BOMBARDMENT THE REPLY

Hundreds Believed to Be Dead and Scores Are Wounded During Battle Before Daylight Breaks.

RIGA, Jan. 3 .- (By Courier.) - About 5000 armed workmen before daylight this morning invaded and took possession of the Provovnik Rubber factory and the military bombarded the factory.

Reds Murder Sleeping Soldiers. The revolutionists killed the police men who were guarding the building and detachment then crept into an adjoining structure, where a patrol of dragoons was asseep, and murdered eight dragoons and six stablemen and wounded eleven others.

wounded eleven others.

One man managed to escape and gave the alarm to the troops, two regiments of which with artillery and six quick-firing guns arrived at the scene by daylight. In the meantime the revolutionists had thrown up barricades and a terrific fire was opened by the troops upon these defenses and on the factory. All Insane with Fury.

Many men have been killed and over a hundred wounded. The soldiers are al hundred wounded. The soldiers are almost insane with fury.

The correspondent had a narrow escape. He unwittingly entered the prescribed territory, established since the fight, through a side street and was twice fired upon before he had an opportunity to explain.

Workmen Surrender. The workmen surrendered and were taken prisoners. All will be tried by court-martial.

PERSISTENT WOMAN STIRS WHITE HOUSE.

Out Screaming and Finally Lands in Police Station. WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 4 .- A distressing scene was enacted at the white house executive offices today in which a woman was carried screaming from the building because she refused to leave without resort to force. She was handsomely attired and apparently about 50 years of age. On her card was en-graved, "Mrs. Miner-Morris," and writ-ten beneath it was the address, "The New Willard."

MAYORLESS FOR SIX YEARS. Town in Shenandoah Valley Has Paid

No Taxes for That Period. Through an order issued in the circuit court by Judge Thomas W. Harrison it developed that the town of Middletown, Va., has had no mayor, town councilmen or other town officials for at least six or other town officials for at least six years and no taxes have been collected in that time. This condition of affairs is the outcome of the wholesale burning of property some years ago, for complicity in which former Mayor David E. Edmondson was indicted, a woman figuring prominently in the trials. Edmondson was acquitted in court at Winchester.

mondson was acquitted in court at Winchester.

Judge Harrison signed an order appointing as mayor Rev. F. Leslie Robinson, who is a native of England and rector of the Episcopal church at Middletown. James H. Light is appointed town sergeant and seven councilmen are named. All are required to qualify for office within the next thirty days.

Former Mayor Edmondson obtained a judgment for a small amount against the corporation of Middletown, and in order to enforce the payment of the debt he corporation of Middletown, and in order to enforce the payment of the debt he had to secure a writ of mandamus from Judge Harrison requiring the collection of taxes. These taxes, it is said, have never been collected and the debt is yet unpaid.

During the last six years several men have been elected as mayor of Middletones.

The majority of the people of the town they have been looked upon with coldness and disfavor. With the appointment of Rev. Mr. Robinson as mayor and the other five officers it is expected that the tangled condition of Middletown municipal affairs will be straightened out.

straightened out.

The town is next in size to Winchester and is beautifully situated in the Sherandoah valley between the Blue Ridge and the Allegheny mountains. Its population numbers over 2000. Mr. Robinson, the newly appointed mayor, is a member of one of England's distinguished families, a graduate of an English university and of the Theological seminary at Alexandria, Va., and is a close relative of members of the English noblity. He is well educated and is an eloquent pulpit orator. Mr. Robinson teaches biblical literature in the Episcopal Female institute at Winchester.

Vestry, Miss., Jan. 1st (Special)-The case of Mrs. C. W. Pearson, who resides here is a particularly interesting one. Here is the story told by Mr. Pearson, her husband, in his own words. He says:

"My wife's health was bad for a long time. Last July she was taken terrible bad with spasms. I sent for, the doctor, and after making a thorough examination of her, he said undoubtedly the cause of her trouble was a disordered state of the Kidneys. His medicine didn't seem to be doing her much good, so as I heard about Dodd's Kidney Pills, I got her a box just to give them a trial. Well, the effect was just wonderful. I saw that they were the right medicine and I got two more boxes. When she had taken these she was so much better in weight. She is now quite well, and we owe it all to Dodd's Kidney Pills." -Great Britain imports $900,000,000

Solitary Tree in Ocean.

The British steamer Lillie has just arrived at New York from Port Maria and Port Antonio, Jamaica, with a unique tale. On October 21, twenty-five miles to the northward of Cape Maysi, at the eastern end of Cuba, the lookout reported what he took at first to be an island. Capt. Durie was puzzled, because there is no island there-abouts. It appeared to be a very tiny island and the Lillie was almost upon it. It had only one tree. Soon it re-vealed itself to be a solitary cocoanut tree standing upright in the water, as if an anchor held it balanced. The branches were sixteen feet above the water and supported ripe fruit.

Some farmers have discovered that figs are a very profitable crop in this section. I. N. Rogers, who has been experimenting with figs and a good many other fruits, reports his figs did remarkably well this year, in spite of the fact that we had very dry weather at the time figs needed water. He had a good deal less than an acre in fig trees, but if he had had an acre and the whole orchard yielded as well as the trees which he has, he would have harvested $1120 worth of figs from one acre. This is based upon the price which he received for what he sold.—Bay City Cor. Houston Post.

All the way down town the passenger wondered what he looked like to the conductor Wagness City Times. ductor.-Kansas City Times. MALARIA???

Generally That Is Not the Trouble.

Persons with a susceptibility to ma-fee, which has a tendency to load up the liver with bile. A lady writes from Denver that she suffered for years from chills and fever which at last she learned were mainly produced by the coffee she drank.

"I was also grievously afflicted with headaches and indigestion," she says, "which I became satisfied were likewise largely due to the coffee I drank. Six months ago I quit its use altogether and began to drink Postum Food Coffee, with the gratifying result that my headaches have disappeared, my digestion has been restored and I have not had a recurrence of chills and fever for more than three months. I have no doubt that it was Postum that brought me this relief, for I have used no medicine while this improvement has been going on." (It was really relief from congestion of the liver caused by coffee.)

"My daughter has been as great a coffee drinker as I, and for years was afflicted with terrible sick headaches. which often lasted for a week at a time. She is a brain worker and excessive application, together with the headaches, began to affect her memory most seriously. nutritious as of that which is hurtful, and not concoctible.' Again he says: "The delicate should feed carefully, not abundantly; it is not quantity which nourishes, but only by a little forbearance and practice, as enamored of what is wholesome and that which assimilates." "Be careful of your digestion" is the keynote of the doctor's argument. He says: "Health in man, as in other animals, depends upon the proper performance of all the functions. These functions may be shortly said to be three: (1) tissue change; (2) removal of waste; (3) supply of new material. For the activity of man, like the heat of the fire by which he cooks his food, is maintained by combustion; and just as the fire may be prevented from burning brightly by improper disposition of the fuel, or imperfect supply of air, and as it will certainly go out f fresh fuel is not supplied, and may be choked by its own ashes, so man's activity may be lessened by imperfect tissue change, and may be put an end to, by an insufficient supply of new material and imperfect removal of waste products. "We should see to it that free elimination is maintained, for the ashes must be kept out of the system in or-der to have good health. The skin, kidney and bowels must do their eliminative work properly. If the bowels occasionally become torpid, try to regulate them with exercise and proper food, such as fruits, green vegetables. salads, cereals, corn, whole wheat or graham bread, fish, poultry, light soups, etc. Plenty of water is also valuable, and a glass full of cold or hot water the first thing upon rising in the morning will aid much in overcoming constination. Regular habit, cold baths and massage are very efficacious. In case the constipation does not yield to these hygienic measures, some simple, harmless laxative may be required, such as California Syrup of Figs-a non-irritating preparation of senna in fig syrup-Laxative mineral waters are beneficial in some cases, but not to be employed contin-

"Above all be an optimist, keep the heart young. Cultivate kindness, cheerfulness and love, and do not forget that 'we shall pass through this world but once. He Spoiled It All.

Let the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his muscles would soon fail. Physical strength is derived from food. If a man has insufficient food he loses strength. If he has no food he dies. Food is converted into nutrition through the stomach and bowels. It depends on the strength of the stomach to what extent food eaten is directed and assimilated. food eaten is digested and assimilated. People can die of starvation who have indant food to eat, when the stomach and its associate organs of digestion and nutrition do not perform their duty. Thus the stomach is really the vital or-gan of the body. If the stomach is "weak" the body will be weak also, because it is upon the stomach the body relies for its strength. And as the body considered exupon the stomach the body relies for its strength. And as the body, considered as a whole, is made up of its several members and organs, so the weakness of the body as a consequence of "weak" stomach will be distributed among the organs which compose the body. If the body is weak because it is ill-nourished that physical weakness will be found in all the organs—heart, liver, kidneys, etc. The liver will be torpid and inactive, giving rise to biliousness, loss of appetite, giving rise to biliousness, loss of appetite, weak nerves, feeble or irregular action of heart, palpitation, dizziness, headache, backache and kindred disturbances and weaknesses.

Mr. Louis Pare, of Quebec, writes: "For years after my health began to fall, my head grew dizzy, eyes pained me, and my stomach was sore all the time, while everything I would eat would seem to lie heavy like lead on my stomach. The doctors claimed that it was sympathetic trouble due to dyspepsia, and prescribed for me, and although I took their powders regularly yet I felt no better. My wife advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and stop taking the doctor's medicine. She bought me a bottle and we soon found that I began to improve, so I kept up the treatment. I took on flesh, my stomach became normal, the digestive organs worked perfectly and I soon began to look like a different person. I can never cease to be grateful for what your medicine has done for me and I certainly give it highest praise."

Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good."

Certainly the methods of the superior scoundrels of London are peculiar. Grenier knew that he was a marked man in the eyes of the police. He knew that the particular saloon bar he affected was the rendezvous not only of others like himself, but of the smartest detective officers of the metropolitan force. Yet this was his favorite hunting ground. Where the carcass is there are the jackals; he would never dream of honest endeavor in a new land to begin life anew. The feast was spread before his eyes, and he could not resist it.

If we another drink?"

Grenier, cool as an icicle, saw unexpected vistas opening before him. He must be wary and collected. Here was the man who would pay, and the man who would pay, and the man who would pay, and the man who would dare all things.

Mason's truculent determination gave hope even to Langdon. He, too, gifted with a certain power of vicious reasoning, saw that this new ally might prove useful. But he was afraid of such bold utterances, and hoped to achieve his purposes without binding himself even tacitation and we will be not only rolling in money, but able to enjoy life pleasantly in any bost without binding himself even tacitation when the wind changes a little."

No sooner in his wider horizon had he attained a position of trust as manager of a touring company than he tampered with monies intrusted to his care.

"Yes," he agreed, "let us sleep on it. We will all be better able to discuss matters more clearly tomorrow."

THE BOSTON "TEA PARTY"

Local Daughters of American Revolution

Celebrate Anniversary.

On the 16th of December last was the anniversary of the historic "Boston Tea Party" and it was appropriately observed by the Boston chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution and other patriotic societies. It was on this date, 132 years ago, that the little band of patriots, disguised as Mohawk Indians, boarded the ships in Boston hardor and threw overboard their cargoes of tea in protest of the tax imposed on that commodity by England. It was one of the acts leading directly to the outbreak of the War of the Revolution. Of course, the startling intelligence of the spilling of the tea in Boston harbor traveled throughout the colonies as fast as the good horses of the day, with plen ty of relays, could carry it, reaching New York in five days and Philadelphia in eight days. In the latter place there was much interest excited over the "amm ting news from the eastward." The Danne ylvania Journal, a staid old sheet Celebrate Anniversary. Penns vivania Journal, a staid old sheet of that time, issued what is believed to be the first "extra" in the history of American journalism, setting forth the story of the Boston "tea party" as brought by the express rider from New York.
