It was no haphazard accident which had sent the diamond-laden meteor headlong from the sky. He was despairing, dying; his mother appealed for him; and, behold! the very elements that control the world obeyed a mighty behest.

He began to work methodically. In the first place, he lit a fire, for the evening was chilly. Then he shook his mattress and swept, the floor, gathering into a warm, dark-gray traveling rug, several was chilly. Then he shook his mattress and swept the floor, gathering into a heap all the tiny particles with which it was littered. These he collected in a piece of newspaper, and folded them into

He coolly went up the stairs, unfastened the rope with which he had intended to hang himself and loosened its stiff strands. Soon he had an abundance of strong cord, and four bulky packages were added to the first small one.

They were heavy, too, weighing several pounds each. In placing them side by side close to the wall beneath the front window he suddenly realized an unforeseen difficulty.

If these shreds of matter—the mere husk, as it were, of the meteor—were so ponderous, what would be the weight of the meteor itself? How could he hope to lift it from the hole in which it lay—how convey it from Johnson's Mews to a new and safer habitation? He might as well endeavor to move an unwilling elephant.

There were hundreds of tiny diamonds in that insignificant package, and not a few the size of small peas. As a matter of fact, he discovered subsequently that the net result of his sweeping brought him in over a thousand pounds.

Having examined every nook and crevice of the apartment by the aid of the candle, he satisfied himself that naught remained which would indicate to the most curious eye any event out of the most curious eye any event out of the dewling. It was typical of Philip's implicit faith that he did not unlock the back door until his interior task was ended. There was no wind without. REPUBLIC OF POLAND NEAR. All Patriots' Eyes Are Now Turned to Watch Austria.

Dismembered Poland presents much more of a problem than independent Poland possibly could, on account of its revolutionary propaganda and its growing strength. The Poles are more numerous than ever before and their increase is rapid. Furthermore, there now exists among all classes of Poles -nobles, clergy, bourgeoisie and peasants—a sympathy and sense of unity unprecedented in the Polish history. Even with the Polish Socialists the first aim is to secure Polish independence. All three empires among which Poland was divided have mistrusted one another because of their common guilt. Each lives in fear of encroachment. Especially are Austria and Russia suspicious of Germany because of the well-known German ambition for the Drangnoch Osten.

noch Osten. From all these considerations the Poles reason that Austria will take the first step toward the restoration of Polish independence, for the sake of having a buffer state to serve as a safeguard against encroachments. It is expected that Austria will first propose the move to Russia and that the two will then bring diplomatic influence to bear on Germany, with the result that each power will restore its share of Poland, to reduce the number of its domestic and frontier problems.

How soon the Poles expect this hope to be realized depends on the extent of the disasters to Russia in the far east, the disasters to Russia in the far east, on the Polish political influence in Austria and on the continued isolation of Germany. Even a Balkan crisis involving two or more of the great powers would be to Poland's advantage. In the meanwhile the Poles are making every effort to avail themselves of their approaching opportunities. They are conscious as a people that they are fitted for self-government and independence as they never were before, because they have learned the lessons of modern civilization.—World Today.

Good News for All. Bradford, Tenn., Oct. 23 .- (Special.) -Scientific research shows Kidney Trouble to be the father of so many diseases that news of a discovery of a sure cure for it cannot fail to be welcomed all over the country. And according to Mr. J. A. Davis of this place just such a cure is found in Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Davis says: "Dodd's Kidney Pills are all that is claimed for them. They have done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I had Kidney Trouble very bad and after taking a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I am com-pletely cured. I cannot praise them Kidney Complaint develops into Bright's Disease, Dropsy, Diabetes, Rheumatism and other painful and fatal diseases. The safeguard is to cure your kidneys with Dodd's Kidney when they show the first symptom of disease.

BLACK FOX IN MAINE.

Its Fur Will Be a Prize Worth Getting early in the morning from Amherst, Au-rora, Beddington and nearby towns say they have seen a great and superbly shining black fox capering by the road-

Making due anowance no distant defects, if the tales that are told are half true the animal is surely worth hunting for—or will be a month later, when its winter fur is grown. Beyond question, the pelt of the black fox is the most valuable fur on earth. The biggest and fuest fur seal in the Arctic ocean carries a garment that will be valued at $300 to $500 after it has been dressed and colored. The pelt of a great sea lion commands from $200 to $400, and the jacket of a silver gray fox sometimes sells for $800 to $1000.

But better and more choice, and more expensive than any of the above, is the skin of the black fox. At the auction sale of furs held in London last June there were six pelts taken from black foxes, which sold for more than $1500 each, one specimen commanding $2200. fects, if the tales that are told are half fores, which sold for more than $1500 each, one specimen commanding $2200. The dealers in furs tell us that the best place to seek black foxes on this continent is along the northern end of the Atlantic seaboard, from Hancock county, Maine, through New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to Labrador. As can be inferred from the prices secured from the buyers, black foxes are not plentiful in any part of the world. Less than 100 nelts are taken in a year from the en-any part of the world. Less than 100 pelts are taken in a year from the entire earth. In some years the number has dwindled to thirty.

Of late the captures have been more plentiful, though a man can hunt a long time in any place without casting his eyes upon a black fox, and, as seeing is not equivalent to seeing is not equivalent to securing, many men who have looked at black foxes running who have looked at black looks running away have never shot one.

According to the tales of old hunters, there is a black fox which may be seen at rare intervals among the hills of Dedham and Otis. Men who have placed ounds on its track assert that the anihounds on its track assert that the animal never stops to play with the dogs by circling, but makes a bee line due east, running rapidly until the last pursuer drops from fatigue. Perhaps the fox seen of late along the road leading to the Whale's Back is the same animal.—Bangor News.

Corn Crop Largest in History. H. V. Jones, the crop statistician, estimates that the corn crop of the United States this year will be 2,521,987,000 bushels, the largest harvest in the country's history. The latest estimate of Henry Heinzer, statistician of the New York produce exchange, based upon the York produce exchange, based upon the government figures published on October 10, was 2,707,517,000 bushels.

THE SECRET OF YOUTH.

De Soto looked for the secret of youth in a spring of gushing, life-giving waters, which he was sure he would find in the New World. Alchemists and sages (thousands of them) have spent their lives in quest of it, but it is only found by those happy people who can digest and assimilate the right food which keeps the physical body perfect that peace and comfort are the sure results. A remarkable man of 94 says: "For many long years I suffered more or less with chronic costiveness and painful indigestion. This condition made life a great burden to me, as you may well imagine. "Two years ago I began to use Grape-Nuts as food, and am thankful that I did. It has been a blessing to me in every way. I first noticed that it had restored my digestion. This was a great gain, but was nothing to compare in importance with the fact that in a short time my bowels were restored to free and normal action.

"The cure seemed to be complete; for two years I have had none of the old trouble. I use the Grape-Nuts food every morning for breakfast and frequently eat nothing else. The use has made me comfortable and happy, and although I will be 94 years old next fall I have become strong and supple again, erect in figure and can walk with anybody and enjoy it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek,

The Saddest Sight. "What is the most distressing thing you ever saw in a courtroom?" was the question propounded to a group of lawyers recently as they sat together in the office of one of their number. One told of hearing a judge pass sentence of death on a woman; another told of the scene between a mother and son as she bid her boy goodby for the last time before he started to serve a ten years' sentence in the penitentiary, and as the question went round the circle each related a story of court scenes. Almost the last one in the group said: "Gentlemen, the saddest thing I ever witnessed in a courtroom was when a healthy, strong, handsome man and woman, with a group of children, appeared before a circuit judge, the one plaintiff, the other defendant, in a divorce suit. The look of distress on the faces of those innocent children as they sat and listened to the criminations and recriminations of their parents, intent on breaking up saddest sight I ever witnessed."-Kansas City Journal.

Young Robert A. Pope Shot Himself
Thirteen Years Ago.

The vermiform appendix has served as a lodging place for a multitude of strange and varied foreign bodies according to the annals of surgery, but the physicians of St. Luke's hospital, New York city, have recently recorded a case which appears to be unique. The object removed from the appendix, in the course of a regular operation for recurrent appendicitis, was a 22-calibre bullet, which had been imbedded in the patient's body for thirteen years.

The subject was Robert A. Pope of Newburyport, Mass, a nephew of Col. And undergraduate and an athlete, He stisted St. Luke's some time ago and complained that when training for football be invariably suffered from adominal pains. He expressed the belief that was suffering from some form of appendicitis. His diagnosis was confirmed by Dr. Hussey of the house staff, and later by Dr. Francis Markoe, the visit surgeoneration was performed, and to the astonishment of the surgeons a small bullet was found in the appendix. When informed of the result of the operation, young Popo said:

Need of an Optimistic Surgeon.

Gen. Thomas H. Hubbard was talking in New York about the appendix when informed of the result of the operation. Gen. Hubbard subscribed $20,000 to the expedition, therefore it is casy to see that he had a profound interest in it. Gen. Gen. Thomas H. Fubbard was talking in New York about the appendix of the expedition of the surgeon and good spirits go far in a voyage like this one. Perhaps it is because there has not been enough optimist and good cheer among men in the past that the north pole has not yet. When it is found an optimist, commanding a band of optimists, will find it, and there will be no such cynic in that resolute and successful crew as the one who sailed with Peary on an earlier expedition.

"He was indeed a cynic. Let me give you an example of his dispos

CHEYENNES' SACRED ARROWS. Captured in Battle Many Years Ago and Surrender Refused.

The Dog Soldier band of Cheyenne Indians from western Oklahoma has just completed a visit with the Skedee band of the Pawnees, near Pawnee. The Cheyennes to the number of 300 came recover two sacred arrows captured from them by the Pawnees many years ago, and this visit was the first time the

from them by the Pawnees many years ago, and this visit was the first time the two bands had met in friendly council since the time when both were on the warpath. The Pawnees entertained the Cheyennes at a war dance and gave them many presents, including ponies, blankets, calico and provisions, but would not relinquish the sacred arrows. The Cheyennes performed what they called the lightning dance.

The two sacred arrows were captured from the Cheyennes in battle on Platte civer, Neb., about sixty years ago. A Pawnee who had previously been crippled and who preferred death to the suffering caused by his wounds had stationed himself far in advance of the other Pawnees in a clump of bushes. As he was picking off a great many Cheyennes with his arrows they saw that it was necessary to dislodge him.

Accordingly a bunch of Cheyenne warriors on horseback made a dash for the clump of bushes, their sacred arrowkeeper in the lead. He had the arrows, four in number, fastened to a long spear, and as he struck at the Pawnee the crippled man dodged to one side and grasped the spear, wresting it from the Cheyenne's hand. Almost simultaneously with the charge of the Cheyennes, a few Pawnees in the rear, seeing the danger of their crippled brave, rushed to his assistance. The Cheyennes were thus routed before they could regain their sacred arrows. rippled brave, rushed to his assistance. The Cheyennes were thus routed before they could regain their sacred arrows. About ten years later the Cheyennes recovered two of their sacred arrows by giving the Pawnees 200 ponies. In their legotiations here the Cheyennes were unless that the able to convince the Pawnees that the two arrows still in the latter's possession should be surrendered at this time. —A Swedish gymnast will shortly attempt to travel from Stockholm to Paris in a canoe built in Sweden which is 12 feet long, 2 feet broad and 10 inches instantly. The front wheels of the vehicle were torn off, but the driver, Ben Boland, was unhurt.

The accident happened shortly before 7 o'clock, at the time the train is due at the first process of the control of the stomach and do away with the necessity for drugs and artificial foods. The best remedy ever found for this purpose is the one that was used by E. E. Strong, of Capleville, Shelby Fond du Lac station. The locomotive was coming at a high rate of speed and the engineer said he had blown the usual crossing signal as the wagon hove in sight. The driver saw his danger and tried to turn the team around, but was too late. The animals were severed from their fastenings and carried a distance of several rods. One horse was cut in two and the other crushed to a mass. The vehicle was carried a short distance nd landed alongside the track. The engineer declares he tried to shut off the steam but at the rate he was going he had a small chance of coming to a sudden stop. Boland jumped and thus covered thus escaped. A remarkable instance was that the milk remained in the cans and not even the covers were removed. When the train was able to stop the trainment made an investigation. Later they re ported it to the police and railroad offi-cials. Mr. Boland is unable to account for his not hearing the warning.

George Whalen of Eden was dis-harged Monday afternoon by Justice Blewett after a trial lasting nearly all day. Complaint was made by B. H. Peck, a Campbellsport liveryman, who said the defendant obtained a horse and said the defendant obtained a horse and buggy under false pretenses and then sold it to him. It was brought out that Peck knew the animal was the property of Whalen's mother, but understood that he thought the young man was acting as her agent. Other evidence showed he was acquainted with the young man's character and the judge decided that Peck knew what he was about when he took the vehicle and the defendant was released. The case has been up for some time. When the horse was first sold, Mrs. Whalen instituted replevin proceedings and obtained possession. An appeal was taken to the county court and on an affidavit of prejudice was transferred to the circuit court. The horse is valued at $75, but the costs have so far amounted to $100.

Make Unhappy Homes-Their Condition Irritates Both Husband and Children-How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysteries, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible for her to do anything calmly.

The ills of women act like a firebrand upon the nerves, consequently ninetenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency. "the blues," sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.
