The Vogue in Engagement Rings

The time has gone by when any sort of a set ring was correct for an engagement ring. Now nothing but a diamond will do, and a pure color, perfect stone at that. The emblem of your love must be as pure, as potles and as perfect as you would have that love to be. Better a small hamond that is true than a larger stone that is not above suspicion. There is one store where you are sure of perfect stones. That one store is

GIVES LECTURE ON IRELAND. (From Thursday's Milwaukee Sentinel.) After sketching briefly its history, M. J. Rohan gave a stereopticon lecture last night on Ireland that was well received by an audience which comfortably filled Gesu auditorium. The beauties of the lakes of Killarney. with the storied abbeys and cathed ral towns of old Ireland, aroused the John Litscher of North Fond du house to a warm enthusiasm. Mr. Rohan's lecture was sprinkled wit witticisms that kept his audience in good humor. Don't fail to hear this day with relatives and friends at lecture at Braun's Hall on June 1. Memorial.

Venerable men. Honorable dead,
We remember you this day;
Though long you've lain in your chilly beds
Your brave deeds with us stay. We are trying to honor you, This thirtieth day of May Giving honor to the Boys in Blue And love to the Boys in Grey. Noble boys, you did your duty
In freeing the condaged slaves;
We'll decorate your names with beauty,
With flowers, we'll coveryour grayes. Brave Sailors. You, whom billows did t Who died in the stormy sea, Deeply we regret and feel your loss; In this land of the brave and free.

Honor, to you shall be chanted Over the tossing wave: Flowers and flags shall be planted With love, on each soldier's grave You, gave up home, love and life To face the shot and shell; Though some came back from bloody strife Many brave boys fell.

The Stars and Stripes, drives the gloom Away, from the battlefield gory, And makes all gay, for you who bloom Now, in the field of Glory.

The wave of crime which has been passing over Paris lately and which the police seem quite powerless to prevent has caused the citizens to adopt various devices to protect their homes from invasion by the Apaches. Dogs having proved utterly useless, more than one family has sought protection by placing a stand with a parrot or cockatoo possessing a specially loud squawk just inside their flats—almost every one in Paris lives in a flat.

An electrical engineer, however, has found a phonograph the best possible watchman. He locates it with the megahone attachment directed to the door and he has wired the hall and arranged batteries so that the moment the door is opened three inches the phonograph gets It begins to bellow "Police! Conscience Stricken Student.

Not all conscience stricken men are as guilty as they seem. The London and Northwestern Railway company had experience of a supersensitive undergrad-uate, who begged their acceptance of the sum of £50. He could not be found guilty of travelling without a ticket or of having committed any of the small sins of which passengers are sometimes guilty. When travelling to and times guilty. When travelling to and number of books, passenger's luggage. It had since dawned upon him that he ought to have paid for the freight of these books—that they were not legitimate passenger's luggage. The company returned the check, with thanks and praise and all things nice for his scrupulous conscientiousness. But he sent it back and insisted upon its acceptance. The company did not a second time risk refusal; they pooled it with the other companies over whose lines he had passed, and went their way relicious days the companies over whose lines he had passed, and went their way relicious days the companies over whose lines he had passed, and went their way relicious days the companies over whose lines he had present the second days the desernation of the legend "Wesleyan Chapel" upon it; and at the other end was the timy shop where bounded yet in the legend "Wesleyan Chapel" upon it; and at the other end was the timy shop where bounded yet in the legend "Wesleyan Chapel" upon it; and at the other end was the timy shop where bounded yet in the legend "Wesleyan Chapel" upon it; and at the other end was the timy shop where bounded yet in the legend "Wesleyan Chapel" upon it; and at the other end was the timy shop where bounded yet in the legend "Wesleyan Chapel" upon it; and at the other end was the timy shop where bounded yet in the legend "Wesleyan Chapel" upon it; and at the other end was the timy shop where bounded yet in the control of the present the stand what we could have been if we had had the chance. The Squash.

I think you will enjoy the following from our English cousins. We have laughed ourselves weak over it, says a writer in the Boston Transcript. A barcontaining appies, a Hubbard squash, some cranberries and sweet potatoes.

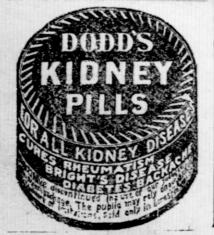

This is from the reply:

"The apples were fine, but the potatoes, alas, had gone quite bad and yellow. The cranberries are very handsome, but seem somewhat acid to our taste. The squash was a novelty, and I days any we didn't known exactly how dare say we didn't known exactly how to deal with it. We put it on the table for dessert, but James found it extremey difficult to cut. Later I stewed it with lemon and sugar, and we all de-clared it delicious!"

Why Roumanian Jews Are Freckled. This from a London News correspond-

But the most striking thing to an English eye about the Roumanian Jew is that he (or she) is usually fair, with red hair and freekled skin. This last peculiarity has an explanation which is generally accepted as historical in Roumania. It is told that a party of Jews, immediately after the Crucifixion and Resurrection, were discussing those events over a basin of soup in which floated a diately after the Crucifixion and Resur-rection, were discussing those events over a basin of soup in which floated a boiled cock. One of the party expressed the feelings of the rest by declaring that they might as well ask him to believe that the boiled cock could rise out of the soup and fly. On the instant the cock did so, crowing leudly and flapping its wings so as to spatter the faces of all present with soup. The Jews have been freekled ever since.

PARIS BURNS UP FORESTS. Thousands of Acres Cut Yearly for Heat ing Rooms Alone. Despite all modern improvements Paris still heats its offices and its houses to a large extent with wood. Its bakers and confectioners use hardly anything else for fuel. It burns up whole forests of timber every year, and extensive forests in several regions of France are reserved r supplying it with fuel. Coal is scarce in France and dear and not of very good quality. Besides, the Parisians are conservative in home mat-ters. The cheery appearance of the glowing log on the hearth appeals to them and most likely generations will pass before they give up burning wood Although the consumption has de ned materially in the last quarter of a century the official figures show that 280,000 cubic meters of hard wood, or nearly 9,000,000 cubic feet a year was the average burning for the first four she was about fifteen years old, and years of the present century, for heating after that she could get nothing that purposes alone.

To furnish this supply about 50,000 hectares, or nearly 125,000 acres, of woodland was cleared in the four years.

The rate of consumption was even greater in the past. It is not expected that it will diminish. The trees cut range in age from 24 to 36 years; the average is about 30 years. From this an estimate may be made of the enormous tracts of and given up to forestation in France for this purpose.

Some of the logs are cut near Paris. A good deal comes from woods in the de-partments of l'Oise and l'Aisne to the north and some from Loiret to the south. The Landes on the southern part of the coast of the Bay of Biscay furnish the pine, which is chiefly in demand among the bakers on account of its quick, ho flare. But the great source of supply for domestic and heating purposes is the for-ests, or rather, the woods, of the Morvan,

WHY TAN SHOES WEAR WELL. Dressing Used for Them Does not Contain Acid-Blacking Does. It seems pretty certain that for so reason or other tan leather keeps softer than black leather. One explanation of this may be that in the greater number of cases the blackening used for polishof cases the blackening used for poissing black boots has strongly acid properties, whereas the pastes used for polishing brown boots are never acid and consist of a varnish made of oils and waxes. In many of the formulas given for of oil of vitrol, or strong sulphuric acid, is directed to be used. The chief ingredients of boot blacking, according to the London Lancet, appear to be ivory black, treacle and oil of virtriol. Sometimes hy-drochloric acid is used. The object of the acid apparently is to dissolve out the mineral matter (chiefly phosphate of lime) of the ivory black and so to reduce it to a very fine spongy state. The result is that the blacking is very acid, if not with sulphuric acid, cer tainly with phosphoric acid. As a mat-ter of fact we have found sufficient free sulphuric acid in blacking which we have examined to char paper when dried upon the New York Sun.

Tired Nervous Women Make Unhappy Homes

MRS.GEO. A. JAMES MRS.NELLIE MAKHAM I suffered so I did not care what became of A nervous irritable woman, often on me, and my family despaired of my recovery. Physicians failed to help me. I was urged to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I want to tell you that it has entirely cured me. I think it is the finest medicine on earth and I am recommending it to all my friends and the verge of hysterics, is a source of misery to everyone who comes under her influence, and unhappy and miserable herself. Such women not only drive hus-to govern children.

The ills of women act like a fire brand upon the nerves, consequently Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I was in a terribly run down condition and had nervous prostration caused by female trouble, in fact I had not been well since my children were born. This condition worked on my nerves and I was irritable and miserable. I had tried many remedies without getting much help but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me back to health and strength. It has also carried me safely through the Change of Life. I cannot too strongly recommend your medicine." seven-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, the 'blues", sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some organic derangement.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness alternating with extreme irritability? Do you suffer from pains in the abdominal region, backache, bearing-down pains, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, and almost continually cross and snappy? If so, your nerves are in a shattered con dition and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous troubles of women than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact. Mrs. Nellie Makham, of 151 Morgan St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:-
