JAIL TRUST MEN. SAYS BONAPARTE

CRIMINAL PROSECUTION IS PLAN OF FEDERAL DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

IS AFTER ONES "HIGHER UP."

Action Will Be Instituted Against Every Law Offender Where There Is Chance of Conviction. LENOX, Mass., Aug. 8.-That criminal prosecutions in the trust cases will be undertaken in the near future was the information obtained here upon authority today on the virtual eve of the return of Attorney General Bonaparte to Mr. Bonaparte said.

"It is the avowed purpose of the department of justice to prosecute criminally any one who is really responsible for violations of the anti-trust law wherever it can do so with any reasonable probability of success. It does not care probability of success. It does not care to prosecute mere underlings who are known to every one to have acted under the direct authority of their superiors. But if it can get a case against any of the superiors such as justifies a reasonable hope on the part of experienced lawyers that he can be punished personally the department will undoubtedly take advantage of the opportunity as soon as it is presented."

It can be said on good authority that the first case to be considered when Mr. Bonaparte returns to Washington will be that of E. H. Harriman.

Russell Explains Policy.

Russell Explains Policy. WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 8.-Concerning frequent requests at the depart-ment of justice for information as to prosecutions of alleged trusts and rail-roads, Acting Attorney General Russell today said:

"I am daily answering inquiries which indicate that all kinds of unfounded ru-mors are afloat concerning investigations mors are afloat concerning investigations and intended anti-trust suits and prosecutions by this department. Fortunately or unfortunately the department is quite unable to do one-tenth as much work as it is supposed to be doing.

"I understand that some of these rumors have been caused by Judge Landis' fine and the troubles between the railroads and the states of Michigan, Alabama. and elsewhere, particularly over state laws reducing rates.

"So far as the fine is concerned, it may have operated to convince investors that such part of their dividends as come from rebating and other illegal practices will be less certain in the future."

Rates and Dividends.

As for the state railway rates and controversies, possibly some dividends have been swelled by exerbitant local rates. My own view is that whether a lower rate will lessen dividends or increase them by increasing travel and increase them by increasing travel and shipments is chiefly a matter of experiment. I presume it was upon being convinced of this that some of the railways abandoned their preliminary injunction of state law and authority as of doubtful legality, even if a permanent injunction shall be properly upheld upon full proof and after some little time for exerciment.

"It will doubtless be the policy of this department to aid in the speedy determination of all the questions involved in the railroad rates controversy by the supreme court, and in that high tribunal the rights of all will be safe and soon settled. When the department shall have continued a while longer enforcing laws against rebating and restraints and monopolies of trade, the result cannot fail to be a sounder and less tainted prosperter."

Dorrell's Graphic Story. "It is hard to describe the details of the accident," said "Paddy" Dorrell this morning. "We were going along the road at a moderate rate of speed, and no attempt had been made by the chauffeur to break any records on the run to Okauchee lake. We were nearing a small bridge over one of the country streams when the steering gear seemed to jam. The driver evidently knew that something was wrong, but he was unable to turn the wheel. We noticed that he was trying to keep on the road, but the machine turned and went into the ditch.

"Poor Kuschbert was thrown upon a messed freeks bis head craftly upon a stream of Ferdinand Rohde, a german farmer, three miles from this village, they were ordered off by the state of the came, however, and belped the men to shore.

"There is nothing to say about the matter," said Mr. Zimmers this morning, "I am sure Miss Vizay does not care to give it any publicity and I know that I do not. The credit is all her's to be sure. I only helped her."

top of my head, and I could hardly move, I was so sore. Help had reached the place by that time, and I was brought to my home here.

"It is a sad affair, but I consider myself a lucky man. Not one in a hundred would have escaped as Sloan and I did. We were fortunate in getting into the best seet of the men. did. We were fortunate in getting into the back seat of the car or we would have been killed. The chauffeur struck the steering wheel when he was thrown out as he complained of intense pain about the abdomen before he was started on the way to the Emergency hospital. I believe that Kuschbert was instantly killed as his head struck the tree with terrible force.

"During the moment of consclousness in the ditch I heard the chauffeur groaning with pain. I knew then that he was fatally injured, and I thought that I had been seriously hurt. My fall was broken by striking the back of the front seats and by falling upon Kuschbert.

Was It Second Accident? Was It Second Accident?

A. R. Miller, who is agent for the Rambler Automobile company, says that two of his men met the Kuschbert party at the foot of Undertaker's hill last night and that they had met with an accident there earlier in the night. The hat of one of the party flew off but they wouldn't stop to recover it when they had started again on their trip after being righted, claiming that a $50 bet had been staked on the run. This is denied by the friends of the party, however, who assert that there was scarcely a scratch on the machine except for the broken wheel, and that there couldn't have been any serious accident except the one which occurred near Brookfield.

The chauffeur of the party was forthe one which occurred near Brookfield.

The chauffeur of the party was formerly employed by former Ald. George Lonstorf, Mr. Miller said.

Mr. Kuschbert was a cousin of Mrs. Vincenz J. Schoenecker, Jr. "I passed the scene of the accident when I came in on the train this morning," said Mr. Schoenecker, "little knowing that my wife's cousin had been killed there," The commissioner immediately took steps

FOUGHT WOUNDED BEAR.

Bruin Put Up Desperate Struggle on Edge of a Precipice.

Accer in my life did I have such a thrilling adventure with a bear as I had last Friday about thirty miles northwest of Cebalia, in Gunnison county. It was a hot fight."

This was the way G. Gordon Pickett bear dogs, eight in number, started out last Friday afternoon from Ceballa. "The dogs jumped a good sized black bear along about 3 o'clock," said Mr. Pickett. "We followed him something like three miles and took a long shot at him, wounding him in the right fore-leg. We lost sight of him for a while and then the dogs got next to him again.
This time they had him cornered on the edge of a big bluff, at least 100 feet high. "It seems that the wound I had given im made the bear crazy mad. He nailed two of the dogs, one after the other, and two of the dogs, one after the other, and crunched their necks like so many soda crackers. He jumped down into a cleft of rock, where there was a little platform about twelve feet square, and beyond that the precipice.

"The dogs went after him and he went after them good and proper. He had already killed two and it looked as if he was going to finish the entire nack." To

Mr. Luhn visited different places in the city and appeared to be favorably impressed with the many advantages offered by Fond du Lac. He also called on the president of the Business Men's association and members of the Booster's club.

GAS FUMES FATAL.

Wilbur H. Fairbanks of this city died Saturday afternoon at Madison as the result of inhaling poisonous gas fumes while at work repairing an underground cable for the Wisconsin Telephone company at Madison. Accompanied by two workmen Mr. Fairbanks descended into the tunnel to make the repairs. The workmen were called to the surface and when they returned they found Mr. Fairbanks have a great work to the little bench, but not until he had lunged at one of the dogs I jumped down to the little bench, but not until he had lunged at one of the best dogs and cuffed him clear over the cliff.

"Of course that finished that dog, and the bear turned. He wasn't five feet from me when I tore the top of his head off with a quick shot from my rifle. He didn't exactly have me buffaloed, but I think I never in all my twenty-five years hunting experience came so near being seriously rattied. The dogs killed were among the best fighters in the pack."—Denver Post.

With reference to the evolution of "tea" from the Chinese "cha," a London "cea from the Chinese "cia," a London correspondent points out that "te" is stated to be the pronunciation of the Chinese word in the Amoy dialect, so that this would probably be an important link in the chain. From "cha" to "tea," with only one letter of the original retained and the pronunciation entirely is probable that in case the council fails to allow the claims the matter will be taken into the courts. It is said that the basements were flooded as the result of the failure of the Hackworth Construction company to open the sewer leading into the Main street sewer. The amounts of the various claims follow: A. Beldin, $10; G. H. Damrow, $7; Otto Lang, $6; W. ## A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds last night, officers were elected as follows:

President. J. E. Hennen; vice president. Dr. H. T. Sackett; secretary and treasurer, J. E. Dooley; directors. Henry Loehr, Herman Rosenkranz, Herman Mickler, John Kalt, and J. E. Hennen. these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root. Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure tonsumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, hang-on, chronic coughs, bronchial and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, stomach, as in the early stages of con-hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of gly-

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of pyrosis (heartburn) and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."

acidity."

Undisturbed for 800 Years.

The stories told by poultry keepers in regard to the laying of eggs are in danger of becoming viewed by the public in the same suspicious light as the tall yarns of fishermen.

It is announced that an egg laid by a hen belonging to a coastguards officer at Bridgeport measured 7% inches by 6% inches, while another of similar size picked up in a farmyard at Fenny Stratford was, on being opened, found to contain a perfectly formed second egg. The record monster chicken's egg is believed to be one of 8% inches by 7 inches and weighing 5 ounces.

In the course of a remarkable article in Appleton's Magazine for June, Thomas F. Millard tells some strange truths about Japan. Incidentally he says: "The tremendous impulse; iven to commercial and industrial activities in Japan. The most freakish eggs are attributed to ducks. The Western Park Museum, Sheffield, has a duck's egg which contains another smaller one inside, the two being joined together end to end.

In a museum at Paris a curious four footed goose lays an egg which is invariably mishapen and the shell of which is so brittle that it breaks if touched. All efforts to preserve these eggs have been tall of $197,151,514 gold. This is nearly one-third the total capitaled industry of the country previous to the war. The enterprises represented in this enormous capitalization cover a wide field, but they nearly all belong in the category of what may be termed modern industries, in the sense applied in Japan. For instance, there are fifty-one new electrical companies with an aggregate capital of $55,000,000 gold; ten new navigation and dock companies, with a total capital of $55. efforts to preserve these eggs have been dock companies, with a total capital of $20,000,000; 5 new insurance companies, An egg apparently in a state of perfect with a total capital of $7,500,000. In Tunis, when a man wants to take another wife, he picks out a girl, and then carries to her father a patr of bracelets and a pair of anklets from one of the other ladies of his household.

The braclets and anklets are slipped on the young woman, and several months are allowed for her fattening. She must fatten until she completely fills the four ornaments, or otherwise the man has a right to refuse her.

For in Tunis fat is beauty, and a permanently slender girl has no chance of marriage.

River Life in Manila. Dr. A. D. Wilkinson of Nebraska describes a queer feature of life in Manila: "The river population of Manila is a class by itself. Not to be outdone by class by itself. Not to be outdone by Canton, she has her sampans, known as caces and lorchas, supporting 15,000 people within the city limits, where thousands of children are born, grow, live and die on these floating cargo carriers. They never dream of any other world than that which floats about them. These boats are small, but accommodate a family of five to seven. They have a fire pot, a platform and rice kettle. The cabin or covered portion is very small—in fact, I don't see how they live—and it is a wonder to me that the children don't fall overboard and drown. You wil loften see a woman sitting at the end of the boat, rowing with a child strapped on her back, looking for all Hen Hatches Eagle's Eggs. Shamokin comes to the front with an entirely original story. Two young eagles were hatched out under a hen. Two months ago Roman Ukleski of Shamokin, received from his brother in Germany two eagle's eggs. He placed them under a hen and awaited results. Tuesday night the eggs, having ripened, bore forth fruit, and two tiny little eagles are being cared for by the proud mother hen. There will be further doings when the lords of the air attain their full growth.—Philadelphia Record.

Ostrich Farming in South Africa. Nineteen permits to capture ostriches for domestication and farming purposes were issued during the year. These parmitted the capture of 943 ostriches.

"Ostrich farming," says the report, "is becoming quite an industry in the Enk eldoorn district, and I have recently beer approached for government aid in providing farmers with fencing wire and a proposition is being laid before the administration with a view to this."— Rhodesia Herald.
