gly, rather than eat to live. When a person—man or woman—is only content and happy when gorged with a conglomeration of food, he is a food "drunkard," as surely as the white key guzzler is a whiskey drunkard. And it is not necessary to see one eat in order to tell the victim of the food debauch. He carries the sign in his complexion and in his figure. Ruddy and oily, apoplectic and paunched, he is marked of men.

And how much worse such symptoms appear to us in womankind, just as the liquor habit, bad enough in man, is doubly, trebly offensive to decency in the daughter of Eve. When the fair" ones become the fat ones, with coarse complexions, discolored features and portly figures from the stuffing of food, the element of romance is lost, and the greed for the good things sup-plants the higher and nobler elements that make for the things we love in

America Taking Lead—Russia
Would Not Be Humiliated.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—President
Roosevelt was urged today to take some action looking to the termination of the Russo-Japanese war. The request was made by the Inter-parliamentary union through the president of the organization, Representative Bartholdt of Missouri.

Ysushima straits and Tsugarus straits. The Soya straits are barred by ice. Reports received here from Hokkaido and also from coasting vessels say Soya straits are not frozen over but are filled with floes and bergs, making navigation practically impossible. To further increase the difficulty of reaching Vladivostok the Japanese government announces that the lighthouses in the vicinity of Tsugarus straits will not be lighted except occasionally. The official announcement says this decision was necessary for strategic reasons and warns coasting and neutral navigators that in passing Tsugarus straits they must exercise the greatest care.

Mr. Bartholdt explained to the President that the consensus of opinion among the members of the union and among European parliamentarians, with whom he is in correspondence, was that the President of the United States was the one man, with the possible exception of the Emperor of Germany, who indicated the Overland Limited Wrecked. The wreeked train was the Overland imited No. 1, which left Chicago at 6:05 Wednesday night. There were nine paches, pulled by two engines. The broken rail was 300 feet east of the 200 foot bridge and the first engine passed over safely. The other and eight coaches following it left the track and piled into the ditch beneath the bridge, which was eighteen feet high. The bridge was de-stroyed by the impact of the derailed cars. The observation car on the rear of the train kept the rails.

Wrecking Trains Sent. Intelligence of the wreck was taken to Rhodes, a few miles west of the wreck, by Engineer Nichols of the first engine, who ran his eagine to that point. BULL MOOSE CAME IN. Laughed at the Commotion He Caused a Maine Man Declares. A big, bold, old bull moose who knew very well that no one would dare to shoot him, it being close time swaggered out of the Pushaw swamps one after noon and raised a great rumpus back of noon and raised a great rumpus back of Oldtown, Me.

William Smart was hauling wood with a pair of horses on the Gilman Falls road when the moose came into the road and tried to get acquainted with the team. Mr. Smart's dog, a small mongrel charged the moose with snappy barks. The monster retired in surprise for a few rods, and then, sizing up the dog as not dangerous, came back. Mr. Smart declares that the moose actually grinned at the thought of running from a six pound dog.

The horses got a good look at the moose, and that one look was enough.

The horses got a good look at the moose, and that one look was enough They whirled about, upsetting the sled and driver and scattering cordwood crossbars and bits of harness for two miles in their wild stampede for Oldtown. The moose watched the flying team until it was out of sight. The last seen of him he was scratching his back against the corner of Wilbur Gray's slaughterhouse, which rocked on its foundations. All of this happened within two miles of Oldtown city hall.—New York Sun.

WHERE THE GREAT WEALTH IS.

Great Riches of France Divided Among the Multitude.

In France a man is called a millionaire if he is the possessor of 1,000,000 francs, or, in other words, has property worth $193,000. According to a recent computation by Le Rentier, the French financial newspaper, there are not 20,000 persons in France who have that amount of property, though there are possibly ten persons in the country who have fortunes of $19,000,000 or mote. All the holders of great fortunes may easily be mentioned by name; only about 100 persons are worth between $2,000,000 and $10,000. The tier of the street corner is the personification of courtesy, as he answers the stranger's inquiries. No such examples of success among the nations.

Apart from the discussion of the question, which hardly deserves to be taken seriously, the pungent criticism of the American nation, furnishes food for reflection. Are we less polite than our neighbors? Outwardly, yes. It must be almitted that most of us have been too busy settling a new country, and striving for bare existence to put the utmost degree of polish of which we are capable upon our manners. In England the conductor of the omnibus says "Thank you." as he receives the fare. In France, the great fortunes may easily be mentioned by name; only about 100 persons are worth between $2,000,000 and $10,000. The tier of the street corner is the personification of courtesy, as he answers the stranger's inquiries. No such examples of politeness are furnished by public servants in this country. In the native courtesy that springs from the discussion of the question, which hardly deserves to be taken seriously, the pungent criticism of the discussion of the question, which hardly deserves to be taken seriously, the pungent criticism of the pungent criticism of the amount of properties and the follows.

Guide in British Columbia Finds Rival of the Famous Mammoth Cave. the Famous Mammoth Cave.

Charles Deutschman, a guide, has discovered near Revelstoke, British Columbia, what he believes to be the largest cave in America.

The cave is within two miles of the main line of the Canadian Pacific railroad, and has four entrances, three of which have been explored. The length is nearly two miles, and in some places the depth is 2000 feet. Tiers of ledges in the interior assisted the explorers in descending several hundred feet. Testing Flour at the Big Mills. It is surprising to note the differenthat exists between the various brands of flour. It all depends on how the flour is milled and on the kind of wheat from which it is made. Flour made from hard spring wheat will give from twenty to forty more loaves of bread per barrel than that made from the softer winter wheat. It contains a larger percentage of gluten and absorbs more water. The mills are exceedingly careful about the kind of flour they send out, and the testing department is one of the most important branches. After the flour is ground comes the crucial test. A sample is taken and made up into bread. We have four bakings a day, and from twenty to thirty loaves are baked each time, each one representing a sample of time, each one representing a sample of flour. After the test has been made the bread is turned over to the Associated Charities.—Week's Progress.

The Remedy That Makes New Blood

Banishes Weakness, Headaches, In-digestion and Nervous Troubles.

digestion and Nervous Troubles.

Hundreds of women suffer from headaches, dizziness, restlessuess, languor and timidity. Few realize that their misery all comes from the bad state of their blood. They take one thing for their head, another for their stomach, a third for their nerves, and yet all the while it is simply their poor blood that is the cause of their discomfort.

If one sure remedy for making good, rich blood were used every one of their distressing ailments would disappear, as they did in the case of Mrs. Ella F.

A Hard Luck Story.

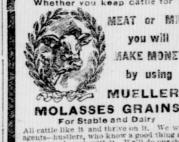

Lassitudinous Luke—Wot was de hardest luck youse ever had, Dusty?

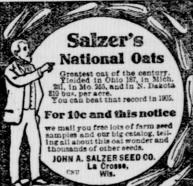

Dusty Pyke—Oh, chee! Dat's a tough question. But 1 t'ink about de hardest was onet w'en me an' a lot o' me trusty pals camped fer de first time in de viskinity of one o' de big steel mills out by Pittsboig. We sees a lot o' nice cord-wood ricked up here an' we goes an' lugs a lot of it about haff a mile fer a camp fire. We notist dat de wood was mighty hefty; an' when we'd kerried about two ton of it t' de campin' place we finds out dat it's pig iron!—Baltimore American.
