Blanket Your Horse

We always like to see a farmer or horseman drive up to a hitching post these winter days, jump out of his rig, unfold a big blanket and carefully cover his faithful horse. There is a big heart in that man. He'll do to tie to. He is thinking of someone else besides himself, and he takes as much pleasure in proving comfort for his horse as for himself. On the other hand it makes us sad to see a great big man, warmly clad from head to foot, drive a sweating steaming horse up to the rack hastily, tie him fast, leave him shivering, and make for the nearest hot stove. There is something wrong about this fellow. He may be a nice man, may belong to the church, may not swear, smoke, nor have any bad habits, but we wouldn't want to be his horse.

The other members of the family escaped and it is believed none was hurt.

The bodies were found in the ruins of the house this afternoon. The bodies were lying side by side. Congressman De Armond evidently had been carrying his grandson when death overtook them

Other occupants of the house at the time of the fire and who escaped were Mrs. De Armond, James A. De Armond, aged 35, a son of the congressman, and a daughter, aged 35.

The fire started at 3 o'clock this morn-

The home of Congressman De Armond was situated across the street from that of James A. De Armond, the son. James started to rush into the burning home of his father in an attempt to save the latter, but was restrained by the young-er members of the De Armond family and by neighbors.

Boy Cries for Help.

Congressman De Armond and his young grandson occupied one room on the south side of the building, while Mrs. De Armond and Mrs. Clark were in separate rooms on the opposite side of the house. Nettie Boles, 20 years old, a servant girl, had a room on the west end of the house. Mrs. Clark was awakened by a cry, and going to the door of her room saw smoke issuing from the part of the house where Congressman De Armond and his add to the world's laughter as a writer of comedies, committed suicide Tuesday, heartbroken over a theater manager's alleged theft of her most elaborate sketch. Chauffeur "Jumps" Car Five Times to Shake Victim Loose and Makes His Escape.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.-In a manner that caused spectators and police to stamp him as a deliberate murderer, a chauffeur Tuesday night inflicted injuries that will probably be fatal upon Miss Alice Mohen, a young stenographer, the sole support of a widowed mother.

The machine knocked her down as she was leaving the subway exit at One Hundred and Thirty-seventh street and Broadway. It was not going fast and the girl's wounds from the impact were probably very slight, but, seeing a crowd approaching, the chauffeur, who had stopped, put on full speed ahead.

With her skirts caught in a forward wheel the girl was dragged along the asphalt. Deliberately, in order to shake a dispatch from New York today. It

When finally Miss Mohen was thrown free of the machine she had been dragged a full block and was terribly battered and cut. Her clothing had been torn off, she had suffered a concussion of the brain and internal injuries and her body was battered from head to foot.

She is now lying near death in the Wright hospital. The chauffeur escaped, but the police say they will capture him.

Fire in Chicago Hotel Causes Audience at Grand Opera House to Leave the Building.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 24.-Fire in the that no danger menaced, and threatened for a time to destroy the building ir which it started. Panic among those in the theater was averted by the management and employes, but the house was emptied as a matter of precaution until it was found safe to proceed with the performance.

The origin of the fire had not been explained hours after the flames had been extinguished, but suspicions of incen-diarism were voiced by firemen. First knowledge of the situation reached the audience in the Grand Opera house when flames shot through the root of the hotel, directly at the rear of the auditorium. Walton Bradford, acting manager of the "Dawn of Tomorrow" company, immediately walked upon the stage and calmly announced that there was no danger.

He then asked those in the audience to Reave quietly. Little haste was exhibited in complying, but the theater was employes aiding those present to the exits and repeating Mr. Bradford's assurance of "na" again, Carolina and Maryland costs to reating Mr. Bradford's assurance of "na" peating Mr. Bradford's assurance of "ne danger."

This was now five years ago. In these five years had come some changes. Little Anne had supplemented her typewriting business with the drudgery of daily governess work, reserving the former for evening employment only. Phil was 13, a slender, agile lad, the living image of his dead father, and on the point of leaving school; Gerry, now 7 years old, had grown into a terribly fragile child, whose health was a never-failing source of anxiety; and Anne herself, at 23, still held the little household together with her frail hands by dint of patient, unremitting toil.

Even as she sat listening on that scorching July afternoon to the children's music, her ever busy brain was planning how it would be possible to get the change of air and scene, if only and with it all, mingling with the smell that summer afternoon, with here and for a few days, they all needed so sorely.

Remarkable Vision of a Swedish Officer Ill in Hospital.

Swedish scientist are interested in a markable case of telepathy, connected with the murder of Gen. Beckman last June. The facts, which are vouched for by a doctor and several hospital nurses, are as follows: At the time of Gen. Beckemann's assassination, Gen. Bjoerline, one of his intimate friends, was lying in a hospital. On the day of the tragedy he was very restless, and mentioned Gen. Beckmann to the attendant nurse very frequently, as being in great danger. At 11 p. m. he suddenly be-came wildly agitated, and jumping from the bed tried to rush from the room, shouting that he must go to his friend's help. "Can't you hear the shooting in the street?" he cried. "Beckmann has been shot dead, I tell you." Gen. ROASTS GOVERNO ON PROCLAMATIO

FORMER MILWAUKEE MINISTER WAXES WROTH AT FAILURE TO MENTION THE DEITY.

CENSURES STRESS ON TURKEY.

Pastor Tells His Congregation That They Should Protest Against Public Desecration of the Day.

COMPARES OLD DAYS WITH NEW.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 22 .- [Special.] -Caustic criticism of the governor's Thanksgiving proclamation was offered Sunday morning by Rev. A. A. Ewing as a preface to his sermon in Grace Episcopal church. He was formerly pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal church of Milwaukee.

Holding up the official copy of the proclamation, Rev. Ewing said: "I have here a little paper, entitled 'A Proclamation by the Governor.' It bears on one page a cut of a turkey. I suppose it was by oversight that the football was left off the last page. I am expected to read it to my congregation and I will read it, but with chagrin and under protest."

Interprets the Document. He then read the proclamation, senence by sentence, interpreting as he went to show that it contained a recommendation that the people should be thankful for material blessing only. Conerning the governor's recommendation that the 'usual customs be observed throughout the day,' he said, "Which neans, I suppose, overeating and a football game.

"The name of God does not appear once in the proclamation, except in the purely conventional where it is dated, 'in the year of our Lord, 1909.' I do not know who was responsible for this document, but it was issued by the offiial of the state. I read it with humili ation as a citizen of the state of Wisconsin, because the state officials, in the name of the state, issued a frivolous and undignified document.
"I wish, however, to protest, and to have you protest against the public degradation of such a day.

Recalls Earlier Dictums.

"I happen to have been born in a state where Thanksgiving day began and I can recall as a mere lad how I was moved by the governor's proclamation. It was always impressively worded and the people were called upon to set apart a day of thanksgiving to Almighty God for the manifold blessings upon the state and my heart would thrill at the closing words, 'God save the commonwealth of Massachusetts.'

"I call upon you in addition to all the carnival spirit that has a proper place in the day, to keep it first as a day of general thanksgiving to Almighty God, and if the state is afraid to recognize religion, let us, as Christians, keep alive generation and the generations to fol-

TRUE BILLS DISMISSED

Indictments Against Scheble and Machen Charging Conspiracy Dropped by Government.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23 .- The attorney general today directed that the ndictments returned September 8, 1903, against Eugene D. Scheble of Toledo. D., and August W. Machen, the former lead of the free delivery postal system, be dismissed. This action was aken on the recommendation of District Attorney Baker, with the approval of Postmaster General Hitchcock.

The indictments were based on an aleged conspiracy by Scheble, who claimed patent right for letter boxes, and by Machen, when the latter was gen-tral superintendent of the free delivery pervice, to procure contracts with the postoffice department to furnish a large number of letter boxes in excess of the leeds of the service.

First Batch of Dozen Carcasses Sold in Paris Stalls Brings High Prices.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—The colonial authorities have inaugurated a serious attempt to introduce in the French market the zebus of Madagascar as a substitute for beef. The first batch of a dozen carcasses sold in the Paris stalls brought the price of the highest grades of cattle Larger shipments are now on the way here. M. Carrougeau, the manager of the government stud in Madagascar, is enthusiastic over the new project. He says that the herds of zebus, otherwise known as Indian oxen, which have been threatened with extermination, are now being rapidly restored and that probably 4.500,000 head roam the plateaux of the zebus as savory and nutritious and the equal of beef. He anticipates an annual importation in Europe of from 150, 100 to 200,000 carcasses.

TAFT IN COAL LAND DISPUTE. Gets Letter from Garfield Shedding New Light on Controversy.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24 .-That the President decision to reopen the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy and refer the whole dispute to Attorney General Wickersham is the result of a letter from former Secretary of the Interior Garfield, has been learned from high au thority.

While the text of Garfield's letter has not been made public, it was learned that the former secretary told the President that he believed the Cunningham and other Alaskan coal claims to be fraudu-lent, and had he continued in office the government would not have consented to a hearing until the agents of the land office had time to combat the suit for

WORTH KNOWING.

Simple Remedy That Anyone Can Prepare at Home.

Most people are more or less subject to coughs and colds. A simple remedy that will break up a cold quickly and cure any cough that is curable is made by mixing two ounces of Glycerine, a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whisky. You can get these in any good drug store and easily mix them in a large bottle. The mixture is highly recommended by the Leach Chemical Co. of Cincinnati, who prepare the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure for dispensing.

is not a little consolation to the patriotic Briton to observe the steady flow of immigration of the wealthy classes of other nations into England and Scotland. "When we gave up our New York headquarters years ago, under Mrs. Catt, the then president," she says, "we removed to Warren, O., as the only town where a national officer who could give her full time to the work had her home. This was understood to be temporary. Washington and Chicago were both suggested, but New York was chosen. Mrs. Belmont offered to assist us. She has been most considerate in her work with us, has interfered with our officers in no way, except to give something for a spe-cial purpose." Prof. Frances Squire Potter, the national secretary, also issued statement, saying, "The removal of the ational headquarters to New York was decided upon because it is the press center of the world. She said Mrs. Belmont and the Political Equality league, of which the latter is president, deprecated any reference to the headquarters as the "Belmont headquarters."

CARE OF OLD GLASS.

Antique glass which does not require mending but is dim and lusterless may be made to shine and sparkle once more if it is washed in water to which a little immonia has been added.

Soapsuds spell ruination to crystal ware, while drying it with a duster only serves to dim it still more. After having rinsed and left it to soak in am-monia water, using a soft brush if the class is cut into facets and the dirt has aught in the squares, the article should be placed in a box and covered with saw-dust. After an hour it will be found that the wood dust has dried the glass and given it a bright luster.

The old fashioned cut crystal decanters which are so much used nowadays becomes almost hopelessly discol-ored when they have held old port or any wine which leaves a deposit. To clean them an old fashioned remedy is that of finely chopped potato skins with a cork inserted in the mouth in place of the stopper. This should be left for three days for the skins to ferment. when it should be well shaken, emptied and rinsed with clear water. The de-canter should either be reversed and left to drain for a day or two or may be dried more expeditiously at the side of the stove.—London Evening Standard.

Spanking does not cure children of bedwetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 4, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to ening China is to be a service of motor-cars across the Gobi desert to replace any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.
