the idea of a mechanical imitation of the human body. Have you ever seen a machine which imitates the action of human hands in digging potatoes? No; because none of the potato diggers now in use and handled by the trade are constructed along the lines of this idea. Our Light Draught Potato Harvester works like the old style forks under the guidance of human hands, and is therefore the best and only substitute for hand work in digging potatoes under any and all conditions. # VOTE FOR COMMISSION

ST. JOSEPH, MO., ADOPTS NEW CITY CHARTER.

Is First City in Missouri to Accept Initiative and Referendum and Recall System.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 8.-By an overwhelming vote St. Joseph adopted a new charter at a special election Tues day, which places the city in the list of those operating under the commission form of government. While the new code for St. Joseph is different from those of Des Moines and other cities which have adopted commissions, in some respects it is much more radical than theirs. This is the first city in Missouri to adopt the initiative and referendum. The new charter also provides for the recall and for a public utilities commission.

It is not expected that an independent candidate will enter the fall campaign in which the street railway situation will be the bone of contention as it has been during the last eight years. Both sides now are committed to the lowest rate of fare which will give adequate service and a return of 6 per cent upon the capitalization of the company.

The only question remaining is what shall be the maximum rate of fare. Mayor Johnson will concede a rate no higher than 4 cents. Bachr says seven tickets for 25 cents should be the limit.

CHAPTER I.

There was an air of well-being, of comfort, and elegance about the house of Dr. Surtees, both inside and outside. The red lamp itself seemed to be rather a concession to weak humanity than an says, but she did not love her husband. Dr. Surtees, both inside and outside. The appeal for patients. The fact that the neighborhood was decidedly a "gone down" one in no way detracted from the refined solidity of this one residence.

Dr. Surtees was a good, capable, sensible, old-fashioned-but not too oldfashioned-doctor, and he did not pretend to be anything else.

He had been born lucky, and everything went well with him. The success which attended him in professional life he died, a few years later, he left a will, followed him into family affairs. His wife seemed to have no shining qualities, yet her "at homes" and dinners always

Had the doctor, then, no thorn in his couch of roses? Yes, there was a thorn. Late in the afternoon of a cold, dreary day in March the doctor was sitting in his big, comfortable, consulting room, the curtains drawn, a splendid fire roaring up the chimney. Opposite, in another easy-chair, sat the Thorn, with his feet on the high brass fender. The Thorn was a young man, with a slender figure and boyish face. A stranger, entering the room, would at once have taken him for the doctor's son, but he was in reality Philip Surtees' brother, seventeen years his junior.

The doctor was a handsome man of five-and-forty, who would never have been mistaken for anything but a doctor. His figure was tall and stately, but his eyes had usually a slightly humorous twinkle. Just now, however, it must be confessed their expression was hardly agreeable.

"I've really nothing to say," he remarked. "There is nothing to say. If you cared about it I should be very sorry-very sorry indeed. But you don't care. You know quite well it's entirely your own fault. You must have expected it, for you took no steps to prevent it." "To prevent it?" the young man murmured, looking at him in evident surprise. "I don't know what you've been told, or who has told you. But I don't understand. If I'd wished to 'prevent' it I could have done so. But I must take exception to you implying that I could have a wish to prevent ft." The doctor sat up in his chair suddenly and violently.

"No wish to prevent it!" the doctor exclaimed. "This is—it—it's really extraordinary, Claude. I'm astonished to hear you say such a thing. It has happened so often."

A light of comprehension dawned in the young man's eyes.
"Oh," he said, "I don't think we're talking about the same thing, Phil!"

"What? I'm talking about your exam. of course." "Oh, about me getting through? I was speaking of my engagement.' The doctor fairly leaped out of his chair this time. "Your engagement!" In a flash Dr.

Surtees remembered many dismal prophesies which his wife had made on this subject of Claude's engagement. "Who is she?" he gasped out.
"It's Mme. Stephanoff," Claude said with a laugh. "I must beg you to be serious, Claude,"

the doctor said stiffly. "But I am serious, Pippo." "She's old enough to be your mother!"
the doctor ejaculated. "I can hardly be-

"No, you don't, old fellow, she was engaged by them as housekeeper while their own was ill."

"Good gracious! And is she a housekeeper now? She was surely a friend of the Montgomeries—she wasn't there in a menial capacity, was she?"

"Phil," the young man said, "the trouble with very respectable people like you and Retta is that you're always playing at blindman's buff with life, in the midst of things you might as well see. "I will come," Claude Surtees said. He had commenced with the intention of playing a trick on Phil by impersonating him during a "case." The words "a case of alcoholism or of the drug habit" had decided him. Claude resumed. "She has known Mme.

"Thank you; I'm very glad!" Mr. Lorrin said. "You see, for some time we thought-we hoped-it mightn't be possible to cure her. The patient is a young lady," he added as Claude raised eyes full of surprise.

In the drawing room after dinner, and just a little before the Scotch express left St. Pancras station, Dr. Surtees and his wife were talking over the situation. Retta was of opinion that "the woman" was chiefly to blame, but she thought too that Claude had not been "Come up tomorrow night," Dr. Sur-tees said imperiously to his brother, and sorry of an opportunity of "doing something extraordinary." "The woman," being as Claude had admitted, penniless and growing old, had naturally accepted the young man, who, she keenly knew, into the glass in the over-mantel. He Had Been Conspicuous Figure at War Department in Washington and in Social Life.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 .- Lieut.-Gen. Henry C. Corbin, U. S. A., retired, died n Roosevelt hospital in this city today after an operation for a renal disorder. Gen. Corbin would have been 67 years old in a few days. Mrs. Corbin and excover Myron T. Herrick of Ohio, his personal friend, were at his bedside when death occurred. Gen. Corbin had been suffering for two years from the malady which ultimately resulted in his death. Accompanied by Mrs. Corbin and the general's daughter, Mrs. Usher Parsons of Ardsley, N. Y., he went to Carlsbad for treatment on June 12, last. During his service as adjutant general of the army, Gen. Corbin was a conspic-uous figure at the war department, and in the social life of the national capital. Formal action upon his death will be taken by the department during the day.

Gen. Corbin's first military service was as a second lieutenant in the Eighty-third Ohio Volunteer infantry, enlisting July 28, 1862, and serving to the end of the war with the Army of the Cumber-and, holding all grades from second lieu-nant to colonel. He was breveted brig-nier general of volunteers March 13,

11, 1866, as a second lieutenant of the Seventeenth infantry, and was succes-sively promoted until he reached the grade of lieutenant-general April 15, 1906, and retired September 15, of the same year. In recognition of "gallantry shown in the Spanish-American war," Congress in June, 1900, conferred upon him the rank of major-general. For eight years he served as adjutant-general of the army.

Gen. Corbin was in the company of President Garfield when the president was assassinated in 1881. He was a Oshkosh and was followed by a recepnember of the Loyal Legion. On November 6, 1901, he married Miss Edith Agnes Patten and maintained his residence in Washington.

ROBBER FAILS, BUT WRECKS BIG TRAIN

BALTIMORE & OHIO LIMITED DE-RAILED NEAR NEW CASTLE, PA., TO GET EXPRESS FUNDS.

TWO KILLED AND SCORES HURT.

Express Section Contained Large Sum of Money from New York to Banks in West.

WAS TRAVELING AT HIGH SPEED.

'NEW CASTLE, Pa., Sept. 4 .- The wreck of train No. 5, the Royal Blue Limited, on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, which occurred at 12:25 this morning, caused the death of two persons, and the injury of scores of others is believed to have been caused for the purpose of robbing the express car, which is known to have contained a large sum of money, shipped from New York to western banks.

The Baltimore & Ohio officials declared the accident was a pure case of train wrecking and immediately following the wreck stationed armed guards about the express car.

Fish Plates Removed.

The train was westbound from Pittsburg to Chicago, two miles from New and was sentenced to twenty days in Castle, at a little place called Chowton, jail being released July 29. He was a Pa., ran into a misplaced rail. Wreckers had removed two fish plates, moved the north rail inside and had pulled out the spikes. The entire train was thrown spikes. The entire train was thrown from the track. The great speed with which it was traveling caused all the cars and engine of the train to topple over on its side and slip with force over a small embankment.

The following official list of killed and injured as given by the Baltimore &

Ohio officials is:

Junction, O.
WHEATCRAFT, GEO., train baggage master, Chicago Junction, O.
The soriously injured:
P. Cavanaugh, chief boiler inspector, D.
& O. railroad, Baltimore.
Henry C. Millard, passenger, 54 years old, at Shenango Valley hospital, New Castle.

Was Deliberately Planned. According to general Supt. R. Finney, It was a deliberate case of train wrecking. The rail on the right side was cut at the point and the spikes pulled on both sides nearly the entire length of the rail. The approach rail was moved in far enough to clear the wheels. The spikes were pulled by a bar. The bolts and nuts of the joint showed they had been removed with a wrench. One splice bar was placed between the rails to keep them from going together.

The motive for the dastardly act, whether revenge or robbery, has not yet been determined. The officials of the road in Pittsburg and the entire force of detectives were despatched to the scene and began a thorough investiga-

Immediately after the accident, a train was made up and the uninjured passengers, after being transferred, continued their journey westward, leaving at 5:25 o'clock this morning.

Offers $25,000 Reward. BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 4.—Vice-President and General Manager George L. Potter of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad today telegraphed General Supt. Finney of that road at Pittsburg to offer a reward of $25,000 for the arrest and conviction of the persons guilty of wrecking the Baltimore & Ohio flyer at Chewton, Pa., last night.

MERCHANT IN CUSTODY.

Proprietor of Cashton (Wis.) Store Is Charged with Fraudulent Use of the Mails.

VIROQUA, Wis., Sept. 4 .- [Special.] -Obtaining samples from wholesale houses and sell to establish retail stores is the unique charge made against E. D. Eiger, proprietor of the Leader store in Cashton, by the federal authorities, who has been taken to Madison by a United States marshal on the specific charge of fraudulent use of the mails.

It is alleged that Eiger has been conducting stores in different parts of the country and under different names and that he has been successful in putting in large stocks of samples of dress goods, shoes, notions, clothing, etc., which he received from wholesale houses.

After runing a store in a place for a short time and selling the goods at ridiculously low prices, it is alleged, Eiger would disappear with what he had left and then start up again in another town under a different name. It is said that he did this in Indiana and Wiscon-

How Long Animals Live.

Among the animals having the best established reputation for longevity are: The crow, which lives 100 years; the parrot and the elephant, which attain an age of 150 years. Carp, on the other hand, appear to have usurped their repu ation, which was based on ill-understood facts from Chantilly and Fontainebleau. They rarely become centenarians. The tortoise appears to be the animal that lives the longest, and the record of longevity is surely held by one weighing 250 kilograms, which was presented in 1904 to the London zoological gardens by Walter De Rothschild, and which is said to have been born in 1750.

USEFUL TREES OF FLORIDA.

Great Variety Growing in the State-Durable Woods.

Florida has perhaps more useful trees growing within her borders than any other state in the Union-a greater variety But there is a general desire to introduce more, as the soap berry, the tallow tree and the eucalyptus. An addition to the discussion of the latter, a tree which is very valuable because it has the unusual quality of growing with great rapidity yet furnishing a hard and durable wood, is furnished by a letter to the editor of the Florida Fruit and Produce News by E. E. Thompson of Avon Park. Mr. Thompson says, in in swamps, river bottoms, etc., though they will endure drought, according to a pulletin of the University of California, The durability of the wood, according to other authorities, is due to an oil with which it is impregnated and which is extracted for commercial purposes.— Florida Times-Union.

SENSE ABOUT FOOD.

Facts About Food Worth Knowing It is a serious question sometimes to know just what to eat when a person's stomach is out of order and most foods cause trouble.

Grape-Nuts food can be taken at any time with the certainty that it will digest. Actual experience of people is valuable to anyone interested in foods. A Terre Haute woman writes: "I had suffered with indigestion for about four years, ever since an attack of typhoid fever, and at times could eat nothing but the very lightest food, and then suffer such agony with my stomach I would wish I never had to eat anything. "I was urged to try Grape-Nuts and since using it I do not have to starve myself any more, but I can eat it at any time and feel nourished and satisfled, dyspepsia is a thing of the past, and I am now strong and well. "My husband also had an experience with Grape-Nuts. He was very weak and sickly in the spring. Could not attend to his work. He was put under the doctor's care but medicine did not seem to do him any good until he began to leave off ordinary food and use Grape-Nuts. It was positively surprising to see the change in him. He grew better right off, and naturally he has none but words of praise for Grape-Nuts.

"Our boy thinks he cannot eat a meal without Grape-Nuts, and he learns so fast at school that his teacher and other scholars comment on it. I am satisfied that it is because of the great nourishing elements in Grane-

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despond ent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY. You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this nonalcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

I am a woman. I know woman's sufferings. I have found the cure. I know woman's sufferings.

I have found the cure.

I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from woman's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourselves at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I know that my home treatment is a safe and sure cure for Leucorrhoea or Whitish Discharges. Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Profuse, Scanty or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors or Growths; also pains in the head, back and howels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness, kidney and bladder troubles, where caused by weaknesses peculiar to our sex.

I want to send you a complete ten days' treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember, that it will cost you only about 12 cents a interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me yourself at nome, easily, quickly and surely. Remomber, that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you should wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week, or less than 2 cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for you case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you, free of cost, my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it, and learn to think for herself. Then when the doctor says—"You must have an operation," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cures all, old or young. To Mothers of Daughters I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectually cures Leucorrheea, Green Sickness and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in Young Ladies. Plumpness and health always results from its use.

Wherever you live, I can refer you to ladies of your own locality who know and will gladly tell any sufferer that this Home I reatment really cures all women's diseases, and makes women well, strong, plump and robust.
