Civil Service Examinations.

The State Civil Service Commission announces forthcoming examinations to be held early in August and advises all persons who seek examination for any of the positions herein enumerated to make application prior to July 25th. Recent legislation has created several new positions, among them an additional chemist and additional cheese factory inspectors with the Dairy and Food Commission; also deputy fire marshal in the department of the State Fire Marshal. The new tuberculosis sanitarium at Wales, Wis., will employ a trained nurse, at $55 per month and maintenance; a baker and cook, at $55 per month and maintenance; a fireman from $40 to $50 per month and maintenance; and an engineer at $65 per month and maintenance. The demand for clerks with stenographic ability, for employment in various departments of the State Service is increasing and the importance of this service is shown by a gradual increase in the compensation offered. Persons desiring examination for the position as stenographer should make application to the Commission soon; they will thereupon be advised when a competitive examination for this position is to be given. The following are the positions for which examination will be offered early in August: A woman factory inspector, salary $1,000 per annum and traveling expenses; cheese factory inspector for the Dairy and Food Commission, salary $1,200 per annum; assistant chemist for the Dairy and Food Commission, salary $50 per month; deputy fire marshal in the department of the State Fire Marshal, salary $1,000 to $1,500 and traveling expenses; engineers, experienced men, competent to handle stationary steam engines and dynamos, wanted, salaries ranging from $60 to $100 per month, trained nurse for employment at the new tuberculosis sanitarium at Wales, Wis., salary $85 per month and maintenance, open to women only. Examination will also be offered for man and wife to act as family officer and matron in the industrial school at Waukesha, combined salary $65 per month and maintenance; machinist and mechanic in the State University, $75 to $100 per month; carpenter, cooks, firemen, painters and attendants. Persons desiring more detailed information should apply to the State Civil Service Commission, Madison, Wis.

No Duplicate Chandellers.
"Did you ever notice," said the observing man, "that every public building has chandellers unlike those of any other public building? There are no duplicates. You go into one church and you see a handsome chandler that it would seem worth while to duplicate for another church, but you never find it in another church. You go into a big hall, and you'll observe some stunning globes and chandler fixtures and look for 'em in some other big hall, but they're not there. I don't know what principle the makers of chandellers go on, whether it is a matter of pride or whether they think out two buildings alike or whether contractors for such buildings insist on exclusive designs, but the chandler people must employ some remarkably versatile artists to think up so many different designs. It seems like a waste of money to make only one of a kind, but it is a pleasure to know that hall or home may be exclusive in its chandlers."

The Concertina.
The threatened revival of the concertina as a serious musical instrument in England would be a return to an old fashion no doubt, but not to a very old one, since the concertina dates from the early part of the last century. Its invention was an early indiscretion of Sir Charles Wheatstone of telegraph fame, who took out a patent for it in 1829, the year in which some British in Vienna invented that similar instrument, the accordion. The concertina was popularized by Sig. Regondi, who had come before the public as a juvenile prodigy with the guitar. At one time no London concert was really complete without him and his concertina, and he antedoted the Germans with the music he could get out of it.

Gladstone as an Orator.
It was a budget last night—about a page of a morning paper spoken in two hours by Mr. Gladstone, and he hardly referred to a note, never passed a moment, broke through cheers, dashed over interpellations—logic, figures, illustrations, extracts—all pellmell, with a whiff and fury that took the breath away. And he did it all with the utmost ease and got to the end without turning a hair. Mr. Gladstone took it all quietly and did it quietly and left his house and went home quietly, probably mentioning to Mrs. Gladstone as a reason for being rather tired that he had been saying a "few words" that evening.—From Whittly's "Parliamentary Retrospect."

Temperatures of Flames.
According to the results of experiments, the flame of acetylene is perhaps the hottest known except that of the electric arc. The following figures have been given: Bunsen burner, 1,871 degrees; acetylene flame, 2,548 degrees; alcohol flame, 1,705 degrees; Denary-norze burner—half alcohol, half petroleum—2,053 degrees; hydrogen flame in air, 1,890 degrees; gas jet flame with oxygen, 2,200 degrees; oxyhydrogen flame, 2,420 degrees. These are all centigrade degrees. One degree centigrade equals 1.8 degrees F.

Too Fast.
"The first day he went out with his new auto he got pulled."
"For going fast?"
"No; quite the opposite."
"I don't see."
"For stopping fast. He had to hire a farmer to haul him home."—Houston Post.

The Boss.
"There's a man at the door, pa," called little Willie from the lower hall, "who wants to see the boss of the house."
"Tell your mother," called pa.
"Tell the cook," promptly called his mother.—Philadelphia Press.

Not Bad Built.
"There was a strange man here to see you today, papa," said little Ethel, who met her father in the hall as he came home.
"Did he have a bill?"
"No, papa. He had just a plain nose."
As a Starter.
Doctor—Madam, your husband must have absolute rest. Madam—Well, doctor, he won't listen to me. Doctor—A very good beginning, madam—a very good beginning.—Illustrated Bits.

He Was the Limit.
He—Do you think it would be foolish of me to marry a girl who was my inferior intellectually? She—More than foolish—Impossible.—Answers.
Want of care does us more harm than want of knowledge.—Franklin.

The great utility of this machine consists in the saving of time, labor and expense, and yet set forth the following advantages over the old way of setting tires: No tires are taken off. No bolts are taken out and thrown away. Any degree of slackness is put in the wheel. Four tires can be set in one-half hour's time. No burning or marking of fellos. No peeling of wheels or marking of fellos. Hubs far more perfectly set than can be done by taking the tire off. No boring of the fellos for new bolt holes.
