PARCEL POST ON WAY, SAYS MEYER.

POSTMASTER GENERAL TELLS OF MANY IMPROVEMENTS DEPART-MENT WILL MAKE.

NO ADVANCE IN RATES.

Recommend Installation of Postal Savings Banks System in City and Country.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 31 .-[Special.] - Postmaster General Meyer has many important recommendations to make to Congress at its next session. He hopes for a parcel post system, postal savings banks and general improvements for our postal system. He outlined his chief recommendations to Congress in a recent address delivered at the banquet of the New England Postmaster's asso-ciation, held in Boston this month.

Not to Raise Rates. "The expenditures for 1906," said Postmaster General Meyer in part, "were $178,449,776.89; the receipts, $167,932,-782.95; the deficit being $10,516,995.94. Judging from the figures of the first three quarters and the estimate for the last quarter of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1907. quarter of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1907 (the exact figures will not be available until the end of this month), there is every indication that the deficit will be reduced to about seven million dollars for that year. Consequently, I do not propose to advocate the raising of rates, because I believe that the weighing of all mail matter which is now being carried on under the authorization of Congress will show, when we take into congress will show, when we take into congress will show, when we take into consideration the franking privilege and make a proper charge on the books for the mail matter distributed for the various departments, that the postoffice department is not chargeable for much of a deficit.

To Recommend Parcel Post. "I propose to recommend the establish-ment of a parcel post on rural routes which will meet the objections of the which will meet the objections of the small storekeepers and retailers. This will be a boon to our rural population, and to the storekeeper, as the latter can receive his orders by mail or telephone and dispatch the desired merchandise by the rural carrier. The farmer will be saved from hitching up his horse and losing the time he needs for planting or harvesting his crops, and it will enable the storekeeper to increase his sales and meet the requirements of modern trade.

"If my recommendations are adopted, it will cost 12 cents a pound for the mail-order house to send parcels to the rural delivery patron from any city postofilee, while for delivery from the distributing office of the rural route, or if mailed by a patron of any rural route for delivery to a patron on the same route, or at the

be necessary to obtain from Congress a appropriation to acquire wagons autos to do the required hauling.

Another matter of great public interest which I shall recommend for the con-sideration of Congress is a postal sav-ings bank system, which has been adoptor forty years. These banks were cstablished in England as early as 1861, in France in 1882, and in Austria in 1883. Now, with us in New England, we realize that the necessity for postal anyings hanks is year, much less than in we realize that the necessity for postal savings banks is very much less than in many other parts of the country, and this is demonstrated by the fact that in New England the average distance of the savings bank from the postoffice is about fifteen miles; in the middle and western states it is about twenty-five les; in the southern states, thirty-ree miles, and in the Pacific slope ates, fifty-five miles.

"We desire to encourage among our people economy and thrift, and by the use of the postal savings banks to give them every opportunity to husband their resources. The policy will not be to compete in any way with the savings ompete in any way with the savings banks, but rather to encourage the habit of depositing savings.

"The people that we shall want to reach are, first, those who have not the facilities at hand for depositing their money in a savings bank, and secondly, the foreign peopletics which is certain. foreign population which is entering country in such enormous numbers which is, to a great extent, hoarding its surplus earnings. The immigrants reach the United States suspicious of any private banking institution but with absolute faith in the government. We have evidence of this in the fact that they are buying postal money orders payable to themselves.

"Our object is to bring hidden money to light, to instill life into it, and to lead it again into the channels of trade, for the mutual benefit of labor and capital, and thus add to the prosperity throughout the land.

Should Encourage the Foreigner. "Furthermore, we should encourage the foreigner to deposit his earnings, because after he has accumulated a few hundred dollars he will not be content to receive merely a 2 per cent. interest, the moment he acquires real property In this country he becomes a better citi-zen, is more actively interested in the affairs of the nation, and at the same time places himself and his dependents beyond a likelihood of becoming public into circulation by asking authority from Congress to place the deposits in the national banks of the country, not in a few financial centers. I have been assured by bank presidents that the postoffice department may count on receiving for such money turned over to them a rate of interest varying from 2 to 3

"It will be the policy of the department also to simplify in every way the registry and money order systems, so that less time may be consumed in registering letters and obtaining money orders. "I find that there is a great demand from the public for postal notes, and it is the purpose of the department to recommend such paper in denominations of 10 cents, 20 cents, 25 cents, 30 cents, 40 cents, 50 cents, 60 cents, 70 cents, 80 cents, 90 cents, $1, and up to $2.50. saved, as no advices are to be sent. From 1 cent to 9 cents the notes will be made payable to bearer, and no fee

She determined more than ever to put a barrier between the man she loved and the girl to whom he had given his heart.

The baron and baroness made a charming host and hostess, and very warm was a golden dream to both about, for Hugh had no immediate prospects, and you know in our rank of life long engagements are not the fashion.

But the baroness waited until the event of Hugh's arrival to speak of what was a first from y hand. My father for my hand. My father was delighted and insisted on my breaking off my childish engagement to Hugh. I pleaded, but in vain; my father was obdurate. Sybil was silent. Somehow she could not imagine Lord Fairbank in the character of a remorseless tyrant who would blight ewe young lives. It only showed does not know how she hurts me-how can she?" The girl believed every word she heard, for it was very evident that Diana really still cared for her cousin. "I see, dear, I have your sympathy; I knew I should. You understand now why I am sad sometimes. Two short years ago Hugh told me everything, ev-surprise. He was very much amused, for naturally he thought she was used to kisses." 'How did you know she was a child of the people?" asked Sybil coldly.

"Ma cherie, cela va sans dire. Girls in our rank of life, yours or mine, don't go to boat-races with gentlemen without a chaperen. Well, dear, as I said, he used to tell me everything, everything, even little things like that. And now, how

She knew what she had said would make the girl turn away from him. Sybil, left alone, turned the big woodon key in the lock of the heavy oaken door and drew the bolt. Then she threw herself on the bed in a passior of angry tears. Surely never, during the three centuries that had passed since the room was built, had its walls seen more passionate grief. Long, long, she wept. There was no Hugh. Diana had planned all this; she wanted to have Sybil to herself for a few days. Sybil had bought the August number of a certain magazine, and had read Hugh's sonnet. It had made her a little sad for the first hour of the journey, then it suddenly came into her head that he meant herself. The "April day" of their lest meeting was boat-race day.

I see, dear, you are surprised at my sympathy with the fate of one who has been more than three centuries in the grave. But the very same thing happened to me. Shall I tell you?"

"Don't tell me if it hurts you," said Sybil gently.

"I would rather tell you, you are such a sympathetic child. I need not ask you not to tell my poor little story to any one."

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 31.-T. E. McDonald, superintendent of the United States Express company, and members of the detective force of the company, left the city this morning. They have not been able to locate the money stolen a week ago. He says the amount taken was $18,500, and that $6350 of the amount was in new bills and had not been in circulation. These are national bank notes of denominations of $10 and $20, and that their serial numbers, which will be found in the upper right hand corner, run from N249,984 to N250,110, inclusive. The sheet numbers, found in the lower left hand corner, run from 6010 to 6135, inclusive. The balance of the money taken from the sacks was in gold of the denominations of $5, $10 and $20. This will, of course, be more difficult to trace, as it is what is known in banking parlance as "counter currency." Decrease of the Farmers' Feathered Friends Means Insect-Damaged Crops.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.-Because of the decrease in birds, the United States is losing yearly without protest a sum larger than the capitalization of all the national banks in the country, was the statement made by President William Dutcher of the National Association of Audobon societies at the annual meet-ing of the association here.

The public, declared Mr. Dutcher, placidly allows agricultural crops valued at $800,000,000 to be annually destroyed by insects, which destruction is entirely due to the rapid decrease in the number of insectiverous birds in the country.

"If a million or more dollars are lost through the propergraph bank or through the management of a bank or other fiduciary institution," he said, "it creates a wave of protest throughout the entire country, yet a yearly loss equal to the entire capitalization of the national banks of the country creates no comment whatever, simply because the public does not realize what is going on."

Mr. Dutcher said that the association was in position to do good work along the line of the protection of birds, but that in order to successfully carry on its work it should have a larger endow-ment fund and a far larger member-

Physicians Recommend Castoria

-The meteorites which hurl them-selves at this sphere add about 1,000

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third-It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system-not by stupefying it-and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ills., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory." Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria." GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS The Kind You Have Always Bought In Use For Over 30 Years.

In the Chinatown of every city the In the Chinatown of every city the crocers sell toothpicks made of walrus whiskers. These are excellent toothpicks, and in China no fashionable dinner is complete without a bundle of them. From either side of the mouth of the walrus whiskers, at once stiff and pliable, project. They are about 4 inches long, and the older the walrus the more elastic are these hairs. When the Alaskans kill a walrus they pluck out the whiskers with tweezers, and, bundling them up in neat packets, they ship
