New Banking Law A new federal law goes into effect January 1st, prohibiting the any person for a less sum than $1. per cent of the cases. A violation is punishable by a fine of not more than 6 months or both such fine and imprisonment. Bankers are much mystified regarding the object of the provision. It is said that it is much easier to raise a check where it is less than a dollar than for a larger sum unless the maker is very careful in drawing the check. It will undoubtedly have the effect of increasing the sale of postoffice orders.

This pamphlet, in short, makes the arcument that the purchasing power of railway earnings is less now that in 1897, and that therefore freight rates should be advanced at least 10 per cent.

FIGHT AT A WEDDING

One Dead and Eight Injured Result of Battle Between Guests and Policemen.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 19 .- One man was shot and killed, another received a gunshot wound, two policemen, one of whom probably will die, were beaten with bottles, and half a dozen others were less seriously injured early today

The two policemen became involved in a fight on the street with ten of the wedding guests. Both policemen emptied their revolvers. John Petoskey, one of the guests, was hit by a bullet and fell dead after walking a block. Policeman Kulozky's skull was crushed by a blow from a bottle and it is believed that he cannot recover. His comrade, still fighting, but weak from a similar blow, was rescued by reinforcements from the police station.

INDIANS NEED MONEY

Explanation of Psychiatric Investigations | WISCONSIN WINNEBAGOES SUFFER ING FROM RED TAPE.

> Wait for Congressional Investigations a Long One and Trust Funds Are Tied Up.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.-Special.]-The Indians of the Wiscon sin Winnebago tribe recently have had reason to believe that their annuity moneys are being tied up needlessly, and that "their's" is the lot of all who suf fer from departmental red tape.

The congressional committee now engaged in council with these Indians is looked to for aid, since, owing to crop failures, the tribe is in poor shape to face the winter months, and perhaps at this time it will be shown to the needy ones that the withholding of their annuity payments, which are usually made in November, is the result of congres sional action, and that little help can be extended when such an edict goes forth.

During the second session of the Sixtieth Congress a resolution was passed authorizing a congressional investigation of the affairs of the Indians in Wiscon-sin pending the final report of the appointed committee, which is headed by Senator La Follette. The secretary of the interior and the office of Indian affairs have had to suspend the approval of any roll, the making of allotments and timber contracts for the Indians in that state. The Winnebago trust funds amount to $883.249.58, and belongs to the Nebraska and Wisconsin branches of the tribe jointly. The act of March 1909, authorizes payment to the Ne-bruska branch of its share as soon as an enrollment of the Wisconsin Winneba goes is made, and it also provides that the funds to the credit of the Wisconsin Indians shall be held in the treasury pending further legislation. Therefore Congress did not authorize the paying over of the entire amount held in trust for these Indians.

Out of this situation came the remore.

Out of this situation came the rumou that the annuity payment had been discontinued. As Congress has provided that the money shall draw interest at 5 per cent., and as the interest for the first six months will not be available until January 1, 1910, annuity distribution must go over until that time.

When Uncle Joe was not rising in all his might and in the characteristic Cannonesque style of fervid oratory to denounce the attacks on himself and Congress, he launched into satire, fables and biting sarcasm leveled at the insurgents, Mr. Bryan and others who have termed him a "czar."

"My God, can all this be true?" shouted Uncle Joe, with a smile that got the audience as he had finished the indictivation of the same o ment against himself.

Holding back the lapels of his coat, standing straight as a pine needle and throwing his head back, he said with dramatic fervor:

Gaze on Beelzebub.

OSHKOSH. Wis., Oct. 20.—[Special.]

—Henry Hewitt Kimberly of Neenah and Miss Enid Morgan of this city were married by Rev. A. M. Myers this aftercontrol of the next Congress, and how they then, after denouncing Reed as a tyrant, re-enacted the Reed rules in toto and did it again in the next Congress that they controlled.

"And my friend, William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska, voted for those same rules," shouted Uncle Joe. "He didn't say anything about the Czar business they core for many many years. He did the control of then or for many, many years. He did not mention the Czar business in 1896. or in 1900 or in 1904, but he waited until he thought everybody had forgot-ten about his vote for the Czar rules.

Then in the Denver platform he de-clared the Congress of the United States had ceased to be a deliberative body, but was the tool of this "Beelzebub Can-Mr. Cannon then pulled back his coat and invited his thoroughly delighted and enthused audience to gaze on the "man-ly form of Mr. Beelzebub."

Must Stand Out Boldly.

Rising again to a burst of fervid elo-uence, Uncle Joe declared a speaker of the House of Representatives who will not stand boldly for the programme of the majority of the House every hour of the day should have written across his forehead the words coward and pol-

Turning to the insurgents, Mr. Can-non charged that La Follette and Cummins came over to the House and took charge of the insurgents and tried to defeat the rules and enact Mr. Clark's rules, which would have made it impossible to pass a tariff law. "We needed but two votes to adopt the rules and we got a basketful," said Mr. Cannon. The speaker here stopped long enough to denounce as a falsehood the charge that he had entered into any contract with Tammany in order to pass the rules that "I have no knowledge of such a contract," he said, with tense earnestness. "We finally passed the Payne tariff bill," he said, "and while all of us were not satisfied with every thing in it, I want to tell you here tonight, as Presi-dent Taft did at Winona, that it is the best tariff bill ever passed in the history of the Republic.

Cummins Like Aesop's Fox.

"But what happened? The wheels began to go round, Mr. Bryan attacks the bill. Who is helping Mr. Bryan? Not many Democrats in Iowa or Illinois, I believe, but such men as Senator Cummins and La Follette. Cummins said there was nothing left to do but appeal to the people. He reminds me of one of Aesop's fables where the fox lost his tail in a trap and went around trying to convince all the other foxes that they should cut off their tails too.

"Cummins not only proposes to join Bryan, but says that this agitation will not stop until the tariff is revised to suit him. It is an open secret in Iowa that Cummins set out to defeat every Republican member of Congress from Iowa who voted for the tariff bill.

"On that appeal in the state of Iowa it is to be determined whether seven senators and twenty congressmen calling themselves Republicans constitute the Republican party or whether a majority of the Republicans and a Republican President, who signed the bill, constitute the Republican party.

TURN GUNS ON HEARST

FUSION FORCES PLAN BIG MEET-ING FOR TONIGHT.

Bannard's Followers Fear Civic Alliance Candidate More Than Judge

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 .- The fusion forces in the city campaign today turned their guns on William R. Hearst, the candidate of the Civic Alliance. Monday night Mr. Hearst attacked the fusion candidate, Otto T. Bannard, and now the lines in the three-cornered fight are clearly drawn.

Until this week Mr. Hearst and Mr. Bannard had paid each other but little attention, both graciously sacrificing themselves with the statements that it did not make much difference who was mayor so long as the rest of the anti-Tammany ticket was elected. Some of the fusion leaders said today that Mr. Hearst was more to be feared than Judge Gaynor, the Democratic candidate, and that Hearst would receive proper attention from the fusion platforms for the rest of the campaign. The big meeting to be held tonight in Car-negie hall will be the crowning gather-ing of the fusion forces thus far. Mr. Bannard and the other candidates and the best orators in the fusion ranks will speak. Seth Low, a former fusion may-or of New York, will preside.

The fusionists expect to outdo the big ratification meeting at Tammany hall Tuesday night, when Judge Gaynor made his first appearance at the Wigwam and devoted most of his two-hour speech to an attack on Mr. Hearst.

All of the candidates led big com-panies of spelibinders about the city today. Campaign oratory began at noon and will continue until midnight.

Used by Bleriot. NEW YORK, Oct. 20 .- Wilbur and Orville Wright, through counsel, applied in the United States court here today for an injunction to restrain Ralph Sauliner from making flights in the French flying machine which he brought to this country a few weeks ago. Sauliner's machine is a duplicate of the one in which Bleriot crossed the English channel. The Wrights contend that the machine is an infringement on their patents. The application asks for damages and the power to destroy the Sauliner machine. Sauliner has been attempting flights Pigeon Whistles.

In China it is not uncommon to hear a melody of soft sounds, and on looking upward to locate them and discover that they are made by flying pigeons. Pigeon whistles are much favored, especially in Pekin. They are made of bamboo tubes or of gourds and attached to the tail feathers of the birds, the sounds being made by the rush of air through them while the pigeons are in flight.-London

"You don't look at all well, Claude," Mme. Stephanoff said, shaking her head. "You look very ill, in fact. I'm afraid this affair has worried you a great deal -but you have saved her, my dear, dear

A pang of remorseful gratitude shot through the young man's heart as he looked into the beautiful, noble face bent tenderly over him.

"And I have made you talk too much. You must lie still for a little. They say you are feverish yet."

"I will do anything you like. I will write to Phil if you like." "That's a good boy," Mme. Stephanoff replied, smiling. "You see, you must be fair to your brother."

Presently Claude fell asleep. He still held one of her hands, and she rested the other on his dark curling hair, gently stroking it. He had never seemed so near to her, nor so dear.

Yet her thoughts had gone back to a part of her life in which he had no share. She saw herself again, a lonely young wife in a foreign city, married to a husband whom she did not love, and for whom she could not keep even a little respect. She went over again those scenes—a few of those scenes of violence and insult and insane jealousy provoked by the admiration which her beauty ex-cited. She saw herself with her babies, fondling them, playing with them, find-ing all her life in them; little Kathleen, her firstborn, to whom she had given the sweet Irish name; Ivan, her son, and Irma with her blue eyes. And thenah, even now, she could not think of what had happened. Should she get back her children now? Alas, Rose Stephanoff knew that she could not. It was in that that the sting of her husband's revenge had pain. Trembling with terror the countess allowed him to lead her up to the door of the room in which Gartmore's body lay. Lord Delisle opened the door and led her in; shutting the door behind and turning the key.

Mme. Vassie was sitting by Claude's bed. He was worse tonight, Sir John MacPherson said—had a considerable amount of fever, and was weak and suf-fering. Mme. Vassie had sent a letter to Philip Surtees.

The minutes slipped quietly away. There was a restfulness in Mme. Vassie's mere presence, and the young man fell into a doze.

"What was that? The report of a pistol rang through the quiet house. It was followed by another, louder. Claude started, stirred, awoke.

There was a commotion throughout the house. Alick Lorrin came running from the library, Irma following him in spite of his protest. Kathleen had re-mained behind, standing at the table with wide, frightened eyes.

Irma passed Lorrin, and went straight to the door of the room in which Gartmore lay. It was shut and locked. She called for assistance, and the door was broken open. Lord Delisle and his wife lay dead on the floor. He had shot her, and then turned to pistol on himself.

And now, stillness of the hour. As Mme. Vassie looked along the corridor she saw a dressing gown. Twice her feverish walk brought her to Claude's door; then she paused and listened, then resumed her pacing backwards and forwards. Mme. Vassie heard her groan-and understood.

As Irma turned for the third time the elder woman walked towards her. Rose Vassie wished that the girl should look in her eyes, that all barriers between them should be broken down. In this moment of supreme pity she was no longer the woman who was betrothed she was only the mother, looking on at her child's suffering and longing to take her to her heart.

"But as she drew near to Irma a sudden shyness seized her; her sensitive nature shrank from a rebuff. Irma had seen her, and, with a tremendous effort, controlled herself. Her voice sounded cold and calm.

"I am restless tonight, Mme. Stephanoff; I hope I didn't startle you."

Mme. Stephanoff looked at her. The elder woman's voice sounded as quiet as Irma's, but she knew the one thing the girl wished her to say.

"I am glad," Irma said. "You must be very happy." And then something seemed to choke her. She disappeared up the corridor, her white gown streaming behind her.

BEATS THE JARNDYCE SUIT. Is Much Older Than That Depicted in "Bleak House."

The 200-year-old lawsuit concerning Sir Robert Geffrey's almshouses, in Shoreditch, which is about to be revived, Shoreditch, which is about to be revived, quite puts into the shade our old friend Jarndyce and Jarndyce, for the famous Jennens litigation, which Dickens had in mind, dated back only to 1798. It was, however, a well established case when the novelist was a solicitor's clerk in Gray's Inn, little in rank above the office boys he describes as "clubbing together" for saveloys and porter on their way home. His frequent visits to Lincoln's Inn hall, where the lord chancellor sat, gave him an indelible impression of the sleepy old court and its tortuous prothe sleepy old court and its tortuous pro-ceedings, which he afterward reproduced in the wonderful opening chapter of "Bleak House," says the London Chron-ceipt of his brother's pencil-written note, with an addition by Mme. Stephanoff, giving details of Claude's accident and illness.

Dr. Surtees did not show the letter to his wife—not just yet, he said to himself apologetically. He carried it away to the consulting room, where he reread it. He must put off all his appointments and go right up and see the poor boy.

These were evidently big people Claude had got among. Dr. Surtees and Retta had read about Viscount Gartmore's tragic death and his love affair. To visit Not only is the court in the same conthe law is very conservative and type writing is very modern.

"It's dreadful to think of such a thing of avoiding the usual undignified, if good natured, disorder which inevitably prevails at the Zocalo in the course of this annual observance. Flowers are trampled and uprooted, boisterous conduct is frequent and occasionally the ebullitions of patriotic enthusiasm ferment into quarrels which send the participants to the hospitals and comisiarias. The crowds are hard to nandle and the disorders frequently mar the day regrettably.

As the ceremony arouses patriotic sentiments among the people, he suggests that its place be taken by other events, such as veladas, concerts, inaugurations of various improvements and other means. A BELLIGERENT LETTER. The Church Bars Co-education and the French Public School. The French Episcopate has issued a pastoral letter warning Catholic parents that the teaching in the public schools jeopards the faith of their children, and condemning especially co-education, say-ing that the "mixture of the two sexes is contrary to morality and unworthy a civilized people." It forbids the use of a score of public school text books, principally histories, and appeals to parents to unite in protection of the faith. The sacraments of the church will be refused to parents who allow their children to attend the interdicted schools. "God. rather than men, must be obeyed," the letter declares. The Temps regards the etter as a declaration of war against the principles of neutral instruction and therefore a deplorable error which will only alienate the sympathies of the friends of public education in France, and possibly furnish a new weapon for the real enemies of the church.

Meets King's Ex-Wife.

An embarrassing, involuntary interview took place recently at Varallo, northern Italy, between a sister of the King of Saxony and his former wife, now known as Countess Montignoso, the wife of the pianist Toselli. The encounter was as unexpected as it was unpleasant for both sides. Not a word was pleasant for both sides. Not a word was spoken, but the King's sister returned to the hotel, and learning through her lady-in-waiting that the Toselli family is living there, immediately had her baggage packed and left.

Paint in the Fall

Now is the Time to Paint Your Houseforthe Following Reasons:

Your house will be much dryer after the summer's heat than after the winter's dampness.

The paint will dry better and harder than in the spring, thereby keeping out dampness and decay, which really causes more loss than fire.

There is not much rain to impede the progress of the painting. There are few gnats and flies to spoil the job.

MONKEY AS AUTHOR'S PET. Quick Disposition of Manuscript-Displaying Orders.

A Paris contemporary dealing with the love of great men for animals gives an amusing account of Chabeaubriand and his monkey. When he was engaged in preparing Fontane's works for the press on returning one day he was met by his mon-

"Ah, you rogue," said Chateau-briand, "your shamefaced look tells of mischief." The monkey was chained up, but as things did not ap-pear much disturbed Chateaubriand thought no more of the matter until It was time to resume work. Fon-tanes' manuscripts were not to be found. At last Chateaubriand looked into the waste paper basket and there were the manuscripts. The monkey had watched his master, and as he had seen him fold a sheet of paper and tear it into four, so he had dealt with Fontanes' writings. With much labor they were pieced together and afterward published. Chateaubriand thought it advisable to see what else the monkey had done. His orders had disappeared from a drawer which was always kept closed. The servants searched everywhere for them, but they were not to be found. Nearly a week elapsed before they were traced, and then a domestic noticed that the monkey had suspended them to the cornice in a quasi symmetrical way. The monkey was given his conge and Chateaubriand replaced him by a cat, which was allowed a place on his master's writing table, and great was the pleasure which he derived in playing with puss.—London Globe.

A BANKER'S NERVE

Broken by Coffee and Restored by Postum.

A banker needs perfect control of the nerves and a clear, quick, accurate brain. A prominent banker of Chattanooga tells how he keeps himself in condition:

"Up to 17 years of age I was not allowed to drink coffee, but as soon as I got out into the world I began to use It and grew very fond of it. For some years I noticed no bad effects from its use, but in time it began to affect me unfavorably. My hands trembled, the muscles of my face twitched, my mental processes seemed slow and in other ways my system got out of order. These conditions grew so bad at last that I had to give up coffee altogether.

"My attention having been drawn to Postum, I began its use on leaving off the coffee, and it gives me pleasure to testify to its value. I find it a deliclous beverage; like it just as well as I did coffee, and during the years that I have used Postum I have been free from the distressing symptoms that accompanied the use of coffee. The nervousness has entirely disappeared, and and I am as steady of hand as a boy of 25, though I am more than 92 years old. I owe all this to Postum." "There's a Reason." FEARING DEATH, SICK BANKER IS SPIRITED AWAY

PUBLIC FEELING RUNS HIGH.

Alleged Forger Will Be Tried in Madison on Charge of Misappropriating Sum of $168,000.

MINERAL POINT, Wis., Oct. 19 .-Special.]-Fearing death at the hands of his increasingly indignant depositors of the wrecked First National bank, Vice President Phil Allen, after a night of terror under guard of federal officers, gladly assented to United States Marshal John Kelly's arrangement by which Allen was secretly removed in a closed vehicle from his sick bed to Edmund, a small station on the North-Western railroad, where a train was boarded and which carried Allen and his captors to Public indignation has been running higher and higher since the finding of Cashier Hanscome's dead body on the grave of his mother, slain by his own hand. That he was innocent of any hand in the bank's disaster is the comnon belief, and that he should have been driven to suicide by mortification for the acts of Allen roused many residents to a dangerous point of anger. Threats were freezy made against Ailen and ail Monday night his home was closely guarded by Marshal Kelly and his as-

Taken Away in Dark. Rather than openly convey Allen through the streets of this town and thus possibly incite the more indignant ones to wreak vengeance upon his prisoner, Marshal Kelly devised the scheme of spiriting the banker to a point where a train could be taken without danger of a riot. It was yet dark this morning when Allen bade good-bye to his family and was swiftly driven toward the capital, there to stand trial for charge of misappropriating $168,000 of the bank's funds, representing the sav-ings of hundreds of his fellow towns-

May Plead Guilty.

It is stated that Allen's bond will be fixed at $50,000 to avoid any possibility of his getting out under bonds. How-ever, friends of the accused man say that he will plead guilty at once and accept whatever punishment is meted out to him. He is still in serious condition physically, but the officers were not inclined to force his removal from Mineral Point, but the broken-spirited banker realized fully that what little sympathy had existed for him was quickly dissipated when his brother-in-law's suicide came as the direct result of his pecula-While his physicians were averse to taking the risk of having Allen transferred to Madison, he himself preferred it to the potent possibilities of remaining at home to face the rising ire of the bank's depositors.

CUBA NOT RESPONSIBLE.

Government Disclaims Any Connection with Ferrer Demonstrations in Havana Sunday.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19 .- The Cuban government disclaims any connec tion with the Ferrer demonstrations which took place in Havana Sunday when a disorderly mob of several thousand persons marching through the streets carrying red flags and cheering for anarchy attempted to approach the Spanish consulate and Bishop's palace. Nor had the government any connection with meetings at which resolutions were adopted to boycott Spanish goods.

The Cuban secretary of state today ca-bled to the Cuban legation here saying the meetings and parades had no other than a civic character and were unattended by disorders. The police maintained order and dispersed the crowds in compliance with the city ordinances.

The secretary of state declares Gens. Loynase and Miro were neither instiga-tors nor leaders of the demonstrations, they advised order and moderation.

NOTED WOMAN IS DEAD

MARIETTA TEALL-OLIN PASSES AWAY AFTER SPLENDID CAREER.

Soldiers' Home Was Procured for Milwaukee Largely Through Her Efforts and Life Is Exemplary.

RACINE, Wis., Oct. 19.-[Special.]-Marietta Teall-Olin, widow of the late Daniel A. Olin, one of the former prominent railroad superintendents of Wisconsin, died Monday night at her home in this city at the age of 83 years. Mrs. Olin in her earlier days was one of the most prominent and remarkable women in the state. She was born February 3, 1826, in St. Lawrence county, N. Y., and was married to Olin in 1864. For many years she was a member of the trustees of the Taylor's Orphan asylum and she served as a mem-ber of the board of managers of the Wisconsin Industrial School for Girls from its inception.

During the War of the Rebellion, she with a number of leading women of Milwaukee, united their efforts to furnish a home for the care of the sick and disabled who were sent back from the front and she was made treasurer. She appeared before the state Legislature at that time and secured an appropriation of $12,000 for this pur-

In 1865, these women and Mrs. Olin held a fair to raise money which would go towards the establishment of a permanent home for disabled soldiers. She and others canvassed the state and raised $110,000. When Congress decided to establish a national soldiers' home in Milwaukee, the above money was given for that purpose provided the home should be located in Milwaukee. Mrs. Olin moved to Racine in 1869, and was at the head of all literary and charitable institutions here for years. She is survived by one stepdaughter, Mrs. William Storey of Colorado.

ALLEN IS IN JAIL; LACKS $60,000 BAIL

VICE PRESIDENT OF WRECKED MINERAL POINT BANK WON'T SEEK FRIENDS' AID.

PRELIMINARY HEARING PUT OFF.

Adjournment Will Continue Until United States District Attorney Can Get to Case of Accused Banker.

PRISONER MAKES A STATEMENT.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 20 .- [Special.] -The preliminary hearing of Phillip Allen, Jr., vice president of the wrecked First National Bank of Mineral Point, Wis., on the charge of embezzling $168,-000 of the bank's funds, was this morning continued by United States Court Commissioner Blake to October 27, and will be made if District Attorney Gordon or Assistant District Atttorney Morgan have not finished with the regular calendar hearings at La Crosse.

Bail was fixed at $60,000, although Allen's attorney, Vroman Mason, district attorney of Dane county, said that if the bail was fixed at $40,000 his client might as fixed at $40,000 his client might. bail was fixed at $40,000 his client might be able to secure it.

An attempt was made to get word to District Attorney Gordon at La Crosse by telephone, but failing to reach him. Commissioner Blake, after a conference with the parties concerned, decided that the bond of $60,000 would be more commensurate with the alleged embezzle Fails to Get Bail.

Failing to furnish this, it was ordered that Allen remain in the custody of Deputy United States Marshal Kelly. Attorney Mason declared there was no necessity for keeping Allen in jail, but as Deputy Kelly must return to La Crosse, it was ordered that Allen be remanded to the Dane county jail.

Allen stated he had friends in Mineral Point who probably would go on hi bond but he did not care to ask them. When arraigned and asked by the commissioner what plea he wished to enter Allen said: "I confessed as to certain facts and I will stand by my confession." Seems in Good Health.

If Allen has been seriously ill he did not show any signs of it. He talked willingly and expressed surprise at the growth of Madison since his last visit. officers of the junior and senior classes;
members of the student conference committee

While the above mentioned men are especially charged with preventing hazing, it is agreed and understood that any student of the university has a right and a duty to interfere and prevent any attempted hazing. The above regulations are adopted as a substitute for those previously adopted by them, upon the recommendation of the student conference committee.

The student conference committee also voted unanimously that each delegate should present these resolutions to the organization which he represented with a view to securing the ratification of the resolutions by every student organiza-tion. A committee of five student members was appointed to present at the "The recognition of the evils of haz-ng by the students themselves, and their desire to co-operate with the faculty in bringing about its complete suppression I consider a most important advance in the steadily growing sentiment among students in favor of intelligent self-gov-ernment," said President Van Hise, in British Columbia Miner Goes to Cornwall to Wed Girl.

A 6000-mile journey from British Columbia to Tregehan, a little Cornish vil- place. lage near St. Austell, has just been undertaken by an Anglo-Italian miner in quest of a Cornish girl whom he had never seen and whom he is to marry.

A picture postcard of a village group brought the pair together. Mrs. Phillips, one of the villagers, sent the card to her son, a miner in British Columbia, who showed it to his friends in the mining camp. One of the men, Antonio Metassa, greatly attracted by the face of a girl in the group, wrote a note to her, which was enclosed in Phillips' next letter

The girl, Rosina Harper, a charming brunette of 16, replied and the correspondence continued until a few weeks ago Matassa wrote that he was coming to England. The lovers, who had not seen each other before, met and arranged

A NOTRE DAME LADY'S APPEAL.

To all knowing sufferers of rheumatism, whether muscular or of the joints, sciatical lumbagos, backache, pains in the kidneys or neuralgia pains, to write to her for a home treatment which has repeatedly cured all of these tortures. She feels it her duty to send it to all sufferers FREE. You care yourself at home as thousands will testify—no change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery banishes uric acid from the blood, loosens the stiffened joints, purishes the blood, and brightens the eves takes. fles the blood, and brightens the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M. Summers. Box 3, Notre Dame, Ind.

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery' supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves-in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," It is probably better FOR HIM...it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, In Plain English; or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Opening of Cheyenne River Indian Reservation in South Dakota

Registration Dates, Oct. 4 to 23, inclusive.

The General Land Office at Washington has designated Le Beau and Aberdeen, So. Dak., on the Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R. as registration points. Le Beau, which is the Missouri River terminus of the Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R., is located on the Missouri River, opposite the Reservation, and is the nearest railroad station to three-fifths of the land.

Aberdeen, the other registration point, is the chief city in northern

These points are reached best by the Iowa Central and Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R. lines.

There will be about 14,000 quarter sections allotted to settlers. The land lays well for farming over most of the reservation. The soil is a light loam and is very fertile. It is similar to that in the counties east of the River, where the land sells from $25.00 to $30.00 per acre. Lignite coal is found over a great part of the reservation.

Who May Secure a Homestead—Under the homestead laws of the United States, any person, male or female who is not the owner of more than 160 acres of land in any state or territory, who is a native born citizen of the United States, or has been naturalized, or declared his intention to become a naturalized citizen of the United States (i.e., one who has taken out his first papers of citizenship), who is over the age of 21 years or the head of a family, may make a homestead entry of not exceeding 160 acres of any of the unoccupied lands of the United States.

THE BEST INVESTMENT. ANY COW OWNER EVER MADE

That's what more than One Million COW OWNERS the world over have found the DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATOR to be, after thirty years of separator use.
A DE LAVAL FARM SEPARATOR costs

from $45 to $175 according to capacity. It saves butter fat and produces a cream of superior quality over any setting system or any other separator every time it is used,-twice a day every day in the year. It involves far less labor than any setting system, and runs easier, has greater capacity and lasts from two to ten times longer than any other separator.

That's how a DE LAVAL separator saves its cost at least the first year, and frequently in a few months, and then goes on doing so right along for an average of twenty years So far as other separators are concerned they leave off where the IMPROVED DE LAVAL machines begin, and the DE LAVAL makers, with thirty years of experience in separator construction and development, have forgotten more about separators than all the others know. In fact it's what the DE LA-VAL has forgotten and discarded that he others use. That's what makes the DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATOR

And in buying a DE LAVAL machine you don't have to part with one cent until you have satisfied yourself that every word of all this is simple truth.
