FOND DU LAC NEWS.

Children's Row the Cause of a Strike. Fond du Lac, Wis., Oct. 22.—Twenty Italians employed by the Nast Bros.' Lime Company at Marblehead are on strike and the operations of the plant have been hindered to no small extent. The trouble grew out of a row that has existed between Charles Cilaro's children and those of the disturbing element. Cilaro is also an employe of the lime company. The Italians demanded that Cilaro be discharged and forced to leave the village. The Nast Bros, refused to recognize the demand and twenty went out on strike, declaring that the plant would remain idle until Cilaro was discharged. The Italian faction visited the drinking establishments and incited a number of the workmen not included in the row to join them. Thus far the com-pany has held out and Cilare is still at work in the quarry. No attempt toward violence has been made.

In the Police Court. Joseph McGinley was fined on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Fred Bert Gorman, charged with assault with intent to kill, was arraigned today. He was dismissed on motion of the dis-trict attorney. The complaining witness was the man's wife and she refused to appear against him.

MINERS AT WORK AGAIN. Sixty-Seven Per Cent. of Mines

Now in Operation. SOME FULL OF WATER.

At Several of Collieries Men Refuse to be Bound to Accept Results of Arbitration.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 23.-Reports from the entire anthracite region show that about 67 per cent. of the mines are in operation today. The collieries in the Lackawanna region are in better shape for working than those in any other region. The collieries in the Wyoming region are in good shape, being free from gas and water, but the large mines are still hampered by water. The same con-dition of affairs exists in the Lehigh region.

In the Schuylkill region the large nes are reported to be in better condition for work than was expected.

All the mines in operation will be hort in the normal output today, but by tomorrow it is expected almost the full output will be reached. After such a long spell of idleness the miners and laborers are "soft" and not capable of doing as hard a day's work as when they were "seasoned."

Reports are coming in from all over the mining region that many engineers, firemen, pumpmen, carpenters and company hands have failed to get their places back. The old employes are faring better with the large companies. A delegation of carpenters made up of employes from many collieries in the Wyoming region, called at President Mitchell's headquarters at noon and laid their grievances before him. They said miners and laborers had no trouble in getting to work, but other employes holding good paying position before they went on strike generally found their places filled with other men and the mine superintendents said men and the mine superintendents said there would be no change for the present. Mr. Mitchell advised his callers to be patient and await developments the next few days.

MINES NOT IN CONDITION. Full Quota of Men Cannot be Employed for Some Time.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 23.—The mining of coal with union miners was resumed in the Wyoming valley this morning. There was much activity at all of the collieries, but owing to the condition of many of the mines the full quota of men could not be employed. The fire bosses reported that many places were in a dangerous condition and the superintendents refused to allow the miners to enter those places. At least 15 per cent. of the mines in this department will not be able to resume work for several weeks, as the lower lifts are still flooded. The Stanton mine of the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal Company, which employs 600 men, will not be able to start up for two months. There was no friction between the union and nonunion men when they reported for work this morning. It is reported that in a few isolated cases miners who took a prominent part in the strike were not given work. The nonunion meu. A number of old engineers, pumpmen and firemen again applied for their old positions this morning, but were told there were no vacancies at present.

The collieries of G. B. Markle & Co. at Jeddo, Hight, Oakdale and Ebervale are in shape for resumption, but only a small number of men made application for their places. The company requires miners to promise that they will abide by the decision of the arbitration commission as required by a notice posted yesterday. John Markle announced that as soon as a sufficient number of men comply with the notice work will be resumed.

This is President Morton's view of the situation: "According to all reports from the worst of it and while the miners are being reinstated they are being left out in the cold."

We have supported the miners in every manner during the strike and believe the action of the firemen and engineers, and I do further agree to work with them as with any other employe."

The Hazelton shaft and the Yorktown collieries of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company were started up this afternoon.

At Silver Brook the mine workers refused to return to work because it is alleged the company will not take back twenty-seven of its former employes, among them two sub-bosses.

Troops were stationed at or near most of the collieries this morning, but no trouble of any kind occurred.

Dreher walked into No. 1 slope. They were blown about twenty feet and were badly burned about head and face. The gas extended deeper into the mines and gas extended deeper into the mines and while a rescuing party removed the two victims, another body of men began working their way into the breasts, where five men are thought to be imprisoned. Up to 10 o'clock the breasts had not been reached.

NOT ALLOWED TO WORK. Fire Bosses, Engineers and Stablemer are Not Reinstated.

Clearing Up the Gangways.

Pottsville, Pa., Oct. 23.—Much clearing up of gangways is necessary at many of the collieries before normal production will be obtained. Fully 75 per cent. of the mine workers are already employed and others will resume as soon as places are ready for them.

Conditions are favorable at Brookside. Good Spring and Eagle Hill collieries of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company and at the St. Clair colliery for large shipments in a day or two.

COAL TRAINS HAVE RIGHT OF WAY. Every Facility for Speedy Work is Being Provided by Railroads.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 23.—The Reading Railway Company officials do not expect any coal mined today to be brought down before late tonight or early tomorrow. They do not believe, however, that anthracite will be moving in any great quantities before early next week. About 100,000 tons is looked for the first week against a normal weekly average of 240,000 tons. All coal trains are to be given preference when loaded with the precious fuel and no delay on the road is to be countenanced. There will be no delay in the unloading of coal into the yards of the cities and towns and every facility for speedy work is being providfacility for speedy work is being provided for the train crews and shifters.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 23.-There are indications that the anthracite Delaware & Hudson companies' collieries in the Upper Lackawanna region except and the settlement of the labor troubles, in the Upper Lackawanna region except two, which were not ready.

About two-thirds of the Ontario & Western collieries resumed operations. The others were not ready, but will be started up inside of a week. All except one of the Eric Company's collieries were started. Work was resumed in almost all of the collieries owned by individual operators. No disturbance was reported. In those instances where men who returned to work were told that their places were filled the workmen departed quietly and contented themselves with reporting the matter to strike headquarters.

A leading local coal dealer of this city, dissatisfied with a demand that all orders must be accompanied with a promise to pay the coal business the order was sent, was so displeased that he said disappointedly that the only thing left for him would be to sell out.

"Do you mean it?" he was asked by the representative of the Pennsylvania coal road over which the supplies were shipped.
"I certainly do," he said, sharply.

Handle Coal.

Tuesday morning as the sun is spreading his rays over our little city in all its glory; the morning trains are rushing in, depositing their pas sengers, and taking new charges in return; the mail wagons are lined in front of the postoffice, waiting for their respective clerks to take charge of them, who are busy assorting the mails; the grain markets open with a business hum that gives the enterprising merchant that great feeling of a good day's business; the newsboys are rushing back and forth in their eager attempt to out do their competitors, yelling at the top of their voices the name, price and most interesting item of their paper; up and their respective clerks to take charge Wm. Fox, of Marion, is visiting prising merchant that great feeling of Clarence Flint visited his mother are rushing back and forth in their petitors, yelling at the top of their teresting item of their paper; up and down, this way and that way, rattle the vehicles, some large, some small; everything is business. Through all John Bonesho spent Sunday with this noise however, we hear the sweet strains of some unknown and unseen voice, first soft and low, then louder and louder until the vibrating sounds of the world famous song entitled "I am a Jolly Chimney Sweep" penetrate throughout the community. It was then discovered that on the residence of L. C. Kohler, our professional chimney and sorth segregator, J. M. Kohler, was exhibiting his skill. In conclusion the writer will say that John terms himself as only an amateur chimney sweep, but he has demonstrated on that eventful Tuesday morn that he is capable of standing in line with the best of the profession.

THE TWINE ECONOMY.

Some New Thoughts on the Preservation of String.

ittle flotsam and jetsam of infancy which he waves of time have left high and dry the arid plains of age.

"I always end up my prayers every night by saying 'God bless papa and mama and make me a good girl,,' said an aged woman recently. "I cannot give it up; it is like saying amen to my petitions. My dear parents have long since joined the great majority, but I always keep it up, and undoubtedly will do so until I die."

so much toward sweetening existence are almost all of them habits acquired in the nursery, which become second nature in after years and never leave one—marking the innate difference between gentle breeding and want of early culture. In some of these elementary remnants of nursery origin one can find trace of the teachings of some old nurse whose wise sayings used to be like inspired utterances, or of moral tales, particularly Miss Edgeworth's, that have had a lasting intence quite incommensurate with the aportance of the subject matter. Take importance of the subject matter. Take the cutting of twine around a parcel, for instance. How many women will insist upon the family painfully untying hard knots, no matter how long it takes to open the parcel, all on account of the historic hero of Miss Edgeworth's "Two Strings to a Bow," which depicted the ultimate triumph which resulted from the careful disentanging and preservation of ultimate triumph which resulted from the careful disentangling and preservation of a cord around a bundle. A ball of twine which costs a few cents will last the needs of an ordinary family for a year, and yet many excellent housekeepers refuse to purchase this simple luxury, rolling up conscientiously the untied strings that come around the parcels and putting them into a drawer for use. How frethem into a drawer for use. How frequently the supply gives out at crucial moments, and how often it is impossible to find a piece of the right length when in a great hurry, only the harassed head of the family whose wife's pet economy is the preservation of parcel cord and who refuses to buy twine in consequence could say

VICTIM OF THE POLICE.

Janesville Man Sent Up for Six Months for Telling Truth.

BEATEN AND ROBBED.

Gus Bretzke Claims to be a Victim of Chicago Robbers and Police in Combination.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 23 .- "For telling the truth to the Chicago police about themselves I got a sentence of six months in the bridewell."
That is the statement of Gus Bretzke, whose home is near Janesville, Wis., and who says he was a victim of Chicago robbers and police officers in combinasays he has been employed as foreman of masons in Janesville and other places. He came to Chicago from La Crosse strolled along that thoroughfare looking in at the shop windows. He went into a saloon and drank two glasses of beer. Stepping into a room in the rear he was followed by a man who robbed him of his money, tore off his watch chain, and, threatening his life if he made complaint, ordered him out of the place. Let Bretzke tell what followed in his own way:

"I was frightened and went out of the saloon. On the corner I saw a policeman.

"'I believe the police are in partner-ship with the thieves,' I said.
"'Come to the station and we'll show you, you —,' said one of the men.
'You don't know you are talking to officers, I guess.'
"They took me to a jail and locked me up. The next morning they made a scandalous charge against me. I tried to scandarous charge against me. I tried to tell the judge what had happened and what I had said, but he fined me $55." The officials at the bridewell were so much impressed with the appearance of Bretzke when he was taken in that the hair clipping, which is the rule, was not performed. Bretzke says this is the first time he was ever arrested. He has the appearance of a fairly well educated workingman. His story might never have come to light but for an accident.

Visitors Question Prisoner. Mr. and Mrs. Morris C. Cummings of Dearborn avenue and a party of friends had been visiting the John Worthy school and were at the bridewell when the pris-oners arrived. They saw at once that Bretzke was different from the others and asked permission to speak to him. He told them his story. Mr. Cummings gained Bretzke's con-sent to write to his brother, although the prisoner objected at first, feeling the disgrace of his position. The Astute Character-Reader Routed by Facts.

"I believe every word the young man said," declared Mr. Cummings. "It is bad enough for strangers to be beaten and robbed without being thrown into jail because they complain to the police. BANDIT'S FUNERAL.

Survivors of Quantrell's Guerillas to Attend the Obsequies of Jim Younger.

Lee's Summit, Mo., Oct. 23 .- Nearly all the survivors of Quantrell's guerillas will attend the funeral of James Younger today. There will be no funeral sermon. The coffin will not be taken into the church. The casket containing the body of the dead bandit rested all day in the home of N. S. Fenton, who married a niece of Cole and Jim Younger. Upon the casket was a bunch of roses given by John O'Connor, chief of police of St. Paul. A stream of people visited the Fenton cottage during the afternoon and night and filed past the coffin.

INDICTSEXPRESSCOMPANY Liquor Shipped C. O. D. Into Iowa Said to be Violation of Internal Revenue Laws.

Keokuk, Ia., Oct. 23.-The federal grand jury returned to the United States listrict court an indictment of the Adams Express Company for an alleged violation of the internal revenue laws. Persons at Birmingham, Ia., received C. O. D. packages of whisky from con-signors in Illinois, and paid collections and charges to express agents.

The grand jury and District Attorney Miles held that the C. O. D. method constitutes a sale of goods by the express company to the consignee, and hence re-quires a retail liquor dealer's license. The express company was indicted as a corporation under a California precedent. United States Marshal Christian will United States Marshal Christian will serve notice on the president of the Adams Express Company and the agent at Birmingham.
