In the actual conduct of the war Port Arthur has been a stumbling block to Japan, which, for six months, has had engaged there over 100,000 troops and practically her entire navy. This fact compelled Field Marshal Oyama to fight the battle of Liao Yang shorthanded. Now the entire navy is free to prepare to meet the Russian second Pacific squadron and to attend to the Vladivostok squadron. A heavy force of troops will be immediately available for service in Manchuria, and this possibly will allow the undertaking of other in-

Attacks on forts to the southeast were carried on simultaneously. Soon after midday on January 1 there came an explosion on South Keekwanshan. The Russians there immediately opened a heavy rifle fire, which soon ceased. Our scouts advanced and found that the enemy was evacuating the position after veritable bedlam. Shouts of "Banzai." were deafening and the enthusiasm reached its height when daylight dockets and aerial bombs were fired in various parts of the city and bands and a score of small processions formed and surged through the principal streets.

The final act in the spectacular drama began iast Wednesday, December 28, when the Japanese divisions were harled at the northern forts guarding Port Arthur in what was planned as the last general assault.

For five days without ceasing the assault was maintained. Day and night our artillery continued the fire, and assault followed assault in unending succession.

PORT ARTHUR HAS FALLEN Port Arthur Fell 9 P. M., Jan. 1, 1905, When Surrender Message Reached Nogi.

TEXT OF GEN. STOESSEL'S MESSAGE OF SURRENDER.

Received by Gen. Nogi at 9 P. M., January 1, 1905.

Judging by the general condition of the whole line of hostile positions held by you I find further resistance at Port Arthur useless, and for the purpose of preventing needless sacrifice of lives I propose to hold negotiations with reference to capitulation.

Should you consent to the same, you will please appoint commissioners for discussing the order and conditions regarding capitulation and also appoint a place for such commissioners to meet the same appointed by me.

I take this opportunity to convey to your excellency assurances of my respect.

(Signed) STOESSEL.

The above message is given in a report by Gen. Nogi to Tokio as follows:

"At 5 in the afternoon, January 1, the enemy's bearer of a flag of truce came into the first line of our position south of Shuishiyeng and handed a letter to our officers. The same reached me at 9 o'clock at night. Shortly after dawn today I will dispatch our bearer of a flag of truce with the following reply addressed to Stoessel:"

GEN. NOGI'S REPLY TO STOESSEL'S SURRENDER. I have the honor to reply to your proposal to hold negotiations regarding the conditions and order of capitulation. For this purpose I have appointed as commissioner Maj.-Gen. Ijichi, chief of staff of our army. He will be accompanied by some staff officers and civil officials. They will meet your commissioners January 2, noon, at Shuishiyeng.

The commissioners of both parties will be empowered to sign a convention for the capitulation without waiting for ratification and cause the same to take immediate effect. Authorization for such plenary powers shall be signed by the highest officer of both the negotiating parties and the same shall be exchanged by the respective commissioners.

I avail myself of this opportunity to convey to your excellency assures of my respect.

Tokio, Jan. 3.—9 a. m.—After one of the most bloody sieges in the world's history, lasting nearly eleven months and during which 100,000 human lives were sacrificed, Port Arthur, the Gibralter of the east, the stronghold which the Russian government had pronounced impregnable, has capitulated at every point, but were slowly driven back, step by step.

New Year's day broke with the antagodists still locked in conflict, and dawn marvelous they stood the final strain so the Japanese had firmly secured the Russian guns and positions on Panlung mountain, and the city was now open to us at this point, for the remaining defenses between the city and our advance post were slight and temporary.

At 9 o'clock Monday morning the first, center, and left column attacked the forts on Wantai mountain. Our artillery was cleverly used to screen the infantry advance and by using its protection the Japanese reached the fort.

But so stubborn was the resistance that not until 3:35 o'clock in the afternoon did we fully occupy the position on Wantai mountain, fighting of the fiercest character having been maintained for over six hours without ceasing.

bureaucracy.

Consequently, in spite of the loud protestations that peace is impossible, the opinion is held by exceedingly shrewd observers that the government may be forced to conclude peace with Japan in order to have free hands to deal with the internal situation.

With the increasing complications M. Witte, president of the ministerial council, looms up larger as the strong man to whom the Emperor will turn in the present crisis.

Tsarskoe Selo, Jan. 5.—Emperor Nicholas this morning received the reports of M. Witte, Financial Minister Kokkzovzoff and Minister of Justice Muravieff, representing the committee of ministers, in regard to the progress of their work in drafting the reform measures. Subsequently M. Witte lunched with his majesty and had a long conference with him. "He seemed fanatical on the subject, but finally he was brought to see reason by the insistence of his subordinates, Admirals Lochincky and Wiren, Gens. Smirnoff and Fock, and many others, sometimes with broken voices, urged the step which all dreaded so long."

Stoessel Reports How Port Arthur Grad-St. Petersburg, Jan. 3.-Gen. Stoessel's

The general reports that at the end of the siege he had only 10,000 men under arms, the remainder of the original garrison having been either killed or wounded.

Tells the Czar the Truth.

"Recently I had the happiness to see the Emperor. I reported to him truly in all sincerity the present state of public opinion. I tried to explain to his majesty that what is now proceeding is not a simple emeute, but a revolution.

"My strong belief is that if the Emperor will himself unite the national forces around him he will relieve Russia from the terrors of the impending bloody revolution. If he will do so the nation will support his autocratic power.

"Under existing conditions it is impossible to forbid the people from expressing their sufferings. It is impossible to keep silence when the country is in a dangerous position."

Russian Newspaper Says English War-St. Petersburg, Jan. 3.—The Novoe Vremaye declares that it has authoritative that British warships are following Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron and reporting its disposition and movements to Tokio from each cable port reached. The paper adds that the North sea incident has shown that Rojestvensky is a man whom it is dangerous to tamper with and advises the British government to call off its "official spies" and thereby prevent the possibility of the occurrence "in the Indian ocean of an incident which be regrettable to the British but Russia and whole of Europe."

state officers yesterday was a success, socially, and it is to be hoped, politically.

The inauguration exercises went off in the Assembly chamber according to programme, in the presence of all the people who could crowd in, while the adjacent halls and corridors were filled by expectant throngs waiting to see the officials pass by in procession.

At 3 o'clock the formal reception began, each officer in his own office, which was elaborately decorated with flowers, except the state treasury. Mr. Kempf took the oath with the others, but his office was not decorated, as those who are to go out and did not care for making a show, and he was not in such formal possession as to be really host.

In response to inquiries he said: "The governor was holding his official bond of $600,000 for inspection, and that anyhow he did not care to take possession until the assets had been checked up by an expert who would be here to make the transfer."

The principal center of the reception was the executive office, where Gov. Last Follette and ex-Govs. Taylor, Hoard and Peck received all who came, shaking hands and expressing good wishes.

The handshaking lasted from 3 to 5 o'clock, when that part of the exercises closed, to be renewed later at the agmination and the capitol, and held large crowds entranced.

The reception and ball in the evening was as crowded as all such functions are in a town where all social functions of the capitol, and held large crowds entranced.

The reception and ball in the evening was accorded and the music was all that of the propose of the following his office, where Gov. Last Schot, 1175 steady; natives, 4.00@5.16; lambs, 5.25@7.0

Fond du Lac, Wis., Jan. 5 .- [Special.] ded down a decision in the case of W. H. Fowe and P. G. Van Blarcom against R. N. Gage and William Kueer, granting a new trial to the plaintiff on condition that the payment of costs in the last trial be made. The court cays the verdict does not do substantial justice to the plaintiff and that it must be tried over. The proceedings which involve only $300, demanded as commission on a real estate deal, has already been before three juries, and the costs have far exceeded this amount.

CERTIFICATES ARE REDEEMED. The council last night in regular session righted a wrong in the assessment against property owners on East Arndt street for two sewers, when but one was built, by redeeming tax certificates against them and cancelling the same. Complaints were also heard against the assessment for sewers in the southeast part of the city, and referred for investi-gation. The Home for the Friendless was allowed $8 a month for the care of four paupers. The clerk was authorized to make a correction in the assessment against the Fourth street taxpayers for

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS.

The Women's Foreign Missionary so-icty of the Division Street Methodist ciety of the Division Street Methodist church held a largely attended meeting at the home of the Misses Chase, 171 Fifth street, yesterday afternoon. The general topic under discussion was Japan, and interesting papers were read by Mrs. Charles R. Trowbridge, Mrs. R. O. Irish and Mrs. J. L. Rogers. Mrs. Coleman, formerly of this city, now of La Crosse, told of the work of a united missionary society of that city. Refreshments were served. The next meeting ments were served. The next meeting will be with Mrs. N. C. Giffin, Miss Ward being in charge of the programme

Thomas A. Edison, The Man Who Thinks and Does Things, Turns

Says Satiety and Stuffed Stomachs Stupefy "I know men and women," said Thomas A. Edison, the great inventor, the other day, "who are food drunk all interpretation. It is self-explanatory. It applies to folks you and I know—lots of 'em. Folks who "live to eat," seemingly, rather than eat to live.

The unique expression requires no

When a person—man or woman—is only content and happy when gorged with a conglomeration of food, he is a food "drunkard," as surely as the whis-key guzzler is a whiskey drunkard. And it is not necessary to see one eat in order to tell the victim of the food debauch. He carries the sign in his complexion and in his figure. Ruddy and oily, apoplectic and paunched, he is marked of men.

And how much worse such symptoms appear to us in womankind, just as the liquor habit, bad enough in man, is doubly, trebly offensive to decency in the daughter of Eve. When the "fair" ones become the fat ones, with coarse complexions, discolored features and portly figures from the stuffing of food, the element of romance is lost, and the greed for the good things supplants the higher and nobler elements that make for the things we love in

Fortunately, there is relief for the man and woman addicted to the platter, as truly as there is relief, now, for the one addicted to the cup. The clear complexion, the return to shapeliness, the relief from obesity resulting from over-eating, will again bring joy to the intemperate eater who will but visit the nearest drug store and invest a quarter or fifty cents in Camp's Cura-tive Remedy, powder or tablets, and take it as directed.

This simple, vegetable, sixty-year old family remedy has proven its value in thousands of cases of food drunkenness long before Thomas A. Edison invented the expression. So great is the maker's faith in his herbal remedy that he guar-antees every claim he makes for it, or the druggist from whom you purchase is authorized to refund your money. You will find Camp's Curative Remedy on sale at your druggist's, guaranteed perience advises all young girls who have pains and sickness peculiar to their sex, to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many beautiful young girls develop into worn, listless and hopeless women, simply because sufficient attention has not been paid to their physical development. No woman is exempt from physical weakness and periodic pain, and young girls just budding into womanhood should be carefully guided physically as well as morally.

If you know of any young lady who is sick, and needs motherly advice, ask her to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., who will give her advice free, from a source of knowledge which is unequalled in the country. Do not hesitate about stating details which one may not like to talk about, and which are essential for a full understanding of the case.

> Miss Hannah E. Mershon, Collings. wood, N. J., says: "I thought I would write and tell you that, by following your kind advice, I feel like a new person. I was always thin and delicate, and so weak that I could hardly do anything. Menstruation was irregular.

"I tried a bottle of your Vegetable Com-pound and began to feel better right away. I continued its use, and am now well and strong, and menstruate regularly. I cannot say enough for what your medicine did for me."

ENGRAVING ON DIAMONDS. Difficult Work Done by a Parisian Jew-

Diamonds can be engraved in a very artistic manner. This development of the diamond cutting art brings into existence a new class of jewelry, for which a considerable demand is expected. It was long believed that the diamond could not be engraved with safe or satisfactory results. A few stones roughly engraved were found in India, and a diamond was exhibited at the Paris exposition in 1878 on which a portrait of the King of Holland was scratched. But the work was imperfect, and the stones were rather depolished than engraved. Some of the finest specimens of engraving on diamonds are the work of Bordinet, a Paris jeweler. One is a scarfpin representing monds are the work of Bordinet, a Paris jeweler. One is a scarfpin representing a yataghan, of which the blade is a slender diamond and the handle a ruby. Another is a large circular stone, on which a pansy with its foliage is engraved. In another case the design is a knife made with two diamonds. An elaborate piece of work is a bicycle, of which the wheels are two circular diamonds. The spokes are represented by lines engraved on the diamonds. A small hole is pierced at each axle. Another diamond is carved like a fish. A handsome brooch is a scarabeus, surrounded by sapphires and brilliants. The most remarkable is a ring made of

The most remarkable is a ring made of one diamond, the interior surface being polished and the exterior elaborately engraved. Other examples are brooches, representing flies, of which the wings are thin engraved diamonds, and two diamonds engraved with armorial bearings, the imperial arms of Russia being used in one instance on shirt and cuff buttons. Formerly it was only possible to produce the polish on flat surfaces, but Bordinet has been able to do this on concave portions, as on the body and tail of a fish and the interior of the ring. His tools produce not only straight lines, as in the wheel, the racquet and the flies' wings, but a free modeling, as in the pansy, the Russian arms and the scarabeus. He has invented these tools himself, and intends that his son alone shall have the use of them. They are exceedingly delicate and difficult to handle. He has spent thirty-five years bringing them to perfection. It is comparatively but a few years since it was possible to pierce holes in diamonds. This feat made possible the placing of diamonds on a string, alternating with pearls. This work now is done monds. ALLIGATORS IN VENEZUELA. filling Them Would Be a Very Profit-

Among the recent interesting reports received by the department of state was one on the subject of "Alligators in Venezuela," from United States Consul E. H. Plumacher at Maracaibo. He says "though but few alligator skins are sent abroad from here, it is not on account of the scarcity of alligators. It is strange that nobody has taken up the hunting of these reptiles. They are here in the lakes and lagoons and rivers in untold numbers and of all sizes.

"The skins are well worth securing, and alligator oil brings a high price, being used for medical purposes. In the Rio de Oro and Rio Tara I have seen thousands of large alligators, which come up to deposit their eggs on the sand banks during the dry season. It is the same in all the hundreds of streams which flow into the Lake of Maracaibo. Alligator hunting is fine sport, and, in Alligator hunting is fine sport, and, in my opinion, would be a paying business."

HAND-MADE PAPER.

Only One Man in This Country Said to Ninety per cent. of the writing pap hand-made paper is a product.

The reason why paper is not made by hand is simple. A modern paper making machine will produce a sheet of ordinary newspaper from 60 to 120 inches wide at the rate of from 150 to 400 feet a minute, or a sheet more than forty miles long in a working day of ten hours. It requires the services of five persons to make three reams of hand-made paper in a day.

There is a large demand for these hand-made papers for drawing, water-color painting, correspondence and special book editions. The difference between hand and machine made papers lies in the manipulations of the sheets.

In making a sheet of paper by hand the pulp made from rags by the usual process of washing and beating is emptied into an open vat along with a considerable quantity of water. Into this vat the workman dips a mould or framed piece of wire cloth at an inclination of about 65 degrees, and taking as nd-made paper is a product.

Col. Anthony's Religion The death of Col. D. R. Anthony has awakened a keen interest in his religious beliefs. The following article written by his son, published in the Leavenworth Times, sets forth his final religious con-"One night last week during one of his few conscious moments he called one of the members of his family to his bedside and dictated the following statement relative to his religious ideas:

and dictated the following statement relative to his religious ideas:

"I die in full confidence of a divine power, who made and controls the universe—that there have been no changes of control so far as we know.

"Whatever was made by that divine power is perfect and remains perfect.

"So far as the other world is concerned we do not know. Divine is for good and not for evil We believe that we should do unto others as we would be done by.

"I don't believe God ever created a devil. I don't believe that devil exists anywhere except in the heart of man or beast.

"Col. Anthony never professed any religion, but always exhibited a deep interest in any discussion of biblical matters. The teachings of Buddha appealed to him strongly, and he many times during life had expressed admiration for the wonderful power and great influence for good of the Roman Catholic church."
