Blow Open the Safe in Koch's Store and Make Away With the Contents.

Last Tuesday night burglars entered the store of Mrs. Charles Koch at Beechwood, blew open the safe took the contents, about $50 in change, which was left in the night before. It was about 2 A. M. when Mrs. Reinke, daughter of Mrs. Koch, who lives near the store heard an explosion and noticed the flash in the direction of the store. She woke up her husband and told him that she thought the gas lighting plant at the store must have exploded. In looking out of the window they noticed that there was light in the store and came to the conclusion that there must be burglars at work. Mr. and Mrs. Reinke did not give the alarm until daylight as they feared to leave the house. Upon investigation in the morning they found the safe blown to pieces and the windows in the rear all broken, caused by the explosion. Part of the safe was blown through the ceiling of the store. Senate.

The Senate on the 2nd adopted a resolution for day and night sessions, and the vice president ruled that the absence of a quorum could not be called to the attention of the chair if the senator occupying the floor declined to yield for that purpose. Senator La Follette began a two days' speech, guing for a lower tariff. Senators Nelson! Gore spoke along the same line and lator Elkins pleaded for a higher tariff on coal and cil. Senator Frye defended the charge that the New England cotton mills are making unusually large profits.

Senators Aldrich and Stone engaged in a

Senators Aldrich and Stone engaged in a sharp exchange of words on the 3rd in a discussion growing out of Senator Aldrich's charge that the German government was interferring in tariff legislation. Mr. Stone said the German government resented that charge, and Mr. Aldrich attempted to show that his statement was directed against German manufacturers and not against the government. Senator La Follette continued his speech against high tariff rates in the pending bill. At 5:30 p. m. the Senate took a recess till 8 o'clock, when discussion of the bill was continued until 10:30.

Through forenoon, afternoon and evening sessions the Senate on the 4th labored on the cotton schedule. Mr. La Follette completed his long speech attacking the changes in the Dingley rates which were recommended by the Senate finance committee and replied to Senator Penrose's charge that he was shamming sickness as an excuse for his absence from the night session. He said he was not sick, but was very tired and was resting in order to be in shape to continue his speech in the Senate today. At the night session Chairman Aldrich replied to Mr. La Follette's assaults upon the work of the finance committee and made a general defense of amendments, which he asserted were necessary to carry out the intent of the framers of the Dingley law.

After devoting the larger portion of the day on the 5th to listening to a discussion of the cotton cloth schedule, the Sennte entered upon a period of voting late in the afternoon and rapidly disposed of the entire subject of changing from ad valorem to specific duties for the purpose of preentire subject of changing from ad valorem to specific duties for the purpose of preventing undervaluations. On all the votes taken the finance committee was sustained by a majority of ten or eleven. Three votes were necessary to accomplish this result, and others would have been necessary but for Senator Bacon, who, seeing the futility of opposing the committee, suggested the grouping of the votes after the first two ballots had been taken. This suggestion was unanimously agreed to, with the result that so much was accomplished that a night session was not held. Senator Dolliver occupied much of the time of the session with a speech in which he indulged in much caustic criticism of the methods of the finance committee. At 5:30 the Senate adjourned.

the Senate adjourned.

The Senate chamber on the 7th was the scene of a sharp conflict between Senator Aldrich and Senator Bevericge over the tariff bill. Both senators were frequently on their feet and were the chief speakers of the day. The first subject of dispute was Aldrich's amendment for a duty of 3 cents a square yard and 20 per cent. ad valorem on window hollands. This amendment was finally adopted by the usual majority, as on window hollands. This amendment was finally adopted by the usual majority, as were all the other committee amendments to the cotton schedule. A motion to remove rubber goods from the cotton schedule prevailed and overshoes and other rubber articles in which cotton is a factor will get a lower rate of duty. The Senate hoslery rates, which are a reenactment of the Dingley rates, were adopted.

The woolen schedule of the tariff hill

Dingley rates, were adopted.

The woolen schedule of the tariff bill was taken up in the Senate Tuesday. Mr Dolliver offered several amendments and announced his intention of presenting a number of others, appealing to the Republican members to vote with him because, he said, these amendments would justify the attitude of the Republican party in advocating a protective tariff. Mr. Smoot, assisted to a large extent by Mr. Warren, defended the finance committee's recommendations with regard to that schedule. The various amendments proposed to the The various amendments proposed to the House bill by the finance committee of the Senate are intended to restore the Dingley provisions, which in some instances provide higher duties than the Yayne bill. Mr. Dolliver proposed an amendment which would assess the duties on woolens on an would assess the duties on woolens on an ad vaiorem basis according to the shrinkage of the wool. Mr. Warren, in order to illustrate the small proportion of the entire cost of a woolen garment which is dutiable, asked Mr. Dolliver to examine the suit which he was wearing. Mr. Dolliver said it appeared to him to be a very good suit, whereupon Mr. Warren explained that the cloth in the suit cost only $4, while the making and the trimming cost $42, showing that the duty on the $4 worth of cloth was trifling compared with the entire cost of the suit. The usual night session was omitted and the Senate at 5:30 p. m. adjourned for the day.

House.

The House was not in session on the 2nd. After trying for three-quarters of an hour After trying for three-quarters of an hour to obtain a quorum and not meeting with success the House on the 3rd adjourned until Monday. The point of no quorum was made by Mr. Macon (Arkansas), who demanded the presence of a constitutional majority for the consideration of the bill amending the laws of Porto Rico. That the Republicans plan to pass the bill next week was made evident when Mr. Payne, the majority leader, served notice that if a quorum was not present on Monday next he would move that the sergeant-at-arms bring in the absentees. The House was not in session on the 4th.

House.

The House was not in session on the 5th.

The House of Representatives on the 7th passed the Porto Rican bill without amendment. The bill provides that whenever the Legislature shall fail to make the necessary appropriations for the ensuing fiscal year, those for the current year shall be considered as in force and effect. It also provides that hereafter all reports of an official character shall be made direct to an executive department of the government of the United States to be designated by the President, and such department is authorized to take jurisdiction of all matters pertaining to the island possession. At 3:05 p. m. the House adjourned until Thursday. The House was not in session on the 5th.

With his back against the locked door, he read the poem to a coterie of friends.

They all laughed heartily, but none so heartily as the author himself.

Encouraged by their apparent appreciation of his wit, he took the poem to the city editor of a local paper. The editor also laughed with a heartiness which was flattering, but he handed the manuscript back.

"Why-isn't it good?" demanded the poet in surprise.

"Aren't you going to print it?"

"I'd like to," replied the editor, lowering his voice to a whisper, "but, you see, Walls, I've got a wife and children."—

SENATE.

WEDNESDAY, JU.E 2. WEDNESDAY, JU. E 2.

Without debate or comment the Senate concurred in the Assembly amendment to the Randolph joint resolution fixing the time for final adjournment June 12. All work must therefore be completed by about June 6. To hurry legislation a resolution by Senator Sanborn was adopted requiring all committees to report out all bills within twenty-four hours, except those in the committee on claims, that all those in the committee on claims, that all bills and messages acted upon be imme-diately messaged to the Assembly and that diately messaged to the Assembly and that rules interfering with such resolution be suspended for this session. A new bill was brought in from the committee on claims creating the office of public printer at a salary of $2000 and providing for a clerk at $1200. The printer shall do much of the work now done by the commissioners of printing and shall put all state reports in final shape. Instead of the state waste, and garnetted waste, was agreed to. This vote was the first that has been taken on the woolen schedule and is regarded as a test vote on all amendments to that schedule.

On the amendment no Democratic senator voted in the affirmative, while Mr. Crawford and Mr. Gamble, who have generally voted with the "progressive Republicans and Democrats" voted "aye." Another expected big fight in the Senate falled to materialize today when the Senate concurred in the Assembly amendment which provides for final adjournment June 12, and means the practical completion of all work this week. In anticipation of such a contest the attendance was unusually large. After the amendment had been concurred in Senator Lehr moved reconsidcurred in, Senator Lehr moved reconsideration of the vote, but the motion was killed by an indifferent vote. Assemblyman Peter F. The bill, as it happens, was passed by the Senate and recommended for passage by the Assembly committee. When it came up this morning Mr. Leuch took the floor and made a vigorous speech, announcing that the bill concealed a joker that would react on the guardians of peace and property. On a vote the bill went down to defeat. The bill also increases the license fee. The bill as advanced includes an amendment by Mr. Haight, which takes care of the auto "fiends," who after causing an accident try to get away. This section reads as follows: "If any auto shall be the cause of an accident and the occupants shall fail to stop and offer aid and assistance, such failure shall be deemed a separate offense." The original bill was written by James T. Drought of Milwaukee and is said to be an improvement on the famous Connecticut law which is held up as an example of model auto legislation.

Oil Inspector Ed Tracy's salary was the chief subject of debate in the Assembly this morning, two factions of the House fighting over the Senate bill increasing his pay, adding to his staff of inspectors, permitting the appointment of a deputy at $1200, and requiring that vouchers of the inspectors should be approved by the governor. Assemblyman Roethe wanted to know just what brand of lubricating oil Mr. Tracy used in framing the bill. He called it a bold grab and a clever scheme to work up an improved system of making the state pay for political work. Several sensational speeches were made against the bill. Messrs. Ingram, Daub and Hull contributing to the ammunition against it. But the proponents of the bill were strong. Mr. Hambrecht made a bold defense of the measure. After Mr. Hambrecht sat down Mr. Ingram informed the Assembly that Mr. Hambrecht had secured his figures from Tracy. Mr. Hambrecht admitted it and said he thought it was all right. A roll call was insisted upon and the bill was advanced. The result being as follows: Ayes, 43; noes, 21. Only thirty-one members were present. PARIS, June 5 .- M. Chauchard, multimillionaire owner of the Louvre department stores, is dead at the age of 81 years. He owned a priceless collection of pictures which it is hoped he left to the nation. He also owned a Gobelin carpet for which he paid $500,000 and on which he allowed nobody to step except himself. It is reported that he bequeathed $1,-000,000 to M. Calmetto, editor of Figaro, as a token of his friendship. In the death of M. Chauchard Paris will be given the chance to attend the most regal funeral in its history. Chauchard, when realizing the end was nearing, attended to the matter to the smallest detail. In the Pere-Lachaise ceme-tery he had built a sarcophagus costing $16,000, and he purchased a casket for $4000 and set aside $40,000 for his funeral. The coffin is a work of art in amarinth conred wood, wrought with artistic hands into cunning designs. After lying in state two days, during which the shop is to be closed, the corpse will be placed in a magnificent car, preceded by 4600 employes in habits of mourning and a guard of horsemen, and borne to the Madeleine. The mourning coaches provided for those invited are the gayest of all in the styles of Louis Quinze. There will be clean shaven coachmen and footmen in gala costumes impressively trimmed in gold lace of specially lavish designs, knee breeches, wigs, and cocked hats.

Much attention is given to the cos-

In conclusion, the foreign secretary said that the present excessive expendi tures for armaments made the political weather "sultry."

High Church Officials from All Over Country Pay Honor to Fond du Lac Diocese Head.

SKETCH OF HIS REMARKABLE LIFE.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., June 9 .- [Special.]-With the highest ritual of the Episcopal church, Bishop Charles Chapman Grafton, assisted by bishops, clergymen and laymen from Fond du Lac and other dioceses, celebrated the twentieth anniversary of his elevation to the episcopate and the fiftieth anniversary of his copate and the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood this morning at St. Paul's cathedral.

Not since the consecration of Bishop Coadjutor Reginald Heber Weller in 1900 has so ornate a service been held in the cathedral. Solemn pontifical high mass was celebrated, with Bishop Weller as celebrant. It being the mass of the Holy Ghost red vestments were worn by the bishops and clergy. At 10 o'clock the procession formed in the cathedral garth, thurifers, torch and banner bearers, choir, clergy, the bishops and their solutions. It is said that over $600,000 has solvent formed in the cathedral garth, thurifers, torch and banner bearers. cese, great development has become noticeable, as all of the reports submitted at the meeting of the diocesan council show. It is said that over $600,000 has been expended by the bishop alone in the great of building and improving churches ers. choir, clergy, the bishops and their chaplains marching out to the street and thence to the cathedral to "The War March of the Priests" from Mendelssohn's "Athalia." way of building and improving churches and other buildings connected with the various parishes. One of the great works accomplished by him and which will stand as a monument to him is Grafton hall, a school for young ladies. The building itself is not only a beautiful structure, but the furnishings, paintings and pieces of antique furniture are rare

Order of Procession.

The order of the procession follows: Thurifer; crucifer; torch bearers; Canon Douglas and Rev. James Boyd Coxe of Sheboygan; crucifer and two torch bearers; singing clergy; two torches and ban-ner; candidates for religious orders; all other clergymen; clerical members of the standing committee; Archdeacon Thompson of Stevens Point; banner and two torches; the bishop of Milwaukee; Rev. Father Benson of Janesville, chaplain; the bishop of Michigan City, Rev. A. N. Samwell of Nashotah, chaplain; crucifix and two torches; acolytes; the master of ceremonies, Archdeacon Penfold of Marinette; subdeacon, Rev. B. Talbot Rogers of Fond du Lac; Deacon Rev. E. A. Larrabee of Chicago, with Bishop Coadjutor Weller; Bishop Grafton with Father Merrill as his chaplain; thurifer of the mass, Father Huntington of Medford.

The mass used was an arrangement by other clergymen; clerical members of the mass, Father Huntington of Medford.

The mass used was an arrangement by Canon Charles W. Douglas of Fond du Lac, of the Missa De Angelis. It is representative of the ancient plainsong of the Eleventh century and one of the oldest written. A choir of 150 voices, including forty young ladies from Grafton hall, augmented by an orchestra of twenty-five pieces under the leadership of Willy Leonard Jaffe of Milwaukee, furnished the musical portion of the elaborate service. Bishop Grafton wore cope and niter and at the conclusion of the service delivered the benediction from his throne. On the altar was a most elabor.

agine that he is back in England. There is no more charming sight than these grounds in the month of June, and bishops in their robes and clergymen in vestoments, walking from one delightful nook to another, complete the picture."

The parish house, where the bishop established a choir boy's school, is not far from the cathedral, and on the other side of the city is the mother house of the Sisterhood of the Holy Nativity. This convent is located on one of Fond du Lac's most fashionable residence streets, and is also the home of the bishop.

Although in his eightieth year, Bishop Grafton still remains vigorous. He freched that there will be another fight when the bill comes up again.

Gen. Otto Falk, Judge Paul D. Carpenter and A. T. Van Scoy, members of the legislative committee of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association of Milwaukee, came to Madison this morning to work against the bill granting to work against the bill of the legislative committee of the legislative committ throne. On the altar was a most elaborate altar cloth of gold, presented by the sisters of the Holy Nativity and regarded as a most beautiful work of art, not sermons. He lives in great simplicity, even surpassed in intricacy of design and welcomes callers with the hospitaliexecution by the Persians.

Church Dignitaries There.

was an imposing and impressive sight, the spectacle of these dignitaries of the Episcopal church in their procession to the cathedral, Bishop Grafton walking last and wearing gorgeous and seautiful vestments over his trained purple cassock. Incense was used as the procession entered the cathedral, up past the rood screen and into the chancel. A feature of this high service was the reading of the gospel at the screen by Bishop White of Michigan City. The only solo part in the plainsong mass was a portion of the credo, sung by Miss Bessie Marie Mayham of Fond du Lac. The offertory was the "Hallalujah Chorus" by Handel, and the Te Deum in F was by Dykes, making three distinct schools of musical composition used during the service.

Bishop White's Sermon.

In his sermon Bishop White spoke of Bishop Grafton's work in the east, be-fore coming to Fond du Lac, and of the results accomplished in the way of builddu Lac diocese. He declared that Bish-op Grafton was the founder of retreats for clergymen which are now conducted in many other dioceses.

REMOVES QUACK GRASS.

St. Croix County Farmer Invents Machine Which He Claims Will Destroy Pest.

HUDSON, Wis., June 8 .- [Special.]-A farmer named Fitzpatrick, residing a few miles southeast of Hudson, has invented a quack grass machine which promises to rid the country of this pest. Fitzpatrick's machine destroys the grass, roots and all, and his invention bids fair to transform him from a poor farmer to a very wealthy man. Quack grass has become a great foe of the farmer, and it has been an impossibility to get rid of it. The roots form a close network through the ground and sap its vitality, and many fine farms have been practically ruined by it. Fitzgerald's machine pulverizes the ground and removes every root.

Hamburg-American line steamer Cincinnati arrived in port Sunday on its maiden voyage from Hamburg. The Cincinnati is pronounced to be one of the finest leviathans that have arrived on this side of the Atlantic in many years. The interior of the vessel is beautifully inished in oak, mahogany, walnut and cosewood, and the furnishings of the staterooms have never been excelled. The landsman may form an idea of the immensity of the Cincinnati from the fact that in addition to a capacity for 18,000 tons of cargo, it has accommodations for 230 first class, 426 second class, 530 third class, and 2064 steerage passengers, a total of 3250 persons. It carries a crew of 360, making a grand total of 3610 souls aboard when every berth is occupied. The Cincinnati is 608 feet in length, 65 feet in breadth, and the distance from the water line to the upper deck is 65 feet. It is constructed of steel and is provided with double bottoms extending its entire length. The hull is divided into twelve water tight compartments and the vessel is said to be practically non-sinkable.

MADISON, Wis., June 9 .- [Special.] Practically $4,000,000 were appropriated for various purposes by the Assembly today.

It also passed the Tracy bill which raises the salary of Oil Inspector Tracy $500 a year. This bill provides that an unlimited number of assistant oil inspectors shall be appointed and that accounts of the department shall be "O. K.'d" by the governor. Mr. Ingram made a last futile fight against the bill saying, "As you all know, this bill provides a salary raise for Tracy, it allows appointment of additional inspectors without limit and violates the constitution by giving the governor the right practically to audit the accounts of inspectors for traveling and other expenses. I sincerely hope that Gov. Davidson will have the courage and the nerve to veto it."

He Needed It.

This happened on the Lake Shore flyer not long ago. A man rushed in from the car behind, evidently in great agitation, and said: "Has anybody in the car any whisky? A woman in the car behind has fainted." Instantly dozens of flasks were produced. The man who had asked for it picked out the largest one, drew the cork, and put the bottle to his lips. With a long, satisfied sigh, he handed it back and remarked: "That did me a lot of good. I needed it, for it always makes me feel queer to see woman faint."-Argonaut.

She was very much astonished and did not know what it meant. Seeing Mme. Malmberg's son coming downstairs, she ran to him and said, "They gave me money. Did they give you any?" Hearing that they had not done so, she was much mystified. "I cannot understand why they should give it to me and not to you, when they know you much better to you, when they know you much better than me," was her perplexed comment on the incident.—London Post.

The B. Z. B. G.

The Berlin railway station porters, well known to travelers by their white tunics, have formed themselves for mutual protection into a limited liability ompany, which bears the proud title of Bahnamtlich Zugelassene Berliner Ge-paeckbefoerderungsgenossenschaft mit Beschraenkter Haftung. Should the call for an official of the society not trip readily off the tongue, nervous travelers will be relieved to hear that the Ber-liners themselves find the name rather cumbersome and that the organization is popularly known as the B. MAKING SUNSHINE.

It Is Often Found in Pure Food. The improper selection of food drives many a healthy person into the depths of despairing illness. Indeed, most sickness comes from wrong food and just so surely as that is the case right food will make the sun shine once more.

An old veteran of Newburyport, Mass., says: "In October, I was taken sick and went to bed, losing 47 pounds in about 60 days. I had doctor after doctor, food hurt me and I had to live almost entirely on magnesia and soda. water would run out of my mouth in

"I had no faith in it but took it to please her. To my surprise it did not distress me as all other food had done and before I had taken the fifth package I was well on the mend. The pains left my head, my mind became clearer

"I went back to my work again and now after six weeks' use of the food I am better and stronger than ever before in my life. Grape-Nuts surely saved my life and made me a strong hearty man, 15 pounds heavier than before I was taken sick.

FOR WOMEN AND GIRLS

When the spring season opened it seemed as if chiffon lace and marquisette were to take precedence of the nets as material for blouses and guimpes, and indeed the fine laces are preferred to net for the guimpes of dressy French frocks but net is to satisfactory a material for such purposes to be lightly el-bowed aside and large quantities of it are still being sold, even in the ready tucked varieties which were so commo luring the winter.

One thing that has helped the nets to hold their prestige is the variety and beauty of the new net meshes and designs which have been brought out this spring. Meshes of every imaginable size and design are supplied in silk and in cotton and a wide range of colorings also is provided, so that the irksome neces-sity of bothering with the dyeing problem which used to confront a woman in need of a net waist to match a colored frock is now, in a majority of cases, complete-ly eliminated.

In gray, rose, wistaria and brown shadings there is a surprising variety among the fancy and plain nets, and embroidered net bands, motifs, etc.. come in the same range of shades. The fine mesh nets with small dot or ring designs, the nets with groups of tucks al-ternating with rows of embroidered dots and the vermicelli design nets are probably the fancy nets most generally in demand, but there are charming fine designs of higher prices, suggesting combinations of fine lace, openwork, stitchery, etc., and fine meshes overrun by most delicate spidery designs of vines, or leaves or flowers.

Some exceedingly effective nets are of German valenciennes mesh, a narrow stripe of the plain mesh alternating with a fancy stripe like a parrow valencients. stripe of the plain mesh alternating with a fancy stripe like a narrow valenciennes insertion. Or again, one sees this valenciennes net with a very narrow stripe of the simple dot design familiar in narrow real valenciennes insertion, alternating with a stripe slightly wider in one of the more running or fanciful designs peopular.

If screens were carefully put away last fall there should be little difficulty in getting them in place on the first hot, fly-breeding day. Lingerie dresses are worn a great deal this season and will undoubtedly remain extremely popular through the summer season. A larger use of color is notice able than was the case last year. It is apparent in both the dresses themselves and in the accessories in the way of Another kind of blouses which de-serves mention is that of the tub models in white and color which have the advantage of carrying out the costume col-or scheme instead of seeming altogether separate affairs, and yet have coolness and washableness. In white embroidered with color and in batistes, linens and cotton nets which have dainty designs of white and color many delightful blouses are shown, and frequently the figured material, whose note of color, be it understood, is very slight, is trimmed in narrow bands or borders of plain color to emphasize the color note.

A great deal of embroidery is used and it would hardly be possible to lay too much stress upon this fact. It appears not only in bands, flouncings and allovers of machine work, but in the most elaborate and extravagant form of hand-There is a distinctly new pattern of embroidery called Richelieu. This is in guipure effect and appears in both machine and handwork.

Chinese and Japanese patterns are also fashionable and the open English designs are also seen a great deal. Irish crochet is also quite popular. Combina-tions of lace and embroidery are em-ployed on the most elaborate dresses. Practically everything is trimmed lavish-

Lentils are too little known in this ountry. They are nutritious and may be used in a variety of ways. A soup may be made using lentils as one would split dried peas. Cook until perfectly tender, and then drain short time before the meal, saute in butter or olive oil, season with pepper and salt and serve at once. If the flavor of onion is desired, a little onion may be added while cooking.

Raffia material may now be had in some of the shops in curtain lengths. These strips are usually finished with a fringe more or less elaborate. In fact, the fringe largely determines the cost of the material. For summer draperies this raffia material is particularly fascinating. It comes in a wide variety of colors and

A quaint fad are the new caps used now by fashionable women for covering their tumbled locks before these are "dressed for company." NEW GREENLAND EXPEDITION. Ejnar Mikkelsen's Plans for Finishing a Dead Explorer's Work.

The London Times gives the following particulars of Ejnar Mikkelsen's plans for an expedition to northeast Green land for the purpose of discovering the depot left by Mylius Erichsen and his two companions, who perished during the expedition of 1907-08.

Mr Mikkelsen proposes to go to the

Mr. Mikkelsen proposes to go to the east coast of Greenland with a small vessel of about 45 registered tons, somewhat of the type of the Gjoa, in which Capt. Amundsen navigated the north-west passage. The total crew will consist of only seven men, Mr. Mikkelsen included. The vessel will be fitted with a motor capable of propelling her at the rate of about four miles an hour. At the Faro islands, which he expects to reach about July 5, he will meet with a steamer from Greenland, which will carry his dogs, fifty in all. He will set his course northward and enter the ice off the east coast of Greenland in about 74 or 75 degrees north latitude. Through the ice he will endeavor to keep a northwest course to strike the coast somewhere about Cape Bismarck. If the ice admits he will go northward along the coast and place a large depot as far north as possible, and then re-turn to a safe winter harbor near Cape During the winter he will make trips in the vicinity of his winter quarters and lay out depots; and when spring arrives he will start north with six men and advance the depots to as far as Lambert land, about 79½ degrees north. With two men he will push on over the ice cap to the bottom of Denmark Fiord, and hugging the north shore will proceed to Cape Rigsdagen. about 82 degrees north, where a depot left by the three men who died is supposed to be situated.

If he finds the depot in this position his quest will be practically finished, and he will then continue as rapidly as possible westward, through Peary Channel, and try to discover whether it is sound or a branch of an extensive fiord system. When the provisions allowed for this work are used up Mr. Mikkeisen will return, pick up the depot at Cape Rigsdagen and go back to his ship. In the meantime the remaining men will have carried on work roundabout the winter quarters; and when the ice permits the expedition will endeavor to reach the locality visited by the Duke of Orleans on his recent expedition and sound the bank which the duke discov-ered in order to find out whether it is a bank and not the southern extremity of an island. When the ice begins to prevent further operations the expedition will make its way out and return home.

This is Mr. Mikkelsen's plan in its main features, but of course its accomplishment depends on various circumstances. If these are specially favorable the plan may be considerably extended, and there is good reason to hope that he will be able to solve the main geographical problems remaining in that part of Greenland. part of Greenland.

"Our son, two years old, was afflicted with a rash. After he suffered with the trouble several weeks I took him to the doctor, but it got worse. The rash ran together and made large blisters. The little fellow didn't want to do anything but scratch and we had to wrap his hands up to keep him from tearing the flesh open till the blood would run. The itching was intense. The skin on his back became hard and rough like the bark of a tree. He suffered intensely for about three months. But I found a remedy in Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. The result was almost magical. That was more than two years ago, and there has not been the slightest sympom of it since he was cured. J. W. Lauck, Yukon, Okla., Aug. 28 and Sept. 17, 1908."

Louis Brandt,

KEWASKUM,

In a public contest held Nov. 17, 1908, at the Creamery of the Door County Creamery Co, on Cedar St, Sturgeon Bay, Wis., the Iowa Separator won a decisive victory over the DeLaval Separator, Wulf & Co., Messrs. Evans and Alexander, two DeLaval experts, conducted and directed the skimming operations of the DeLaval Separator.

OUR CHALLENGE.

We stand ready to test the "IOWA" Separator against any other make of separator and will deposit in the Bank of Campbellsport ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS to any other separator company's FIFTY that the Io va will skim closer on the average runs at temperatures of 50, 60, 70, 80 and 90 degrees, and a cream of not less than 25 to 50 per cent than any other separator, all machines to be run exactly as printed instruction book sent out with such machine. Furthermore, if five machines enter the contest we will contribute towards St. Matthews Church, Campbellsport, one hundred dollars if two out of the five do not leave an average of five times as much butterfat in the skim milk as the Iowa, tests to be made by a competent person or submitted to the Dairy School at Madison. We to use in these tests No. 2 or 3 Iowa Separators, this being the size in general use by our farmers. There are no Wulf tricks in this challenge, and we have deposited Fifty Dollars in the bank as a forfeit if we refuse to enter the contest.

I will give any farmer $25 who will bring this contest about, no machine in the world barred. This is no bluff, try us and find out.

We skim with any machine in the world-50 or 100 pounds.
