AN ENTHUSIASTIC CATHERING.

FIRST DAY

DENVER, Colo., July 7 .- The Democratic national convention of 1908 which will nominate candidates for the offices of President and vice president of the United States in opposition to William H. Taft of Ohio and James S. Sherman of New York whom the Republicans named four weeks ago at Chicago, was called to order at 12 o'clock today by Thomas Taggart of Indiana, chairman of the retiring national committee.

After the convention was called to order, the call was read by Secretary Urey Woodson. Archbishop John J. Keane of Wyoming delivered the opening prayer and announcement was then made of the temperature. er and announcement was then made of the temporary convention officers se-lected by the national committee and they were confirmed by the other dele-

Adjourn for Cleveland.

The unusual feature of the first day's programme was to adjourn at an early hour, after the address of Temporary Chairman Bell, as a mark of respect to the memory of the late ex-President Grover Cleveland, the last Democrat who occupied the exalted office of chief magistrate of the nation.

Taggart Sounds Gavel. At 12 o'clock promptly Chairman Thomas Taggart of the national committee brought down his gavel with a resounding whack and called the convention to order. Cheers followed the blow of the gavel and Chairman Taggart, as soon as they had subsided, spoke as follows:

"As chairman of the Democratic naduty to call this convention to order; and in doing so, I cannot refrain from the suggestion that in numbers, in the the suggestion that in numbers, in the personnel of the delegates, in enthusiasm and in the determination of victory, it is the greatest political convention ever assembled in the United States.

"It is certainly appropriate that such a convention should meet in this great western city, whose citizens have shown their generous hospitality on every hand and whose enterprise and energy is attested by the erection of this magnificent. tested by the erection of this magnificent

Flags and hats went up in a cloud, and voices rose in a storm of approval when the speaker asserted that the popularity of the present administration is due to "the Democratic principles he has practiced."

The following resolutions were offered by I. J. Dunn of Omaba, Neb., who will place William J. Bryan in nomination: As it has pleased the Ruler of the Universe to remove from our midst Grover Cleveland, late President of the United States, who was three times the candidate of the Democratic party, be it Resolved, that we, the delegates of the party in national convention assembled. Resolved, that we, the delegates of the party in national convention assembled, recognize in him one of the strongest and ablest characters known to the world's statesmanship, who possessed to an extraordinary degree the elements of leadership, and by his abie, conscientious and forceful administration of public affairs, rested honor upon his country and his party, and.

Resolved, that we hereby express our deep sorrow at his death and extend our Resolved, that we hereby express our deep sorrow at his death and extend our warmest sympathy and condolence to his family, and that this resolution be spread upon the records of the convention and a copy be forwarded to Mrs. Cleveland, and Resolved, as a further mark of respect to his memory, the convention do now adjourn until 12 o'clock (noon) tomorrow.

The resolutions were adopted.

and applause. Adjourn Until Tonight.

This afternoon it was decided to call upon various delegates for speeches and after they had concluded to adjourn until 7 o'clock this evening when the platform will be adopted and a presidential candidate nominated.

Yesterday's strenuous proceedings at the morning session of the convention and the late session of last night, had a marked effect on the delegates today, and they were slow in reaching their seats. This was particularly noticeable of the larger states such as New York seats. This was particularly noticeable of the larger states, such as New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio. The men of the Keystone state had had, in addition to the fatigue entailed by the work of yesterday, a series of conferences to delay them.

As chairman of the committee on peras chairman of the committee on per manent organization, Senator McCreary of Kentucky, presented the report of that body. It recommended Henry D. Clayton, Alabama, for permanent chairman, Urey Woodston of Kentucky for secretary, and John I. Martin of Missouri as sergeant-at-arms. In all other respects the temporary organization was made permanent.

The chair, after the unanimous adoption of the report, appointed Senator McCreary, Lewis Nixon of New York and J. E. Baker of California as members of a committee to escort the permanent chairman to the platform.

Laughter and cheers greeted Temporary Chairman Bell's announcement that he had read deeply in the Chicago platform and he had failed to find therein anything about "Republican prosperity." PRESERVATION OF EGGS.

The article was based upon the exper the Italian minister of agriculture.

Dr. Campanini, after reviewing the various means of preserving eggs—by salt water, lime water, silicate of potash vaseline and cold storage—described his experiments, which showed better results than all others. His theory is that to preserve egg some system must be adopted that will absolutely prevent the exchange between the air outside and that inside the egg-for it is this continual exchange that causes putrefaction.

Dr. Campanini selected perfectly fresh eggs and covered them with lard, so as to effectually stop up all the pores. The shells were thus rendered impermeable, the exchange of air was prevented and, the obstruction of the pores not permitting the evaperation of the water, there was no loss of weight. The whites and vellows of the erre verying their color. was no loss of weight. The whites and yellows of the eggs retained their color perfectly and the taste was not mounted in the slightest degree. When properly coated with lard—not too thickly—the eggs are put into baskets or boxes upon a bed of tow or fine odorless shavings and so arranged that there will be no point of contact between them—otherwise a mold will develop and putrefaction result. The packing room should be perfectly dry, the question of temperature not being important. By this process Dr. Campanini kept a quantity of eggs for a whole year—through a very coat 100 eggs and that any one could easily prepare that number of eggs in one hour's time.

mah, where they will visit a sister of the bride before leaving on a short wed-ding trip in the west. On their return they will reside for the summer at the Terrace hotel.
"Long" Jones was one of the old war horses of Republican politics in the mid-dle west. During his long residence in Illinois he held many political offices and was for twelve years chairman of the Republican state central committee. He was a member of the lower house of the Illinois Legislature in 1872-74; secretary of the board of commis of Joliet penitentiary for three years; collector of internal revenue for the northern district of Illinois and United States marshal in the same district. His political activity in Wisconsin is well known, he having been one of the lead-

Republican nomination for governor. In 1898 he was elected to the state Senate from this district but was subsequently defeated for re-election by Ernst Merton.

Col. Jones retired from active business life some years ago and while he is still president of the Bethesda Mineral Spring company, the active management of the concern has long been in the hands of his son, A. W. Jones, secretary of the company. When the new Waukesha Business Men's club was organized a few months ago he was elected president, having been the father of the

Blanche P. Smart-Bride Is a WAUKESHA, Wis., July 7 .- [Special.]-Former Senator A. M. (Long) Jones, president of the Bethesda Mineral Spring company, and former power in Republican politics in Wisconsin and Illinois, and Miss Blanche P. Smart, formerly housekeeper at the Wankesha Springs sanitarium, were quietly married

Cory, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating.

Announcement of the marriage Announcement of the marriage is a great surprise to local people. Col. Jones is 72 years of age and his bride is 40 years his junior. The wedding today is the culmination of a romance which had its beginning a few weeks ago when Col. Jones was a patient at the Waukesha Springs sanitarium, where his bride of today, was a trained nurse. She nursed him through his illness and an attachment sprang up between the couple their marriage.

The wedding was a quiet affair and attended only by intimate relatives of the couple. They left immediately for To-ers in the so-called Stalwart movement. He was at one time a candidate for the president, having been the lattice to the movement for the formation of the organization. His first wife died several years ago, being accidently drowned in the Fox river at the point where it borders on Bethesda park.

Have you heard him speak?

You can if you will come to our store. He is speaking here every day on the genuine Edison Phonograph Today he speaks on An Ideal Republic, The Tariff Question, The Railroad Question, Swollen Fortunes, and six other favorite subjects.

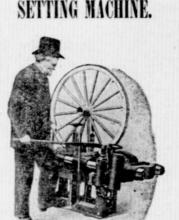

William Jennings Bryan himself recently made Edison Records of his best speeches. When you hear these on an Edison Phonograph, you hear the real Bryan.

You get the full effect of his sonorous voice and his wonderful tricks of voice and manner. It is all so natural and life-like you are apt to find yourself applauding the Crowds attend our free exhibition of the Bryan Records every day. Come today, as it's the talk of the Proof is inexhaustible that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carries women safely through the Change of Life.

Read the letter Mrs. E. Hanson, 304 E. Long St., Columbus, Ohio, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was passing through the Change of Life, and suffered from nervousness, headaches, and other annoying symptoms. My doctor told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good for me, and since tak-ing it I feel so much better, and I can again do my own work. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me during this trying period."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bear-ing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration.

Why don't you try it? Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

In recently published reports of the fair which took place at the Home of the Daughters of Jacob mention was made of the chief usher, a "lad" aged 105 years, and of the "girls" who sold candy and lemonade, although they were only 103 and 107 years old. Some doubt was expressed as to the ages of these inmates of the home. Albert Kruger, the superintendent, said that there was no exaggeration and gave these figures from his last report: "These are the ages of our wards: From 63 to 65, three women; 65 to 70, three men and eleven women; 70 to 75, eleven men and fourteen women; 75 to 80, twelve men and eight women; en; 75 to 80, twelve men and fourteen women; 80 to 85, fifteen men and twelve women; 85 to 90, six men and eight women; 90 to 95, four men and six women; 95 to 100, two men and five women. One man is in his 105th year, one woman is 103 years old, one is 107 and the oldest is 113."

The Court Crier.

When an Irish country court was about to open its session recently, the discovery was made that the court crier was absent. A substitute was provided, and the court had barely taken up a case when a breathless messenger boy dashed in with a telegram signed by the absent crier. The missive was handed to the judge, who read:

Red Hot Poker Plant.

This member of the lily family comes from South Africa. Various names are given to it, such as torch lily, flame flower, etc. It is one of the showiest of plants for decorative service in summer and autumn on the lawn, in border and among shrubbery.

The red hot poker plant, once seen, will not be forgotten. The leaves are lawes and longer flower spikes; Sanudersii often has spikes ten inches long. K. Pfitzeri is an excellent variety, sword shaped, two to three feet long, of a dark, shiny green. On a stem varying from eighteen inches to six feet in length, according to the variety, is borne a crowded, cylindrical spike of perhaps 100 drooping blossoms, tubular, an inch or more in length, of fiery red tipped taking off the rooted suckers thrown up from the roots. This should be done about once in three years, shifting and dividing the roots and fertilizing the soil.

TRUE STORIES ARE CONVINCING.

BY EDGAR T. WHEELOCK. (Secretary Wisconsin Immigration and Development Association.) As an indication of what can be don n northern Wisconsin by men of small means the personal testimony of two such nen quoted below is in point. These men bought wild land, moved upon it with their families and not only made a living, but cleared their farms and became independent, prosperous farmers. It should be remembered that there are housands of such farmers in the northern part of the state and that 95 per cent. of them had little or nothing when they sought homes in the new Wisconsin. Many of them had a hard time, it is true, and were forced to practice the strictest economy in order to make ends meet. penter employed last month by a newseconomy in order to make ends meet. Some of them worked a part of time in mber camps or in the mills and fac tories to earn money with which to buy necessities of life. In the early days there was no market for forest products; now everything found on the land can be sold. The homebuilders in some counties are even beginning to sell pine stumps for A Preacher's Story.

In the old days the homebuilder was orced to seek work away from home to earn money to live on while he cut down, piled and burned the very timber which today brings him enough money to pay for his land, and, in many cases, for clearing it also. The following letters, written in 1905, tell their own story, and they could be supplemented by hundreds of others relating similar experiences and capally gratifying success. Here is the equally gratifying success. Here is the first one: Dear Sir: Your request for a statement

Dear Sir: Your request for a statement from me as to my experience as a new scttler is inclosed herewith.

I came here from Le Seuer county, Minn, in 1901, to look over the country with a view to getting a piece of land and settling on it. I liked the looks of the country and found a piece of land that suited me near Ladysmith. I went back home, borrowed enough money from an old friend to make my first payment on forty acres of land.

After making my first payment and getting my family and household goods here I had just $12 in cash left. I built a log house on my land and moved in with my wife and three children and went to work. The first winter I cut logs and wood and made on an average $5 a day, and at the same time cleared some of my land. The next spring I cleared off clean three-fourths of an acre of land and raised $100 worth of potatoes and vegetables, besides having enough for my own use during the winter.

I have now under cultivation fifteen acres have now under cultivation fifteen acr

I have now under cultivation fifteen acres of land. I have also two cows and thirty chickens. Last summer we earned $15 a month selling butter from our two cows. Our chickens this wirter are earning $1.75 a week. I maintain that with four lows, seventy-five chickens, and twenty acres of land under cultivation a man can make a good living in this country. I would not take $1500 for my property. All I owe is $350 on my land.

You ask, why did I come here and settle on a piece of land? When I came here I was fifty years old with a family of three children growing up. I had preached for twenty-five years and had not saved a cent. I began to realize that if I was ever going to have a home of my own I must start soon. This is why I happened to come here and I am glad, indeed, that I came. This is a country where a poor man has an opportunity to start in with smal, means.

This is a country where a poor man has an opportunity to start in with smal, means, and by industry and prudent saving, earn himself a home and lay aside a little fortune. Yours truly,

REV. W. O. KING.

A Yeoman's Experience. This is not an exceptional case as nearly every county in the new Wisconsin can furnish cases that will parallel it. The next letter is from a German resident of Price county and reads as follows:

Dear Sir: In 1897, I purchased and moved my family, consisting of my wife and six small children, on 160 acres of stump land about six miles east of Phillips. This land was all I had and on it I had a debt of $1000. The outlook was gloomy. I soon sold eighty acres of my land and then bought five cows, a pair of old plugs, and an old, dilapidated farm wagon. I had no buildings of my own, so I moved my family into an old logging camp and the cows and horses into an old logging barn.

Things did not go smooth at first, but we worked hard and did not get discouraged. We had many troubles, but, where seven years ago you could not see anything but stumps, there stands today a modern eight room dwelling all finished and 20,000 feet of iumber on the ground for a large new trame barn, which will be built next summer. In place of the old plugs we have a heavy team weighing 2800 pounds, new harness, new wagon and buggy, new mower and hay rake, new plows and cultivators, twelve head of cattle, of which seven are good milking cows.

One thing more: We have confidence in the future and I am thoroughly convinced that north Wisconsin is the coming cow, butter, cheese, and sheep country of America. With these prospects in view we keep right at it, attending to our own business. I am, yours very truly, Brothers as Matchmakers.

It is a strange thing that mothers are looked on as matchmakers, while girls' brothers never are. Yet the fact remains that many a girl has her brother to thank if she happens to get married, and not her mother at all. Many a woman who is happily married today has her brother to thank for it—had he not brother a particular man about the brought a particular man about the home, why, his sister might have re-mained unwed all her days; but very few women give so much as a thought to that.—Woman's Life.

WIFE WON. Husband Finally Convinced. Some men are wise enough to try new foods and beverages and then generous enough to give others the benefit of their experience. A very "conservative" Ills. man, how ever, let his good wife find out for herself what a blessing Postum is to those who are distressed in many ways, by drinking coffee. The wife writes:

"No slave in chains, it seemed to me, was more helpless than I, a coffee captive. Yet there were innumerable warnings-waking from a troubled sleep with a feeling of suffocation, at times dizzy and out of breath, attacks of palpitation of the heart that frightened ter judgment told me that coffee drinking was the trouble. At last my nervous system was so disarranged that my physician ordered 'no more coffee.' "He knew he was right and he knew I knew it, too. I capitulated. Prior to this our family had tried Postum but disliked it, because, as we learned later, It was not made right.

"Determined this time to give Postum a fair trial, I prepared it according to directions on the pkg.-that is, boiled it 15 minutes after boiling commenced, obtaining a dark brown liquid with a rich snappy flavor similar to coffee. When cream and sugar were added, it was not only good but delicious.

"Noting its beneficial effects in me the rest of the family adopted it-all except my husband, who would not ad mit that coffee hurt him. Several weeks elapsed during which I drank Postum two or three times a day, when, to my surprise, my husband said: 'I have decided to drink Postum. Your improvement is so apparent-you have such fine color-that I propose to give credit where credit is due.' And now we are coffee-slaves no longer."

is related that the commodore saw a lady approaching with whom he was ac-quainted. His wife and daughter, who recognized her could scarcely contain their anger when he arose and politely addressed her.

"Don't you know," asked the daughter "Pon't you know," asked the daughter after she had gone, "that horrid woman used to sell poultry to us?"
"Yes," responded the old millionaire, "and I remember when your mother sold root beer and I peddled oysters in New Jersey."—New York Sun.
