Federal Judge Kohlsaat today issued an order to the Zion receivers authoriz-ing them to place $100,000 insurance on the Zion plants, none of which have heretofore been insured, and to employ such help as is necessary in order to continue the operation of the factories. The receivers were also instructed to enforce the Zion City ordinances so as not to offend the residents. Dowie Blames His People.

"Some of you have been naughty and have brought the hell hounds barking about Zion. Some of you have not obeyed me—you have not given to Zion as I have commanded. You have been naughty and should be spanked."

In these words John Alexander Dowie, at Zion City tabernacle last night, placed blame on his followers for the financial misfortunes which precipitated the re-ceivership of Zion properties granted by Judge Kohlsaat in the United States court at Chicago Tuesday night. For more than two hours the restorer paced the floor of the big Shiloh hall and alternately pleaded with the faithful for renewed support and berated them as if they were children for not contributing more liberally to the ventures of the prophet.

Big Claims Filed.

Creditors representing $120,000 in additional claims petitioned the court dur-ing the day to be made parties in the bankruptcy proceedings. They will probably be allowed to come in as additional petitioners. Among the new claims filed was one of $160,000 by the representatives of Samuel Stevenson, Dowie's brother-in-law and former associate.

Has Dowie a Tunnel? Whether Dowie's home, Shiloh house, is connected with the administration building, 200 feet away, by an underground tunnel, is a question that is puz-zling Custodian Paul Redieske. Dowie had an appointment with Redieske and while the custodian was standing at the door of the administration building waitdoor of the administration building for Dowie to appear he was notified that Dowie was awaiting him inside. Dowie kept another appointment today in the same mysterious way and then Redieske came to the conclusion that Dowie must be possessed of an underground passage between the two buildzround passage between the two buildings. Not once since the receivers seized Zion City has its founder been seen out of doors, yet he has held conferences both at his home and at the administration building.

Failure of New York Trip. The New York trip of the restoration host loomed up last night as the Moscow in the career of this Napoleon of religion. The defeat there was not only religions but financ'al. The failure aroused the distrust of Dowie's creditors. Within a month after his return nearly forty suits were filed against him.

Dowie himself, however, maintained last night that he not only could pay his debts, but that he possessed assets upon which he could realize at once and after settling in full have a nest egg of $2,000, the intimation was that he had a store of bonds and negotiable securities. A former official of Zion said he believed this was so.

Lamartine Resident Passes Away. Fond du Lac, Wis., Dec. 3 .- [Special.] Ward Lingenfelter of Lamartine, aged 80, passed away Tuesday evening at the home of his son Elmer at Lamartine his remains were laid to rest today. Lingenfelter came to Fond du Lac in 1840 and has lived in the county since then. His wife died about two months ago. During the past twelve years he has not been in good health himself, but the death of his wife seemed to shock him so severely that he failed rapidly.

This is the time of year when many of the societies all over the country sea-son their routine work with a bit of poli-tics, in choosing the officers for the en-suing term. The Fond du Lac Christian was then known as Bucksville, and boasted of 100 inhabitants. There was no canal or railroad in those days and the settlers had to hew down trees in order to make a clearing in which to build a house. During the first few years of Young's stay he made his home with Squire Pine, who lived on the corner of Pine and South streets. The Pine house is about 100 years old. It is now owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James D. Dixon.

Brigham Young was a carpenter, and old residents of Port Byron say that he was an expert at his trade, but work was sarce and he was always hard up. It was a long time before he saved money enough to buy lumber to build his own house. It was his intention to build himself a fine house, but it turned out to be a very ordinary frame structure. It be a very ordinary frame structure. It was built soon after the Erie canal was put through, and was located near the heel path side of the canal. The Young house has long since been moved. A part of the original structure now stands back of the Newkirk livery stables, and is upoccupied.

Brigham Young's family comprised his wife and one son, Brigham, Jr., who died recently at Salt Lake City. Young at that time was a firm believer in Mormonism. He left Port Byron, or Bucksville, in 1850, and went to Seneca Falls. From there he went to Utah and subsequently became famous as the leader of the Mormons. In after years, when he was famous, one of his old acquaintances wrote to him and asked him if he was the Brigham Young of Port Byron, and if he were could he pay Squire Pine for a large board bill. Pire Squire was then an old man and in poor circumfor a large board bill. Squire Pine was ceived a letter from Young, and inclosed was the money in full for his board with interest. CONSTIPATION

A distressing case of Fibroid Tumor, which baffled the skill of Boston doctors. Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, Mass., in the following letter tells how she was cured, after everything else failed, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Hayes' First Letter Appealing to Mrs. Pinkham for Help: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - I have been under Boston doctors' treatment for a long time without any relief. They tell me I have a fibroid tumor. I cannot sit down without great pain, and the soreness extends up my spine. I have bearing-down pains both back and front. My abdomen is swollen, and I have had flowing spells for three years. My appetite is not good. I cannot walk or be on my feet for any length of time.

"The symptoms of Fibroid Tumor given in your little book accurately describe my case, so I write to you for advice."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. Haves, 252 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.

Note the result of Mrs. Pinkham's advice-although she advised Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, to take her medicine—which she knew would help herher letter contained a mass of additional instructions as to treatment, all of which helped to bring about the happy result.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham: — Sometime ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and to-day I am a well woman.

"The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system. I can walk "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors of female trouble of any kind to give it a faithful trial."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. Hayes, 252 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.

Mountains of gold could not purchase such testimony—or take the place of the health and happiness which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought to Mrs. Hayes.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women; all ovarian troubles; tumors; inflammations; ulceration, falling and displacements of the womb; backache; irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation. Surely the volume and character of the testimonial letters we are daily printing in the newspapers can leave no room for doubt.

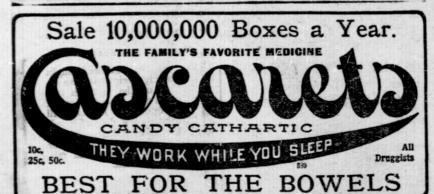

Mrs. Hayes at her above address will gladly answer any letters write for fuller information about her illness. Her gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so genuine and heartfelt that she thinks no trouble is too great for her to take in return for her health and happiness

Truly is it said that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing so many women, and no other medicine; don't forget this when some druggist wants to sell you something else.

The green had come off on her dress, and she had strong suspicions of the grass being damp; but she had been upheld all through by the feeling that Letty would come back engaged to a man of uncounted wealth. And now a single glance at her niece's face told her that nothing definite had been said.

"At least there is one comfort, she has not refused him," Lady Eversmore thought, as the three strolled back towards the river. "She would not have dared to have looked me in the face if she had. Also I think I know a refused man when I see him, and that man is not

INFATUATION. Letty was very miserable. All the pleasures she had anticipated from the London season were dimmed by the per-petual fear in which she lived of being roposed to by either Lord Uptonbury or little Sir Frederick Hobson. If Philip Redcliffe were back it would not have been quite so bad, but she tried not to think of him, and the true heart he had offered her, for she felt drawn more and more each day towards handsome Cyril Fortescue.

Jonathan Hutchinson, during his reent trip to India, made some interesting bservations on disease, and he comments upon them in his usual interesting way. In the Polyclinic for May appears an editorial on the cause of cancer an editorial on the cause of cancer, which, if we mistake not, is from Mr. Hutchinson's pen, for it has all the earmarks of his style and of his turn of thought. The writer of the editorial calls attention to a peculiar form of cancer that prevails in Kashmir—the "Vale of Cashmere" of the poets. This variety of cancer is an epitholioma, which is not peculiar in an historical sense, but is merely of peculiar origin. The site of the growth is either the abdomen or the inside of the thigh. Of twenty cases, reinside of the thigh. Of twenty cases, re-ported by Elmslie as long ago as 1866, four were in females and sixteen in

This is a small brazier, filled with burning charcoal, and is carried underneath the clothing. It is of earthenware, protected by wickerwork. When the bearer is in the erect position the kangri hangs on the abdomen, but when sitting it is placed between the thighs. In Kashmir no man, woman or child thinks it possible to be comfortable in winter without a kangri under the clothes. Other writers have described this peculiar custom, and a reference is made to it in the British Encyclopaedia.

Recently some valuable additions to four knowledge of kangri cancer have been made by Dr. Neve, the head of a mission station at Kashmir. He proves that the disease is common, for he refers to nearly 500 cases. These cases point indubitably to local irritation—frequently repeated burns from the kangri—as the cause of the disease. In this respect the subject of kangri cancer offers nothing new, for the fact that cancer originates in local irritation is generally accepted.—Philadelphia Medical Journal. kangri.
