AN ATTEMPT AT MURDER.

Strikers Fire at Superintendent o Colliery at Old Forge, Pa.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Official-Gets Away in a Locomotive.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 12.-It was earned at the office of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company today that an attempt was made last night on the life of Supt. Thomas Thomas of the William A. colpresent at the meetings of the convention will be more than 1000.

Old Forge, north of this city.

For the last four days crowds have been gathering each morning and evening on a hill which overlooks the colliery and throwing stones at the men at work within the enclosure. They day and night superintendents do not live in the colliery as do many of the other employes, and they are taken to and from the colliery on a locomotive. Last night the night superintendent reached the colliery safely.

Fired On from Ambush. A few minutes late Supt. Thomas came about and when about 200 yards from the breaker, he says, a number of men, who were in ambush, opened fire on the locomotive. Fortunately the engine was traveling rapidly and it was soon out of range of fire. The officials say about ten shots were fired.

There were six persons in the locomotive, the engineer, fireman, conductor, two brakemen and Supt. Thomas. As soon as the firing began the six men imposition. mediately dropped to the floor of the lo-comotive and its tender, and in that way saved themselves. The window panes of the cab were broken and the locomotive and tender were perforated with bullets and buckshot.

This emphatic statement was made to the assembled newspaper correspondents by President Mitchell in his office at strike headquarters last evening. Asked what he had to say regarding the correspondence between himself and the presidents of the coal-carrying railroads, which control more than $60 per cent. of the anthracite mines in which he said:

"I have nothing to say now. We ask no better presentation of our cases than the operators' statement makes for us."

With reference to the soft coal strike in West Virginia the national labor leader had this to say:

"At present there are 28,500 mine workers on strike in the West Virginia, where there are 3000 mine workers, are incomplete and I, therefore cannot say anything as to the situation in that state. I think we will win that strike too."

THE OLDEST STOVE.

Richmond Claims One Which will Rank with the Best.

According to a Philadelphia newspaper the oldest stove in the country is at present on exhibition in Minneapolis, Minn.

From the description this old stove is something after the fashion of the one which we have here in our state capitol. which we have here in our state capitol. It stands upon legs or end supports, similar to those of a sewing machine, only that they are about half as high and of much heavier casting. The total weight of the stove is 500 pounds. It is 3 feet long, 32 inches high and 1 foot wide, with a hearth extending in front. There is no grate in the bottom, the fire being built directly on the bottom of the stove, the heat passing from below the oven, back of it and over the top of the pipe. The outside has scrolls and designs and crowns in relief, much after the fashiou of the stoves of today, and on both sides cast with the metal are the words, "Hereford Furnace, Thomas Maybury, Mfr., 1767." We are assured that the stove is 1767." We are assured that the stove is well preserved, in spite of its age. The surface has a finish which is technically known as "pebbled."

Expensive Loss of Temper. Mr. D., of Boston, a devotee of the wheel, was not long ago visiting in one of the small towns of Western Massachusetts. He was taking a spin about its streets shortly after his arrival, when he was run down, as he afterward declared, by a negro, and knocked off his bicycle. The fall not only ruffled his dignity and his clothes, says Harper's Magazine, but broke his skin and his wheel.

These combined injuries made a breach in his placidity, and he picked up a stone and threw it with accurate aim at the colored man and brother. This infraction of the peace resulted in his arrest and in his conviction in the local court of justice. "I fine you $5," said the judge. "Have

WEAPONS OF THE CHINESE.

How Their Arms Were Evolved-Method of Designating Rank. The prominent part played by China in the world's affairs during the past seven years has aroused the interest of collectors who have brought to this country many specimens of wares and goods peculiar to that part of the far east. None among these are of greater historical value than the weapons which are in use in all provinces of the empire, even in the districts where the imperial armies are equipped with European firearms. One of the best collections was shown in this city not long ago, and is now in the possession of the commercial museum at Philadelphia. Single specimens of value are to be found in the Chinese club rooms in Chinatown, and in many brica-brac stores scattered about the city. years has aroused the interest of colabout the city.

A careful study of the weapons show A careful study of the weapons shows that most of them are naught but industrial appliances suddenly employed for purposes of offense. One spear is a pitchfork and another a trident similar to the eel spear employed by our own fishermen. Another ghastly weapon when examined carefully proves to be a scythe blade fastened to the end of a strong pole. The halberds are hatchets, axe heads, adzes and cleavers wired or tied with thongs to stout staves. Even the spears and lances show an agriculthe spears and lances show an agricul-tural or domestic rather than military

These weapons may be viewed as historical souvenirs which are preserved as testimonials of the bravery of the Manchu conquerors. The Tartars take great pride in their conquest of the middle kingdom. Before they came from the kingdom. Before they came from the north they were savages in comparison with the civilized Chinese. They preserve this fact in their laws and customs. The cuff of every officer's coat is made in the form of a horse's hoof to indicate that the Manchurian armies were cavalry, not infantry. The official footwear is a cavalry boot, which, though made of satin with kid-covered soles, is in cut and general appearance the same as the heavy leather articles worn by their ancestral troopers 300 years ago. When they conquered China they experienced the strongest resistance from the farmers and fishermen, who armed themselves with whatever came to hand and attacked the invaders with fierce intrepidity.

to hand and attacked the invaders with fierce intrepidity.

In honor of these victories they retained the primitive weapons of their captives and used them as trophies of their battles. Each Manchu officer employed a lot of Chinese captives and armed them with their own spears, tridents and axes as the case might be. The practice has been kept up ever since. When a Mandarin goes calling he has one or more guards in his retinue who are armed with these simple contrivances. So far has the idea been pushed that in nearly all the temples there are weapons which belong to the god of the temple, and these are usually of the same agricultural character as of the same agricultural character as those employed by the guards of civil and military officers.—New York Even-

The Parisian Ragpickers. The Parisian Ragpickers.

Very many of the Parisian ragpickers will be thrown out of employment by the contemplated scheme of the municipal council for the collection of the city rubbish. The chiffonniers, who number about 75,000, and have a corporation of their own, may be depended upon to fight for their interests and not to succoumb tamely to innovations. In 1832, when the cholera raged in Paris, a number of newly invented dust carts, intended to clear the streets of rubbish quickly, ed to clear the streets of rubbish quickly, were promptly smashed by the ragpick-ers. Mrs. D. Arnold, President German Woman's Club, Grand Pacific Hotel, Los Angeles, Cal., Relieved of a Tumor by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - I suffered four years ago with a tumor in my womb, and the doctors declared I must go to the hospital and undergo an operation, which I dreaded very much and hesitated to submit. "My husband consulted an old friend who had studied medicine, although he was not a practising physician, and he said he believed that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would cure me. That same day I took my first dose, and I kept it up faithfully until twelve bottles had been used, and not only did the tumor disappear, but my general health was very much improved and I had not felt so well since I was a young woman.

" As I have suffered no relapse since, and as I took no other medicine, I am sure that your Compound restored my health and I believe saved my life."-MRS. D. ARNOLD,
