A TALE OF MYSTERY AND ADVENTURE.

The mere mention of the police galvanised Grenier into the activity of a wild cat. He had risen to his feet and was standing limply between the doctor and manager when that hated word electricity had him.

Grenier tore the door open and got out. It was a hopeless attempt. He would be stopped by hotel porters at the foot of the stairs by the manager's order. "Get her out of here," he said.

"No, 41, sir!" stammered the youngster, who thought that millionaires should be treated with more ceremony than this wild-eyed stranger bestowed on the great Mr. Anson.

"On that, I'll bring him."
It is Jocky Mason, murmured Philip to Dr. Scarth. The doctor strode past them, with eyes only for the covering Grenier, who was making piteous appeals to be set free.

"You'll see me again," said Anson to Dr. Scarth. "You," to the manager, "might kindly remain here with your men for a few minutes."

"Thank God! Thank God! For my boys' sake, not mine!"
His exultant attitude, his no less extraordinary views, amazed at least two of his hearers. Grenier, rendered callous now by sheer hopelessness, looked on with a blank stare.

"You did not kill me, you see," said Philip, sinking into a chair, for the excitement was beginning to tell on him. His prominent eyes dropped to his hands, the big man slowly clasped them.

"Tell me," began Philip, but a loud knocking without interrupted him. "Who is there?" said Dr. Scarth.

"My dear dear boy," he cried, "what has happened?"
Philip told him briefly as the ex-magistrate's glance rested on Mason and Grenier it became very chilly. It brought Portland prison near to the soul of one of them.

"I will, sir," he said. "I will go and get you."
He went to the door and returned with a man who was dressed in a suit and a hat. He was a young man, and he was very handsome.

If it means approval cut it out, sign name and address and send to your representative in Congress. It is not.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That every person, firm or corporation engaged in the manufacture, preparation or compounding of food for human consumption, shall print in plain view on each package thereof made by or for them shipped from any State or Territory, or the District of Columbia, a complete and accurate statement of all the ingredients thereof, together with the names of the makers of such food, and the name and address of the person, firm or corporation that prepared or compounded the same.

Section 2. That the covering of each and every package of manufactured, prepared or compounded food, or of the makers and re-covered by or for the sellers, a covering supplied by or for the makers and re-covered by or for the sellers, shall also bear the name and address of the person, firm or corporation that re-covered such food.

Section 3. That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to purposely, wilfully and maliciously remove, alter, obliterate or destroy such statement of ingredients appearing on packages of food, as provided in the preceding sections, and any person or persons who shall violate this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisoned not less than one month nor more than six months, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Section 4. That the Bureau of Chemistry of the Department of Agriculture shall procure, or cause to be procured from retail dealers, and analyze, or cause to be analyzed or examined, chemically, microscopically, or otherwise, samples of all manufactured, prepared or compounded foods offered for sale in original, unbroken packages in the District of Columbia, in any Territory, or in any State or other than that in which they shall have been respectively manufactured or otherwise produced, or from a foreign country, or intended for export to a foreign country.

Section 5. That any person, firm or corporation who shall violate section one and two of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding two hundred dollars for the first offense and for each subsequent offense not exceeding three hundred dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Section 6. That any person, firm or corporation, who shall wilfully, purposely or maliciously change or add to the ingredients of any food, make false charges, or incorrect analysis, with the purpose of subjecting the makers of such foods to fine or imprisonment under this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than one thousand dollars nor more than one year, or both.

The remains of John Clifford, who died at his home in Iron Mountain, Mich., Friday morning, were brought to the home of his brother-in-law, Joseph Bowser, Saturday evening. The funeral was held Monday morning at the St. Michaels church in Mitchell, Rev. B. J. Burke officiating, and the body was laid to rest beside those of his father and mother in the cemetery adjoining the church. Mr. Clifford, who was about thirty-eight years of age, was a former Mitchell boy and had many friends in this vicinity who sympathize with the family in their bereavement. Besides his wife and two daughters who reside at Iron Mountain, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Bowser and Mrs. Allie Foley, of this place, and three brothers, Dan, of Random Lake, Jerry and Paul of Michigan.

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

If your blood is impoverished, your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, and fat is the element lacking in your system.

There is no fat food that is so easily digested and assimilated as

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

It will nourish and strengthen the body when milk and cream fail to do it. Scott's Emulsion is always the same; always palatable and always beneficial where the body is wasting from any cause, either in children or adults.

We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.
