HE MAY BE POPE LEO'S NEXT.

Presides at Public Consistory, but Shows Weakness. ATTENDANTS ANXIOUS. Many Believe That Ceremony Is the Last That Venerable Pontiff Will Ever Hold.

Rome, June 25.—The public consistory, postponed from June 18, was held today with much pomp and circumstance and additional interest and reverence, for in spite of the reassuring news concerning the Pope's health, many persons believed that this would be the last consistory under Leo XIII.

The assemblage gazed at the venerable pontiff with intense curiosity and was redoubled enthusiasm in the cries of "Long live Leo." He looked a little more wax-like, a little more tired, his voice was somewhat thinner, and it was evident that his attendants were anxious.

There were many strangers among the crowd as he passed, and it was estimated that his attendants were anxious. Following the pontiff came a gorgeous cortege of priests and members of the papal court wearing velvet breeches and white stockings. The cardinals were escorted by the noble Swiss and Palatine guards, which, with the Swiss and Palatine guards, formed an imposing cortege.

Special tribunes were erected on both sides of the papal court, and the members of the diplomatic corps, the knights of Malta, the Roman aristocracy, and the Pope and relatives of the newly created cardinals.

Among the Americans present were Mr. Kennedy, secretary of the American college; Mr. Farrelly, secretary of the American consular; and Mr. Johnson, secretary of the American consular. The Pope and his relatives of the newly created cardinals.

On approaching the pontiff, the three cardinals knelt and kissed his feet and his hand, and the Pope then gave them the double ring, which the cardinals afterwards embraced the other cardinals.

Bestow Apostolic Benediction. The Pope thereupon rose, bestowed the apostolic benediction and preceded by the pontifical cross and surrounded by the cardinal deacons, he then retired. Subsequently the Pope rejoined the cardinals in the chapel and the pontifical benediction was given to the cardinals.

Gray?

"My hair was falling out and turning gray very fast. But your Hair Vigor stopped the falling and restored the natural color."—Mrs. E. Z. Benonnie, Colomes, N. Y.

It's impossible for you not to look old, with the color of seventy years in your hair! Perhaps you are seventy, and you like your gray hair! If not, use Ayer's Hair Vigor. In less than a month your gray hair will have all the dark, rich color of youth.

For the week ending Monday, June 22, reports received this week from correspondents show more clearly the effects of the frosts which occurred on the 11th and 12th, and while in many sections the damage to crops proved to be less than at first appeared, some portions of the state, particularly the Wisconsin valley, suffered severely. Field crops were totally destroyed only in limited areas where the conditions were especially favorable to frost, but growth was checked and recovery has been slow. The past week has not been favorable for rapid growth on account of the cool weather, although the rains have furnished sufficient moisture for present needs and improved the general situation materially. Warm weather is needed, particularly for corn.

Early plantings of corn in exposed localities were generally seriously injured by the frosts, and in a few localities totally destroyed. While corn on high ground escaped the frost, the cool weather has retarded growth and the crop as a whole presents a very unpromising appearance at the present time. The rains during the week were very beneficial and with warm weather a large percentage of the crop will recover from the effects of the unfavorable weather. Cultivation proceeded rapidly during the week and the fields are generally free of weeds.

Winter wheat and rye have undoubtedly suffered some injury by the frosts, but it is not possible at present to estimate the amount of the damage. The growth of straw-leaved and in most sections appears to be heading well.

The rains during the week were beneficial to oats, barley and spring wheat, but the cool weather retarded growth. Spring grains are, however, making satisfactory advancement, and the outlook is promising.

Early plantings of potatoes were injured in exposed localities by the frosts, and the crop as a whole is rather backward. The soil is generally in good condition, and with warm weather a rapid improvement would result.

Clay is in full bloom and some already harvested. Timothy is rank and heavy. The hay crop will be unusually large.

Late strawberries, blackberries and blueberries were injured by the frost in some localities but generally the strawberry crop is large and of good quality. The blight has made its appearance again on apple trees in some localities. Cherries and plums promise fair crops. Cranberries were badly injured in some localities by the frosts.

The boys were hauling a load of wood from Petr's woods and had neglected to hitch up the horse properly. They were descending a small hill near the church when the wagon ran onto the horse and over and the boys were both badly bruised by the wood falling on top of them, otherwise they escaped without being seriously injured. That is the way it happens to boys who do not mind their parents. They had been warned not to take out the horse. WAUCQUSTA WHISPERINGS. H. Dennert is building an addition to his house.
