Augustus F. Yields and Comptroller of Currency Ridgeley Is Asked to Take Helm.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 .- [Special.]-The financial troubles growing out of the failure of the brothers of F. Augustus ROBINSON IS BISHOP Heinze, copper magnate and arch foe of the Standard Oil company, resulted today in several sensations. Briefly they may be summed up as follows:

The resignattion of F. Augustus Heinze as president of the Mercantile National bank. The probable acceptance of W. B. Ridge-y, comptroller of the currency, to succeed

Heinze Quits Bank.

F. Augustus Heinze in his statement of resignation said he retired from the presi-dency of the bank in order to be free to devote ample time to the task of re-habilitating his brother's firm. W. B. Ridgely, comptroller of the currency, has been invited to become president of the bank, but so far has not said whether he shall accept. It is believed Heinze's resignation is due to the demand of bank-ing interests who see peril in his connection with them during the copper slump.

Heinze had this to say:

"In view of the difficulties in which my brother's firm finds itself I have determined that it is proper that I should give liberally of my time to aid them in straightening out their affairs. In aid straightening out their affairs. In aid of this I have, after consulting with my fellow directors of the bank and my personal friends, and consulting as well, my own personal interests, as stockholder of the bank, this day resigned as president, remaining, however, as a director ident, remaining, however, as a director, and have joined with my fellow directors in a request that William B. Ridgely accept the place made vacant by my resignation."

Suspension of Butte Bank.

A dispatch frmo Butte says that because of the suspension of the Heinze brokerage firm in New York a run was started today on the State Savings bank in which Augustus Heinze is the leading stockholder and a director, and that bank, availing itself of the thirty days' privilege, closed its doors. Standing upon the site of the famous Andersonville prison—sacred ground to all America. I give voice to the state's deepest consciousness of the sacrifices, the endurance and the patriotic devotion of her soldier prisoners to principles to which they had dedicated their lives.

War is indeed a cruel legislator. In its name are committed deeds which cause reason to stagger and civilization to recoil upon itself.

The war was as necessary as it was inevitable. For generations, suspicion, jealousy and sectional envy had aroused those passions which only war could subdue, and in whose smoldering embers would be reawakened the spirit of unity and fraternity essential to the broadest national existence.

Courage of the South. vidson said in his address:

Courage of the South. The courage, the constancy and endurance of the southern soldier was never surpassed. The pluck, the patriotism and the persistence of the northern volunteer was never excelled.

The Civil was taught the world the value

The Civil war taught the world the value of American men. It produced a new type —the citizen soldier. Every soldier of those trying times gained for himself immortal honor in the consciousness of a duty well performed. To die on the field of battle in the heat of the conflict, conscious of the victory of his arms, has always been the wish of the soldier.

The Soldier in Prison. The Soldier in Prison.

Turn now to the soldier who languished behind the prison bars. Hunger, thirst and disease claimed him for their own. The free open air was often denied him. His patriotic sighs and prayers re-ceheed from walls, mute and dark. The agonizing throbs of his heart found no sympathy. There were no loving and tender hands to minister to his dying wishes. What yearnings, what hopes, and what wishes must have flitted through his feverish brain; what happy hours his imagination must have pictured; and yet I doubt not his heart was free from anguish and bitterness.

His death was a martyrdom, as lofty in soul, as trying in courage and as grand and holy in patriotic virtue as was ever attested by death for principle.

Monument Is Sacred.

Monument Is Sacred.

The monument which we dedicate here today is sacred to the memory of the military prisoner. It rests upon a spot which will never be forgotten as long as history is recorded. Wisconsin offers it to the south, untinged with malignity and bitterness. It is with pleasure that I receive this beautiful monument from the commission, which supervised its erection, and it is with equal pleasure that I give it into the watchful care and keeping of that magnificent organization, the Woman's Reliet corps. This product of the sculptor's art is a tribute to those who died here for their country. No future age can pave greater dead than these, no graves can hold holler dust than these. In this hallowed ground are burled with them the passions of war, and all the jealous strife of sections. Today we know only the spirit of unity and the fraternity of love and respect. We behold a union firmly established in the hearts, affections and loyalty of the citizens. We pay equal military honors to him who were the gray as are showered upon the wearer of the blue. In Forest Hill cemetery in the city of Madison, are burled the remains of 132 sturdy brave sons who fought for the south. They died in a military prison in that city. Each grave bears the name and regiment of him who rests there. No Memorial day passes but a child's gentle hand, assisted by the veterans who wore the blue, places a flag and a wreath of flowers upon each of the many hundreds of soldier's graves in that cemetery. The distinction of uniform was forgotten with the announcement of a reunited country. The group and for the dead:

JELLY MAKING IS WASTEFUL.

Learn to Utilize, by a Little Ingenuity,

In making jelly, don't take so much make something better of what remains, says The Delineator. Suppose you desire to put up strawberries, blackberries or other small fruot for winter use. After they have begun to boil in as small a quantity of water as may be necessary to give them a free start, remove the surplus juice as it forms, using a shallow ladle for that purpose. After you have secured as much as you need for your jelly, you may make jam or marmalade or anything else you like from the maretial that remains. A good plan is t add enough sugar to make the mixis to add enough sugar to make the mixture pleasantly sweet, after which put it into air-tight jars to be used in the making of pies, shortcakes, etc., later. You will never miss the juice of it has been extracted by this method, and jelly made in this way is positively too good to the system of the population having been born in the United States." in this way is positively too good to

Guessed Right.

Guessed Right.

A little old woman with soft blue eyes, white ringlets around her ears, and a quaint purple gown got on a Ninth street car in Washington on a very hot day.

She looked rosy, but cool and comfortable, while the others on the crowded car were mopping their brows, fanning themselves and cursing inwardly.

As she got on the car she said to the conductor, "Hi want to get hoff at Hemstreet."

"All right," said the conductor, and the car went on. Nothing happened until L street was reached, when suddenly the old lady looked up and asked, "His this Hel?"

"You bet it is," said a big, perspiring man, and soft, low cries of "Hear; hear!" mingled with the laughter that rippled through the car.—Harper's Weekly.

An electrician of New York has a colection of prophecies anent the phonograph. It is interesting to note that Emerson prophesied the phonograph's advent. He said:

"We make the sun paint our portraits now; by-and-by we shall organize the echoes as we now organize the shadows."

Maury, in 1844, prophesied more clearly than Emerson, saying:

"What a pity it is that M. Daguerre, instead of photography, had not invented a process of writing by merely speaking through a trumpet at a piece of paper. Instead of saying, 'I wrote you a letter last Monday,' the phrase would have been, 'I spoke you a ream.'."

Tom Hood prophesied in his "Comic Annual" for 1839:

"In this century of inventions, when a self-acting drawing paper has been discovered for conving invisible objects."

NEW DISTRICTS Now Open for Settlement

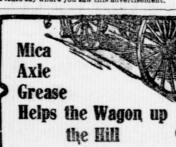

MISS LENA NAGEL

Some of the choicest lands in the grain growing belts of Saskatchewan and Alberta have recently been opened for settlement under the Revised Homestead Regulations of Canada. Thousands of homesteads of 160 acres each are now available. The new regulations make it possible for entry to be made by proxy, the opportunity that many in the United States have been waiting for. Any member of the family who may be entitled to make entry for himself or herself. Entry may now be made before the Agent or Sub-Agent of the District by proxy (on certain conditions), by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader. "Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-West Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be home-steaded by any person the sole head of a family, or male over 18 years of age, to the extent of

The fee in each case will be $10.00. Churches, schools and markets convenient. Healthy climate, splendid crops and good laws. Grain growing and cattle raising principal industries.

Father Derouet has written a lively account of his adventure in July last in one of these boats. He was trying to land at Sette Cama, a little north of the Congo. Just before the critical moment of crossing the bar he saw Father Moulin joyously waving his hat on the shore.

Then in a twinkling a mountain of water struck the bar and the boat was tossed into the air. Father Derouet found himself executing a somersault. He came down on his head and would probably have fractured his skull if he had not landed on the feet of an unfortunate boatman, which diminished the violence of the blow.

Four deaths are known to be directly attributable to exposure to the X-rays. There is a mystery about these cases, the disease being unknown to medical science, though it is believed to involve some great principle of life. castor oil? "Goes through you like a dose of salts" means violence, grips, gripes, gases, soreness, irritation, and leaves your stomach and bowels weak and burnt out. Might just as well take concentrated lye. Then there's castor oil, disgusting, nauseating truck that your stomach refuses unless you disguise the taste. Fool your own stomach, eh? Don't ever believe that anything offensive to your taste or smell is going to do you real good. Nature makes certain things repulsive, so you will not take them. Force yourself to nauseous doses, and you ruin your digestion, weaken your bowels, destroy your health. On the other hand see what a delightful, palatable, perfect modern laxative, liver regulator and bowel tonic you find in
