Wonderful Cure for the Blues

If you are despondent and lonely during this sad and disagreeable weather, you can sure ly be livened up by visiting the Opera House and see the magnificent performance given by the Great Quaker Medicine Company. To much can not be said in praise for the organization, their entertainments are the talk of any town or city they visit. Every performer is an artist. They give a delightful entertainment. Nine people make up this company and to say it is the best entertainment of this kind that ever visited our city is putting it mild. which was to be held by the baseball boys last Sunday evening, was postponed until to-morrow, Sunday, evening on account of the inclemency of the weather. All tickets, which were sold for Sunday evening, April 24, will entitle the holder to a dance ticket at the dance to-morrow evening. It is the hope of the baseball boys, that everybody will attend this dance so as to make it a social as well as a financial affair. The Kewaskum Quintette consisting of five pieces will furnish the music.

In Memory of John Schiltz.

Endlich hast Du ueberwunden Manche schwere, harte Stunden; Manchen Tag und manche Nacht Hast Du in Schmerzen zugebracht. Standhaft hast Du sie ertragen, Deine Schmerzen, Deine Plagen. Bis der Tod Dein Auge brach. Bis der Tod Dein Auge brach-Doch bist Du im Himmel wach. Zu frueh schlug diese bitt're Stunde, Die Dich aus unserer Mitte nahm, Doch troeftend toent aus unserem Munde "Was Gott thut, das ist wohlgethan!" Dies Wort stidt unser banges Fleh'n, Ach, ruh- sanft, auf Wiederseh'n. Weinend legen wir Dich nieder, In Dein stilles Schlafgemacht; Niemals kehrst Du zu uns wieder— Darum weinen wir Dir nach. Doche- schlaegt fuer uns die Stunde, Wo wir Dich einst wiedersehen. Wenn vereint zum schoensten Bunde Wir vor Gottes Throne stehen.

Ausgeduldet, ausgelitten, Hast Du Deinen groszen Schmerz, Ausgelitten und erkaltet Ist Dein treues liebes Herz. Hast uns allzufrueh verlassen, Deine Liebe sorgt nicht mehr, Dein Erkalten, Dein Erblassen Schlug uns Wunden tief und schwer.

Mr. Klein was hired to blast some stone on his neighbor, Frank Ehnert's, farm that day and after breakfast, in preparing to go to work, Mr. Klein found the dynamite frozen and placed about 10 pounds of it in a hot bake oven to thaw out. After a few moments Klein opened the oven and remarked to Schiltz that it was still frozen and closed the door again. Schiltz warned him to take it out before something would happen, but he did not fear the danger. A sizzling noise was heard coming from the oven at that time and when Klein again opened the oven door, a flame shot into his face and at the same time the terrible

Rev. Irl. R. Hicks in his weather forecast for the month of May predicts a stormy time.

Mr. Hicks states that a reactionary storm period is central on the weather changing to cooler will be tending over the 6th and 12th. Mr. Hicks says that this will be a stormy and dangerous period. Violent storms are predicted and the period will be followed by very cool weather. From May 14 to 16 great electric and tornadic storms may be expected. From the 18th to the 22nd a regular storm period will prevail. Mr. Hicks gives warning of probable tornadic danger, at this time. The month will end with falling barometer and storms passing from west to east over the country.

Mr. Hicks declares that the phenomenally warm weather in March the convulsions on the sun, the earthquakes and abnormal auroral lights beyond question are largely the result of Halley's comet in its perihelion flight around the suburbs of the sun. There is a possibility, according to Mr. Hicks that the earth will not pass through the tail of the comet, that the tail will pass far below or above the central plane of the sun, to project its tail millions of miles away from the earth.

The passengers in both trains were thrown into a panic. Shrill cries of fear were heard above the roar of the escaping steam and the splintering of wood. The mail and baggage cars took fire and it was only by the prompt arrival of the Oakfield fire department and the quick work of the train crews with chemical extinguishers that the blaze was extinguished.

Several trainmen were badly hurt and many of the passengers were shaken up by the collision.

CONGRESS IN SESSION.

In the Senate.

The administration railroad bill and the resolution authorizing the expenditure of $65,000 for an extension of the Senate's inquiry into the cost of living occupied the attention of the Senate on the 20th, but no action was taken on either measure. Senator Purcell spoke at length in opposition to the railroad bill, declaring that it was the purpose of the administration to so change the per-sonnel of the Supreme Court of the United States so as to reverse former decisions on the rights of states to control questions involving railroad legisla-

The Lodge resolution to appropriate $65,000 for the expenses of the cost of living inquiry was under consideration on the Senate on the 21st, but no action was taken. The traffic agreement of the railroad bill was under consideration nearly all day.

The traffic agreement provision of the railroad bill was under consideration in the Senate on the 22nd. Senator Crawford took occasion to eulogize former President Roosevelt as the foremost figure in the United States.

In the Senate Mr. Lodge on the 25th withdrew his resolution asking Senate sanction for the expenditure of $65,000 to continue the cost of living inquiry. This action was taken on the ground that members of the minority were conducting such an extended debate upon the resolution as to interfere seriously with the passage of the railroad bill. The committee will continue the inquiry. The committee will continue the inquiry, however, under authority of the original resolution. The Crawford-Elkins traffic agreement provision of the railroad bill was under discussion in the Senate durates and the control of the railroad bill was under discussion in the Senate durates. ing most of the day. Senator Root spoke in favor of the provision, while Senators Dolliver and Clapp opposed it.

In the House.

A bill authorizing the President to make withdrawals of public lands for purposes of conservation was passed by the House on the 20th. The entire session was devoted to the consideration of this measure, which, it was stated, met the approval of the President.

Representative Fowler of New Jersey introduced a resolution in the House or the 21st designed to take away from the speaker the power to name all committees. For a time everybody thought the recent insurrection against Cannon-ism was to be renewed and the excitement continued until Mr. Fowler announced that he did not intend to press the resolution until May 2. It was sent to the new committee on rules. A resolution was passed which calls on the attorney general for information regarding the trial of Antonio I. Villareal, R. Fiores Magon and Liberado Rivera, now in prison at Florence, Ariz., having been convicted of violating the neutrality laws between the United States and

Mr. Russell of Texas made a speech in favor of the railroad bill.

In the House the railroad bill was under consideration on the 22nd. Upon the conclusion of the general debate upon the measure, Mr. Mann of Illinois announced that next Tuesday the reading of the bill for amendments under the five-minute rules would begin.

In the House on the 25th the session was devoted to consideration of bills re-lating to the District of Columbia.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27 .-Declaring himself the advocate of the states and not of the railroads, Senator Rayner of Maryland today addressed himself to the general aspects of the ad-ministration railroad bill while that measure was under consideration for amendments.

Mr. Rayner gave a special consideration to the provisions relating to the is-suance of stocks and bonds by railroad corporations and to the financial organization of such corporations, which provisions he contended were no part of the regulation of commerce. But assuming that they do constitute such a regula-tion he claimed that in so far as the state charters to railroads were concerned, the provisions were still contrary the constitution.

He asserted that Congress would have is much right to lower the salaries of the officers of a road or to decrease the wages of its employes as it would have to regulate its issuance of stocks and

For many years, according to a son, Stillman kept his can full of gold between the rafters in a little woodshed at the rear of his home. Occasionally he would take the can and for a period of several months would hide it where no one could find it, and it was in one of these secret places when he died sud-denly last March.

MAD DOG SCARES CITY.

Rabid Animal Bites Several Persons and Mayor Has Ordered Fifty Canines Shot.

NEENAH, Wis., April 27 .- [Special.] -When it was announced that a dog was mad when killed last week, steps were immediately taken to prevent a spread of rabies. Five persons have been bitten by the dog and in addition to the members of the family of Howard Cummings, a little daughter of Robert Olda is at Madison taking the Pasteur treatment. Extra policemen are on duty to kill all dogs found running at large unmuzzled, Mayor Stone having issued a proclamation to this effect. No less than fifty have been killed.

CLAPP RAPS WICKERSHAM.

General's Speech. WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27 .-Senator Clapp of Minnesota Tuesday in the Senate made answer to the Chicago speech of Attorney General Wickersham, and served notice that no leader or set of leaders could read from the party any member. He issued warning that unless present methods are reformed the party, which is greater than any leader, will read out those who fail to respond to the sentiment of the people.

Senator Clapp made a strong comparison between the present and the Roosevelt administrations. He charged the failure of the Democratic party to win the confidence of the people to its domi-nation by leaders who controlled. On the other hand, the success of the Republican party was credited by him to the responsiveness of the party to the will of the people.

Mr. Clapp regretted that conditions have changed so much that party differences cannot be settled in quiet, but must be aired in public at banquet boards.

Finger Print Identification.

We are informed that there is a movement on foot to recognize in some way Henry Faulds' work in introducing the method of identification of finger prints to public notice. To Mr. Faulds, a member of the medical profession and for many years a surgeon in Japan, belongs the honor of first publishing a proposal to use dactyllography for identification, and there is no doubt that his work was greatly instrumental in securing in Eng-iand the official use of finger prints for the identification of criminals. The work of Sir W. J. Herschel, Sir Francis Gal-ton and Sir James Henry in the same field is well known, but a contribution by Mr. Faulds, which was published in "Nature" in 1880, was the first information given to the public on the subject.— The Lancet (London).

SECRET CHRISTIANS OF TURKEY.

Christian neighborhoods were forced to accept the religion of Mohammed that they might escape the sword. Most of these converts accepted only the out-ward shell of Islam, so that there are today whole tribes outwardly Mohammedan, but in reality more Christian or heathen. A number of tribes among the Kurds, for instance, are the descendants of Armenians thus nominally converted to Islam centuries ago. Since the new constitution of Turkey professes to grant religious liberty many of these people are attempting to shake off the hated yoke of Islam and the Young Turk government finds itself face to face with the question what attitude it should show toward these attempts. At present the Stavriots, as they are called, are making great efforts to obtain their right.

The Stavriots who live in the neighborhood of the cloisters of Wasilu and Peristera and within the diocese of Trapezunt, Erzerum, Neocaesarea (Niksar) and Chaldia number about 50,000. The Turkish government considered them Mohammedan, but they adhered secretly to the ceremonies of their for-mer religion. They elected their own Mohammedan teachers, but they had also their own priests, who performed marriage, baptism, and other religious ceremonies in a hidden church secretly and by night. Each one of these Stavriots had two names, a Christian and a Mohammedan. In the mosques they prayed with the Turks, but used Christian prayers. After the revolution of last year they telegraphed the Young Turks and demanded public recognition as Christians. This recognition has not yet been granted in spite of the fact that the new Turkish government has promised com-plete religious liberty.—Missionary Re-view of the World.

POSTUM FOR MOTHERS.

The Drink That Nourishes and Supplies Food for Mother and Child.

"My husband has been unable to drink coffee for several years, so we! were very glad to give Postum a trial and when we understood that long boiling would bring out the delicious flavor, we have been highly pleased

"It is one of the finest things for nursing mothers that I have ever seen. It keeps up the mother's strength and increases the supply of nourishment for the child if partaken of freely. I drank it between meals instead of water and found it most beneficial.

"Our five-year-old boy has been very delicate since birth and has developed slowly. He was white and bloodless. I began to give him Postum freely and you would be surprised at the change. When any person remarks about the great improvement, we never fail to tell them that we attribute his gain in strength and general health, to the free use of Postum and this has led many friends to use it for themselves and children. "I have always cautioned friends to whom I have spoken about Postum, to follow directions in making it, for unless it is boiled fifteen or twenty minutes, it is quite tasteless. On the other hand, when properly made, it is very delicious. I want to thank you for the benefits we have derived from the use of your Postum." Read "The Road to Wellville," found in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

A FOOLISH FROLIC.

By the Author of "The Wild Geese," "A Democratic Duchess," Etc.

"I had hoped it might come, dear Agnes," she said. "I have always been sorry I could not make Mr. Langrishe happy; but you will do better; you will make him glad that I could not do so." Presently she reverted to the Duke.

"May I say one thing to you about him?" she asked rather shyly. "He has been so very open in his admiration of me that I feel sure that he has been equally open in his lamentations over my refusal to accept his admiration in the way he wished me to accept it."

"Yes, I see he has told you all about it; and somehow I fancy it would not be so very long before he gets completely over it. I gather from little things let fall by Mrs. Matthieson, coupled with little things let fall by my friend Francesca, that he is already nearer to getting over it than he quite realizes him-

"And you also gather, I am sure," interpolated Agnes, "that mamma is carrying him off to be out of Miss Vanbrugh's

Denzilia laughed a little.
"Well, yes," she confessed. "I did fancy that there was something of the kind connected with your sudden move. And it is just that which I wanted to touch on. Naturally I don't want to interfere in Mrs. Matthieson's views for her son. I only want to say that Francesca is at heart as good as gold, and that if by any chance she and the Duke of the peccadilloes of your youth." should meet hereafter, and he should wish to marry her, Mrs. Matthieson will to Miss Vanbrugh that she would seek her own heart-far more so than I should have been."

Montresor considered a moment before answering. Then he said-

"Mrs. Matthieson is a dear old lady. but she is talking nonsense. Does the hotel belong to us, and are we to ask every unmarried man to leave it because we happen to be in it?" Montresor laughed a little at this Then he went on more seriously-

"I do not desire to intrude in any way on you and Miss Lavenham, but I want you to bear in mind that I am always available in case you want a man's help.' "I see," returned Francesca, nodding her head with a smile. "You may depend upon me in so far that if we ever do need a man's help you shall be the first man I shall call in; but you know that both Miss Lavenham and I are very independent young women. She cried a little, and then when Fransesca scolded her for this unwonted display of weakness she announced her intention of returning to America as soon as the doctor would allow her to be carried to the train.

"Certainly!" said Prancesca. "I think it would be a very sensible thing to do." It was more than a week before Montresor saw Miss Vanbrugh. She no longer came to table d'hote, but took her meals in Denzilia's sitting room.

Denzilia's recovery was slow and tedious. In fact its slowness somewhat puzzled the doctor.

She did indeed look very lovely as she lay on her sofa in a soft silk tea-gown of the palest blue trimmed with a profusion of lace. Her beautiful gold-brown hair was very loosely plaited and coiled on top of her head as a more comfortable coiffure for constant lying down.

When Aubrey Montresor was shown into the room by the waiter he stopped No Vocal Music or Pallbearers at Fufor an instant on the threshold. Never had he seen Denzilia look so winning. And her counsels prevailed.

A month later Montresor and Denzilia were quietly married in the little church at Zermatt by the English chaplain. After the wedding they went down to DR. HYDE WINS POINT. Francesca, in the meantime, found some compatriots with whom to travel for a time, and afterwards she joined her friend and her friend's husband, and they went home to England together. Here Miss Vanbrugh found many op portunities of laying siege to the Duke of Courtalsea's susceptible heart, and improved those opportunities with so much vigor that when six months later Mr. and Mrs. Montresor and Mr. and Lady Agnes Langrishe left England for America Francesca accompanied them to make preparations for her own wedding, which was to be decorously celebrated in her father's house with all the pomp and ceremony suitable to the nuptials of a

NEW YORK, April 23.—Services as simple as his wholesome life attended the tributes paid here today to Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), author, humorist, philosopher and citizen of the world. New York city was but a stopping place in the dead author's last journey, as his body was brought here from his home at Redding. Conn., where he died, to be taken to Elmira, N. Y., for burial. But it was here that chiefest expression was to be found of the loving regard in which Mark Twain was held by the American people and that fullest opportunity to do his memory honor was afforded.

The Brick Presbyterian church at Fifth avenue and Thirty-seventh street was the place selected for the funeral services this afternoon, and two close friends of Samuel L. Clemens in life

Messages in Generous Numbers Pour Into Executive Chamber from All Parts of Country.

WILL NOT AFFECT LEGISLATION.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 26.-Messages in generous numbers poured into the executive chamber today bearing congratulations to Gov. Hughes upon his nomination to a place upon the United States supreme court. They came from friends both in and out of the state and were varied and interesting. Gov. Hughes' determination to accept the offer of President Taft to name him for the judgeship was the subject of much speculation at the capital, as to the effect it would have upon pending legislation and the coming campaign. Friends and supporters of the governor were plainly downcast at the prospect of losing so valued a leader. Those who in the past have opposed his policies had little to say other than to express their gratification at his appointment, which will remove him from the field of active politics. All agree, however, that the governor's services in be-half of the Republican party will be greatly missed in the coming campaign.

The Legislative Programme. The legislative programme will not be materially affected by the governor's action, in the opinion of the leaders. With the exception of the question of direct nominations, which is soon to be threshed out, the most important of the governor's recommendations are slated for passage. FOND DU LAC NEWS

STORM DELAYS TRAINS.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., April 23 .-Special.]-All drivers employed by fuel dealers in the city refused to go to work this morning on account of the snowstorm, which has been raging her since early Friday afternoon. The snowfall is estimated at S inches and at several places, the drifts are 3 and 4 feet high. All railroad trains are from one to two hours behind the regular schedule, and the interurban cars are also behind time. The St. Paul passenger train leaving here at 7:30, is now stalled in a snow-drift at South Byron. The Minneapolis passenger on the North-Western road was stalled for a time at Appleton Junction. It is feared that the storm has ruined the fruit crop in this county.

IN DECLAMATORY CONTEST.

Miss Margaret Mahoney won first place and Miss Isabel Jarvis of this city won second place in the league de-clamatory contest, held by the Fond du Lac. Oshkosh and Appleton high schools at Appleton Friday night.

IMPROVE FAIR GROUNDS.

Anton Christianson has presented the Agricultural society with a large number of shade trees to be used in beautifying the county fair grounds. The trees will be added to the grove which is located near the entrance to the grounds. The Agricultural society proposes to plant several groves in the fair grounds, which has been devoid of trees for many years.

FOR MODEL PLAYGROUND.

The school grounds on the highway that extends from Main road to the Park avenue road, south of the city, known as the Mihills-Galloway school, has been selected as the site for the model playground to be established in this county by the Wisconsin State Horticultural society. The improvement of the grounds will begin next week.

SCORCHED BY VARNISH.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., April 25. -Special.]-Mrs. Herman Sawyer, while riding on West Division street, was badly burned in a peculiar manner, while going to make a call on one of her neighbors. She had ascended the veranda steps when the door of the neighbor's house was suddenly opened and a can of burning varnish was thrown out. The burning liquid struck Mrs. Sawyer on the back and set fire to her clothing. The neighbor had been heating some varnish and when it caught fire threw it outside, just as Mrs. Sawyer arrived.

A fire said to have been caused by a defective chimney destroyed the residence of William Henning in the town of Rosendale, Saturday afternoon. The loss will amount to about $2500. The insurance on the building was $600. The contest over the will of the late Harvey Durand, which was to be tried in circuit court this morning, was indefinitely postponed, owing to the absence of attorney.

KNIGHTS TO MEET. The Fox River Valley league of the Knights of Pythias will hold a meeting The anti-oral bookmaking bills have here on Friday evening, May 6. The passed the assembly, as has the bill enprincipal feature of the evening will be a competitive drill for the silver trophy cup. Each lodge will be represented by a drill team. this week.

WILL REPAIR ENGINES. Hundreds of people visited the North-Western yards at North Fond du Lac Sunday to view the three engines that were in the passenger wreck at Oakfield on Saturday. The engine that pulled train 544 is nearly demolished and the tender had to be brought here in a gondola car. Fireman Harry Dille, who was standing on the tender at the time of the collision, considers his escape remarkable. He was thrown for some distance, but escaped with a few bruises. The other two engines are also badly damaged, but can be repaired.

The Deep Waterways Raid. Senator Burton notes that the money appropriated for the stretch between the mouth of the Missouri and the mouth of the Ohio, a distance of 206 miles, for the twenty years ending with 1907 ex-ceeded the amount expended by the central government of Germany in the improvement of the Rhine from Strasburg to the frontier of Holland. Yet the amount of freight handled on this por-tion of the Mississippi in 1908 was 374,-093 tons, while that on the Rhine in the same year was between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 tons. The United States is a rich country, but there is a limit to the extravagance possible even to the United States—a limit which if exceeded will plunge the country in misery. If enemies of the American people, desirious of their ruin, had ingeniously planned for them a policy that would load them down with debt, that would hamper their progress for years to come and greatly advantage their competitors for the world's trade, they could have devised nothing surer to effect that result than the foolish commitments to enormous outlay blithely de-

As the only hope for cure of cancer of the stomach seems to lie in its eradication before the growth has taken a firm hold, a means for detecting such growth in its infancy was invented last year at London hospital. The advances made there in the premature detection of stomach diseases by the use of the gas-troscope, or "stomach telescope," have recently been referred to in the highest terms by an eminent surgeon. By its use the physician can see clearly the condition of the stomach interior and can readily detect the slightest electation, growth or disorder in the lining membranes. The gastroscope, therefore, may save many lives that, without its use, might have been lost.—The Pathfinder.

BJORNSON, NORWAY NOVELIST, IS DEAD

FAMOUS WRITER SUCCUMBS TO PARALYSIS IN 78TH YEAR OF HIS AGE.

WIFE WITH HIM AT THE END.

In Later Years He Became Well Known as an Apostle of Universal Peace.

PARIS, April 27.-Bjornstjerne Bjornson, the famous Norwegian novelist, playwright, poet and publicist, died at the Hotel Wagwram here Tuesday night in the seventy-eighth year of his age. His wife, whom he married fifty-two years ago, was with him at the end.

Bjornson suffered a stroke of paralysis last June and was brought here in November for electro-therapeutic treatment. It was reported lately that he was growing better. The change came unexpectedly. The news of his death was kept from the public for several hours. Bjornstjerne Bjornson was born near the town of Molde, Norway, December 8, 1831. Poet, novelist, dramatist, reformer and apostle of peace, two hereditary traits dominated in his characterthe placid pleasant nature, which he drew from his father, a country parson, and the fighting spirit which came to him from his means to him him from his means to him he will be a supplied to he will be a supplied him from his more remote ancestors, the old Norse sea-rovers.

Prophet-Poet of Norway.

He was known as the prophet-poet of Norway. His very name, Bjornstjerne Bjornson, the Star of the Great Bear, suggests the painting, Star of the North. Toward him the people looked for guidance, and with his cudgels he fought in the cause of truth and justice. His literary tendencies manifested themselves early, when he was still a small boy, in fact, and took the form of hymns. At Molde, where he was sent to ford to Spencer or Marshfield Is school, he distinguished himself as both a fighter and a poet, taking the side of the small boys against the big ones, and turning the old Norse and Icelandic Sagas and hero tales into modern verse. At the age of 20 he entered the University of Christiania, and while there began writing in a more serious vein. to be abandoned as a division point for Building Started by Roosevelt Two The old Sagas still furnished him his the main line of the Soo on the Ashland material, but he attempted drama. WITNESS SEEKS FREEDOM.

Insane Man Doesn't Want to Remain in Court During Trial.

RACINE, Wis., April 27.—Paul Adamski, who was brought here from the northern insane asylum at Oshkosh, to testify in the case against Thomas Burns, a constable of Corliss, charged with the larceny of $400, escaped from sheriff's office Thursday morning and made a dash down the street for liberty.

He was captured after a lively chase.

Adamski left his home in Two Rivers in May, 1909, with $600 in his pocket. At Corliss he became insane and leaped off a train. He threw his money away and it was picked up and handed to Burns. He returned $200 to the sheriff and it was claimed he retained $400.

About Baking Bread.

Bread is made from many other grains than wheat and rye. The bread of India and China frequently has millet for its main ingredient. Peas, beans and other seeds are used for the making of cakes and in South America the cassava cake is only an unfermented bread made from tapioca. On the same list, too, might be placed the oatcakes of Scotland and the corncakes of the United

C. A. Severance has represented the government in the preparation of the case, which is a proceeding to dissolve the merger of the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific railroads on the ground that it was a violation of the Sherman anti-trust act. Suit for dissolution was filed in the circuit court at Salt Lake City.
The positive announcement of the determination to fix a time for the hearing of the case apparently disposes of re-ports which have been revealed frequently that the government had decided to abandon the proceeding against the two

Unofficially, the suggestion has been made that the circuit court possibly had in view a decision of the supreme court on the tobacco trust and Standard Oil cases in postponing the argument on the merger case until fall, as it is generally realized that some time will elapse after the arguments are heard in the merger case before a decision is reached.

Bombay Hook island has been a lively place the last winter and trapping marshes have been much in demand. WESTERN CANADA AS A GRAIN PRODUCER.

Never Saw Such Fine Wheat Any where.

Gust. Anderson, of Maidstone, Saskatchewan, was formerly of Minnesota, and has been in Central Canada three years. On January 16, 1910, he writes:

"Arriving fifteen miles from Maidstone, I bought a couple of steers from a rancher, as my capital was not large, and with the two oxen I brought with me, I broke 25 acres which I put in crop in 1908, and had to clear some brush. I earned $45.00 by breaking fifteen acres for a neighbor and during the summer I put up hay and hauled timber and put up houses for other settlers. Notwithstanding a heavy frost on August 12th, I had 221/2 bushels of wheat per acre and 60 bushels of oats. Off 35 acres of wheat in 1909, I got 27 bushels of wheat per acre and 1,300 bushels of oats off 20 acres. I never saw such fine wheat anywhere. We have plenty of rain between May and August and after August seldom any but dry, warm days. Water can be had at from 20 to 40 feet, and plenty of grass for cattle."

The evidence of Mr. Anderson is given because it is encouraging to the man of small means who is desirous of bettering his condition. It shows but small limit to the man with push and energy to become wealthy on Canadian lands. And the grain that he raises is good. A press dispatch says:

The quality of the wheat continues to be the feature of the deliveries. In the total of 3,378 cars in the February inspections there were 2,847 of had lost their power of vegetating could high grade stuff, a percentage of 84.28. For January the percentage was 82.21, and for the six months it was 88.6. This is an unusually high average, and it demonstrates beyond the shadow of a doubt that the farmers in this part of the Dominion still know how to grow first class wheat. The crop of 1908 was considered good enough, and its average of contract wheat was only 70 per cent. Good weather throughout the season was an important factor, of course, in insuring the high quality of the grain, and it is not so favorable a character will be en- he is especially charged with to heed countered for a long time to come. A small wooden plug is at first inserted to keep the hole from growing together, and month by month a bigger plug is used till finally the openings are half an inch in diameter. At this point the young man begins to wear stone or ivory plugs. These ornaments are put ivory plugs. These ornaments are put in from the inside, ordinarily, as one might insert a button into a shirt front. Usually the two buttons worn are each of a different sort, while sometimes only one of the holes is filled, and in summer men are occasionally met with who wear no buttons at all. When a visitor is seen approaching, however, the ornaments are always inserted, for one does not feel dressed without them. In preparing for sleep they are usually removed.

was an area of new rock absolutely devoid of plant life. How would it be reconquered and repeopled by the vegetable world? So at the association of a table in the banquet room of the Cliff Dwellers at a luncheon and assertable world? table world? So at the suggestion of Treub the island has been kept under observation since 1886. In that year it was found that those simplest of all plants, the socalled blue-green algae, had formed thin, black films over the surface. In this a number of ferns and a few flowering plants nad established themselves. By 1897 the is-land was covered with a characteristic shore vegetation, including a species of ipomaea. Ferns predominated and there were very few shrubs and no trees. The latest expedition reports 137 species of plants belonging to all the principal groups. Ferns are no longer dominant and the forests are rapidly increasing.

In a recent issue of the "Proceedings of the Royal Society" J. White gives the results of some interesting experiments on the ferments and latent life of resting seeds. That the substance of germinating seeds undergoes a process of fermentation by which it is rendered suitable for the nourishment of the embryo is well known. This is illustrated by the change of the starch of the barley seed into sugar during the process of malting. It is not, however, known whether germination can take place in the absence of a ferment. Mr. White, however, finds that of bettering his condition. It shows the ferments in the seeds may retain what can be done, and there is really their activity long after the power of but small limit to the man with push germination has been lost. The ferment in a seed may retain its power for twenty years or more. The seeds specially studied by Mr. White were wheat, barley and other cereals. He finds that the duration of the power of germination varies much. In be induced to grow by adding a ferment. And if this was added to one germinating feebly the growth was retarded.

War Memories Revived. In a famous address Charles Sumner said "Nobody sees a battle." Explaining what he meant, he proceeded, "The common soldier fires away amid a smokemist, or hurries on to the charge in a crowd which hides everything from him. er cannot be present everywhere, and see every wood, water-course, or rayme, ecution; he learns from reports how the work goes on.

This is all true, and it is because this is true that the full and authentic his-tories of great engagements are not writfought. The persons best qualified to write them would be the commanders, enlisting survivors on both sides to write their recollections of great engagements. Several old controversies as to matters of face were revived; but the discussion increased the likelihood that ultimate popular judgment would reach more closely the merits of the matters in dispute, and a large body of fresh information contributing to the understanding of the War was placed before a new generation. Similar beneficial results are sure to attend the work of the Wosconsin History Commission, whose publications are greatly appreciated by all classes of readers, and especially by the pupils of the more advanced grades of the public schools. The Commission so far has confined itself to making available to students personal documents which will supplement formal histories of the war period. Among the publications of the Commission is the Narrative of Frank A. Haskell, who was first lieutenant of the Sixth Wisconsin Infantry and an aide upon the staff of General John Gib-Lieutenant Haskell was killed in the advance of Gibbon's Division at the battle of Cold Harbor. He was a brave soldier and a writer whose intense earnestness marks his literary style and gives interest apart from the subject to everything coming from his pen. His ac-count of the Battle of Gettysburg was written a few days after that great engagement, and sent to his brother, who published the Narrative fifteen years latprinted it practically as it left the au-thor's hand. From the conditions under which Lieutenant Haskell's Narrative the originated it could not be free from ermade for errors that the author himself no doubt would have corrected if he had lived, the book is useful for the vivid way in which it brings out many things relating to the war. It belongs to the class of materials that put life into the dry bones of formal history. Formal histories can be trusted to counteract its errors and prevent them from doing any

The Philadelphia Brigade Association has published a pamphlet sharply attack-ing the Haskell Narrative as "foolish and absurd" because of statements and criticisms which Haskell would probably have modified if he had lived to go over his hastily written manuscript. He represents himself as having caught Webb's Brigade in the act of running away like rabbits and as rallying them and sending them back to their duty. The pamphlet presents a duly authenticated Brigade at Gettysburg and elsewhere which fully attests its gallantry. Eventu lly the History Commission will pub-ish an account of the Eleventh Corps at Gettysburg by a staff officer who serve in that corps. There can be no fault found with the survivors of the Philadel-phia Brigade for defending their organ. zation's splendid record. The Wisconsin History Commission has not intended to ottack it or any other body of Americans the served in the war for the Union. I has merely undertaken to enrich the op-portunities of students for arriving at an nderstanding of the war by supplying bem with a variety of first-hand materi-l bearing on the subject, some of which from its very nature, needs to be car-fully weighed.

> There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put to-gether, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by conand prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is, taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. -"Bull con." a slang phrase which means to flatter, to praise with ulterior motives, had its origin in the west years ago. When the gold brick game was started the bunko men sprang a fine, high-sounding combination of words upon the simple farmers. They called it an investment in "bullion consolidated." Years after the words were cut down to "bull con," and came to mean any graft that depended upon the gift of gab.

Pinkham.

The present Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, was for years under her direction, and has ever since her decease continued to advise women.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty causes them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. Such questioning and examination is unnecessary. Without cost you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

MRS. PINKHAM'S STANDING INVITATION:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

AMERICA'S LEISURE CLASS. Growing Rapidly and Menaces Society with Idlers.

America has a leisure class, and it is all the time growing. While there are people who, from loyalty to some fanciful principles are indisposed to admit this, the fact remains. Every country as it grows older must of necessity foster the growth of a leisure class that will continue to flourish as long as stable political and social conditions are maintained. This leisure class can be a source of great usefulness and an element of national strength, as it is for the most part in England, or it may be vain and spendthrift, a dangerous cause of weakness to the body politic, as it was in France before the French revolution.

The question to be solved in America is which of these two fields our growing leisure class shall occupy. By disposi-tion and heredity it might naturally be expected to follow British precedent, but unfortunately certain tendencies have from time to time appeared that give ground for apprehension. Wanton extravagance, lack of purpose and negation of responsibility are far too common. Great numbers of our men and women whose circumstances make them masters of their own time devote themselves almost exclusively to the pursuit of pleas-There are, to be sure, many who have some serious purpose and labor consistently for the realization of certain ideals, but they are few compared to the idlers. Unless the unoccupied find some worthy object for their energies Amer.can character and ideals are bound to suffer.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Roosevelt Trophies.

When Col. Roosevelt reaches London he will be able to see several of his hunt-ing trophies from Africa stuffed and mounted in realistic manner. These comprise some of the smaller mammals and birds, which are being stuffed by Bowland Ward, the famous taxidermist of Piccadilly, who is acknowledged to be at the head of the profession in England. It is believed Col. Roosevelt will present these London-mounted specimens to the British Museum of Natural History, South Kensington. They are duplicates of specimens he is presenting to the National museum, Washington.

Importation of Cattle.

Each year immigration is becoming more pronounced which is no attain greater wealth and for this reason it has been found necessary to enforce various laws in the various states in order to protect the residents therein against dis-

This same may be applied to the importation of cattle, it having been found necessary that in order to protect the stock owner, that all cattle before entering the state must be thoroughly inspected and passed upon as being free from any infectious or contagious disease.

While each and every disease in Dr. J. O. Fenstermacher left last cattle has a tendency to reduce the profits of a herd, exceptional attention has been paid in the eradication of tuberculosis and for this reason most states require, that before a non-resident herd can enter the state, that it shall have been accompanied by a certificate which shows that every animal has been tuberculin tested and is free from same.

While cattle that have been imported may have been apparently William Brockhaus and wife left free from disease at the time of purchase, owing to the delay of arrival, and exposal they are subjected to, it has been deemed necessary to hold same in quarantine for a certain length of time, thereby definitely determining as to the exact condition of each individual animal before its introduction into the states, and while it has often been found that they are free from tuberculosis, the owner is many times dissappointed to find upon thorough examination that they are afflicted with the germs of contagious absortion and for this reason each animal is treated er hauling bee here from the local until all signs of this disease have disappeared before introducing them into their new quarters, in this way following out the theory that one ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.-By Dr. David Roberts, Waukesha, Wis.

Cuts and Court Plaster.

Many people make the mistake of using court plaster over a cut. The plaster closes the wound prematurely, preventing the natural cleansing of the wound and the which may have entered. It also keeps the edges moist, encouraging the pus formation. In the treatment of a cut do not be in bleeding. Unless an artery is severed, which becomes evident by the forcible spurting of the blood. there is no need of haste. Each movement of free bleeding aids in rendering the wound antiseptic, as the blood coming from within cleanses the wound better than any other application.
