trust act the court discusses the meaning of the word "trust" in the act, and adds that Congress "was careful to declare that a combination in any other form, if in restraint of interstate trade or commerce, that is, if it directly occasioned or effected such restraint, should likewise be deemed illegal. Moreover, in cases arising under the act, it has been held by the highest judicial authority in the nation and its opinion has been reiterated in no uncertain tone, that the act applies to interstate carriers of freight and passengers as well as to all other persons, natural or artificial; that the words 'in restraint of trade or commerce' do NOT mean in unreasonable or partial restraint of trade or commerce, but ANY direct restraint thereof; that an agreement beginn reilroads which requires restraint of trade or commerce' do NOT mean in unreasonable or partial restraint of trade or commerce, but ANY direct restraint thereof; that an agreement between competing railroads which requires them to act in concert in fixing the rate for the carriage of passengers or freight over their respective lines from one state to another and which by that means estrict temporarily the right of any one of such agricultures of such freight or passengers over its road, AS IT PLEASES, is a contract in direct restraint of commerce within the meaning of the act, in that it tends to prevent competition; that it within the meaning of the act, in that it tends to prevent competition; that it matters not whether, while acting under such a contract, the rate fixed is reasonable or unreasonable, the vice of such a contract or combination being that it confers the power to establish unreasonable rates and directly restrains commerce by placing obstacles in the way of free and unrestricted competition between the contract of merce by placing obstacles in the way of free and unrestricted competition between carriers who are natural rivals for patronage; and, finally, that Congress has the power, under the grant of authority contained in the federal constitution to regulate commerce, to say that thority contained in the federal constitu-tion, to regulate commerce, to say that no contract or combination shall be legal which shall restrain interstate trade or commerce by shutting off the operation of the general law of competition."

Under these propositions it is also held that if the stock had been entrusted to core person with instructions how to rote Power to Suppress Competition.

The organization of the Securities Company, it is held, "accomplishes the object, which Congress has denounced as illegal, more effectually" than by other methods.

The court continues:

"So far as the New Jersey charter is concerned the question, broadly stated, which the court has to determine, is whether a charter granted by a state can be used to defeat the will of Congress as expressed in a law relating to interbe used to defeat the will of Congress as expressed in a law relating to interstate trade and commerce over which Congress has absolute control. Presumptively, at least, no charter granted by a state is intended by the state to have that effect or to be used for such a purpose; and in the present instance it is clear that the state of New Jersey did not intend to grant a charter under cover of which an object denounced by Congress as unlawful, namely, a combination conferring the power to restrain interstate commerce, might be formed and

Department of Commerce.

In its wisdom Congress enacted the very inportant law providing a department of commerce and labor, and further providing there's under the secretary of commerce and labor for a commissioner of corporations, charged with the duty of supervision of and of making intelligent investigation into the organization and conduct of corporations engaged in interstate commerce. His powers to expose illegal or hurtful practices and to obtain all information needful for the purposes of further intelligent legislation seem adequate; and the publicity justifiable and proper for public purposes is satisfactorily guaranteed. The law was passed at the very end of the session of Congress. Owing to the lateness of its passage Congress was not able to provide proper equipment for the new department; and the first few months must necessarily be spent in the work of organization, and the first investigations must necessarily be of a tentative character. The satisfactory development of such a system requires time and great labor. Those who are intrusted with the administration of the new law will assuredly administer it in a spirit of absolute fairness and justice and of entire fearlessness, with the firm purpose not to hurt any corporation doing a legitimate business—on the contrary to help it—and, on the other hand, not to spare any corporation which may be guilty of illegal practices, or the methods of which may make it a menace to the public welfare. Some substantial good will be done in the immediate future; and as the department gets fairly to work under the law an ever larger vista for good work will be opened along the lines indicated. The enactment of this law is one of the most significant contributions which have been made in our time toward the proper solution of the problem of the relations to the people of the great corporations and corporate combinations.

Some eighteen months ago the inaustrial commission, an able and ago the inaustrial commission, an able and nonpartisan body, reported to Congress the result of their investigation of trusts and industrial combinations. One of the most important of their conclusions was that discriminations in freight rates and facilities were granted favored shippers by the railroads and that these discriminations clearly tended toward the control of production and prices in many fields of business by large combinations. That this conclusion was justifiable was shown by the disclosures in the investigation of railroad methods pursued in the fall and winter "Oh, no," replied Patience. "Indeed, it

Favoritism Violative of Justice.

It is clear that corporations created for quasi public purposes, clothed for that reason with the ultimate power of the state to take private property against the will of the owner, hold their corporate powers as carriers in trust for the fairly impartial service of all the public. Favoritism in the use of such powers, unjustly enriching some and unjustly impoverishing others, discriminating in favor of some places and against others, is palpably violative of plain principles of justice. Such a practice unchecked is hurtful in many ways. Congress, having had its attention drawn to the matter, enacted a most important antirebate law, which greatly strengthens the interstate-commerce law. This new law prohibits under adequate penalties the giving and as well the demanding or receiving of such preferences, and provides the preventive remedy of injunction. The vigorous administration of this law, and it will be enforced, will, it is hoped, afford a substantial remedy for certain trust evils which have attracted public attention and have created public unrest.

This law represents a noteworthy and important advance toward just and effective regulation of transportation. Moreover, its passage has been supplemented by the enactment of a law to expedite the hearing of actions of public moment under the anti-trust act, known as the Sherman law, and under the act to regulate commerce, at the request of the attorney general; and furthermore, additional funds have been appropriated to be expended under the direction of the attorney general in the enforcement of these laws.

All of this represents a great and substantial advance in legislation. But more important even than legislation is the administration of the law, and I ask your attention for a moment to the way in which the law has been administered by the profound juriet and fearless public serand ability, both of the anti-trust law and of the imperfect provisions of the act to regulate commerce. The first step taken was the prosecution of fourteen suits against the principal railroads of the Middle West, restraining them by injunction from further violations of either of the laws in question.

THE IMPRESSIONS OF A WOMAN.

What a Woman Says About Western Canada Although many men have written to this paper regarding the prospects of Western Canada, and its great possibilities, it may not be uninteresting to give the experience of a woman set tler, written to Mr. M. V. McInnes, the agent of the Government at Detroit, Mich. If the reader wishes to get further information regarding Western Canada it may be obtained by writing any of the agents of the Government whose name is attached to the advertisement appearing elsewhere in this paper.

The following is the letter referred Hilldown, Alberta, Feb. 5, 1903. Dear Sir-I have been here now nearly five years, and thought I would write you a woman's impression of Western Canada-in Alberta. There are several ranchers in this district who, in addition to taking care of their cattle, carry on farming as well. Their herds of cattle number from 100 to 200 or 300 head, and live out all winer without any shelter than the poplar bluffs, and they come in in the spring in good order. Most of the ranchers feed their cattle part of the time, about this time of the year, but I have seen the finest fat cattle I ever saw that never got a peck of grainonly fattened on the grass. You see I have learned to talk farm since came here-farming is the greatest district who never worked a day on me."-Miss Janer Paine, 530 West but not to an extent to damage crops, justice. which were a large average yield, and the hay was immense-and farmers vore a broad smile accordingly. We have good schools; the Government pays 70 per cent of the expense of education, which is a great boon in a new country. Of course, churches of different denominations follow the setlements. Summer picnics and winter concerts are all well attended, and as much, or more, enjoyed as in the East. Who would not prefer the pure air of this climate with its broad acres of fine farms, its rippling streams, its beautiful lakes, its millions of wild flowers, its groves of wild fruit of exquisite flavor, its streams and lakes eeming with fish and its prairies and luffs with game, to the crowded and stiff state of society in the East? I would like to go home for a visit some ime, but not to go there to live, even if presented with the best farm in Michigan. Beautiful Alberta, I will never leave it. And my verdict is only repetition of all who have settled in his country. This year, I believe, will add many thousands to our population. And if the young men, and old men also, knew how easy they could make home free of all incumbrance in this country, thousands more would have settled here. I would sooner have 160 acres here than any farm where I came from in Michigan; but the people in the East are coming to a knowledge of this country, and as they do, they will come West in thousands. All winter people have been arriving in Alberta, and I suppose in other parts as

COUNTING COINS QUICKLY.

Ingenious Invention of a Treasury Expert. An old treasury employe has just invented an ingenious coin counting machine. It consists of a round metal hopper into which coins are poured. From this the coins are fed into an attachment, or head, as it is called, which is kept constantly revolving by a crank operated by hand. Each revolution carries six or more coins through a registering device which keeps track of the exact number. There is a different sized head for each coin and the change from nickels to pen-nies or from dimes to quarters or coins of large denomination can be made inhave been held in the hot months, morning sessions being longer and the total hours about the same, but the school board decided against it this year. In response to petitions from some of the parents the board last night compromised by deciding to begin half-day sessions on May 11. Notwithstanding this a few leaders induced 101 boys to strike this morning. They marched about the building and at the first recess tried to induce the girls to join them, but they showed better sense. Several parents who heard of the trouble came and took their boys home and the rest were dispersed by the police. As a result of their stantly. It is estimated that with one of these machines a strong boy can accu-rately perform the work of five or six clerks. A device has also been planned which will count the coins in 100 or 200 lots and by the use of a paper carton they may be done up in packages ready for handling or shipment. By running them consecutively through the various heads a lot of coins may be separated and counted at the same time. The machine is expected to revolutionize coin counting methods.—New York Evening

Nervous Prostration. Thousands of cases might be quoted in which Peruna has been used to rescue people from the perdition of deranged nerves, and put them on the good, solid foundation of health. The County Auditor of Erie County, New York, Hon. John W. The spring is the best time to treat The spring is the best time to treat catarrh. Nature renews herself every spring. The system is rejuvenated by spring weather. This renders medicines more effective. A short course of Peruna, assisted by the balmy air of spring, will cure old, stubborn cases of catarrh that have resisted treatment for years. ought to have nerves. But they ought to be strong nerves, good nerves. Does your hand tremble? You are living too fast. Does your heart flutter at times? You had better call a halt. Americans live too fast. They crowd too much into a single day. They have too little 'eisure. The hospitals and insane asylms are filling up. The quiet, pastoral scenes of yore are becoming rare. It's time that we quit this sort of business.

How to Get Strong Nerves.

First, repair the injury already done to your nerves. The way to do this is to do exactly as did Mattie B. Curtis, Sector, Party of Legion of Loyal Women, Hotel Salem, Boston, Mass. She said in a recent letter: "I suffered for over a year with general weakness and debility manifested in severe headache and backache. I took four bottles of Peruna, and for two months have been entirely free from these maladies."

At first it was only about as large as a pinhead, but, as it was in a position where my collar, if not just right, would irritate it, it soon became very sensitive and began to grow rapidly. Last spring it was as large, if not larger, than a bean. A little unusual irritation of my collar started it to swelling, and in a day or two it was as large as half an orange.
