Tobacco Tags Bring Fine Presents.

Tobacco Company Redeeming Tags From Many Brands.

According to reports from the local dealers in tobacco more people are saving tobacco tags than ever before in the history of the giving of presents in exchange for tobacco tags. This tremendous increase in tag saving is due to the action of the American Tobacco Company in offering a remarkable list of valuable presents in return for tags from various popular tobaccos.

Such brands as Standard Navy, Horse Shoe, Sailor's Pride, Spear Head, Eglantine, Pick, Big Four, Old Honesty, and about a dozen others, bear tags which can be exchanged for presents. An idea of what can be accomplished by so far-reaching a co-operative system is gathered from such sample offers as the giving of an English Steel Razor for only 50 tags.

Reports in the tobacco trade indicate that dealers throughout the country are laying in stocks of presents in order to be able to meet the rising boom in tobacco tag saving. In places where the dealers are not supplied with presents, the American Tobacco Company is redeeming by mail—tag-savers selecting the presents they wish from a free catalogue.

A Bundle of Blunders.

Don't say that "cleanliness is next to godliness," a statement which would be untrue if it were not unmeaning. If you must gauge the value of this excellent quality quote the original correctly and say that cleanliness is next to godliness, meaning thereby that, where this is lacking, a clean and well kept person has an attraction and a comeliness only second to actual beauty.

Never talk of "the worst coming to the worst," an impossible occurrence, since it is already there. The worse may come to the worst, as, alas, it often does, but when the worst has come there is no more to be said.

Please do not speak of your "mutual friend." If A is a friend of B and C, A is not a mutual but a common friend.

But, above all, if you would be blameless never talk of "common sense," as though it were or could be an exceptional or rare possession of a favored few. Common sense is the sense common to all, which long may we all enjoy.

Shakespeare Versus Burns. At the close of a lecture to the members of a certain literary society the following dialogue between a Scotchman and the lecturer was overheard:

"Ye think a fine lot o' Shakespeare, doctor?"

"I do, sir," was the emphatic reply. "An' ye think he was naier clever than Robbie Burns?"

"Swy, there's no comparison between them!"

"Maybe no, but ye tell us the night it was Shakespeare who wrote 'Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown.' Now, Robbie would never have written such nonsense as that."

"Nonsense, sir!" thundered the indignant doctor.

"Aye, just nonsense. Robbie would have lent just that a king, or a queen either, disna gang to bed wi the crown on his head. They hang it over the back o' a chair." The doctor's face dropped, for he realized that his lecture had been given in vain.—Scottish Nights.

What's Pe-ru-na?

Is it a Catarrh Remedy, or a Tonic, or is it Both?

Some people call Peruna a great tonic. Others refer to Peruna as a great catarrh remedy.

Which of these people are right? Is it more proper to call Peruna a catarrh remedy than to call it a tonic?

Our reply is, that Peruna is both a tonic and a catarrh remedy. Indeed, there can be no effectual catarrh remedy that is not also a tonic.

In order to thoroughly relieve any case of catarrh, a remedy must not only have a specific action on the mucous membranes affected by the catarrh, but it must have a general tonic action on the nervous system.

Catarrh, even in persons who are otherwise strong, is a weakened condition of some mucous membrane. There must be something to strengthen the circulation, to give tone to the arteries, and to raise the vital forces.

Perhaps no vegetable remedy in the world has attracted so much attention from medical writers as WYRTHEIS CANADENSIS. The wonderful efficacy of this herb has been recognized many years, and is growing in its hold upon the medical profession. When joined with CUBES and COPIAIBA a trio of medical agents is formed in Peruna which constitutes a specific remedy for catarrh that in the present state of medical progress cannot be improved upon. This action, reinforced by such renowned tonics as COLLINSIA CANADENSIS, CORYDALIS FORMOSA and CEDRON SEED, ought to make this compound an ideal remedy for catarrh in all its stages and locations in the body.

From a theoretical standpoint, therefore, Peruna is beyond criticism. The use of Peruna, confirms this opinion. Numberless testimonials from every quarter of the earth furnish ample evidence that this judgment is not over enthusiastic. When practical experience confirms a well-grounded theory the result is a truth that cannot be shaken.

TELEPHONES IN CANADA. WOLF HUNTER'S RECORD.

Manitoba Government's Way of Running the Business Displeases Many.

Believers in municipal ownership have been pointing to recent purchase by the government of Manitoba of the telephone plant of the Canadian Bell Telephone company as a step toward government ownership in Manitoba, and that users of telephones are not pleased with several things that have already happened in Manitoba, and the government here has not been working long either.

In the first place a man living in the Thornhill district had signed a contract with the Canadian Bell Telephone company just before he sold out for a telephone in his residence at $24 a year.

Some time ago the company sold out to the government and the government bought the company out and in a few days it sent word to the new subscriber that while the price of $24 would still hold good he would have to discontinue his own poles and string his own wires. He concluded to do without and he did several other persons to whom the same liberal terms were offered.

A few days ago a telephone administration sent out notices that special rates to doctors, dentists and nurses would be cancelled and that telephone rates would also have to pay the same as any one else. This has furnished a loud cry against the government conducted telephone system, which is fast taking the shape of a political issue.

Justice Not Wanted.

A Nashville lawyer once had a client noted for his unscrupulous business methods. The client lived in a small town, and bought and sold potatoes and produce. If the price of potatoes went up after he had contracted to purchase the crop he would raise the price at the market price. If the price went down, however, he was sure than death or taxes in the great beyond.

One day he was in the market place, and he saw a man who was selling potatoes. He saw that the man was selling potatoes at a price that was lower than the market price. He saw that the man was selling potatoes at a price that was lower than the market price.

On one occasion he had become involved in a case based on a deal in potatoes. The man who owned the potatoes brought suit, and the case was taken before a local justice. The lawyer conducted the defense along purely technical lines, and the case was taken under advisement by the justice.

When the government conducted the trial, the lawyer, in his somewhat unexpected triumph, wired his client:

Immediately came back the startled reply: Take an appeal.

Lord Kitchener's Sarcasm.

England's great military chief, Lord Kitchener, has a pitiless contempt for anything which savors of ostentatious in a man. This is illustrated by an incident which occurred after his return to England from his Egyptian exploits. He was greeted by a young lord who had an amusing story to tell about the autographs of distinguished persons. Meeting Kitchener, he gushed:

"Your sister," I presume," said Kitchener, sniffing at the scented handkerchief.

"No, my own. A very pretty pattern, isn't it?"

"Very," said Kitchener, in a dry way, passing the handkerchief back unscented. "What is your taste in hats, by the way?"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Duly Charged.

"I shall refuse to pay for attendance," said the irate tourist who had been staying at an old-fashioned country hotel, and who had just been presented with his bill. "Why, the bells in the rooms are so effect disagree; not one of them would ring. Everything I wanted I had to fetch myself. Why, I must have had some hours tugging at those bells."

"It's true we have charged for attendance," said the manager, "but we have charged you nothing for your physical culture course."

"I have been here only ten hours, and I have not seen a single woman," exclaimed the tourist, in surprise. "I don't know what you mean."

"That was the course of our dumb bells," was the cool retort.—Sketch.

CHANGE IN FOOD

Works Wonders in Health.

It is worth knowing that a change in food can cure dyspepsia. "I don't see any duty to let you know how Grape-Nuts food has cured me of indigestion."

"I had been troubled with it for years, until last year my doctor recommended Grape-Nuts food to be used every morning. I followed instructions and now I am entirely well."

"The whole family like Grape-Nuts. We use four packages a week. You are welcome to use this testimonial as you see fit."

The reason this lady was helped by the use of Grape-Nuts food, is that it is predigestible by natural processes and therefore does not tax the stomach as the food she had been using; it also contains the elements required for building up the nervous system. If that part of the human body is in perfect working order, there can be no dyspepsia, for nervous energy represents the steam that drives the engine.

When the nervous system is run down, the machinery of the body works badly. Grape-Nuts food can be used by small children as well as adults. It is perfectly cooked and ready for instant use.

A BRIDEGROOM FROM THE EAST.

Ethel had been so silent as to what she was going to do, and her companion could only follow her lead. On board the Glaucus they had been simply traveling for pleasure, and everybody had made much of the two good-looking young women. At Singapore they had simply taken passage in the first boat, a very small coasting steamer, for Port Elliot, and though the captain and passengers had paid them attention the voyage had had only a couple of days and they had not had time to get acquainted.

Peggy thought she saw a curious look on the face of the man who had been with her in the first boat, and she had been with her in the first boat, and she had been with her in the first boat.

"Are you one of the galaxy of girls who were within hat only known Christy?"

"Who what?"

"Oh, nothing, nothing! Only he had rows of photographs of girls in his cabin. He had been with her in the first boat, and she had been with her in the first boat.

she is safe for two or three days, and we must maneuver to get her away."

"How?" breathed Peg. It was wonderful the trust she had in this man. She was prepared to do his bidding whatever it was. She found time for a second to wonder at herself—she who had always chafed so against all authority.

"Could you persuade her, do you think, to run away tonight when they are all in bed, without saying a word to Mat?"

"I don't believe I could," said Peg, shaking her head. "She trusts him. She would say she has known him—it is only a night's ride, but she calls it 'ages' and she would say I had known you only—why, good gracious, I have known you only about fifteen minutes!"
