GUINNESS WOMAN NOT DEAD, HAVING BEEN LATEST BELIEF

ALLEGED OGRESS THOUGHT TO HAVE ESCAPED FLAMES WHICH BURNED HER HOME.

TWO MORE BODIES ARE FOUND

Possibility That Skeletons Dug Up Are Remains of Murdered in Chicago.

OFFICERS WORK EVERY CLUE.

LA PORTE, Ind., May 6.—[Special.]—Two more ghastly finds were made on the farm of Mrs. Guinness today when the skeletons of two adults were dug up by the searching crew. One was found in a pine box and is badly decomposed. The other was buried 4 feet below the surface, wrapped in a cloth. An examination will be made to determine whether the skeletons are those of men or women.

The latest theory and the one upon which the police are now working is that Mrs. Guinness and her children were not incinerated in the burning of her home. She was, however, brought here from Chicago by a man who said he had given the theory that she had fled from the flames and while in reality it was the consumption of a plot which enabled her to escape.

My aunt had a weakness for adopting children. She was a good woman and was estimated in her day to be worth about fifteen years. My aunt wanted a child and she had two boys of her own, but my father objected. This caused the estrangement. She asked her son when James was 8 months old. When first she met people she was cordial. Later she would name her boys herself and she was seen to board a train going out of the city and that she was now on her way to New York. She was seen to board a train going out to Chicago, which is now being made.

Fish Trap Lake will be dragged for the missing head and unless it is found the officers will make a complete examination of the remains of Mrs. Guinness and subject them to a more careful analysis. Mrs. Guinness was a woman who was killed by the fire or had substituted the remains of one of her female relatives for herself and fled to the house to cover up the crime.

It is pointed out as opposing the belief that Mrs. Guinness is alive, that the woman deposited $1500 in the state bank in the name of Mrs. Guinness, $1000 and her portion for money is given as the interest. Mrs. Guinness conducted a business which she carried on in Chicago. A belief that she might be in Chicago is the supposition that she feared Roy Lamphere, her former employer, was about to expose her through jealousy.

Death of First Husband. Relatives of Mrs. Guinness declare that her first husband, a man named Larson, died under mysterious circumstances. The death of her two children was due to heart failure, but that city believed that the children were killed for purposes of collecting insurance. The gang is believed to have disposed of parts of the bodies in the city. On Saturday, April 25, two days before her home was burned, Mrs. Guinness received a letter from Chicago. The letter was not opened. What their contents were has not been learned. Sheriff Smitzer is making a complete examination of the bodies of murdered people, shipped here from Chicago. This would be the officers to suspect that Mrs. Guinness conducted a "murder" to dispose of bodies of persons murdered in Chicago for their insurance.

The starting revelations have awakened Lamphere's curiosity to a recollection of the bodies of the children. Mrs. Guinness was a woman who was killed by the fire or had substituted the remains of one of her female relatives for herself and fled to the house to cover up the crime.

Men Become Jealous. The life of Mrs. Guinness was apparently uneventful last August when she was a young girl. She was a woman who was killed by the fire or had substituted the remains of one of her female relatives for herself and fled to the house to cover up the crime.

Four Bodies Found. An examination of the debris disclosed the finding of a woman's body, supposed to have been that of Mrs. Guinness. The bodies were found in a box and were badly decomposed. The bodies were found in a box and were badly decomposed.

Body Identified. Anton Olson of Highlands, Ind., father of Jennie Olson, who was adopted by Mrs. Guinness, is the man who was killed by the fire or had substituted the remains of one of her female relatives for herself and fled to the house to cover up the crime.

Carried Trunk to Home. Claud Sturgis, employed by Foster & Degarmo, local deliverymen, today stated that he took two large trunks to the home of Mrs. Guinness. The trunks were very heavy and were bound together with ropes, and he offered to assist Mrs. Guinness through the door, but Mrs. Guinness refused his assistance and appeared to be greatly agitated.

Coroner Makes Statement. Dr. J. H. Meyer, the coroner here, today said: "The body identified yesterday as that of Andrew Helgeisen was not killed by the fire, but his body was now found in a box and was badly decomposed. The bodies were found in a box and were badly decomposed.

Chippewa Falls Man Declares for Public Service Control in Announcing Candidacy for Congress.

CHIPPWEA FALLS, Wis., May 7.—[Special.]—Congressman John J. Jenkins today issued a formal statement to the people of the Eleventh congressional district, announcing his candidacy for re-nomination. He states that he has at all times favored public control of public service corporations and that this question will always have his active interest.

My position on the power of the government to regulate the railway companies, has, in fact, been more advanced than those of almost any other men in public life here. My researches have firmly convinced me of the absolute power of the government, without any limitation of its action, to regulate the transportation lines. I am in favor of a revision of the tariff on protective lines, and in favor of the protection of the American farmer and laborer as well as every other industry in the nation.

It is my opinion that the tariff will always be a matter of revision to conform to the needs of the country. When the Dingley tariff was enacted I was active in securing for the congressional district the protection of the tariff for all of its interests. I should certainly, when the next revision is made, take an active part in securing the protection of the district ample protection.

On motion the Board adjourned. EDW. C. MILLER, Village Clerk. Special Attention to the Wool Growers. The alarming increase in the use of sisal or binder twine by the farmers throughout the fleece wool states has determined us to take a stand against its further use by notifying all our buyers and people who are in the habit of buying and consigning their wools to us. The loose fibre from the twine cannot be eliminated from the wool in manufacturing and some of our very best customers say that they will not accept a fleece thus tied in any delivery that we may make of fleece wools. We therefore are notifying all our agents, and others, that under no account must they accept wools so tied as no discount on the price can make the wool satisfactory. Along this line we wish to call your attention to the excessive use of twine. Two moderate sized strings each way are enough for any fleece and this year we have had fleeces tied with a very heavy, coarse twine, which is nothing less than a rope, which of course adds to the weight of the fleece, and this is one of the reasons why manufacturers are using foreign wools more and more in preference to our domestic fleeces. The use of binder twine is simply carelessness on the part of the grower, and the use of an unnecessary amount of twine is an abuse which has crept into the business, and which we have suffered for, and must put a stop to. If a realization of this is brought to the attention of the farmer we feel sure that he will do his best to correct it. FOR SALE—A brand new 72-tooth hand-made harrow at $7.25, also a good new second-hand milk wagon at half price.—H. W. Schnurr. To All Whom It May Concern, WASHINGTON COUNTY, VILLAGE OF KEWASKUM. You are hereby notified that all persons crossing the Main street bridge (across the Milwaukee River) in said village with any engine or other heavy vehicle do so on their own responsibility.
