How to Obtain the Services of the State Veterinarian.

The Wisconsin Live Stock Sanitary Board is organized to protect the health of the live stock of this state and this work is done through its executive officer, the State Veterinarian. In order to obtain the services and attention of the State Veterinarian to examine their stock when ailing, and if there be found among them a disease of an infectious or contagious nature, such as tuberculosis, glanders, anthrax, black leg, hemorrhagic septicaemia, hog cholera, swine plague, rinderpest, foot and mouth disease, pleuro pneumonia, actinomycosis or rabies, the owner or attendant of such stock should report same to the health officer of the town, village or city in which the stock is kept. It is then the duty of the health officer to make a full report of the case in writing to the State Veterinarian. All such notices must come through the health officer of the town, village or city in which stock is kept, in order to receive attention. DR. DAVID ROBERTS, State Veterinarian, Wausau, Wis.

Farmer Rilly Still at Work.

Man who Touched Mr. Hobbs of Byron for $3,000 is Heard From. A Delavan special to the Evening Wisconsin says: John Murphy, formerly of Milwaukee, local agent of the Standard Oil company, was victimized by a sharp operator who, by the aid of a forged deed, succeeded in getting $3,000 from him. A stranger came here a few days ago to buy a farm and finally selected the property of S. Salisbury an aged farmer of the town of Sharon. The price was satisfactory, the abstract secured and a deed written and negotiations opened with a local loan agent to place a mortgage on the property. Mr. Murphy agreed to loan the stranger $3,000 on the property which he had inspected. The next day the stranger took Mr. Salisbury to a notary in Sharon to sign the deeds and make the final transfer. After the deed had been drawn up, the man pretended that he had made an error regarding the terms and when the notary left the room to procure a blank for another deed, succeeded in stamping the deed already drawn, substituting a similar one which he tore up before the eyes of the notary and the farmer and threw it in the waste paper basket. He then said he would delay matters for a few days and called the deal off. The forging the names of Mr. Salisbury and witnesses to the deed he had taken, he hurried to Elkhorn, the county seat, had the paper recorded and returning to Delavan had no trouble in securing $3,000 on the paper which he turned into the loan agent. The same night he left the city and the fraud became known too late to apprehend him.
