Superintendent Frank Peachin, of the Wisconsin division of the North-Western road, announces that beginning January 1st the company will designate conductors who have been in the service five years or more by gold stripes on the arms of their uniforms. He said that 150 yards of gold lace would be required for conductors on the Wisconsin division alone. The two oldest conductors in the road's employ, both of whom run between Chicago and Milwaukee, are Michael J. Whelan, of Milwaukee, and Bernhard Cavanaugh, of Chicago. Each has seen forty years of service. Too many merchants look upon advertising as a scheme to help the editor. With rural delivery and department stores sending out tons of advertising matter, the country merchant must have goods and prices and he must advertise or get run over in the march of civilization. His rents are less, his help costs less, and he can compete with the city retailer, and pay his advertising too; and the time has come when he absolutely has to do it. Country merchants are finding this out and are taking advantage of it. Country papers are showing half page and whole page ads, that carried but small ads, heretofore. Get on the band wagon of the automobile will butt you into the middle of next week.—Platteville Journal.

Louis Broecker returned home last week after staying in Montana for the past six years. Mat. Marx, of Lomira, gave us a short call Sunday while on his way to visit his parents. Our postmaster and cheese-maker were out rabbit hunting Sunday and got what Paddy shot at. Dr. William Hausmann and family, of West Bend, spent Sunday and Monday with the Petri family. Christ. Struebing and son Charles and family, of Elmore, spent Sunday with Henry Brandt and family. John Schmidt, Jake Gudeck and Peter Kohn spent Christmas with Peter Kohn and wife at Fond du Lac. Our postmaster must be expecting a long, cold winter, judging by the big supply of wood he is putting in. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Martin, of Kewaskum, and Miss Ida Martin, of Bloomer, spent Sunday here with the Andrew Martin family. Lost—A black Shephard dog with white feet and ring around his neck, anyone knowing of its whereabouts will please notify Nic. Hoerig, R. F. D., Campbellsport. WAUCOUSA WHISPERINGS. Happy New Year! John Flanagan was at Dundee last Tuesday. Mrs. C. Pieper had a feather stripping bee last Tuesday evening. Mrs. L. A. Terry and daughter Dell, were callers at Fond du Lac Monday. The Bamboo Queen company gave a very good show here last Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. R. Kalling entertained a number of their friends at their home last Saturday. John Pieper, of the Theo. Never in the way, no trouble to carry, easy to take, pleasant and never failing in results are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. A vial of these little pills in the vest pocket is a certain guarantee against headache, biliousness, torpid liver and all of the ills resulting from constipation. They tonic and strengthen the liver. Sold by all druggists.

WE WISH OUR FRIENDS AND PATRONS A HAPPY NEW YEAR. L. ROSENHEIMER, KEWASKUM, WISCONSIN.

Because of the liberal patronage of our many hundreds of friends we have again enjoyed a remarkable business year. We extend to you the compliments of the season and wish you a prosperous New Year. The PICK-FOHN COMPANY.

EAGLE HOTEL. JOSEPH SCHMIDT, Prop'r. GOOD STABLES IN CONNECTION. Wines, Liquors and Cigars. KEWASKUM, WISCONSIN. LIVER TROUBLES. 'Tis DeWitt's Black-Draught a good medicine for liver disease. It cures you no matter how bad your liver is. It is the medicine I take.—MR. CAROLINE MARTIN, Parkersburg, W. Va. If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of DeWitt's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile. DeWitt's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A 25-cent package of DeWitt's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house. 'Tis DeWitt's Black-Draught for liver and kidney complaints and found nothing to equal it.—WILLIAM COFFMAN, Marblehead, Ill. The BOERNER BROS.' CO. WEST BEND, WISCONSIN.

Harmony in Clothes. One of the chief characteristics of our Hart, Schaffner & Marx suits is the artistic way in which the colors of fabrics, linings, trimmings, etc., are combined. In addition to giving their clothes style and superior quality, the makers of these goods evidently give a lot of attention to these harmonious combinations. You may think the buttons on a suit too small a matter to spend any thought on; but you'll find that even the selection of the right buttons is carefully done in these famous clothes. You should see the real art in these H. S. & M. suits. They're right in every respect.

CAN SHOE A HORSE AND COOK

Accomplishments of the Only Woman Blacksmith in the South. The village of Pilot Oak, Ky., boasts of the only woman blacksmith, perhaps, in the south. Clara Medina is her name, and she is only 18.

For more than a year she has been doing the work of a farrier and blacksmith in her father's shop. Her hands have a grip that an athlete would envy, yet they are neither rough nor coarse. Yet black hair and dancing black eyes has she, which are an attraction for the young men for miles around.

It is said of Miss Medina that she can shoe a horse or weld a tire with ease and dexterity, and that she has thoroughly mastered the business in every detail. In addition, she can paint and stripe a buggy as well as any carriage painter, and can go into the kitchen and prepare a meal that would tempt the appetite of any person.

Something New in Tunnels. In constructing the tunnel under the Hudson River, the Pennsylvania railroad will have its track supported a part of the way on screw piles connected by girders which are independent of the tunnel, thereby relieving the tunnel structure of the weight of trains passing over. This independent support of the track is out precedent in tunnel construction. The tunnels under the East river are almost entirely in rock.

The most valuable book ever published by a private citizen was published by the late Clara Medina in Baltimore. It is a collection of pictures and engravings in Baltimore.

Mrs. Rosa Adams, niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C.S.A., wants every woman to know of the wonders accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me, suffering from the peculiar to the sex, extreme lassitude and that all gone feeling. I would rise from my bed in the morning feeling more tired than when I went to bed, but before I used two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to feel the buoyancy of my younger days returning, and my regular, could do more work and not feel tired than I had ever been able to do before, so I continued to use it until I was restored to perfect health. It is indeed a boon to sick women and I heartily recommend it. Yours very truly, Mrs. Rosa Adams, 819 12th St., Louisville, Ky.

AN IDEAL SCHOOL

It Was Seen on a Little Journey Into Florida. "The schoolhouse itself, to begin with, is not a barrack. It's a charming building, as much as possible like our homes. The views from it are glorious; it's full of the purest air; its gardens and shrubbery are finer inside than there are flowers anywhere; and it is furnished beautifully; hung, too, with good pictures—good ones, not the dreary sort of things with which clubs and art associations so often endeavor the unshapely schools of the land. Why, I know, and I dare say you can parallel it, of a school that has on its walls a huge starting photograph of broken columns, labeled 'Roman Forum'; a colored print called 'My Mary, She Was a Dairy'; a 'plattitude' of a young girl in a white dress, entitled 'Christmas Bells'; and Sargent's never failing 'Hosea'; the pleasant young prophet in a beaming burrhead. The money for these was raised by a woman's club, and they were chosen from the catalogue of an 'educational company' by a committee of eminent citizens and their wives, who knew what they liked, and got it!

"Oh, I'm setting myself up, I'm well aware. But who can help it when the 'exactly what it is; confidence in yourself' is the motto of all things under heaven. It's the note of the American life; just the bad side, I suppose, though of a school that sounds so good."

"But our school, as the building is different in many ways from others, so is the life that is lived in it. You'll see but a handful of pupils in any one room, six or eight or ten. They're gathered around the teacher, and they're going to whisper! Think of that! O tempora! That is, if one of them is making some comment, or another upon what is being said or done, and will do it without interruption or certain cause, the teacher will say, 'Communication!' You allow communication, an excellent woman once said while visiting me, 'is the best thing in the world. You encourage matriculation! Her tone couldn't have conveyed more horror to the teacher's ears.'"

"This all means that our school work is vital. The children have the same sense of responsibility as we have. It is that of a group of brothers and sisters, all at home when the right kind of great or mother gathers them together in instruction. Perhaps I might claim that as one ideal—to make the school as similar as possible to the best home in the best home. Usually it resembles too much a 'zoo,' where the poor animals are crowded together in cages too clean, and dream of freedom. Even the very best schools are full of the same kind of things, and the children pay for their knowledge of partial payments and the restrictive relative of the teacher's hand, and the indignities and nearsightedness and indignation. Impressions Quarterly.

Mr. Grover's Case. Frederick, Ia., Dec. 28.—Mr. A. S. Grover is now 74 years of age. For the last 30 years he has suffered from the late sickness and, although he is a temperate man and never used spirits of any kind, his kidneys had troubled him very much. He said: "I was as weak as a kitten, and my symptoms corresponded exactly to those of a young man who died of Diabetes in this neighborhood. My feet and limbs were bloated quite a little."

"I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and at last determined to try them. I took in all ten boxes before I was well and now I can truthfully say that they are the best medicine I have ever used. I have gained eight pounds in weight and can sleep well at night and every symptom of my trouble has disappeared."

It is some time now since I was cured and I have not had the slightest return of any symptom of the old trouble. Just Rejuvenated. There is one fault in it which most people find fault with, and that is, it is a little higher in the world than they are to whom is owed the consideration, and he is ashamed of those less fortunate relatives, to despise and slight even father and mother if they do not get better, or intelligent as would be agreeable, to call them ungrateful and shake them off, no matter how much they love their proud and cruel contempt. Penetration of Bullets. Tests as to the penetration of the present rifle bullets in sand, loam and steel show the penetration into sand and loam at 50 feet does not exceed in inches to 300 yards 12 inches and at 1000 yards 10 inches. At 50 feet the velocity is so high that the bullets are completely stopped in the first six inches, the sand not having time to yield.

Jack Faulkener's Mistake.

A STORY OF ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

CHAPTER III.—(Continued.) JACK watched her for a few seconds gliding gracefully round the room in her dancing tulle, and noticed that she was listening to her partner's half-whispered words with the keenest interest. Then, pulling himself together to do his duty as host, he saw Mr. Smith coming towards him with an outstretched hand.

"Good evening," exclaimed the old man. "Dora has been here for some time, but you were not waiting to receive her." "I feel very flattered," Jack replied, with as much graciousness as he could muster under the circumstances. "I was obliged to go and speak to a friend. But here is your daughter, and I must go. That's right, my boy," said the old man, familiarly. "She will be very glad to see you. I wish you would help me to congratulate you, also give my consent to the engagement," and before Jack could utter a word he had disappeared.

"I am sorry she is not looking well," replied Mrs. Faulkener. "I have never seen her since the night of the ball, and I have missed her very much. You know she is a very good girl, and I wish you would help me to congratulate you, also give my consent to the engagement," and before Jack could utter a word he had disappeared.

"Rose, my poor Rose," Mrs. Darnell said. "She always was impetuous, and she is now more so than ever. Then bidding good-bye to her old friend, she returned to 'Mayfield' with a heavy heart.

"I am sorry she is not looking well," replied Mrs. Faulkener. "I have never seen her since the night of the ball, and I have missed her very much. You know she is a very good girl, and I wish you would help me to congratulate you, also give my consent to the engagement," and before Jack could utter a word he had disappeared.

household department. Break one egg into a cup and beat well with a fork, add two slightly rounded teaspoons of softened butter, 3 tablespoons of cold water and one-half level teaspoon of soda dissolved in a little warm water. Fill the cup with crushed or brown sugar, and turn into a bowl. Mix with two cups of whole wheat flour or a little more or less, and have a stiff dough. Roll very thin, sprinkling the board with white flour to make the rolling easy, and cut in small rounds. Bake on greased pans about 12 minutes, until a delicate brown, which will take less than a quarter of an hour.

Whole Wheat Cookies. Cream a cup of butter with one and a half cups of powdered sugar. Stir in the beaten yolks of six eggs, a pint of flour, a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and nutmeg, and a half teaspoonful of cloves. Have ready mixed and dredged with flour a quarter pound of shredded and minced citron, a half pound of seeded and halved raisins and a half pound of stemmed and cleaned currants. Stir this fruit into the batter, add the stiffened whites of the six eggs, then, last of all, a wineglassful of brandy. Turn into a buttered tin and bake about two hours.

Cold Stew. Shred white cabbage very fine; throw into cold water for ten minutes, drain and dress with oil, vinegar and salt. Another dressing is a tablespoonful of dry mustard, a tablespoonful of salt and sugar, half of each mix smooth with a half pint warm water and add a wineglass of melted butter or cream or oil, as preferred. Heat to boiling, stirring all the time. Take from the fire and add two well beaten eggs. Set over boiling water, and cook for ten minutes.

Baked Eggs. Put two tablespoonfuls of butter and two of flour in a saucepan; rub together, add a pint of milk, stir until boiling, add a level teaspoonful of salt, half the amount of pepper; cover the bottom of a larding dish with one-half this sauce; break into it six eggs; cover with the remaining half of sauce; dust thickly with grated cheese; stand in a pan of water and then in the oven to bake ten or fifteen minutes; most delicious.

Hannah of Venice. Make a large sheet of coarse paste of a little lard, four and enough cold water to mix. Roll the leg in this and put it in the dripping pan in the oven. Allow ten minutes to the pound. Before serving, break off the crust into pieces and serve with a very moderate amount of sauce made of equal parts of butter, currant jelly and Madeira wine. Melt the butter, add the jelly, and when that is melted, the wine; let it come to a boil and serve.

Shoulder of Pork. Make a large sheet of coarse paste of a little lard, four and enough cold water to mix. Roll the leg in this and put it in the dripping pan in the oven. Allow ten minutes to the pound. Before serving, break off the crust into pieces and serve with a very moderate amount of sauce made of equal parts of butter, currant jelly and Madeira wine. Melt the butter, add the jelly, and when that is melted, the wine; let it come to a boil and serve.

Baked Fish. Roll a dozen butter crackers fine and soak them in a quart of milk. Cream together a cup of sugar, a quarter of a cup of butter, a pinch of salt, a teaspoonful of mixed ground spices and half a dozen beaten eggs. Add this to the crackers, beat well and pour in another pint of milk. Butter a deep pudding dish, pour in the mixture and bake three hours in a slow oven.

Nut Scramble. Take two cups of hominy and one of milk. Cook thoroughly in a double boiler until a consistency suitable for frying. When done, take from the stove and stir in two coffee cups of ground lumpy nut meats; and, while hot, pour into a buttered milk pan. Stirred and fried, this makes a delicious breakfast dish in cold weather.

Apple Cheese Cake. One-half pound of apples, one-quarter pound of sifted sugar, one-quarter pound of butter, four eggs; pure and roll apples sufficient to make one-half pound when cooked, add sugar and butter, and the eggs, leave out the whites, stir and mix well; put in some party-pans with puff paste, put in the mixture and bake twenty minutes.
