LOCALS WIN IN DOUBLE HEADER

Locals Defeat "Slinger" in Two Games and Jump Into Second Place. Play "Slinger" Return Game Sunday.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS Fond du Lac Kewaskum.

In two of the most exciting games of baseball played on the home grounds this season, the locals defeated the strong Schleisingerville team last Sunday in a double header by a score of 11 to 4, and

The first game was somewhat of look dangerous. Fohey and Reinke wise for Slinger. The second game was a grand exhibition of baseball, the score being close at all times. The batteries were Schaefer, Fohey and Reinke for the locals and Dineen and Kratz for Slinger. This was the first game ever pitched by Schaefer, and same up to the 6th inning was excellent, no Slinger being able to score until this inning, when a hit and several errors aided the visitors to score three, Fohey releived him in the seventh, after which Slinger was unable to

The locals scored 2 runs in the 5th after which they were blanked up to the ninth, when they made a final spurt, Koch drew a pass Berger beat out a bunt, Rosenheimer singled, Backus next up crossed signals which put Koch out running home. Backus then flew out to Klug. With two out it looked shaky but Fohey next up won the game by placing a pretty hit over shortstop, scoring Berger, Margraf trying to prevent the speedy second baseman from scoring made a poor throw to the plate which allowed Rosenheimer to go cross the rubber with the winning

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING SANE FOURTH AT KEWASKUM

Shooting of Firearms Prohibited Here to Safeguard Against Fire.

The celebration of the Fourth in our village this year was saner than ever in its history, conse-

Not a single detonation was heard in the village all day, not even small crackers or pistols were heard or seen. The reason for Kewaskum's first sane Fourth was an order forbidding the shooting of fire-arms of any description, in order to safeguard the property of the village against fire during the present dry spell.

The absence of the fire works and explosion of pistols and crackbut most of our citizens were satisfied to have it prohibited.

Many people from this vicinity and other places came to Kewaskum to spend the Fourth at the parks, where plenty of amusements and good music was provided.

CRITICAL FOR THE CROPS

Extreme Heat Has Seriously Injured Growing Grain.

Secretary John M. True in his Wisconsin farm crop report, dated July 1, says that reports received from correspondents in fifty-four counties of the state represent crop conditions as extremely critical. He says:

"Except in a few favored localities the rainfall during the month of June was extremely slight, while the sudden and marked change in that our village president issued temperature was not favorable to grass and small grain crops. Upon sandy soils the extreme heat has burned out the grass crops and seriously injured growing grain, even if rain come at once.

"Pastures are generally short, and cannot improve without copers made it a rather quiet Fourth, lous rains. While the hay crop from last year's seeding is good in many parts of the state, old meadows will yield a very small crop. Haying has commenced, and the quality of the product is excellent. Marshes and wild meadows have been badly affected by drouth and their yield of hay will be light.

"Winter grains are generally maturing in good shape and are nearly ready for harvest. Spring sowed grains will have short straw, and the amount and quality of grain is closely dependent upon whether rain come in the near fu-

Reno, Nev.-Jack Johnson showed that he is clearly entitled to be called the greatest neavyweight fighter in the history of the prize ring when he knocked James J. Jeffries out in the fifteenth round of their encounter in the arena here. A most remarkable knockout it was. Near the close of the round Johnson put in a left to Jeff's jaw and followed it with a right. This was right near Jeff's own corner. The former champion staggered to the floor of the ring and as he rolled over the bell sounded. This, if noticed by the ring officials, would have given Jeff a chance to rest for the minute interval between rounds, but apparently everybody, principals, referee, timekeepers, seconds and advisers had lost their heads and the bout went on. Johnson, setting himself as Jeff arose, pounced on him again and pounded him across the ring. Again and again he sent Jeff to the floor and through the ropes in almost the same spot. "What's that?" was the burden of his conversation, as he gazed about. "Cheer up, Jim," said Corbett, "you did the best you could."

In the meantime, the police, the deputy sheriffs and the special constables were having a hard time of it trying to clear the ring. Chief Burke of the Reno force hustled men off the platform right and left. The deputies and constables helped and soon the platform was quite clear. About a dozen men, with big wild west revolvers, formed a guard around Johnson as he left the ring to go to his quarters. There was not a sign of hostility toward the black as he worked his way along one of the runways leading from the ring, in fact it was apparent that his victory was neither a surprise nor a disappointment to a big crowd who watched the fight. As a whole the fight was a sorry spectacle. Jeff never showed from the start enough speed or skill. He did not attempt to box with the negra.

STATE HAPPENINGS

Madison.-Corn products dealers about Chicago admit that no more corn sirup will be shipped into Wisconsin, since the announcement of a decision in this state recently, prohibiting the labeling of this so-called corn sirup as "corn sirup," and requiring the same to be labeled "glucose."

The D. B. Scully Sirup company, one of the largest firms dealing in the product, was among the first to declare against shipping corn sirup to Wisconsin in any form under the new order, and it is said the Corn Products Refining company intends to do so or already has decided to ship no more corn sirup to this state until the existing condition of affairs is reversed.

Chicago officials of the Corn Products Refining company said they were not in a position to state what action the company would take, as all its plans were determined at the main office in New York.

Mr. Scully of the Scully Sirup company was emphatic in his determination not to attempt to ship his corn sirup product into Wisconsin as long as the present requirement remains in effect.

"I will not label my corn sirup 'glucose," he said. "To do so would be to mislabel the article. It is corn sirup and nothing else, and cannot rightly be called glucose. In labeling it 'corn sirup' we are carrying out the provisions of the United States pure food laws."

The drowned man's body was recovered after a two-hour search by the police. The drowning occurred while the Cunningham party was wading in Fall Creek in a shallow spot north of Thirtieth street. Tevis Cunningham waded out into the stream in an effort to cross it, but stepped into a large hole caused by the excavation of gravel for the bridge in that vicinity, and went down.

New Richmond.—As a consequence of the protracted drought, the New Richmond strawberry crop, which is generally the last of the strawberries in the St. Paul and Minneapolis markets, is all but a complete failure. The largest of the strawberry farms is that of Fay Bros. company. Their strawberry plants are protected by an elaborate system of underground pipes through which water is forced in ordinary dry times, but those expensive precautions are of no avail this year, because their source of water supply has disappeared.

Racine.-Robert Schoepperel, aged fifty-five years, committed to the county poor house from Burlington two weeks ago, committed suicide by hanging himself from a willow tree 300 feet from the county house. Schoepperel not appearing for dinner, a search was made and his body was found. The man at one time was fairly well-to-do, and on losing his money became despondent. When ordered committed to the county house Schoepperel declared that he would end his life.

Racine.-Tony Jarvowski, aged twenty-three years, employed as a farm hand north of this city, boarded a freight train on the air line of the Chicago & North-Western road intending to ride to Willows, four miles west of Racine, and there board a train for this city to visit relatives. While riding the bumper of a freight car Jarvowski was thrown to the track and the wheels of the car passed over both limbs. He died before he could be taken to a hospital

Janesville.-Rev. Dr. David Beaton formerly of Chicago and at present pastor of the First Congregational church of Janesville, who has been offered the presidency of Ripon college, said he will not accept it, but will remain in Janesville. CINCINNATI SECTION OF TWEN TIETH CENTURY LIMITED CRASHES INTO FREIGHT.

MISTAKE IN ORDERS CAUSE

Cars Are Telescoped and Hardly Person on Train Escapes Injury-Coach Filled With Women and Children Crushed by Engine.

Middletown, O .- Nineteen persons were killed outright and a score injured, 14 fatally, when the New York bound Big Four passenger train No. 21, the Cincinnati section of the Twentieth Century Limited, collided headon with a Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton freight train near here Mon- of 24 to 21. day afternoon.

The engines are a mass of ruins, the passenger coaches were telescoped, two partly telescoped, while the smoker went over the baggage car and landed in a cornfield.

The Big Four people had asked the right of way over the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton tracks because of a freight wreck at Sharon, O. ,and the train was bowling along at approximately fifty miles an hour. It is said that the engineers of two trains did not see each other's engine until too close for the accident. Orders had been given it was said for "clear track MANY DIE IN CLOUDBURST ROOSEVELT AND TAFT MEET for the Big Four train," which left Dayton ten minutes behind time about | Three Kentucky Counties Are Swept one o'clock and which was trying to

The massive engines rearing up like living things then are known to be dead, fifteen additioncrashed into and through the cars of al are reported as having died and both trains. At the same time Middleton and Dayton rushed assistance and the people of Middletown turned out almost en masse to render what assistance they could.

When the engines crashed one of the steel monsters crushed through the combination baggage and smoking car and day coach which was largely filled with women and children. It was some minutes before a move at rescue work could be started, as the crews as well as passengers were tossed about. When those too able towns lying directly on the Licking reached the upturned cars they found dead and injured persons lying near Within a few minutes 11 bodies had three days and the rivers and streams or pinned under the heavy wreckage. females, for the coach was what is known as the ladies' car reserved especially for the women and children.

While the dead were being removed willing hands were working with might and under distressing circumstances. The shrieks of injured, some of whom were dying, the din and shouting, the noise of escaping steam as it hissed from battered engines, made the affair most distressing.

The bodies of the dead were conveyed to the station at Hamilton and here the scenes were heartrending. Crowds of men and women thronged around the building, many in search of relatives or friends they knew were on the train.

The Twentieth Century train was in charge of Conductor Weaver. The freight in charge of Pilot Wald, had orders to meet the flyer at 1:07 at Coast Town. In advance of the regular engine of the flyer was a Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton pilot engine in charge of engineer, fireman and Conductor Lange. The Big Four train was in charge of Conductor Thomas Maloney. It is thought the fact that the Twentieth Century Limited was late was the main cause of the accident with having left Dayton ten minutes late the effort was being made to regain that lost time. The freight was on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton siding and it seems had orders for a clear track at 1:07 p. m. When that time arrived she pulled out on the main line but was scarcely under headway when the flyer flashed into view and crashed into it. There was practically no chance for either engineer to reverse levers before the crash came.

The dead: A. S. Garrigun, Columbus; Thomas Dunlevy and Wildman Dunlevy, brothers, Dayton; Richard Van Horn, Dayton; Charles W. Molten, Dayton; J. Smith Kirk, Dayton; H. A. RAILROADS GAIN A VICTORY

Commerce Commission Grant Permission to Advance Grain Rates East of Buffalo.

Washington.—Announcement was made by the interstate commerce commission Thursday that it will not suspend official classification 36, involving more than 6,000 items, which was filed to become effective July 1. This is regarded as a victory for the railroads. Permission was granted by the commission to railroads operating out of Buffalo to advance rates on flour and other wheat products one cent a hundred pounds to eastern destinations.

For nearly a month the commission has been overwhelmed with protests against the proposed new classification, many shippers seemed to believe that the rearrangement of freight classificatication would result in largely increased rates. The subject was considered carefully by the commission, a thorough and comprehensive check being prepared on the entire classification. In the items and ratings involved there are only fifty-eight changes, of which twenty-eight are reductions and thirty advances, the latter including twelve increases in carload weights.

MUCH PROFIT IN FATTENING

Nothing in Turkey Raising Pays Better-Better Results Obtained When Birds are Confined.

Nothing in turkey production pays better than thorough fattening and that for a number of reasons. First, more pounds are obtained, and that at a minimum cost. From four to six pounds may be easily added to the weight of a six months old bird, and these added pounds, being mostly fat. are more cheaply made than simple flesh and bone. Second, better prices are obtained. A plump, fat bird will bring more per pound than a thin, lean one, and is in better demand, so that there is a double gain. Third, it is more gratifying. There is always a pleasant satisfaction in offering for sale something first class in every respect-in knowing that one can and has produced something really good and worth while.

To fatten a lot of turkeys properly it is necessary to begin some time in advance of the market for which they are to be prepared, writes Mrs. Millie Honaker in Wisconsin Agriculturist. This is especially true of young turkeys, not yet fully developed. For these fattening is also a rapid finishing process which must round and fill them out and which takes considerable time. For such a month to six weeks is none too long to feed with a view to putting into best marketing condition.

Many turkey producers do not confine their flock during the fattening period, but better results may usually be obtained by doing so, especially towards the last. However, for young birds which are to be simply forced for a time previous to actual fattening it is not necessary at least to confine closely. Yet these will do much

Many flocks, if fed regularly from the first, will practically give up ranging on their own of the range resources of the national source of nourishment—the buds upon accord as soon as put on full feed, but forests, in order that the forests may which the cattle may browse while where they do not it is advisable to confine in some large, open lot, or yard, such as exists on most farms and self and of the forest growth, to the tures, meadows and growing crops be could be easily utilized for the purpose. However, for Secretary Wilson in the following pas- money crop than they have heretoyoung birds being prepared for the real fattening process, other things in tive Floyd of the Third Arkansas disconnection are advisable. Wheat bran trict: or shorts mixed with corn meal, or ordinary ground feed in which there is a large per cent of corn meal, wet up with warm milk or water is excellent. All kinds of boiled vegetables mashed up with corn meal or ground feed are also good. Barley and rye ground up with corn make an ideal ration for this stage. Care should be taken, however, not to feed too wet, or to feed too generously at first. Just wet what will be eaten up clean at once is about right. Whole grains of all kinds may be also fed, and are especially advisable at first. For the last better than coarsely ground corn meal variety's sake, a little shorts, a few hand. But whatever else is or is not follows: supplied an abundance of sharp grit should be, even when practically all the food is soft. Also plenty of fresh water should be constantly within easy reach.

Satisfaction in Thoroughbreds.

There is a fascination about breeding thoroughbred fowls that gives one satisfaction. When we see the results of our trouble we do not regret the care and attention which good poultry raising demands.

Those Leading From Farm to Railroad Station and to School House

Most Essential. (By HOWARD H. GROSS.)

We are constantly seeing exploited in the newspapers schemes of roadbuilding that ought to be condemned rather than favored. One wildly extravagant enthusiast urged the building of a boulevard 200 feet wide from New York to San Francisco; another a great macadamized highway, connecting all the state capitals. In Iowa at this writing there is a great deal of enthusiasm over a road from river to river, not a first-class permanent road, but earth roads improved as much as may be by dragging. A Lincoln memorial road has been proposed from Chicago to Springfield. The above are not the highways that the people need or the roads that should be built. Why should we tax ourselves to build a speedway from the Atlantic to the Pacific? Or who would want to travel from state capital to state capital over a highway? The roads that are needed, and the ones that we should address our efforts to get are those that lead from the an effective means of dealing with prejudicial burning of the woods and railway station to the farm home, over which the food products of the world pass to reach the market, the doctor to relieve the suffering, the children to go to school. These will in due course be connected up and give us a network of good roads throughout the land. These roads will increase property values, make country life better worth the living, add to our joys and diminish our sorrows, and help to make the farm home so attractive the boy and the girl will not be eager to leave it. It will make the township central school possible, whereby the boys and the girls can get a high school education and live at home. These considerations are fundamental and far-reaching, and well worthy our effort. The writer has no objection to automobiles nor does he question their right to use the highways; but the larger interest of the whole people is not best served Spotted Appearance of Wax-Podded Varieties.

Anthracnose is a bean disease of fungus origin and goes under a number of names, as rust, wilt, pod spot, etc. As there is a true rust and a wilt, caused by bacteria, the name pod spot or anthracnose is preferred

Practically all parts of the bean plant except the roots are subject to attack of the fungus. The most common indication of the presence of the disease is the occurrence of brown or black sunken areas on the stems, leaves and pods. They may also appear on the leaves and stems of the plant soon after it appears above ground and cause considerable losses through a reduction in the stand. On the older plants the attack is most serious on the larger veins of the leaves and the leaf may be wholly destroyed or its efficiency greatly re duced. From the stems and leaves the fungus spreads to the pods, and as many are rendered unsightly considerable direct loss is occasioned.

The presence of the fungus is often unnoticed until it appears upon the young pods. On these it produces small brown or rusty spots, which enlarge and darken until they become nearly black. The affected tissues of the pod dry, leaving sunken areas, in the centers of which may be seen small pink spots, masses of spores which rapidly spread the disease from plant to plant.

The spores by which the fungus is spread from plant to plant are very sticky when wet and are readily transferred on the hands, clothing or implements. On this account beans should never be cultivated or gathered while wet with dew or rain. If it is too much trouble to observe these precautions for the whole crop it could be done with little extra effort for a small plat on which to grow seed for future planting.

If the following recommendations are observed but little loss will result from anthracnose:

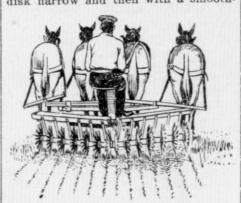

1. Plant seed free from disease. 2. Keep away from the plants while they are wet.

3. Remove and burn diseased plants as soon as they are observed.

PREPARING A GOOD SEED BED In Planting Many Small Grains

Ground Must Be Made Fine for Good Germination.

In planting alfalfa and many other grains the seed bed must be made fine enough to allow the particles of soil to come directly in contact with the seed. This work can be accomplished by an ordinary float or roller to compact the soil, followed by a disk harrow and then with a smooth-

Lightning Rods on the White House. The White House is going to have lightning rods. They will be put on some time this summer. The distinguished occupants of the mansion past and present have never been protected against Jupiter's bolts. The rods will be put on every part of the building, except the low offices where the president transacts his official business. Col. Spencer S. The cost will be between $500 and $600 .- Philadelphia North American.

There are many striking examples of the work which has been accomplished by rivers in deepening and widening their channels. We look upon the rise of mountain chains as being most majestic illustrations of the power of natural forces, but the fact is equally impressive that in many cases rivers which run across the line of mountain elevation are able to wear down their channels as fast as the mountains rise and thus maintain their ancient onward course. The Hudson river has thus sawed down a channel through the solid rocks which in ancient geologic times arose across its course at West Point and below, all that picturesque valley of the Hudson being a valley of erosion. The Delaware river has worn an even more striking gorge through the Blue Ridge at the Delaware Water Gap, where it cuts directly across the very hard strata of Medina sandstone constituting Blue Ridge, forming perpendicular walls on either side 1.000 feet. in height. Similar gorges are found in the Susquehanna and Potomac and many other rivers along the Appalachian chain just above where they emerge upon the surrounding lowland. We often speak of such rivers as "bursting" through their barrier. But there was no bursting in the operation. These gorges were cut by the slow process which we have described, the rivers lowering their channels gradually as the mountains slowly rose across them.
