himself in an interview confined his expressions to purely political matters. From Mr. Mitchell nothing could be obtained beyond the bare statement that he would return to Wilkesbarre tonight. In no responsible quarter has it been possible to obtain even an admission that a new set of negotiations were on foot, though there were various rumors that a settlement of the anthracite coal strike was in sight.

Senator Penrose, after the conference in Senator Platt's office, said that there had been nothing accomplished at the conference that would lead to a settlement of the strike. He and Senator Quay, he said, were contemplating returning to Philadelphia today.

Mr. Nicholls, one of the anthracite district presidents, said: "President Mitch-ell has the power to settle the strike only in the event that all the demands of the men are granted. If these demands are not granted the question must be referred to a convention. In view of this it is pretty certain that the miners will not be at work by Monday as was rumored to-day. I do not take much stock in the various peace rumors. While it is pos-sible the strike may be settled by Mon-day, it is highly improbable." President Olyphant of the Delaware &

MUST HAVE COAL.

Delegates to Detroit Conference Favor Government Ownership,

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 9 .- With the object Detroit, Mich., Oct. 9.—With the object of formulating a course of action sufficiently powerful to force a resumption of hard coal production, and, if possible, to open the door to a settlement of the strike in the authracite coal fields, representatives from three score cities, sixstrike in the anthracite coal nelds, representatives from three score cities, sixteen states and the District of Columbia assembled in Detroit this morning.

"We intend to see that a way is opened to get coal and thus remove the threat of widespread human misery that is coming."

It is once more in his cell. The escape of Murphy on a prison engine was most daring. Murphy was fireman and Edward O'Brien, a citizen, was engineer of the prison train. Aldrich, a prisoner, served as brakeman.

The locomotive was switching in the to get coal and thus remove the threat of widespread human misery that is coming with winter," said Mayor William C. With winter," said Mayor William C. Maybury, whose energy has made this conference a reality. "We intend to see, too, that the men who are preventing the mining and marketing of coal by their arrogance and insulting disregard for the public welfare are swept aside. Our chief effort will be to formulate a plan of how to get the coal into the markets."

Government Ownership.

The prevailing sentiment among the elegates is one of resentment against the mine operators. The conference plan proposed contemplates the swinging of a club over the heads of the mine owners and backing it with all the power that is represented by the national government.

The plan urged is the formulation of a demand for immediate legislation by Congress which shall place the coal fields gress which shall place the coal fields under close government control. On all sides it is held that the action of the operators at the Washington conference had advanced the cause of municipal ownership by fifty years, and extreme arguments along this line are expected. It is now planned that the enormous carrying charges levied on coal products by the coal-carrying roads shall be held up for public condemnation. This will be the chief argument for interference by the interstate commerce commission or a the interstate commerce commission or a higher authority if the former fails.

Roads Must Submit. Demand is made that the state authorities of Pennsylvania or the attorney general of the United States be formally called upon to proceed against the coal-carrying roads which net the Pennsylva-nia fields, and whose officials have refused to arbitrate with the miners, for violation of the Pennsylvania constitution. This problem has been referred to a number of prominent legal authorities for advice as to what course shall be taken in enter-

We desire to assure you again that we feel keenly the responsibility of our position and the gravity of the situation, and it would give us great pleasure to take any action which would bring this coal strike to an end in a manner that would safeguard the interests of our constituents.

In proposing that there be an immediate resumption of coal mining upon the conditions we suggested in the conference at the white house we believed that we had gone more than half way and had met your wishes.

It is unnecessary in this letter to refer to the mallclous assault made upon us in the state capitol at an early hour and immediately sent Adjt. Gen. Jumet back to New Orleans to co-operate with Gen. Glynn and the local authorities.

Washburn, Wis., Oct. 9.—[Special.]—
The preliminary examination of Emma Thomas, alias Alice Cassody, charged with the murder of Michael Miller, the logging road superintendent at Nash, was concluded this morning. The attempt made to set up a suicide theory was thoroughly exploded by the state and the presence of the defendant in the vicinity of the tragedy was as firmly established as circumstantial evidence could permit. Judge Warden bound the defendant over to the circuit court and placed the witnesses under bonds.

a demand that has steadily increased as a result of the universal satisfaction given by Mayer's shoes.

Milwaukee being the home of the biggest leather tanneries in the world, and also the market for the very best shoe leather known, gives the Milwaukee manfacturer advantages in cost as well as the choice of leather, that outside manufacturers cannot obtain thus enabling facturers cannot obtain, thus enabling the Mayer shoe factory to turn out better shoes at less cost than outside competi-

Wis., is a prominent dealer of the Elks' lodge and declares the members of this order, together with those of the Odd Fellows and Masons, were conspiring against his life. He was seized with this hallucination several weeks ago had since that time has been armed with two revolvers and a rifle. Three weeks ago he called at the home of his brother in this called at the home of his brother in this city, and while seated on the veranda in front of the house he noticed the electric light flicker and promptly declared that it was the effort of his brother to extinguish the light that he might rob him in the darkness. Going into the house he procured his weapons and, under the point of the rifle forced his brother, under penalty of death, to take to the woods. Fearing the worst, the latter obeyed the commands and for nearly twenty-four hours the two men wandered aimlessly about in the swamps and woods. Becoming weary of his task, the insane man finally sat down and fell asleep. John Uecke took this occasion to escape, and, going to the city to notify the officers, he left his brother in the woods. The sheriff arrived promptly, but found the demented man had gone, and for three weeks Uecke wandered around the northern woods threatening the lives of all who attempted his capture.

Uecke arrived yesterday at Green Bay and proceeded promptly to the home of a relative The commands and for making brid must have noticed, while soaring for his pleasure, that the noise of the train often put up game, and this gave him the idea of making

VINE OF CARDU

A Typical South African Store.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one haps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by L, Rosenheimer.
