracted by the peace and beauty of the scene, rode and oward, with the intent m of going as far as the towngate.

I was still at work upon my girth bookles, undoing my harness, when of a sudden there came from the street a shouting, and a rushing, with the clinking of blades, and my comrade's voice calling upon me fer help. Drawing my sword, I ran out. Some little way down there was a clear space, white with the moonshine, in the center of which I caught a glimpse of the sturdy figure of my friend springing about with an activity for which I had never given him credit, and exchanging sword-thrusts with three or four men who were pressing him the corfour men who were pressing him the corfour men who were pressing him the corfour men who were pressing him there can be a mind of a last with all truth, that when I asked your grandmother's hand I did not demean and and I said—but, lackaday, whither have a shouting, and a rushing, with the clinking of blades, and my comrade's voice all the powers and principalities. There was not a cloud in the sky, but the great heat had caused a haze to overlie the valley, gathering thickly along the transmitted by the peace and beauty of the scene, rode to my saddle, but Readen attracted by the peace and beauty of the scene, rode at the peace and beauty of the scene, rode at the peace and beauty of the scene, rode at the peace and beauty of the scene, rode at the peace

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - Whatever virtue there is in medicine seems to be concentrated in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered for five years with profuse and painful menstruation until I lost flesh and strength, and life had no charms for me.

Only three bottles of your Vegetable Compound cured me, I became regular, without any pains, and hardly know when I am sick: Some of my friends who have used your Compound for uterine and ovarian troubles all have the same good word to say for it, and bless the day they first found it."-Mrs. KATE BERG. $5000 FORFEIT IF THE ABOVE LETTER IS NOT GENUINE.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Engineer Misinterpreted His Orders and Two Trains on the Wabash

Job Witchell of the firm of Witchell Sons & Co. of Detroit was expected home on No. 1. His son was at the depot to meet him. At midnight a dispatch came numbering Job Witchell among the dead. The son was in the waiting room when the news was broken to him. He swooned, falling against a radiator. He was assisted to his seat and remained in that attitude, stunned by the calamity. His father had been absent in Dallas, Tex., for some time and had just telegraphed his intention to return on the ill-fated train.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 28.—The latest estimate of the dead in the Wabash wreck be still living was in strong contrast to stomate of the dead in the Wabash wreck near Adrian, Mich., is that there are eighty dead and 125 injured. Of the latter it is said that twenty-five will die. Train loads of injured have been taken to Adrian. Mich., Montpelier, O., and Peru, Ind. Of the dead lifty are Italian immigrants who were on the westbound train No. 13. It is estimated that there were lifty persons in the day car of train No. 4 eastbound, and of these thirty are dead.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 28.—Two passenger trains on the Wabash railroad, one going west, the other east, met in a frightful collision while going at almost full speed, one mide east of Seneca, Mich., a village eleven miles west of Adrian, shortly after 7 o'clock last night. Noth trains were wrecked in the dreadful impact, entailing a tremendous loss of life, estimated at from eighty to 100. The conductor of the train did not know hat the engineer had misunderstood the order and supposed that his train was going on a siding. Finding that the train was running rapidly the conductor put on the airbrakes himself, tut it was too late. The two trains crashed together and the cars of the westbound train were coupled up in a heap of ruins.

It continues to appear that the number of dead victims will reach from 30 to 100 and that more than the latter number are suffering greater or less injuries. Some of the railroad officials asoupled up in a heap of ruins.

Engineer Strong Responsible.

Supt. Burns today said that Engineer Strong of train No. 4 was responsible. "His orders," said he, "clearly directed him to pass train No. 13 at Seneca. He evidently forgot them for he did not stop there and the collision resulted."

Supt. Burns estimated the financial loss to the Wabash at $48,000.

The immigrants and other passengers Supt. Burns estimated the financial loss to the Wabash at $48,000.

The immigrants and other passengers on train No. 13 were crushed between the splintered cars. If any escaped without injury it will be by a miracle.

To add to the horror, the wreckage aught fire instantly, and in a short time he bodies of the dead and those of the injured who were pinned down were seing burned.

No. 13 were burning so fiercely that the relief party could not get within several hundred feet of them. They were the baggage car, the immigrant car, two coaches and a chair car. There was nothing to do but to stand back and wait until the fire burned itself out. It was past midnight before a search of the ruins of the burned cars could be begun.

Recovering the Bodies.

the injured who were pinned down were being burned.

The scene which followed was heartrending. The spot where the wreck occurred was in the open country, with but one farmhouse near by and facilities for aiding the injured were extremely inadequate. As soon as the news of the disaster reached Supt. Burns here, a relief train was dispatched to the scene with a score or more of surgeons on beard. Farmers from nearby and those who escaped from the wreck alive made heroic efforts to rescue the less fortunate.

The condition of the wreck was such that in the darkness it was impossible to render immediate aid.

The immigrants who were lucky enough to get out alive were unable to speak English and could give no intelligent estimate of the number of people in each immigrant car. The conductor of the train could not be found and on this account the list of casualties is incomplete and the estimate of the number of dead is only approximately correct. Rut the railroad doctors and others present agreed that the number approaches 100.

When the relief train arrived as many

When the relief train arrived as many of the Capinea as could be carried were taken to Montpelier, O., Peru, Ind., and to the hospitals at Adriau.

The scene in the neighborhood of the wreck was terrible. In the semi-darkness, illuminated only by the glare from the fire of the wreckage, men stumbled about over corpses which fell from the ruins and which after the flames died out were hauled from the debris. There they lay in confused heaps along the track. Farmers from the surrounding country and people from the neighboring villages did what they could to aid the wounded and care for the dead, but this seemed little in proportion to the enormity of the calamity.

"It was a veritable hell of fire." said Victor C. Greenbaum of New York city, who escaped with slight injuries.

People who came hurrying to the scene from farmhouses in that locality stood about the wreckage helplessly and held their hands to their ears to shut out the frightful screams and turned their eyes away because it was more than they could bear.

Siberia has long been sending butter to England, but the opening of the Trans Siberian railway has made it a far more formidable competitor than it form was. Last year the imports of Sibbutter were valued at £1,400,000, this year it is estimated that they reach the value of £2,500,000. The reach the value of £2.500,000. The sup-ply of butter which Siberia can furnist is said to be practically unlimited and is is possible that the opening of Siberia may affect the dairy industry of these countries as disastrously as the opening up of America affected the wheat-grow-ing industry. It is also expected tha Siberia will shortly flood the English market with poultry, game and meat.

Train No. 3, which was waiting on the side track at Sand Creek (having fellowed No. 13 from Detroit) was run up to the scene as soon as the accident was reported there, and on this train practically all the injured from the west-bound train were loaded and started for the company's hospital at Peru, Ind. A relief train from Montpelier, O., took more of the injured from the eastbound train and also started for Peru. Pending the arrival of these ambulance trains A Dearth of Curates. Bishop Knox, in the course of an outspoken address to the Church Pastoral Aid society in Birmingham, attributed the dearth of curates not to lack of money, but because men could not be found. "WHAR DEW I CUM IN?"

(Being the Soliloquy of a Farmer on the Free Raw Sugar Question.

Thar's a mighty lot er talkin' about farmers 'n thar rights, 'N the wonderful prosperity that beet growin' invites. Thar's er heap of foolish crowin' 'n the "beats" begin ter shout 'N holler fer the Tariff ter keep free sugar out! But I notis that the beet-producin' farms are very few, An' the farmers through the country ain't got much ef it ter dew. The hull land ain't a-raisin' beets, 'n ain't goin' ter begin, Beet growin's right fer sum, I guess-but, whar dew I cum in?

The farmer gits four dollars now fer every ton o' beets-A hansum price, I must allow-but hidin' sum deceits. Beet sugar manyfacterers admit es they hev found Thet "granylated" costs 'em sumthin' like tew cents a pound. In fact thet leaves a profit on which they'd greatly thrive-And-if it kin be sold fer three, why should we pay 'em FIVE? It seems ter me es thet's a game thet's mighty like a skin-But-if thar's any benefit-waal-whar dew I cum in?

When Uncle Sam's in want o' cash we're glad ter help him out, 'N we'll stand all the taxes thet are needed, never doubt, But when his pocket-book's well lined an' nary cent he lacks, Et seems ter me his duty's ter repeal thet sugar tax. Them fellers wot is interested sez it's to protect The beet-producin' farmer that the duty they collect, But I guess that explanation es a little bit too thin-The sugar maker,-he's all right;-but-whar dew we cum int

Take off raw sugar duty an' the price will quickly fall, To everybody's benefit, fer sugar's used by all. The poor will bless the Government thet placed it in thar reach-('N millions of our citizens free sugar now beseech) The dealer 'll be delighted-less expenditure fer him-More demand 'n bigger profits-which at present are but slim, An' the farmer 'll be as well paid as he ever yet hes ben-But he'll buy his sugar cheaper-thet's whar he an' I'll cum in.

Now, whar's the sense er reason of the sugar tax to-day, When our treasury's a-bulgin' an' we hev no debts ter pay? The duty on raw sugar's Fifty million every year-An' the people's got ter pay it-thet's a fact thet's very clear. Fifty million! Great Jerusha! Ter protect beet magnates, too, Why should they tax ALL the people—just ter help a scattered FEW? And the FEW? Beet-sugar MAKERS! Don't it really seem a sin Thus ter help an' fill thar coffers? Whar dew you an' I cum in?

The farmer growin' beets hes got a contract price fer years,-Free raw sugar wouldn't hurt him, an' of it he has no fears, But mebbe, like myself-he's also growing fruit so nice-Ter preserve it-at a profit-he needs sugar-at a price! The repealing of the duty, surely cuts the price in two-Thet'll make a mighty difference, neighbor, both ter me an' you! Let the sugar manyfactrer make such profits as he kin-Ter him it may seem right enuff-but whar dew I cum in?

An' I ain't agoin' ter swaller all the argyments they shout Thet the farmers need protection-an' must bar raw sugar out, Common sense is plainly showin' that the people in the land Want raw sugar free in future-an' its freedom will demand. 'Tis a tax no longer needed-hateful to the public view,-Taxing millions of our people to enrich a favored few. They can't blind me any longer with the foolish yarns they spin,-While they're busy makin' money-whar dew you and I come in?

I'm agoin' ter keep on hustlin', talkin', pleadin' with my frends,-Ain't no sense in lettin' others gain thar selfish privet ends. I'm agoin' ter write termorrer to my Congressman 'nd say Thet he oughter do his best ter kill that tax without delay! Feller-farmers, do your utmost-whether you grow beets or not-To repeal the tax on sugar-you can but improve your lot! Cheaper sugar helps your pocket, greater blessings you can win-When we've three-cent granylated-that's whar you an' I cum in!
