SENSATIONAL BILL CHARGING DE-CEPTION BY ROCKEFELLER AND OTHERS FILED IN ST. LOUIS.

COMBINE IN NEW GUISE.

Under President's Direction Injunction Is Asked to Restrain State Corporations from Further Acting Together.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 15 .- Attorney General Moody today acting through the resident state's district attorney instituted proceedings against the Standard Oil company of New Jersey under the Sherman anti-trust act, by filing in the United States circuit court at St. Louis a petition in equity against it and its seven individual defendants, asking that the combination be declared unlawful and in the future enjoined from entering into any contract or combination in restraint of trade, etc. The defendants have one month which to enter their appearance and an additional month in which to file their answer. They also have the option of filing a demurrer. An order was asked of Judges Sanborn and Adams to bring non-resident defendants into local jurisdiction to serve

Moody Explains Case.

The following statement was prepared and made public by Attorney General Moody today:

"In June last, by direction of the President, Messrs. Kellogg and Morrison were appointed by me special assistant attorneys general, to act with Assistant to the Attorney General Purdy, to make an investigation of the relations of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, to the business of refining, transporting, distributing and selling oil throughout the United States; to ascertain all the facts, and report whether or not in their distributing and sening of throughout the United States; to ascertain all the facts, and report whether or not in their opinion there has been a violation of the Shandard Oil company of New Jersey or the persons or corporations associated with or managing it. The counsel have completed that duty, and the report of their investigation has received careful consideration by the President and his cabinet.

SUGAR REBATE JURY RETURNS A VERDICT QUICKLY.

Joseph H. Choate Sarcastic About Elkins and Hepburn Laws in Plea for Defense.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 .- The New York Central was found guilty of rebating by a jury in the sugar trust cases, this afternoon. A motion by Joseph H. Choate for the defense, to dismiss the case was overruled and the jury was out less than an hour. Mr. Choate argued that the full intent of the Elkins act or any other law could not be known until it had been defined by the United States supreme court; the practice of rebating was not looked at as criminal once and there were many powerful corporations more skillful in evading these laws than the carriers. It had even grown to a point, said Mr. Choate, where lawyers were subject to public condemnation when they afforded these powerful corporations legal service.

"And because of all this," he said,
"came the Elkins and Hepburn acts.
Under the latter enactment, I do not see how many of us, no matter who we are, can escape punishment. If we get a package by express and pay a penny more than the rate we may be imprisoned, but happily that act does not enter into this discussion."

Thanksgiving Day.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 12.-Gov Davidson has issued the following proclamation designating Thursday, November 29, as Thanksgiving day: November 29, as Thanksgiving day:

The setting apart of one day in each year in acknowledgment to Almighty God for his manifold blessings, has been sanctioned by long usage, and should be regarded as more than a mere formality. In this counry, more than in any other, the people have reason to feel grateful for the blessings of liberty, and for the abundant opportunity open to all who are sober and industrious, to improve their condition. We, at this time, are blessed with abundant harrests. Prosperity is universal throughout rests. Prosperity is universal throughout the land. Our own state shares, in full the land. Our own state shares, in full measure, this general prosperity.

Mindful of these great blessings and privileges, and in accordance with time honored custom, and in conformity with the proclamation of the President of the United States, 1, James O. Davidson, governor of the retate of Wisconsin, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, November 29, 1906, as a day of Thanksgiving and praise, and do recommend that it be suitably observed by all our citizens in their several places of worship by appropriate religious observance.

PRINTING PRESS IN TIBET.

How Great Volumes of Sacred Literature Are Turned Out.

When approaching Tibet from the valley on the west a correspondent paid a visit to a monastery there far famed for its printing press.

In winter the press does no work (says the writer), probably because the link cannot be kept from freezing and the work disappointed in our hones of we were disappointed in our hopes of witnessing the manner in which sacred literature is manufactured in Tibet.
All around a big hall are arranged in shelves the printing blocks, which are shelves the printing blocks, which are simply rectangular pieces of wood upon which a whole page of lettering has been carved. When in action a block is held in a vise and then levered by hand upon the paper, where it leaves a facsimile of the carving on its face.

The process is simple and expeditious and several fat volumes can be printed. The process is simple and expeditious and several fat volumes can be printed off in a day. But the blocks, of which there are very many thousands, represent long and patient labor, their workmanship and finish being very fine. Of the usual adjuncts of a printing press there are none at Nartang Monastery, except that the unwashed condition of some of the monks and all of the attendants entitled them to rank with printers' devils.—Times of India.

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as mutous darrha) bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or ulcarative stages of these affections, it is often successful in affecting cures.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum affections it is often successful in anecting cures.

The "Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of diseases—those peculiar weaknesses derangements and rregularities incident to women only. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nervine. For weak wornout, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulæ of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines.

The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into Doctor Pierce's medicines by such writers should have more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Let the Cat Out of the Bag. A certain English innkeeper's family conducted a weekly raffle. In this raffle the prizes were turkeys, ducks, young pigs, baskets of eggs and such like rural commodities. A quantity of steel disks, numbered from 1 to 25, were put into a black bag, and the little daughter of the innkeeper put her hand in the bag and drew a disk for each speculator in turn. The person whose number was the highest got the Well, it had been noticed that the innkeeper's wife got the prize pretty frequently, but nothing was thought of this by the simple, honest rural folk. One evening, though, the little girl, with her hand in the bag, paused. It was her mother's turn, and she did not draw forth her mother's disks in her usual quick and careless way. She rummaged about. The other rafflers looked at one another oddly. The inn keeper said:

"Come, come, child, hurry up."
"But, father," said the little girl, "I can't find the hot one." Oldest Dwellings In Europe. One of the very earliest human settlements in Europe is Roche Corbon, on the banks of the Loire, seven miles above Tours. Here limestone cliffs stretch for miles and are pigeonholed with caves, which are on different levels and open on to terraces. When the rest of the country was nothing but forest land Roche Corbon was a thriving settlement inhabited by wild skin clad predecessors of the present cave dwellers. These terraces and caves were formed by the action of mighty rivers, and during the glacial period, when the climate of that portion of France was very severe, man drove out the bears and hyenas and took ref-Peter Schmidt of New Cassel called uge in these natural shelters, which

Hair All Came Out-Under Doctor Three Months and No Better

-Cuticura Works Wonders. Mr. A. C. Barnett, proprietor of a general store in Avard, Oklahoma, tells in the following grateful letter how Cuticura cured his son of a terrible eczema: "My little boy had eczema. His head was one solid sore, all over his scalp; his hair all came out, and he suffered very much. I had a physician treat him, but at the end of three months he was no better. I remembered that the Cuticura Remedies had cured me, and after giving him two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, according to directions, and using Cuticura Soap and Ointment on him daily, his eczema left him, his hair grew again, and he has never had any eczema since. We use the Cuticura Soap and Olutment, and they keep our skin soft and healthy. I cheerfully recommend the Cuticura Remedies for all cases of eczema. A. C. Barnett, Mar. 30, 1905,"

Pliny on Gems. # Dyspepsia of Women

Caused by Female Disorders and Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A great many women suffer with a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not seem to yield to ordinary treatment. While the symptoms seem to be similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines universally prescribed do not seem to restore the pa-

but has a peculiar tonic effect on the fe-As proof of this theory we call attention to the case of Mrs. Maggie Wright, Brooklyn, N. Y., who was completely cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after every-thing else had failed. She writes:

"For two years I suffered with dyspensia which so degenerated the entire system that I was unable to attend to my daily duties. I was unable to attend to my daily duties. It felt weak and nervous, and nothing that I ate tasted good and it caused a disturbance in my stomach. I tried different dyspepsia cures, but nothing seemed to help me. I was advised to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and was happily surprised to find that it acted like a fine tonic, and in a few days. I began to enjoy and properly digest. few days I began to enjoy and properly digest my food. My recovery was rapid, and in five weeks I was a well woman. I have rec-ommended it to many suffering women."

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement or has such a record of cures of female troubles, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

I love the river, with its sedgy odors, winding reaches and pretty background of golden fields. All that is happiest and best in me comes to the fore when I am boating, and I sing softly to myself, keeping time to the dip of the sculls.

Suddenly I hear a shout, and at the same moment something catches in my scull and pulls me sharply round. I look in the direction from which the voice comes and discover a small boat under the stars.

It is a fortnight later. I am leaning over Wroxham bridge, watching the effect of the setting sun on the numerous boats and wherries lying below.

I never can pass over this bridge without pausing in admiration of the scene. The graceful Norfolk wherries, with their huge single sails threatening to overbalance the craft, the rowing boats, both private and for hire, the little sailing boats, with their "white wings" looking so innocent, but alas, so frail, and so easily overturned by one of those dread-ful which wings and the lawyer to the pury, to deprive the poor old man of this happin ness?"

THE CANINE MIND. Dogs Do Not Learn the Reason for What They Are Taught.

There was a peculiar sound from the trought.

His acquired dexterities are the best illustration of the inventiveness of instinct, while at the same time they indicate where inventive instinct falls short of rational action. He is skillful in getting a walking suck through a narrow opening in a walk or a railing. An observer, seeing him push the stick along with his teeth till he gets it at the crook and then drawing it through the hedge, might attribute the act to reflection, and say, what an observer of Principal Lloyd Morgan's dog said on a similar occasion, "Clever dog that, sir," he knows where the hitch do lie."

Now this is precisely what my dog (and Mr. Lloyd Morgan's dog also) does not know. When he feels the hitch he knows how to get rid of it, but he does not understand it.

I put him, in imitation of Mr. Morgan's experiment, behind some railings. The dog ran at them, holding the stick by the middle, and did this more than once. Then, in the excitement of his design to get through and join me, he began to seize the stick at random, and seizing it near the crook he was able to bring it there was a peculiar edirection of the woods as the member of the Birdlovers' society sat in the window of her friend's country home one summer afternoon.

She quickly took her small "Bird Guide" from her ever-present bag and rapidly turned the leaves. At last she paused with a smile of satisfaction and istened, with her finger between two leaves of the little book, till the sound came again.

When it was repeated an expression of doubt flitted across her features, but still she was hopeful. "You probably know many of the bird notes living so near the woods and in such a quiet spot," she said to her friend. "Can you tell me what bird that is?" "That," said her friend briefly, "is our goat. We shall have to move him it near the crook he was able to bring it the place, and I imagine that it is the rate at which the lesson is learned that makes the difference between one dog at which the lesson is learned that makes the difference between one dog and another. Even now, when he has become ex pert he first runs at a narrow opening holding the stick by the middle, and then when he has failed he skillfully and then when he has failed he skillfully and without further waiting shifts his teeth to the right place. He learned thus how to do the action by trying repeatedly at random, and failing, until success crowned the desire, he remembered the method of success. Compare his action with the same action as done rationally by a man. In a strict sense the dog does not know how to do the the action here. not know how to do the the action be-cause he has not analyzed it into its means. His means are not deliberate means taken to secure an end, but they are a lucky device struck out by the urgency of desire. He has learned how it goes, but not the go of it,-Cornhil Magazine.

Blue Letter Paper. "One thing you will have to learn," the stationer explained to his new assistant, "is never to offer blue letter pa-per to anybody in love. All lovers have a superstitious horror of paper of that a superstitions horror of paper of that tint. One girl confided to me the other day that three broken engagements in which she had figured could be traced directly to blue paper. There seemed grave danger of a fourth prematrimonial rupture, but fortunately she discovered in the nick of time what her hoodoo was. It was blue paper. She destroyed the supply she had on hand, and from that time on to her wedding day the course of her true love ran smooth. Men who have found it most convenient to propose by means of letters invariably declare that when writing on blue paper they were rejected. With all those facts to uphold their superstition you will have to be mighty careful in your handling of lovers."—New York Sun.

Woodcock Plentiful in Connecticut.

Connecticut hunters have not as yet been able to secure very large bags of game, owing to the thickness of the foliage. Woodcock seem to be plentiful, but partridges and quail are scarce.

It is believed that this is due to the warm weather, the partridges and quail still clinging to the cool of the woods, the woodcock alone frequenting the more open country.—Hartford Times.

Mrs. Sallie Forrester and Mrs. Cora McKenna fought to a finish under prize ring rules in Brazil, Ind. Mrs. McKenna was knocked out and is not yet able to appear in court against the victor. The husbands of the two women stood during the fight and acted as second for their wives, and also offered sugges-tions as to the best place to land the enockout blow. The fight was the result knockout blow. The fight was the result of a feud which has existed between the women for some time. The trouble became so aggravated that the husbands decided to have their wives fight it out. The women, eager for each other's blood, agreed, and it was arranged that they should engage in a straight stand-up-and-knock-down bout under Marquis of Queenberry rules. The women, dressed Queensberry rules. The women, dressed for the fight and accompanied by their husbands, met on neutral ground in a field near their homes and the contest was pulled off. For a few rounds the antagonists fought according to the ring regulations, but when one put a stiff right to the jaw the recipient "got mad" and the battle soon developed into a rough-and-tumble affair. It is not known how many rounds were fought, but the how many rounds were fought, but the
