LOCALS WIN IN THIRTEENTH BABE KILLED BY THE CARS KILLED ON A CROSSING.

Backhaus and Taylor for the locals pulled off the batting honors of the day, each getting three hits out of five times at bat and the latter getting two 2-base hits. The visitors were the first to score and came across the rubber in the first inning. The locals trying to win the game from the start were successful in scoring two runs in their half, and if Rosenheimer would not have cut third base they would at least have scored 3 runs, which would have put a damper on the extra innings. Not until the seventh inning was either team again able to score, when Fond du Lac tied the score. As usual the locals thinking that they needed some more runs to win the game were successful in of base ball players made a very hard effort to win the game but were only able to tie the locals and which ended their run getting. Not until the 13th inning were the locals sure of winning. A. Schaefer got a clean single, stole second, was advanced to third by Koch's sacrifice, Rosenheimer drew a pass for first base, when signals were given for a double steal, and which proved successful, Rosenheimer going to second drew catcher when Schaefer started for home winning the game.

Although the attendance was very small everybody speaks well of the game and think that the visitors were one of the best bunch of players that ever played on the local grounds, everyone acting in a gentlemanly manner.

The company confidently expected to start on the line from Cedarburg to West Bend early last spring, but a deliberate hold-up by bond-buyers made this impossible. All arrangements for bonding the present line in the sum of $1,500,000 had been made, the bondbuyers having agreed to take the bonds at ninety cents on the dollar. Later the bond-buyers refused to pay ninety cents and offered but eighty. The company refused to let the bonds go at that unreasonably low figure. They are now negotiating a loan and if they succeed in floating their bonds will get busy soon thereafter on the Cedarburg-West Bend-Fond du Lac line.

An amendment for "dollar lumber" was defeated, as was a move for free lumber, and the ed, as was a move for free lumber, and the finance committee's proposition for $1.50 a thousand on sawed lumber was adopted, 24 to 44. The finance committee's provision reducing the House rates on pineappies to the old Dingley schedule was defeated, and Senator Taliaferro's amendment raising the rate above that in the House bill was adopted. Senator Aldrich's committee won a fight on their coal rates, which lowered the House rate on bituminous coal from 67 to 60 cents a ton and eliminated the reciprocity clause. Attempts were made to lower clause. Attempts were made to lower rate still further and to have coal free, were defeated.

The Senate Thursday adopted amendments to the tariff bill increasing the duty on shoes from 15 to 20 per cent. ad valorem and on sole leather from 5 to 10 per cent. The greater part of the session was devoted to speech making. Senator Beveridge, advocating his amendment in regard to the size of tobacco packages, declared the tobacco trust was making millions by keeping packages down to war time sizes notwithstanding the war tax was long ago removed. Mr. Bailey and Mr. Newlands discussed the tariff at length.

The Senate Friday raised the duty on scrap iron from 50 cents, as fixed in the House bill, to $2.50 a ton, increased the duty on wire nalls one-quarter of a cent a pound and substituted specific for ad valorem rates on files, rasps, etc. The duty on harness was raised from 35 to 40 per cent. a duty of one-half cent a gallon on crude oil was voted down.

Although it devoted almost eight hours to strenuous effort in that direction, the Senate on the 26th falled to conclude its consideration of the schedules of the tariff bill, and when at 5:15 o'clock an adjournment was reached there were still a number of important rates to be actermined. The day, however, was full of achievement, and a number of provisions were disposed of. Among the more important questions which received attention were agricultural implements, wood puip, cash registers, lithographic plates laces and jute yarns. Wood puip was placed on the free list, but the attempt to put agricultural implements in the same category failed. Senator Beveridge's amendment to cut in two the duty on cash registers was defeated. Other changes made during the day were as follows: Increasing to 2 and 4 cents a pound the duty on hemp, providing for the free importation until 1912 of linen manufacturing machines, increasing to the extent of about 10 per cent, over the present law the duties on laces and embroideries, imposing a duty of 50 per cent. on engraved lithographic plates, slightly decreasing the duty on jute yarns, striking from the free list the products of petroleum and eliminating the House retaliatory provision regarding wrapper and filler tobacco. He denied, however, that the corporation tax was a subterfuge, as the Democrats were quick to charge, and defended it as a legitimate means of raising revenue. Mr. Aldrich said he expected a deficit for the next year or two, and that the corporation tax would help meet that and then might be abolished. The corporation tax measure was put before the Senate in the stage of a "third-degree" amendment, which precludes further amendments. The tariff schedules were completed, the last vote to be taken being on Senator Tillman's proposition for a duty of 10 cents a pound on tea. Although Senator Tillman made a long and strenuous fight, his plan was lost 55 to 18. At adjournment at 6:17 Senator Cumples was speaking on the income tax.

LOCOMOTIVES OF 1908.

Few Actual Novelties, but Some New Developments.

The actual novelties in locomotive design in the last year are comparatively few, though the number of interesting designs is considerable; but, according to Cassier's Magazine, the main features of world's locomotive practice in 1908 may be briefly reviewed as follows:

1. The extensive introduction of "pa-cific" locomotives in France and the initial introduction thereof in England and Germany, both of the latter, however, being really toward the close of 1907, though usually associated with 1908.

2. The extensive introduction and development of articulated locomotives in the United States and the construction of such locomotives by British and American firms for use in other countries. The somewhat extensive building of locomotives of moderate dimensions for use on railways already using larger engines, these smaller engines in some cases nearly or exactly corresponding in design with engines built some years ago being developments of such designs. This has occurred particularly in Great Britain, but is also characteristic to some extent of continental railways. The extension of the use of super-heating apparatus.

5. The introduction of several new wheel arrangements and of at least one engine which is a very radical departure from usual methods of design.

ASKS $11,000,000 PENALTIES.

Petitioner Declares Big Combine Has Repeatedly Violated the Anti-Trust Law.

HARD FIGHT NOW IN PROSPECT.

JACKSON, Miss., June 30.-Application was made today by District Attorney Lamb for a perpetual injunction restraining the Standard Oil company from operating in Mississippi and seeking to collect $11,000,000 penalties for the alleged violation of the anti-trust law. Both sides, it is said, will put up a hard fight.

The injunction bill recites in detail the history of the Standard Oil company and the methods by which the company is alleged to have stifled competition in this state.

Hearing in November.

Under the Mississippi code as amended by the Legislature in 1906, the state is entitled to recover a statutory penalty of $5000 per day for each specific violation of the anti-trust laws and the penalties sought to be recovered in this case cover a period of three years. The hearing, it is understood, will take place at West Point during the November term of the chancery court.

The declaration covers practically the same grounds as set forth in similar proceedings instituted in other states in recent years. District Attorney Lamb files the proceedings in the name of the commonwealth. The case promises to Aeroplanists Will Attempt to Go from France to England for Prize.

Count de Lambert and Henri Farman are on the coast near here awaiting favorable weather conditions to attempt channel for a prize of $5000 offered by a London paper. French torpedo boats are in readiness to guide the aviators and rescue them in case of need.

Count De Lambert will make use of a Wright aeroplane. Farman will use a new machine like the one with which he made his celebrated flight from Chahe made his celebrated light from Chalons to Rheims, except that he has introduced an arrangement by which the lighting wheels give way and allow skids to bear the shock of the impact. He has introduced also lateral fins similar to those used by Latham on the monoplane.

These insure greater stability. Latham will use a monoplane with which he recently has made a number of successful flights. He purposes starting from the top of a cliff near Calais and heading straight for the admiralty pier

The distance as the crow flies is 21.73 miles. There is much rivalry between the three aviators as to who will start first.

A few months later, the Wellington hotel incident occurred. Miss Gingles told a remarkable story of having been kidnaped by a man and a woman in a cab and dragged to the bathroom where she was found bound to the tub. Details of her narrative failed of confirmation at least at that time. She is to be tried now on the theft charge. Attorney O'Donnell stated that not only would this episode be cleared up, but that light would be shed on the sudden death a few days ago of Mrs. Cecelia Kenyon, a close friend of Miss Barrett and the state's principal witness in the trial scheduled for today. ST. The missive, which is in Mrs. Woodill's handwriting, and couched in most sentimental language, was presumably sent to Eastman. It not only indicates a warm attachment for the man, but seems to prove that she had known him at least a year. On the same paper in Eastman's handwriting is

Is the seed immodest when it sinks into the ground with budding life; Is the cloud bold when it softens into rain and falls to earth because it has no other choice, or is it brazen when it nestles on the bosom of heaven's arched dome and, sinking into the blue-black infinity, ceases to be itself?

"I will not-I cannot!" She clutched pitifully conscious, gratefully conscious, of his hardened wrathful stare, his angry voice. Oh, let him only be angry and not tender again, she thought! She could resist the one, the other must break her down utterly. But how soon he lost his patience, if—if she had been going how quickly she would have laughed him into good temper again. Once more the sensation of amusement was in her as she met his bright, irate eyes. "I will not go," she said. "If I loved you—"
"If you loved me!"

"If I loved you twice as well as I do," she said, trembling but firmly, "still I would not-I could not go!"

"And if I loved you only one-tenth as well as I do," he retorted, "I would break fifty such chains as the one that holds me to get you! Not come? You must! She bent forward, hiding her face in her hands upon the cushions of the car, cold, faint, shuddering; she felt as though in denying him her very life must go from her. And she said -asking your pardon, ma'am, but she's a young lady that says just what comes into her head, my lord—that maybe you'd eloped with his lordship, for she didn't know where he was either. Quite breathless with the length and vehemence of his speech, and hotter than ever, the millionaire took off his hat and wiped his forehead. Verona glanced helplessly at the paper he had slapped down on the table before her, containing just what he had said and no more.

"I know nothing," she faltered. "I am only just home, Mr. Hesslerigge. Laura was here yesterday afternoon wanting ward misery; or whether she had in to see me. She left a note-here it is.

"Then read it, and let's hear what's got the girl. It's a good thing you are here, Martingale. You gave Miss Ford turning her head now and then towards the vast wooly curtain that shut them your business as mine. Hang me if I should be surprised to hear that she's gone prancing off to her cousin's in London; she's always grumbling at the country. You'll have to keep a tighter hand over her when she's married," said Mr. Hesslerigge, wiping his forehead again "Now, my dear, read it out, please!"

Verona took the letter. She could hardly hold the paper steadily.

"Dearest Verona," Laura had written -"You were quite right. It's coming awfully near, and I can't do it. Lord Martingale gets sulkier and sulkier every day. If dad wants to ramp he must. "Because I hardly see the utility of giving chase to a lady who doesn't want me, and who, if she isn't married already, certainly will be long before I can catch her." He laughed again; the exultant note of it made Verona shudder as though a whip lash had cut her. "I am jilted, which is not supposed to be a particularly pleasant position for a man, but at any rate I can endeavor to bear it with philosophy."
"Philosophy!" the millionaire growled.

He eyed Martingale doubtfully. "Seems to me you're precious cool over it, Martingale-upon my word it does. You don't mean you had an inkling of what my lady was after?"

"Not in the least. Come, Mr. Hesslerigge, you are angry of course-it is natural you should be; but let me advise you to think better of it. Young Pritchard is a gentleman and a good fellow as far as I know, and likely, I hope, to make your daughter far happier than I should have done. As to his position, to a man in yours that hardly matters. That he is your son-in-law makes his position, after all. As for disinheriting dent of Buffalo, N. Y., signed powers of your only child for choosing the husband she likes-I'm sure that's the last thing you would ever dream of doing."

"Humph!" said the millionaire. Everybody knew that Laura had twisted her father round her finger from the time she was 6 years old. And the good man had the greatest respect for the peerage. "D'you say, swallow it all-forgive 'em, then?" he demanded.

"Of course forgive them! As for the swallowing—every man of sense accepts the inevitable; they're probably married by now. You will get the orthodox letthe viscount followed her. #### BIG BLAST IN ARIZONA.

Side of a Mountain Broken Up to Supply Railroad Ballast.

One of the biggest things in the blasting line ever done took place the other day near Stein's Pass, Red Rock, Ariz., when the whole side of a mountain was broken into small pieces and enough rock was dislodged to ballast 100 miles of track, all in one explosion.

Preparations for the blast had been going on for several weeks under the direction of G. W. Kearney, powder expert for the Southern Pacific, and A. B. Crane, an expert for the company which furnished the powder. In making the blast 78,000 pounds of powder was used. The object was to obtain rock for ballasting the Tucson division of the Southern Pacific. The sight when the powder was touched off was one of the most respectively. markable ever witnessed in this part of the southwest. The whole side of the mountain was lifted about twenty-five feet and then settled back with a groan, a broken mass of stone. It is estimated that a body of rock weighing 775,000,000 pounds was dislodged by this explosion.

Fancies of a Fashion Leader. Particularity in hats was only one of the niceties of the Earl of Harrington, who, as Lord Petersham, before his father's death, was a leader and inventor of fashions. The "Petersham" greatcoat was his own design and even more than that, for he used to cut out his own clothes and made a boot polish which he declared would supersede all others. He composed him own mixture of snuff, and devoted one room entirely to storing jars upon jars of snuff and canisters of every kind of tea. His snuff boxes were num-bered by hundreds, and his meticulous choice led him to reply, when a beauti-ful Sevres box was being admired, that "it was all right for summer, but too cold for winter wear."-London Chroni-

PARIS. June 29 .- Louis and Henri Le Coulteaux de Caumont and their nephew, Baron de Bizi, descendants of Louis Le Coulteaux de Caumont, a pioneer resiattorney today authorizing Donald Harper of Paris and Edmund Crandell of Buffalo to institute suit in the supreme court of New York for the recovery of property in the heart of Buffalo valued at $1,000,000.

Bequeathed Before 1838.

The property was bequeathed between 1827 and 1838 by the grandfather of the claimants to the authorities of the Cathlic church for ecciesiastical and charitable purposes. The present suit is brought on the ground that the condibrought on the ground that the condi-tions imposed by the testator have not been fulfilled. The property includes the church of St. Louis at Main and Ed-ward streets, given for a church and cemetery; a block of tenements at Dela-ware avenue and Edward street, given for a minister's residence, and reversionary interests in other property.

Cloud on Ownership.

When it was desired in 1889 to reuild the Church of St. Louis, the Catholic authorities found it impossible to place a mortgage on the property, as no statute, this deed to the property will ripen into an incontestable deed at the end of next month. The present suit, therefore, is for the purpose of testing the legality of the claim of the heirs. The plaintiffs are men of wealth, and are interested in horse breeding.

TO ARREST CHINAMEN.

Police Draw Cordon Around New Jersey Suspects in Hope of Finding Some Trace of Murderer.

NEW YORK, June 29 .- The police ordon drawn about the comparatively narrow territory comprising Paterson, Passaic, Hackensack and other neighboring towns in New Jersey is tightening today around a number of Chinamen among whom the police hope to find of Leon Ling, the supposed mur-rer of Elsie Sigel.

Fifty of the best detectives of Inspector McCafferty's staff have been sent into this district. The concentration of so many of them lent color to a belief important information, carefully guarded from the public, was in the pos-session of the police.

The double mystery of the independent movements of Leon Ling and of the trunk containing the body of Elsie Sigel was apparently no nearer solution after detectives had run down the latest clue, the alleged moving of the trunk on the night of June 9 from Leon Ling's rooms in Eight avenue to a laundry in West 126th street. According to the man who is supposed to have moved the trunk, Leon Ling did not accompany it on its travel from the Eighth avenue address to Harlem, but sent it on by express. The laundry was found untenanted when the detectives visited it, however, and no evidence of value was obtained.

Old Cattlemen's Feud in Mexico, It Is Said.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 29.-Revenge attempted after three years of waiting for opportunity is said to have been the motive for a remarkable shooting in an automobile last night in Chicago. Both avenger and his victim were injured, the latter perhaps fatally. James Dorsey, a cattleman of Gilbirds, Ill., and C. C. Walker were the principals in the strange affair. Dorsey claims that he was kept in jail in Mexico on the false testimony of Walker. He says he lured Dorsey to Chicago for the purpose of shooting him. A Mexican was engaged to ride in the auto and Walker, assuming the name of Graham, kept concealed in the car until they reached the west side, and then the shooting began. Walker fired two shots, both taking effect, and then Dorsey grabbed the re-volver and fired, wounding the other Both are now in the hos man. The Mexican escaped with part of Dor-sey's money and a stickpin.

India Tea Labor.

The demand for labor is very much greater than the supply, and until this state of affairs is remedied some other means must be found of keeping the tea industry in the sound financial position that now obtains. It is notorious that owing to the scarcity of labor the work on tea gardens is scamped to a very great extent, and the land upon which which has prevailed here the last few the tea is planted is not worked to give days and which Sunday resulted in the giving under a very high state of culti-vation. The garden that produces ten maunds of tea on acre is considered to be doing wonders, but when we take into consideration the perfunctory manner in which the cultivation is carried out we might well ask ourselves what such a garden might give were the land properly worked, the bushes properly treated and the leaf taken off always when it was ready.-Calcutta Statesman.

A POINT ABOUT WIRE FENCE

A weak point in the average wire fence is at the joint.

The "Swinging Joint" in APEX fence differs in construction from all other fences. The stay wire is formed from separate pieces of wire, which wrap or coil about each other at their junction with the line wires, giving the strength of two wires at that point. This re-inforced, double strength stay is contained in no other fence

The cut above shows this construction, and the dotted lines also show the up and down swing possible in the line wires, which allows the fence to adjust itself perfectly to all unevenness of the ground. Don't buy any fence until you have seen the APEX and its special advantages.

SENATE SHOWS LESS INTEREST IN TAFT'S PLAN

CORPORATION TAX AMENDMENT ARGUED TO MANY EMPTY SEATS.

CUMMINS RESUMES SPEECH.

Iowa Senator, Talking for Income Levy, Raps Aldrich for Deserting Debate to Take Trip.

DNLY EIGHT IN THEIR PLACES.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30 .-Owing to the absence of Senator Aldcich, the lack of interest, or the coneinued heat, the Senate today was much slower than usual in assemblying. When the vice president's gavel fell there were not more than eight or ten senators present and the point of no nuorum was made. Twenty-five minutes elapsed before a majority of senators could be brought into the chamber. It had been the intent to proceed at the beginning of the session with the consideration of various income tax amendments before the Senate. and Mr. Dummins stood ready to proceed with his speech. The supporters of the income ax proposition, however, did not purpose that the Iowa senator should speak to empty seats and it was soon made o empty seats, and it was soon made evident that they were determined to keep the senators in the chamber.

Cummins Resumes Speech. Before proceeding with his speech Mr. Cummins remarked upon the absence of Mr. Aldrich. Mr. Cummins said he had seen in the morning papers announcement that the chairman of the finance committee was going on a sea

'After the acknowledgement which he made to the Senate yesterday with respect to his vote in bringing forward the amendment that we are now considering," added Mr. Cummins, evidently referring to the admission that Mr. Aldrich favored the corporation tax to defeat the income tax amendment. "He needs the restoration and the recuperation of salt air. I would want to take a trip lasting about a thousand years if I should be compelled to make a confession of that sort with respect to a measmre brought forward by myself."

Mr. Clapp interrupted with an observation. Referring to the corporation tax amendment, he said:
"I notice by the newspapers that the large corporations are not uncomfortable. They are reported as being well satisfied with this provision."

Mr. Cummins replied that there was nothing in the corporation tax amendment to make the corporations uncomfortable. He then proceeded to discuss the receipts and expenditures of the government to sustain his contention that the pending bill did not supply enough money for usual expenses. Declaring that $479,000,000 must be raised from customs duties and an inheritance, corporation or income tax to properly meet the expeditures of the zovernment and to keep up the sinking fund, Mr. Cummins presented a letter from Secretary MacVengh of the treasary department, stating that a deficit appeared in the sinking fund at the close of the fiscal year of 1908 of $549,383,647, although up to that period the lebt had been reduced $32,812,000 in excess of the sinking fund requirement.

deficit at the close of 1908," said Mr. MacVeigh in his communication, "will be increased, however, in the current year of 1909 by approximately $44, 000,000, which deficit is more apparent than real."

Mystery in Bookkeeping. Mr. Cummins claimed that secretaries of the treasury had failed to place aside in the sinking fund the amounts con-templated by law. "There is," he said, 'a mystery in the bookkeeping which is not easy to understand." Estimating at $340,000,000 the money required by the government for the fiscal year 1911, Mr. Cummins declared that not more than $260,000,000 would be raised from internal revenue and not more than $340,000,000 would be obtained from customs revenues under the Payne bill, leaving about $240,000,000 to be supplied from some other source.

"My conclusion is," he said, "the deficit will be $175,000,000 at the close of

He declared that no one could inves-tigate the subject without being convinced that there must be large deficits every year hereafter and he asserted that every penny which would result from the enactment of his and Mr. Bailey's income tax amendment would be necessary to meet the demands of the government.

A tax on incomes, he declared, ought of the first imposed and it should be levied by every state as well as by the national government. Sententiously he said. "We should lay the tax on for-tunes rather than on misfortune." He said this course would place the burden of government where it would beproperty. He contended that the accumulations of property do not pay their share of the taxes and said that there would be no injustice in increasing their proportion of the general burden, Policeman, While Arresting Boy, Is Dealt Terrific Blow with Billy by Member of Mob.

FREDERICK, Md., June 30 .- Policeman William Orrison was killed Tuesday night with his own club. He died without regaining consciousness.

Intruding.

It was hardly dawn, and the window was open. The intruder had clambered up the front porch, and the interior of the room looked inviting. He could see that it was the abode of some person of wealth. There were costly ornaments team. about the room, any one of which would bring handsome returns at a pawnbrok-er's. A gold clock ticked on the mantel and a silver service glistened on the

"This is fine." muttered the intruder.
"Here's a baldheaded man first thing." The season is opening in great shape. And the first fly crawled over the window sill, and the season of torture had begun.—Denver Republican.

OBJECTING TELEGRAMS POUR IN Protests Against Corporation Tax Almost Swamp the Senators.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30. A flood of telegrams, nearly equaling that which swamped the wires during the anti-railroad pass fight, is pouring in upon senators in opposition to the cor-poration tax amendment.

Most of the telegrams come from persons interested in building and loan as-sociations, but practically every character of corporate operations is represent ed. Most of the senators received from twelve to fifty telegrams Tuesday, and ome at least 100. It became evident that there is an organized movement throughout the country in opposition to the corporation tax amendment. In view of the vehement tone of the protests and the fact that the telegrams are from business men highly respected in their communities, some senators who are pledged to vote for the administration programme said that they are feel ing some concern as to the wisdom of their course. Fearful Eczema All Over Baby's Face - Professional Treatment Failed-Perfect Cure by Cuticura

"When my little girl was six months old I noticed small red spots on her right cheek. They grew so large that I sent for the doctor, but instead of helping the eruption, his ointment seemed to make it worse. Then I went to a second doctor who sald it was eczema. He also gave me an ointment which did not help either. The disease spread all over the face and the eyes began to swell. The itching grew intolerable and it was a terrible sight to see. I consulted doctors for months, but they were unable to cure the baby. I paid out from $20 to $30 without relief. One evening I began to use the Cuticura Remedies. The next morning the baby's face was all white instead of red. I continued until the eczema entirely disappeared. Mrs. P. E. Gumbin, Sheldon, Ia., July 13, 1908."

DOG SAVED HER LIFE.

Nevada Girl Would Have Drowned but for Her Faithful Collie.

Miss Carol Sheldon, daughter of H. H. Sheldon, a stockbroker of Reno, Nev., was saved from drowning by her collie, which she took with her when she went rowing in the bay at Sausalito, Cal.

The young woman was rowing a small boat when the waves from a passing ferry caused the little craft to rock vio-lently. The dog became excited and in her efforts to restrain him from leaping into the water Miss Sheldon leaned too heavily upon the gunwale and the boat capsized. When she came to the surface and seized the upturned boat and called for help the ferry had passed out of hearing and no one appeared on the

Finally in desperation the girl took a ribbon from her hair, tied it to the dog's collar, and commanded him to go home. The animal swam ashore after repeated commands and running to the residence of Mrs. S. Penfield Taylor, barked loudly until Newton Faucett, a Reno mining broker, followed him to investigate the cause of his excitement. The rescue of Miss Sheldon was speedily accomplished.

CHEETAH IN INDIAN VILLAGE.

Thirteen Persons Injured Before the Beast Was Killed.

A large cheetah, evidently from the jungles near Malapuram, descended a few days ago on the village of Tirur and caused a panic among the village folk. Entering a Molpah hut, the beast pounced upon a woman, killing her and then eating away a portion of the face and body. The poor woman screamed for several minutes, but the terrified neighbors could not find sufficient courage to go to the rescue, and on the cheetah emerging there was a general stam-

The brute went out, savagely attacking all it came across, and some thirteen persons were severely mauled, four of them succumbing to their injuries. Even-tually the cheetah concealed itself in a pit, where it was followed by a railway inspector, who shot it. The first shot did not tell, and the cheetah sprang on Mr. Noronha, the official, who managed to evade it. A coolie and Molpah villager going to the rescue were attacked, the villager being dragged down by the cheetah.

Mr. Noronha then shot the beast through the heart. When the villagers found that it was dead they rushed up and belabored the carcass with stones and any weapons they could pick up.—Madras Mail.

FOR WOMEN AND GIRLS

The small broom specially designed for children, will be found most useful for sweeping behind the radiators or under the stove which is close to the floor.

An odd auto bonnet recently seen is of black chip straw, the crown the shape of a derby and the brim wider across than through. The edge of the brim is turned up like a cocked hat and black velvet ribbon catches it down on each side and fastens in a bow under the chin. The only trimming consists of two black ostrich feathers fastened directly at the center of the back.

Silver jewelry with the dull finish has been fashionable for some months. The more recent fad for dull gold is increas-ing in favor as the summer advances.

As the season advances, the variety of bronze stockings seems to grow apace. A large assortment of the lisle open work hose at a reasonable figure may now be found.

A laundress who understands her business gives a few simple rules for ironing, if one would have the result of one's efforts worth while. She says that lace, as well as embroidery, should be ironed on the wrong side, with several thicknesses of cloth, or a piece of flannel underneath, so that the pattern will be distinctly outlined. Frills, bands, sleeves and collars should be ironed before the body of a garment. This prevents unnecessary wrinkles. A piece of fine cambric will prove helpful if placed over fine silks and muslins before ironing. When ironing nephine or handkershiefe, here ironing napkins or handkerchiefs, have them quite damp and press until perfectly dry. Always begin with the edge, ironing the center last. Underwear of linen is, of course, ironed on but the right side. That for the table frequent-ly looks best as a result of pressing well

People are not usually energetic in warm weather, but there are certain household duties to be attended to now that can be accomplished at no other familiar front or back panel or both time. Preparing sweets for the winter and in many instances the bodice is is one of these duties so important to every housekeeper. One must seize the opportunity when the fruit is at its best. The home rhubarb may be made into he most tasty marmalade for winter use. A fig rhubarb marmalade is delicious. To make this take 4 pounds of rhubarb, cut in small pieces; 4 pounds of sugar and a pound of figs chopped or put through the food cutter. Cook all together until of the consistency required Pour into small glasses, and when cold cover with paraffin.

Dates or seeded raisins may be substituted for the figs in the same measure, and will be found delicious. If the raisins are used, add two oranges, rind as

After hulling and washing the berries weigh them and allow a pound of sugar to each pound of fruit. Do not cook the fruit longer than an hour. Then pour into shallow earthen-ware or porcelain-lined pans and set in the sun to cool. The strong sunlight will greatly improve the color and quality of the jam. Many people keep the fruit in the sun for three days, claiming that the extra time brings good results.

'Now, be sure to write soon.' I don't mean that we ought not to wish to hear before the proper thing with which to trim cre-long, but it is the implied suggestion of what is proper to which I object. Of course, a person who has been entertained will consider it her privilege and tained will consider it her privilege and her pleasure to drop a line as soon as she posibly can, after bidding farewell—a bread and butter note, if you like the expression; I don't. So, you see, it is really conveying a hint of what ought to be done, when a guest is asked to write soon. The fashion thought, that I do not make it so frewards was set by Mrs. Houldsworth, one of the quently as I once did."

The careful housewife sees that her summer draperies, if she uses any at all, are free from fumes. Ruffles are the greatest dust catchers imaginable, and curtains with ruffles soon become dirty and unsightly.

In selecting the washbowl and pitcher for the cottage summer home, it is well to get those that are light weight, otherwise, when filled with water, they are often most uncomfortably heavy to

Cheap lingerie blouses on which are ewed quantities of common lace or embroideries are always horrors, and the woman who wishes to be neat and well groomed would better stee, clear of such cheapness, for it carries its value at a glance. Some of the best tailored blouses come with an adjustable collar. This is an instance of economy, for it stands to reason that collars become in the discussions preliminary to the soiled far quicker than the rest of the loan has been to secure assurances that garment, and consequently an extra col-lar or two will make a blouse much be diverted from the purpose for which more useful and less expensive in the it is raised, but will be employed in the end, as nothing is improved by the mod ern methods of the laundress.

Messaline satin evening frocks in danc-Messaline satin evening frocks in dancing length are lovely when made up in tunic style. These satin tunics cling to the figure without too sharply outlining it, and across the top, where the satin tunic fits up over the chiffon or lace decolletage there may be a strip of pearlembroidered banding or some other like trimming. The smartest evening frocks for girls have no sleeves at all; a string of pearls or a scrap of lace passing over the shoulder. It is in better taste, however, for a young girl to wear a short, transparent sleeve, ending just above transparent sleeve, ending just above Benighted Russia, with its strange way of going ahead of the rest of the world in unexpected ways, has recently appointed a woman to oversee the engineering work on a huge steel building which is being erected in St. Petersburg. Four years ago the Higher Technical college of St. Petersburg, the recognized train-ing place of all architects and civil en-gineers, opened special courses for womgineers, opened special courses for women. Now there are over 600 students in these courses. Over forty women recently received diplomas which qualify Advertise in Your Home Paper.

The mother of two small daughters gives this sewing suggestion that is quite helpful. When making children's petticoat waistbands, she gathers the skirt to the waistband before hemming the back, and then turns it in with the hem. When the band gets too small and narrow across the back, all that is necessary is to rip out the hem and face the back, and the gathers are not disturbed. There is no ripping the skirt from the band to adjust the fullness.

After washing lamp chimneys rub them with dry salt, which will give a brilliant polish to the glass.

When making a salad that contains iny onions, radishes cut in dice and similar garnishes mix them with the dresing about an hour before serving and let them stand in it. The flavor of the garnishes will then be more thoroughly mixed with the salad.

Many people want the skins of the tomatoes removed, but strenuously object to having the fruit plunged into hot water in order to accomplish this end. This process is held to destroy the flavor of the fruit. Instead, peel off the skins by rubbing them backward with the blunt edge of a knife.

The overskirt effect is seen more and more as the summer advances. Some one predicts that many a stylish gown of the moment will be used as the foundation for another one next season-the magic overskirt elaborately draped and trimmed bringing about the metamorphosis.

Lace insertion on a lingerie waist may be easily repaired by sewing under it a piece of fine net or tulle. This serves as a background for the darning necessary to repair the rents and weak spots.

Leather hats promise to be particularly popular with the summer traveler this year. They are to be had in patent leather, as well as suede, and may be found in a wide range of colors and shapes.

No matter what may be said of the ened and stewed rhubarb with its juice into a white bag, and squeeze out all the juice possible. Heat it on the stove. If the fruit is too thick and pulpy to make a good jelly add water closely following the lines of the figure above and below the waistline, fit with an easy grace, permitting a slight move-ment of the body.

In some instances this gown shows the familiar front or back panel or both, plain fitted to below the hip line to give the effect of a tunic, with a circular skirt. This line is covered with a beautiful arrangement of braid in a combi-nation of wide and narrow widths. Anther charming arrangement is with the lain front and back panel, lengthened lightly above the knees with the material set in deep kilts. At the neck a shallow yoke of the white tucked net or batiste forms a becoming contrast.

The rage for yokes and stocks of silver and gold threaded laces is over and these trimmings are only used on dressy afternoon and evening gowns. For the latter purpose, however, these showy laces are used a great deal and with charming Crepon waists, lace inserted and embroidered, and then dyed to any desired shade are considered much smarter than waists of color with white lace.

Very thin and elaborately embroidered waists still button up the back, but waists of less diaphanous materials are usually buttoned in front. There is quite a distinction made this year between the waists intended for afternoon and those for morning wear. Because, with all that is said against them, they will be worn with suits of light weight and color, at less formal afternoon affairs.

Most of the frocks for graduating girls are made princess, but for economical reasons many are of the two-piece sort. This style of dress is easier to make by the amateur and also easier to launder than the princess. For the commencement frock, the girl who will use her gown afterward for practical occasions is choosing any one of the fine wash materials, like the mulls, swisses, French lawns and batistes.

China could profitably absorb in railways alone all the money that Europe and America could provide in the next ten years. Remember, the enterprise proposed is the development of a country with a population of 400,000,000. Germany, employing all of her energy and enterprise, need not be second to America in this competition. Besides, you must not believe that the great financial houses in America or Germany are really houses in America or Germany are really going to cut each other's throats. A HERMIT SCULPTOR.

He Has Covered the Normandy Cliffs with His Carvings.

"Ther Hermit of Rotheneuf," or Abbe Foure, to call him by his real name, has his home near St. Malo, where he has sculptured the rocks for miles around. On all sides are standing or reclinging figures, some of them isolated, others in groups.

The entire face of the cliff seems alive with saints, devils and fantastic animals, says The Wide World Magazine. Though you may not notice all at the first glance, you quickly discover that there is hardly a square yard of rock that has not been carved to resemble some human or animal form.

The natural irregularity of the surface of the rocks has been utilized by the sculptor in a most clever manner. Here he has seen a suggestion for a head; there a long granite boulder that could be converted into a couchant saint, with a long beard and a curious headdress and there again a series of irregularly shaped rocks that wanted little change to turn them into a family group—that of a fisherman of Rotheneuf, his wife and their five children, one of whom is lying on its mother's lap.

You will notice too that a fish bearing a certain resemblance to a shark appears beneath the rock on which the fisherman is sitting, and that by the position of its snout it would seem to be about to devour the family. The religious element in the Abbe Fourre's compositions is strong, as would be expected.

There are saints and angels innumerable two or three alternatives of these strongs.

Sometimes he has taken his inspiration from local history. One of the most ambitious compositions represents scenes in the lives of the Lords of Rotheneuf.

WHEN YOUR BACK ACHES.

It Is a Warning That the Kidneys Are Sick and Need Help.

A bad back makes every day a dull round of pain and misery. It's a sign the kidneys are sick and cannot keep up their never-ending task of filtering the blood. Lame back, backache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders arewarning that must not be overlooked. John M. Burwick, R. F. D., Dayton, Tenn., says: "Three years ago kidney disease fastened itself on me. I failed rapidly until I had hardly enough strength to totter about.

My back pained terribly, the urine passed scantily and with pain, and my legs seemed almost lifeless. I lay for three weeks in mortal agony wishfor three weeks in mortal agony, wishing death would end my sufferings. At this time I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, discharging the doctor. I grew better and in a month's time was out again. In two months I was as well as ever in my life."

Wulf & Co., Messrs Evans and Alexander, two DeLaval experts, conducted and directed the skimming operations of the DeLaval Separator.

OUR CHALLENGE.

We stand ready to test the "IOWA" Separator against any other make of separator and will deposit in the Bank of Campbellsport ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS to any other separator company's FIFTY that the Iova will skim closer on the average runs at temperatures of 50, 60, 70, 80 and 90 degrees, and a cream of not less than 25 to 50 per cent than any other separator, all machines to be run exactly as printed instruction book sent out with such machine. Furthermore, if five machines enter the contest we will contribute towards St. Matthews Church, Campbellsport, one hundred dollars if two out of the five do not leave an average of five times as much butterfat in the skim milk as the Iowa, tests to be made by a competent person or submitted to the Dairy School at Madison. We to use in these tests No. 2 or 3 Iowa Separators, this being the size in general use by our farmers. There are no Wulf tricks in this challenge, and we have deposited Fifty Dollars in the bank as a forfeit if we refuse to enter the contest

I will give any farmer $25 who will bring this contest about, no machine in the world barred. This is no bluff, try us and find out. We skim with any machine in the world-50 or 100 pounds.

Signed,

Michael Degenhardt, Campbellsport, Wis.
