Strike Agitators Beaten Off in St. Petersburg and Situation There Seems to Improve.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 16.-5:45 p. m.-A false emperor has suddenly made his appearance near Penza, and already his followers number 50,000. This is the startling report received this afternoon in a dispatch from Simbirsk. Penza is in the heart of the vast region extending westward from the Volga. where agrarian uprisings on a large scale have been occurring, and if the report to the throne has placed himself at the head of the peasantry, the government will soon face, besides its other troubles, a formidable agrarian rebellion. It required a year to suppress the fadered Peter III. in the time of Catherine ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 16.—A special meeting of the cabinet with Emperor Nicholas presiding, is being held this afternoon at Tsarskoe Selo, to consider the situation. This is the first meeting under the direct presidency of his majesty since the creation of a responsible ministry.

Yesterday's meeting of the ministers at Count Witte's residence was prolonged until 3 o'clock this morning. Witte decided to make a personal appeal to the workmen.

When the above appeal was read to the workmen at the Westinghouse works, the leaders replied:

"Witte promises us a soft bed, but in the meantime we must sleep on a hard one."

Like the workmen of other factories the Westinghouse employes informed the manager that the strike will be proceeded with until Saturday, when it will be decided whether to continue it or call it off.

As to the conduct of Maynard, while at the home, Maj. T. L. Jeffers, adjutant of the home, said:

"When Maynard came to this home he passed among the member as a United States detective. He got it into his head that he should pry into the affairs of our home postoffice. After a time Postmaster Brown reported him to Col. Woodnorth. He was called to the office and the colonel asked him to produce his authority to act as a government detective; he promised to do so at 1 o'clock that afternoon. He failed to report, but hid himself in the woods for two days, and then sent word by a member of the home that he would like his discharge. He was discharged September 6, 1905.

Case of James A. Weeks.

As to the case of James A. Weeks.
Maj. Jeffers said that Weeks was dishonorably discharged on March 19, 1904, taking with him the wife of another member of the home, and on January 15, A. R. Potts came to the home and reported that Weeks had been found on the highway with his hands badly frozen. Potter requested that the manbe allowed to come to the hospital here for treatment. Col. Woodnorth replied that Weeks was not an inmate of the home and that he could only take him temporarily until the town board met, and that the town would have to pay $3 per week to the home, until he was readmitted.

"This offer was accepted and Weeks was brought here at once. Dr. Bantly treated him until February 4, when he, assisted by Dr. Hayes of Milwaukee, amputated nearly all of Weeks' fingers and a portion of both hands. He was readmitted February 5.

Passes Away. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 16.-[Special.]-Chauncey Simonds, a pioneer resident of Milwaukee, died suddenly at noon today, at his home in Hartland. Mr. Simonds, who was last in Milwau-Mr. Simonds, who was last in Milwaukee upon the occasion of the annual meeting and banquet of the Pioneer Association of Milwaukee county, held at the Plankinton house a few months ago, came to Wisconsin in 1842. He was for many years engaged in the merchant talloring business in this city, retiring from business about ten years ago, on account of advancing years.

Native of New York

Native of New York. Mr. Simonds was a native of Auburn, Cayuga county, N. Y., where he was born September 24, 1823. A year later his father, a carpenter contractor, moved to Springwater, Livingstone county, in that state, where the son spent the earlier years of his life, and where he received his education. At the age of 12 years, the boy was thrown upon his own resources by reason of the death of own resources by reason of the death of his father, his mother being left with seven children and an estate which had

In 1845 he returned to Milwaukee, his first stopping place in Wisconsin, with restored health and a few hundred dollars in his possession. He first visited his mother in New York and then returned here, accompanied by his elder brother, Allen Simonds.

Settled in Dodge County. They went to Dodge county, and there took up 320 acres of government land, between Oak Grove and Hustisford, Chauncey investing his savings in the enterprise and the brother agreeing, as his capital, to clear the land. The boys his capital, to clear the land. The boys made a home in the wilderness for their mother and her family. The brother, however, backed out of the compact and returned to New York, and Chauncey sold out the farm and returned to Milwaukee. A little later he opened a store at Bark River, now Hartland, remaining there ten years, where he was instrumental in establishing a post route from Waukesha to his town. He served also, as postmaster, holding the office for nine years. At first, the mail was delivered once a week, being carried on horseback from Waukesha.

"What's a fellow going to do about it, anyway?" exclaimed a Boston shoe clerk the other day. "It beats me. Here comes in Miss College Maid, and she is as fascinating as she can be. She picks out a $5 pair of shoes as 'perfectly lovely,' and 'won't we charge them up to pa?' which we certainly will do, because 'pa' has notified us that his credit is 'O. K.' and is at his daughter's disposal. "But next day in comes Miss College Maid with her shoes in a box under her arm. She would 'really like to look at proposition we'd call the police, but we're apt to bow to the Miss College Maid with the smile, and hand over the $1.50 to her, as if she had asked for only a pair of extra shoe strings. A typical illustration of the way Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure Rheumatism is well told by Catherine Devine, who is very well known here. She says: "For over four years I was greatly troubled with Rheumatism. It used to take me worst in my legs and feet. At times I would be so bad I could not put my feet to the ground. As I am over seventy-three years of age I began to think I was too old to get cured and should have to bear my Rheumatism the best way I could. But I heard about Dodd's Kidney Pills and thought I would give them a trial. So I got a box and began taking them. Well, I must say Dodd's Kidney Pills did me a wonderful lot of good. They eased the pain from the first, and to-day I am in better health than I have been for many years."

Covered with Spangles.

The medium sized fan, measuring eight or nine inches, will be the popular one this year, dealers say. Larger fans, those decorated with real lace and ostrick feathers, will also be fashionable, and as for the smallest fans of all, those perhaps five inches long, this season will see their glorification. These smallest of fans are called theater fans, bag fans, glove fans, etc.

It is the exceptional fan that is not partially or entirely covered with spanpartially or entirely covered with span-gles. In the hands of coquetry nothing could be more effective than the spangled fan. The queer thing about it, though, is that it may be as dignified as it is mischievous. It takes color from the one discovered a United States had donar of the date of 1818. The coin is in excellent condition and worth a good price in the curio line.

The smallest fans, as well as the medium sized ones used for dances and dinners, are practically all made on the same order, though of course the former Numerous Adherents. On the occasion of the anniversary of the death of Marie Antoinette mass was said in the humble but ancient church of St. Denis at La Chapelle, in the pres-ence of the "King and Queen of France and the Dauphin."

The royal personages were a quiet looking gentleman apparently about 40 years of age, a lady, very simply dressed, and a little boy with long fair curls, whom she held by the hand. A small number of elderly ladies and gentlemen received their majesties and bowed low when they alighted from a motor car.

The King of France in question is the descendant of Naundorff, who alleged that he was Louis XVII., son of Louis XVI., having been saved from the Temple prison, and not, as most historians believe, done to death in boyhood, another child having been substituted for the real Dauphin. The present King of France de jure is in deadly earnest looking gentleman apparently about 40 the real Dauphin. It is, however, rather a platonic devotion, and the party has yet made no apparent attempt to bring about a revolution in order to set the King upon his rightful throne. After the religious service the congregation, numbering about a dozen persons, bent knees and kissed hands while bowing low to the Queen and the Dauphin. The King's name is Jean, and he is therefore John III. of France. The Queen is styled usually Princess Madeleine, and the boy Prince Henry of Bourbon, Dauphin of France.—London Daily Telegraph.

Peculiar Star Termed Comet.

A bright star appeared in the northern heavens and hundred of people in Reno watched its queer actions. It turned rapidly from one color to another, red, yellow, green and white. The star was first seen by Dean Wilson and Prof. Densmore of the University of Nevada, who were at work in the observatory of the university. It was immediately reported to the townspeople and soon the streets were crowded with a curious and observing throng. When first discovered the star was low in the heavens, but rose rapidly and finally reached the zenith, where it appeared to remain stationary. The bank manager's statement flattered the little man. It was the sort of thing he understood. Philip privately resolved to make this human top wobble when alone with him in the street again.

"One more question, and I have ended," he said. "Where is the best place to store some valuables?"

The Jew's ears were alert now, and the boy smiled faintly.

"Am I to make out a check for £5000 to Philip?" he asked.

"No; to Philip Anson, please."

"Thank you; and now, shall I put any address on the contract note which I will hand you?"

"The Pall Mall hotel."

Isaacstein with difficulty choked back a comment. The Pall Mall hotel was the most expensive establishment in London. He tossed the check and another document across the tatle.

"There you are," he sald. "Come with me to my bank. You will excuse the hurry. I have a lot to do before I leave for Amsterdam tonight."

Philip hought he would be called on to pay many pounds—some amount in the nature of a percentage of the sum named in the agreement. He produced the coin demanded, and made no comment. With stamp or without, he knew that Isaacstein would go straight in this preliminary undertaking. A single glimpse of the monster diamond in his pocket had made that quite certain.

For the rest, he was rapidly making out a plan which should secure his interests effectually. He hoped, before the day was out, to have set on foot arrangements which would free him from all anxiety.

From Somerset House he drove to the Pall Mall hotel. A gigantic hall porter, looking like a youthful major general in his uncanny trick of thought reading disconcerted the manager greatly. # HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS

AND - OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or officinal names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choices remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company-California Fig Syrup Co .- printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as

Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction. Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name-" Syrup of Figs"-or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company-California Fig Syrup Co .- printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices
