DEATHS OF THE WEEK

William Koepke and Mrs. August Kuecker, Residents of the Town of Kewaskum Pass Away.

WILLIAM KOEPEKE
Mr. WILLIAM HERMAN FREDERICK KOEPEKE one of town Kewaskum's esteemed and best known citizens died at his home on last week Friday evening, Nov. 25, 1910 at 5:45 P. M. Deceased had only been sick 48 hours. Death was caused by kidney trouble. The sickness came on very sudden. Everything was done to save his life but to no avail.
Mr. Koepke was born in Germany on March 18, 1853, at the youthful age of 10 years he immigrated to this country with his parents, settling in the town of Kewaskum. When 12 years old he moved with his parents into the present homestead. On April 25, 1879 he was joined in wedlock to Miss Marie Henkel, who still survives. Their union was blessed with 15 children, 11 of which are still living, whose names are: Helen, Mrs. Nic Haug, of Eland, Wis., Henry, whereabouts unknown, Hulda, Albert, Herman, Adelia, Edmund, Virginia, Antoinette, Adeline, and Leander at home. Besides the above he also leaves one grand child, Miss Rosella Haug, one brother August of Kewaskum and two sisters, Mrs. R. Backhaus of Auburn and Mrs. J. Henkel of Milwaukee.

Mr. Koepke was a very kind and devoted husband and father, and his death creates a severe loss to his widow and children. He was quiet, but jolly in his ways, and those who knew him well vouch for his kindheartedness and generosity.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the house with interment in the Van Vechten cemetery. Rev. Schmidt of West Bend officiated. The bereaved widow and children have the heartfelt sympathy of this community.

Those from abroad who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. F. Seeman, Mr. and Mrs. G. Henkel, and son George, Mr. and Mrs. W. Henkel, Mrs. J. Henkel, Mrs. P. Kuss, Fred Henkel, Mrs. W. Heims and Chas. Blum, all from Milwaukee; L. Lesselyoung and son Joe, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lesselyoung, Mr. and Mrs. S. Lesselyoung, Mrs. E. Gehrke, and Mrs. F. Lesselyoung, all from Fond du Lac, and Nic. Haug and family of Eland, Wis.

CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to hereby thank our neighbors and friends for their kindness shown to us during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, William Koepke, and to the pall bearers, also to all those who attended the funeral.
Mrs. Wm. Koepke and children

MRS. HENRY KUECKER

Mrs. Augusta Kuecker, wife of Henry Kuecker, died at the home of her nephew, Chas. Meilahn last week Saturday, Nov. 26, 1910, after a two weeks illness with bronchitis.

Mrs. Kuecker was born in Coel-pin, Pommern, Germany on April 27, 1825. She was married to Henry Kuecker in the old country on Nov. 21, 1850. The latter still survives. About 1860 she and her husband immigrated to America settling at Milwaukee, later moving to Young America, Wis., and since June 1910 made her home with their nephew on a farm 2 miles east of the village. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 1 P. M. from the Ev. Luth. St. Lucas church with interment in the congregation's cemetery. Rev. F. Greve officiated. To the bereaved relatives we extend our sympathy.

Discuss Rural Schools and Free Text Books.

The consolidation of rural schools and the system of free text books are the subjects of a fine collection of material that has just been brought together by the University of Wisconsin through its extension division. The collection is intended to furnish debaters or others desiring information on these questions with reliable information, easily accessible and bearing directly on the subjects discussed. For convenience a handy booklet dealing with these questions has been prepared.

The booklet is divided into two sections, one devoted to the question of consolidation of rural schools and the other to that of free text-books. Each section is then sub-divided into three parts in which the general history of the questions, arguments for and against them, and very complete lists of references and sources of information are given.

Much difficulty was encountered in preparing the booklet because of the meagre amount of material to be obtained on the negative side of the questions. Advocates of consolidation of rural schools and free text books have printed their arguments at great length but the opponents seem to have been content to present their objections orally.

Watch for the Extra Edition.

Next week the STATESMAN will for the first time in its history come out with an extra edition. This edition will be a Xmas number and is a Xmas cover, the first page being a colored picture of Santa Claus together with numerous Xmas presents, the inside and back pages will contain advertisements of nearly all the business places of this village. It will pay you to read every letter in every advertisement.

NEW POSTAL REGULATIONS

Postmasters Receive Copy of New Register Mail Regulations.

Postmasters have received notice from the postmaster general at Washington to the effect that beginning Jan. 1 all registered packages and tag envelopes used in the dispatch of registered mail will be discontinued—whether in registered pouches, sacks or jackets, in iron locked or brass locked pouches, or as hand pieces.

Postmasters are notified to see that all registered mail is plainly written, marked with a rubber stamp, or have the word "Registered" written on them in bold letters and when possible in red ink. This indorsement, if practicable, shall be placed in the upper left hand portion of the address side of the registered article above the address.

The notice received from Washington by Postmasters states that all registered mail shall be inclosed in a pocket, pouch or sack addressed simply to the country, such as China, Japan, England.

Married.

KLUG-SCHULTZ

A very beautiful wedding took place last week Wednesday, Nov. 23rd, at the Lutheran church in the town of Scott, when Miss Clara Klug and Fred Schultz were married. The Rev. Kaniese tying the nuptial knot.

The bride wore a beautiful peach colored silk gown and carried a bouquet of yellow bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Alma Heise, as maid of honor, who wore a white silk gown and carried white roses. The bridesmaids were the Misses Lydia Backhaus, gowned in a white lawn dress and Miss Mabel Hintz gowned in blue atlas dress, and Miss Frances Beier, gowned in a cream color cashmere dress, all carried white and pink roses. The groom was attended by Edwin Klug as best man and Emil Schultz, Arthur Staeger and Walter Klug as groomsmen. The flower girls were the young couples' friends, Misses Adalia Hintz and Sylvia Staeger, each wore white silk dresses. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Klug, where a large reception was held with about 350 guests present.

Both of the contracting parties are well known in the town of Scott. They also have a large acquaintance in this community. Both are well liked and are noted for their charming manners. The young couple will make their home on the groom's 240 acre farm in the town of Mitchell. THE STATESMAN together with their many friends wish them good luck in their journey through married life.

BACKHAUS-RAMTHUM

The marriage of Miss Alma Backhaus to Otto Ramthum, both well known young residents of the town of Kewaskum were married last Saturday afternoon, November 26, 1910 at the Ev. Peace parsonage, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mohme.

The bride, who wore a dark blue serge suit, was attended by Miss Elsie Miller, who was dressed in white and pink. Ervin Koch acted as best man.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where the occasion was celebrated in an elaborate manner. The house was beautifully decorated with white, pink and blue, cut flowers and smilax. Dancing and playing games were indulged in until a late hour the next morning.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Backhaus Sr. She is well known to our readers. She is a young lady of charming ways.

The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ramthum. He is an industrious young man. The young couple will go to housekeeping on the groom's father's farm about 1 1/2 miles east of here on the St. Michaels road. We wish the young couple an abundance of happiness in their married life.

Farmers' Institute January 26 27.

In last week's issue we mentioned that the Farmers' Institute will be held in this village in the near future, since then we are in receipt of a letter from George Mc Kerrow, Supt. of the college of agriculture, Department of Farmer's Institutes of the University of Wisconsin, stating that the dates affixed for the institute at Kewaskum are January 26 and 27, 1911. Same will be held in Groeschel's hall. W. F. Stiles will conduct the institute.

There will also be an institute at South Germantown, this county, on February 9 and 10.

Badly Defeated.

The proposed Amendments to increase the salary of Members of the Legislature from $500 to $1000 was defeated by a vote of 3 to 1. The people are burdened with taxes, and want to have expenses reduced rather than increased, consequently the result. They would also like to see the business of legislative sessions cut down from six months to that of two months as in days of yore.

Both were read and laid over

OBSERVE THE POSTAL RULES

Postal Clerk Makes Suggestions About Christmas Mail.

WRITE THE ADDRESSES CAREFULLY.

Fred C. Breister, secretary of the Fond du Lac postal clerks has prepared an outline of suggestions to the public in regard to mailing letters, etc., during the coming holiday season. Every year post office clerks are greatly handicapped because patrons of the mails write improper addresses, etc. and the following suggestions prepared by Mr. Breister if carried out will insure prompt delivery and better service to the public.

In writing the addresses, give street and number, box number, or rural route, city and state. Many pieces of mail are not delivered for want of street address, and every day letters find their way to the Dead Letter office because the city or state has been omitted. Write with ink, addresses written with a pencil become so blurred that they cannot be made out at times, and are always difficult to read by artificial light.

Affix stamp firmly to upper right hand corner. Placing it anywhere else may cause delay to the article. The name of the sender should appear on the upper left hand corner, then the mail will be returned if for any reason it cannot be delivered.

Wrap every article securely, so it will withstand rough handling, for the sacks are crammed with parcels of all descriptions, and are thrown from the wagon to the car and often from the car while the train is in motion.

Cards bearing tinsel etc., are unavailable, except in tightly sealed envelopes. Despite the fact that this ruling is several years in force and that both our daily papers have printed notices to that effect, these cards are still mailed either in open envelopes, or without any and must be sent to the dead letter office.

If these rules are strictly adhered to the post office can handle the mail with much more speed and accuracy, and the public will get the benefit.

To Improve Asylum.

Two new additions will be built to the Washington county insane asylum next spring at a cost of $20,000. Plans are now being drawn by Architect J. E. Hennen of Fond du Lac. The county has decided to erect a new poorhouse at the cost of $25,000, but it has not yet decided whether to build on the present poor farm in the town of Jackson or on the asylum farm in West Bend. The state board of control wants the new building to be erected near a railroad station, and the majority of the members of the county board of supervisors are in favor of having it built at West Bend, and then have both institutions under one management.

The death of eight aviators in the past month proves aviation a costly sport.

A voluminous petition was filed by United States District Attorney Henry A. Wise. Before the bill finally was completed it had the approval of Attorney General Wickersham.

The petition, to which as yet no answer has been made by the sugar company, alleges that the trust has employed the usual means of all such large industrial combinations in stifling competition, by purchasing a controlling interest in competing concerns where that method proves necessary and by crushing out other concerns by underselling in their territory. To accomplish the latter result the petition refers to the systematic rebating arrangement the trust for years maintained with the railroads.

One of the most sensational allegations is that the late Henry O. Havemeyer, for many years head of the sugar combine, received $10,000,000 in common stock of the National Sugar Refining company of New Jersey as a gift at the time that corporation was formed to take into the combine four independent companies—the National Sugar Refining company, run by B. H. Howells, Son and Company; the New York Sugar Refining company of Long Island City, operated by Claus Bosher; the Mollen Havre Sugar Refining company of Brooklyn, and the W. J. McCabe Sugar Refining company of Philadelphia. Up to 1900 these companies were independent and it is claimed the American company was determined to acquire them.

Under a plan inaugurated by Havemeyer, John E. Parsons and James H. Post, the National company was organized and took over the four plants. When the new stock was ready for distribution, the petition sets forth, Post delivered to Havemeyer the entire issue of 100,000 shares with a par value of $10,000,000. The petition asks that the Havemeyer executors, who are named among the defendants, be enjoined from voting this stock. It is the government's contention that these shares were issued contrary to law and in violation of the company's charter.

In general the petition sets up that the defendants "for some time past have been and are now engaged in an unlawful combination and conspiracy to restrain the trade and commerce between the several states and with foreign countries in raw sugar, sugar beets, refined sugar, molasses, sirups and other by-products of raw sugar and sugar beets, and to monopolize the same. Such unlawful combination and conspiracy is the result of a series of wrongful acts extending over a period of many years. In participating in these acts all of the defendants have been actuated by wrongful intent to restrain interstate and foreign trade in raw and refined sugar and related articles and to monopolize parts thereof."

The petition then prays for a perpetual injunction against the parties and corporations named from continuing the evils practised. It furthermore asserts in effect that within the American Sugar Refining company there are two other trusts—the National Sugar Refining company of New Jersey and the Western Sugar Refining company of California—and that each of these be enjoined from engaging in interstate and foreign commerce.

Another allegation is that the trust has obtained unfair advantages over competitors through the customs frauds by receiving rebates from railroads and keeping up the prices of sugar.

U. S. FIGHT TO CRUSH AMERICAN COMPANY STARTS WITH DISSOLUTION SUIT.

H. O. HAVEMEYER IS ACCUSED

Late Head of Sugar Corporation Said to Have Pocketed $10,000,000—Executors Made Defendants—Government Files Petition.

New York.—Attacking the American Sugar Refining company, familiarly known as the sugar trust, as a lawless combination, the federal government Monday began in the United States circuit court its long-expected suit for the dissolution of the corporation.

A voluminous petition was filed by United States District Attorney Henry A. Wise. Before the bill finally was completed it had the approval of Attorney General Wickersham.

The petition, to which as yet no answer has been made by the sugar company, alleges that the trust has employed the usual means of all such large industrial combinations in stifling competition, by purchasing a controlling interest in competing concerns where that method proves necessary and by crushing out other concerns by underselling in their territory. CORPORATION TAX RUNS HIGH

262,490 CONCERNS MAKE RETURNS UNDER NEW LAW.

Total Amount Collected First Year Totals $27,000,000, Averaging $103.97 Per Company.

Washington.—The sweeping importance of President Taft's order for the publicity of corporation tax returns is emphasized by the figures contained in the annual report of Royal C. Cabell, commissioner of internal revenue. According to this report, the books of his office show that these returns have been filed by 262,490 corporations chartered by the various states.

The total capital is $52,471,626,752. The interest bearing indebtedness of those corporations is $31,333,952,896.82; net income for the year which the tax ran, $3,125,481,101.04.

The tax collected for the first year was $27,290,767.43. This is an average of $103.97 per corporation.

In the state of Illinois there are 17,908 corporations; aggregate capital, $31,191,058,968.74; total indebtedness, $3,032,803,126.87; net income, $274,321,933.85.

The average indebtedness of corporations in the whole country is 60 per cent of the whole capitalization. In the state of Illinois average is 94 per cent.

According to the report Illinois stands first in internal revenue taxes. The total it pays being $49,165,273.75. New York is next with $36,000,000 in round numbers; Kentucky, $32,000,000 and Indiana, $28,000,000. There were twenty-four million more gallons of distilled spirits this year than last year, and three million more barrels of fermented liquor than last year.

The total receipts of the bureau for the past year were $289,957,220.16.

BOMB WRECKS FIVE STORES

Thousands of Tenement Dwellers in New York in Peril by Black Hand Outrage.

New York.—The most densely populated block in New York city, a solid square of tenements in Elizabeth street in the heart of the east side of Sicilian colony, was Tuesday the scene of a Black Hand bomb explosion which wrecked five stories and smashed 500 tenement house windows.

Francesco Le Barbera, owner of the saloon where the bomb was exploded, gave the police his theory of the animus behind the outrage. About five years ago, he said, his son, Pietro, six years old, was kidnapped and he has never heard from him. Lieutenant Petrosino worked on that case. Le Barbera received many letters threatening his life if a large sum of money was not paid for the return of the boy, but paid no attention to them.

The kidnapping case originating five years ago, in which Lieutenant Petrosino, who was murdered in Italy, played the part of investigator, is believed to have led indirectly to the bomb explosion.

IRISH POLITICS ARE BITTER

Ulster Delegation Defy Dublin Parliament and Will Refuse to Obey Its Decrees.

London.—The political situation in Ireland is growing more bitter daily. Resolutions were adopted by delegates representing every constituency in Ulster to formulate a solemn pledge to pay no tax imposed by any Dublin parliament and obey none of its decrees. A fund of $50,000 was also raised for the purchase of arms. Men were appointed to form regiments, and many speakers advocated an armed resistance if home rule should be forced on Ulster.

ILLINOIS CENSUS 5,638,591

Government Figures Show Chicago Has More Than Half of the Increase.

Washington.—Illinois has a population of 5,638,591, according to the 1910 census figures, announced here Monday. Cook county contains 2,465,232. This is an increase of 817,041, or 16.9 per cent, over 4,821,850 in 1900. The increase from 1890 to 1900 was 995,199, or 26 per cent. Cook county is one of those showing the largest increases. Many rural counties lost in population.

Shakeup for Secret Police. Washington.—The secret police system of the customs service, which extends over the United States and Europe, is to be reorganized.

Secretary MacVeagh has designated John E. Wilkie, chief of the United States secret service, to undertake the job. The two organizations, however, will remain separate and distinct. Instructions to Chief Wilkie are to bring the customs agents up to the same standard as has been established in the organization which detects counterfeiters and protects the life of the president.

University President Dies. Wooster, O.—Dr. Sylvester F. Scovel, president of the American branch of the International Peace society, died here Tuesday of pneumonia. For 20 years he was president of Wooster university.

300 Lives Lost in Storm. Astrakhan, Russia.—Three hundred Persian dock workers lost their lives Tuesday when a landing stage on which they were working was swept out to sea by a sudden tempest in the Caspian sea.

White House Calf Dead. Washington.—Big Bill, Pauline Wayne's aristocratic young calf, died Monday. The end came suddenly at the White House stables from brain fever.

THIS MODERN AGE

TAFT URGES KNIFE

INFORMS CABINET OFFICERS THEY MUST CUT THEIR ESTIMATES.

ASKS FOR GREATER ECONOMY

It is Planned to Reduce Expenses So That They Will Measure Up With Actual Necessities of Government Service.

Washington.—President Taft Tuesday informed his cabinet officers, after scrutinizing the final draft of the estimates of the various departments for the next fiscal year, that there must be a further and deeper cut in them.

To give effect to his orders, the president had the chiefs of departments before him and the rather extraordinary picture was presented of the head of the nation delving into figures and asking the whys and wherefores of routine expenditures which ordinarily the president is not supposed to know anything about.

Economy is to be the watchword of the forthcoming message. The cabinet chiefs were informed that in cutting down their estimates by $40,000,000 last year they did good work; but that better still must be done this year. The plan is to cut down expenses so that they will measure up accurately with the actual necessities of the government service. In addition to the members of the cabinet, Chairman Alexander of the house, rivers and harbors committee, and General Bixby, chief of the engineers of the army, were called in and told of the plans of the president for retrenchment and reform.

Speaker Cannon and Representative Mann of Chicago were at the White House for more than an hour in consultation with the president, who had a general talk with them on the outlook for legislation in the short session. The outlook for any material accomplishments in this line grows darker every day.

SAILORS WIN THEIR DEMANDS

Brazilian Congress Grants Amnesty and New Concessions to Rebelious Tars and Revolt Ends.

Rio Janeiro.—The mutiny among the sailors of the Brazilian navy was ended Friday.

Congress, meeting in extraordinary session, voted to concede every demand of the ultimatum presented by the sailors, including general amnesty for the men who, after murdering as many of their superior officers as was necessary to place them in complete control, trained the guns of the warships on the capital.

What effect the outcome will have eventually on the discipline in the navy is a matter of some concern. The immediate effect is to give the sailors increased pay, shorter hours of service and less work, through the recruiting of additions to the crews, and to abolish corporal punishment in the fleet.

During the debate in congress the mutinous vessels put to sea and disappeared. Their destination is unknown.

Following the action of congress the city resumed its normal activities and the public excitement subsided.

There is no attempt to give a political color to the revolt.

Back Broken; Lives 32 Hours. Kewanee, Ill.—His back broken in two places and his head nearly scalped, Charles Holt, a miner buried under a fall of rock in a local coal mine here, lived 32 hours before death released him from his suffering Monday.

PARLIAMENT IS DISSOLVED

KING'S SPEECH MAKES ONLY BRIEF REFERENCE TO CRISIS.

Expresses Belief That Good Will of U. S. Will Be Increased by Fisheries Settlement.

London.—With the dissolution of parliament all formalities preliminary to the election of a new parliament were completed. The proclamation of dissolution summoned the new parliament to assemble on January 31, 1911.

There was a beggarly array of nearly empty benches when Black Rod summoned the house of commons to the house of peers. Winston Churchill, the home secretary, was the only minister present.

Lord Loreburn, the lord high chancellor, read the speech of the king. It was brief. In referring to the constitutional crisis his majesty said that he regretted that the conference between the leaders of the opposing parties had failed of an agreement over the reformation of the upper house.

Following an allusion to the death of his father, King Edward VII, the king referred to the recent arbitration of the Newfoundland fisheries dispute with the United States, as follows:

"I confidently hope the questions connected with the North Atlantic fisheries between Canada and Newfoundland on the one hand and with the United States of America on the other, which have been the subject of controversy for nearly a century, have been at last finally settled by the award at The Hague tribunal.

"It is the cause of special satisfaction that it has been found possible to solve by arbitration problems of such an intricate and difficult nature, and the award has been received by both sides in a spirit which must tend to increase good will."

REBELS HOLD UP A TRAIN

Cars Ditched, Three Women Killed—Passengers Held Prisoners 24 Hours, but Well Treated.

Torreón, Mexico.—Americans arriving here Tuesday from points in the state of Chihuahua tell of the holding up a few days ago of a passenger train on the Chihuahua & Pacific railroad by revolutionists. Cars were ditched and three Mexican women were killed. There were said to be about 100 revolutionists in the party and the train was wrecked in the belief that it carried soldiers. The affair occurred between Chihuahua and Madera. The passengers were held prisoners by the revolutionists for 24 hours, but were well treated. Upon extorting a promise from the railroad officials not to send a train of soldiers, the passengers were released and were taken back to Chihuahua in a special which went out after them.

INDICT JAMES J. GALLAGHER

Assault of Mayor Gaynor is Held on Charge of Assault With Intent to Kill.

Jersey City, N. J.—The Hudson county grand jury Tuesday handed up to Judge Blair of the court of common pleas three indictments against James J. Gallagher, the assailant of Mayor Gaynor. Two of the indictments charge atrocious assault with intent to kill Mr. Gaynor and Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards, and the other the carrying of a concealed weapon.

Kills Self, Owing to Debt. Hastings, Neb.—Will M. Reed, for nearly 17 years a stock dealer, committed suicide Tuesday by shooting. A few years ago he was worth $50,000, but recently suffered heavy losses. A letter to his brother recounted that he was in debt.

Hill's Estate Only $50,000. New York.—It was learned here Tuesday that the estate of the late David B. Hill, state Democratic leader for many years, does not amount to over $50,000.

IMAGE OF STRANGE RAINBOW

Visible for the First Time in Many Years on Snow-Covered Mountains.

For the first time in many years the image of a rainbow was seen during the month of July on the snow covering the southeast side of Mount Jacinto, California.

The Cahilla Indians have a tradition that as a remote period they were connected with the Aztecs, who believed in the white god. At one time that spirit threatened vengeance on the race for an offense, the nature of which the legend does not clearly explain.

He rose from the earth until his head, decorated with a crown of brilliantly colored feathers, shone from behind the mountain, and told the people that he would at his own time bring destruction upon their descendants.

The rainbow is his plumage, and when he permits the wind to blow the feathers of his crown against the mountain and stain the snow, his anger is very great.

The vast arch of many colors was this year visible for several weeks, and the Indians were unusually delighted over the sight, having heard of a volcanic eruption in Mexico; but, as the snow line receded, the image became smaller, and it has now entirely disappeared.

The spectacle presents itself very seldom, and it has never yet been seen by trained scientific observers, but the opinion of learned men who have heard it described is that a meeting of several currents of wind during a storm places the snow in drifts at such angles as to give beholders from below the view of a rainbow.

Once or twice, white men who saw it thought that they might find the fabled pot of gold, and so climbed up the mountain to where the spectre rainbow lay. But, when they got there, they found nothing but the white snow, while far above was the rainbow, its bright colors undimmed, curving gradually toward the peak.

To Bed to Cure.

The old Vienna doctor whom King Edward last visited complains that he was an obstreperous and unmanageable patient; that he could not be kept abed. Now, this was only another way of confessing that the last and best treatment that the medical profession knows could not be used in the case of the king. In other words, the vaunted medical profession, with all its latter day science, could do no more than an old grandmother and housewife, and put the king to bed and give him a little broth of whey, says a writer in the New York Mail. Few people realize that for most diseases the bed and it alone is the greatest, surest, quickest cure the world and ages of science have yet discovered or bestowed. People as a rule look upon going to bed for sickness as a necessary and unavoidable consequence of sickness instead of looking upon it as they should, as being the very first and greatest part of the cure of the case.

Black Eyes at Eton.

In proposing "The Imperial Forces" at the annual venison dinner at Windsor, Mr. R. A. Basanquet, an old Etonian, said they wanted every boy in England to be able to defend himself and practise the noble art of self-defense. He had a black eye in his day, and he did not see half enough black eyes at Eton.—London Telegraph.

Debatable.

A certain debating society is discussing the question as to which is the angrier, the husband who goes home and finds that the dinner is not ready, or the wife who has dinner ready and whose husband does not come home? It is believed that the debate will end in a draw.

Good Counterpart.

"Clothes don't make the man," quoted the wise guy.

"No, but they make a dangerous imitation," added the simple mug.

SYNOPSIS.

Lawrence Blakeley, lawyer, goes to Pittsburg with the forged notes in the Bronson case to get the deposition of John Gilmore, millionaire. In the latter's home he is attracted by a picture of a young girl, whom the millionaire explains as his granddaughter. A lady requests Blakeley to buy her a Pullman ticket. He gives her lower eleven and retains lower ten. He finds a drunken man in lower ten and retires in lower nine. He awakens in lower seven and finds his clothes and bag missing. The man in lower ten is found murdered. Circumstantial evidence points to both Blakeley and the unknown man who had exchanged clothes with him. Blakeley becomes interested in a girl in blue. The train is wrecked. Blakeley is rescued from the burning car by the girl in blue. His arm is broken. They go to the Carter place for breakfast. The girl proves to be Allison West, his partner's sweetheart. Her peculiar actions mystify the lawyer. She drops her gold bag and Blakeley puts it in his pocket. Blakeley returns home. He finds that he is under surveillance. Moving pictures of the train taken just before the wreck reveal to Blakeley a man leaping from the train with his stolen grip. Blakeley learns that a man named Sullivan leaped from the train near M— and sprained his ankle. He stayed some time at the Carter place. While making inquiries at Carter's, Blakeley finds Al— woman for whom Blakeley bought the Pullman ticket, tries to make a bargain with him for the forged notes, not knowing that they are missing.

CHAPTER XXI.

McKnight's Theory. I confess I was staggered. The people at the surrounding tables, after glancing curiously in my direction, looked away again.

I got my hat and went out in a very uncomfortable frame of mind. That she would inform the police at once of what she knew I never doubted, unless possibly she would give a day or two's grace in the hope that I would change my mind.

I reviewed the situation as I waited for a car. Two passed me going in the opposite direction and on the first one I saw Bronson, his hat over his eyes, his arms folded, looking moodily ahead. Was it imagination? or was the small man huddled in the corner of the rear seat Hotchkiss?

As the car rolled on I found myself smiling. The alert little man was for all the world like a terrier, ever on the scent, and scouring about in every direction.

I found McKnight at the incubator, with his coat off, working with enthusiasm and a manicure file over the horn of his auto.

"It's the worst horn I ever ran across," he groaned, without looking up, as I came in. "The blankety-blank thing won't blow."

He punched it savagely, finally eliciting a faint throaty croak.

"Sounds like croup," I suggested. "My sister-in-law uses camphor and goose grease for it; or how about a spice poultice?"

But McKnight never sees any jokes but his own. He flung the horn clattering into a corner and collapsed sulkily into a chair.

"Now," I said, "if you're through manuevering that horn, I'll tell you about my talk with the lady in black."

"What's wrong?" asked McKnight, languidly. "Police watching her, too?"

"Not exactly. The fact is, Rich, there's the mischief to pay."

Stogie came in, bringing a few additions to our comfort. When he went out I told my story.

"You must remember," I said, "that I had seen this woman before the morning of the wreck. She was buying her Pullman ticket when I did. Then the next morning, when the murder was discovered, she grew hysterical and I gave her some whisky. The third and last time I saw her, until tonight, was when she crouched beside the road, after the wreck."

McKnight slid down in his chair until his weight rested on the small of his back and put his feet on the big reading table.

"It's rather a facer," he said. "It's really too good a situation for a commonplace lawyer. It ought to be dramatized. You can't agree, of course; and by refusing you run the chance of jail, at least, and of having Allison brought into publicity, which is out of the question. You say she was at the Pullman window when you were?"

"Yes; I bought her ticket for her. Gave her lower eleven."

"And you took ten?"

"Lower ten."

McKnight straightened up and looked at me.

"Then she thought you were in lower ten?"

"I suppose she did, if she thought at all."

"But listen, man," McKnight was growing excited. "What do you figure out of this? The Conway woman knows you have taken the notes to Pittsburg. The probabilities are that she follows you there, on the chance of an opportunity to get them, either for Bronson or herself."

"Nothing doing during the trip over or during the day in Pittsburg; but she learns the number of your berth as you buy it at the Pullman ticket office in Pittsburg and she thinks she sees her chance. No one could have foreseen that that drunken fellow would have crawled into your berth."

"Now, I figure it out this way: She wanted those notes desperately—does still—not for Bronson, but to hold over his head for some purpose. In the night, when everything is quiet, she slips behind the curtains of lower ten, where the man's breathing shows he is asleep. Didn't you say he snored?" "He did," I affirmed. "But I tell you—"

"Now keep still and listen. She gropes cautiously around in the darkness, finally discovering the wallet under the pillow. Can't you see it yourself?"

He was leaning forward, excitedly, and I could almost see the gressome tragedy he was depicting.

"She draws out the wallet. Then, perhaps she remembers the alligator bag and on the possibility that the notes are there, instead of in the pocketbook, she gropes around for it. Suddenly, the man awakes and clutches at the nearest object, perhaps her neck chain, which breaks."

"It is all in silence; the man is still stupidly drunk. But he holds her in a tight grip. Then the tragedy. She must get away; in a minute the car will be aroused. Such a woman, on such an errand, does not go without some sort of a weapon, in this case a dagger, which, unlike a revolver, is noiseless."

"With a quick thrust—she's a big woman and a bold one—she strikes. Possibly Hotchkiss is right about the left-hand blow. Harrington may have held her right hand, or perhaps she held the dirk in her left hand as she groped with her right. Then, as the man falls back and his grasp relaxes, she straightens and attempts to get away. The swaying of the car throws her almost into your berth, and, trembling with terror, she crouches behind the curtains of lower ten until everything is still. Then she goes noiselessly back to her berth."

I nodded.

"It seems to fit partly, at least," I said. "In the morning when she found that the crime had been not only fruitless, but that she had searched the wrong berth and killed the wrong man; when she saw me emerge, unhurt, just as she was bracing herself for the discovery of my dead body, then she went into hysterics. You remember, I gave her some whisky."

"But, like the Sullivan theory, there are one or two things that don't agree with the rest. For one thing, how did the remainder of that chain get into Allison West's possession?"

"She may have picked it up on the floor."

"We'll admit that," I said; "and I'm sure I hope so. Then how did the murdered man's pocketbook get into the sealskin bag? And the dirk, how account for that, and the blood stains?"

"Now what's the use," asked McKnight aggrievedly, "of my building up beautiful theories for you to pull down? We'll take it to Hotchkiss. Maybe he can tell from the blood stains if the murderer's finger nails were square or pointed."

"Hotchkiss is no fool," I said warmly. "Under all his theories there's a good, hard layer of common sense. And we must remember, Rich, that neither of our theories includes the woman at Doctor Van Kirk's hospital, that the charming picture you have just drawn does not account for Allison West's connection with the case, or for the bits of telegram in the Sullivan fellow's pajamas pocket. You are like the man who put the clock together; you've got half of the works left over."

"Oh, go home," said McKnight, disgustedly. "I'm no Edgar Allan Poe. What's the use of coming here and asking me things if you're so particular?"

With one of his quick changes of mood he picked up his guitar. "Listen to this," he said. "It is a Hawaiian song about a fat lady, oh, ignorant one! and how she fell off her mule."

But for all the lightness of the words, the voice that followed me down the stairs was anything but cheery.

There was a Kanaka in Balu did dwell, Who had for his daughter a monstrous fat girl—

he sang in a clear tenor. I paused on the lower floor and listened. He had stopped singing as abruptly as he had begun.

CHAPTER XXII.

At the Boarding House.

I had not been home for 36 hours, since the morning of the preceding day. Johnson was not in sight and I let myself in quietly with my latch-key. It was almost midnight and I had hardly settled myself in the library when the bell rang and I was surprised to find Hotchkiss, much out of breath, in the vestibule.

"Why, come in, Mr. Hotchkiss," I said. "I thought you were going home to go to bed."

"So I was, so I was." He dropped into a chair beside my reading lamp and mopped his face. "And here it is almost midnight and I'm wider awake than ever. I've seen Sullivan, Mr. Blakeley."

"You have?"

"I have," he said, impressively. "You were following Bronson at eight o'clock. Was that when it happened?"

"Something of the sort. When I left you at the door of the restaurant I turned and almost ran into a plain-clothes man from the central office. I know him pretty well; once or twice he has taken me with him on interesting bits of work. He knows my hobby."

"You know him, too, probably. It was the man Arnold, the detective whom the state's attorney has had watching Bronson."

Johnson being otherwise occupied, I had asked for Arnold myself.

I nodded.

"Well, he stopped me at once; said he'd been on the fellow's tracks since early morning and had had no time for luncheon. Bronson, it seems, isn't eating much these days. I at once jotted down the fact, because it argued that he was being bothered by the man with the notes."

"It might point to other things," I suggested. "Indigestion, you know." Hotchkiss ignored me. "Well, Arnold had some reason for thinking that Bronson would try to give him the slip that night, so he asked me to stay around the private entrance there while he ran across the street and get something to eat. It seemed a fair presumption that, as he had gone there with a lady they would dine leisurely and Arnold would have plenty of time to get back."

"What about your own dinner?" I asked, curiously.

"Sir," he said, pompously, "I have given you a wrong estimate of Wilson Budd Hotchkiss if you think that a question of dinner would even obtrude itself on his mind at such a time as this."

He was a frail little man and tonight he looked pale with heat and over-exertion.

"Did you have any luncheon?" I asked.

He was somewhat embarrassed at that. "I—really, Mr. Blakeley, the events of the day were so engrossing—" "Well," I said, "I'm not going to see you drop on the floor from exhaustion. Just wait a minute."

I went back to the pantry, only to be confronted with rows of locked doors and empty dishes. Downstairs, in the basement kitchen, however, I found two unattractive looking cold chops, some dry bread and a piece of cake, wrapped in a napkin, and from its surreptitious and generally hand-god appearance destined for the coachman in the stable at the rear. Trays there were none—everything but the chairs and tables seemed under lock and key and there was neither napkin, knife nor fork to be found.

The luncheon was not attractive in appearance, but Hotchkiss ate his cold chops and gnawed at his crusts as though he had been famished, while he told his story.

"I had been there only a few minutes," he said, with a chop in one hand and the cake in the other, "when Bronson rushed out and cut across the street. He's a tall man, Mr. Blakeley, and I had hard work keeping close. It was a relief when he jumped on a passing car, although being well behind, it was a hard run for me to catch him. He had left the lady."

"Once on the car, we simply rode from one end of the line to the other and back again. I suppose he was passing the time, for he looked at his watch now and then and when I did once get a look at his face it made me—er—uncomfortable. He could have crushed me like a fly, sir."

I had brought Mr. Hotchkiss a glass of wine and he was looking better. He stopped to finish it, declining with a wave of his hand to have it refilled, and continued:

"About nine o'clock or a little later he got off somewhere near Washington circle. He went along one of the residence streets there, turned to his left a square or two, and rang a bell. He had been admitted when I got there, but I guessed from the appearance of the place that it was a boarding house."

"I waited a few minutes and rang the bell. When a maid answered it, I asked for Mr. Sullivan. Of course there was no Mr. Sullivan there."

"I said I was sorry; that the man I was looking for was a new boarder. She was sure there was no such boarder in the house; the only new arrival was a man on the third floor—she thought his name was Stuart."

"My friend has a cousin by that name," I said. "I'll go up and see."

"She wanted to show me up, but I said it was unnecessary. So after telling me it was the bedroom and sitting-room on the third floor front, I went up."

"I met a couple of men on the stairs, but neither of them paid any attention to me. A boarding house is the easiest place in the world to enter."

"They're not always so easy to leave," I put in, to his evident irritation.

"When I got to the third story I took out a bunch of keys and posted myself by a door near the ones the girl had indicated. I could hear voices in one of the front rooms, but could not understand what they said."

"There was no violent dispute, but a steady hum. Then Bronson jerked the door open. If he had stepped into the hall he would have seen me fitting a key into the door before me. But he spoke before he came out."

"You're acting like a maniac," he said. "You know I can get those things some way; I'm not going to threaten you. It isn't necessary. You know me."

"It would be no use," the other man said. "I tell you I haven't seen the notes for ten days."

"But you will," Bronson said, savagely. "You're standing in your own way, that's all. If you're holding out expecting me to raise my figure you're making a mistake. It's my last offer."

"I couldn't take it if it was for a million," said the man inside the room. "I'd do it, I expect, if I could. The best of us have our price."

"Bronson slammed the door then and flung past me down the hall."

"After a couple of minutes I knocked at the door and a tall man about your size, Mr. Blakeley, opened it. He was very blond, with a smooth face and blue eyes—what I think you would call a handsome man."

"I beg your pardon for disturbing you," I said. "Can you tell me which is Mr. Johnson's room? Mr. Francis Johnson?"

"I cannot say," he answered, civilly. "I've only been here a few days."

"I thanked him and left, but I had had a good look at him and I think I'd know him readily any place."

OUR MIGRANT BIRDS

Emigrants of the Air That Go on Annual Itineraries.

Alaskan Hawk, Which Makes Prodigious Journeys from Top to Bottom of the Hemisphere—The Mysterious Chimney Swift.

Chicago.—No theory yet advanced by ornithologists accounts for the migration of birds. Why does the Alaskan hawk quit his home in the Arctic regions and journey with such mighty toil through the torrid zone to reach the Antarctic ice fields, only to return in a little while over the same route to the starting point, spending his whole life in the repetition of these prodigious but apparently useless journeys back and forth from one end of the earth to the other. We know more about the forces at play in the solar system than we know about the impulses of the migrant bird; we know more Halley's comet than we know of the forces that impel the flight of the Alaskan hawk or the golden plover.

The golden plover is one of the most remarkable travelers in the bird kingdom. The plover passes northward in May to its breeding site around the north pole. The eggs are laid on a cake of ice in June and six weeks later the old bird and the chicks start south. They loiter along slowly until they reach Labrador, where they make a stand for some weeks feasting on crow berries and becoming very fat. Suddenly all the plovers in Labrador rise as by signal and make for the sea. The route is now over the broad Atlantic 400 miles from land, southward to the Bermudas, over the Gulf, through Venezuela and Brazil, across the entire continent of South America to far off Patagonia. The journey completed the weary, emaciated travelers rest for two weeks before starting upon the return trip. The long and terrific voyage over the sea is exhaustive to the last degree. But the plover lives ten or even twenty years, moving perpetually, and in the course of a lifetime may travel 200,000 miles; a record which few species can equal. Nature has made the bird the greatest traveler in the universe.

The chimney swift, perhaps the most numerous of bird species and the most universally distributed over the earth, goes south from our latitude in September and for some weeks swifts are plentiful over the Gulf states, where they congregate seemingly for some great purpose. They are seen there by the millions and millions. Suddenly they all disappear and no mortal man knows whither they go. The winter destination of the chimney swift has ever been one of the most perplexing puzzles of ornithology. Some of the old authorities surmised that these mysterious birds retreated into the soft mud at the bottom of ponds, lakes and streams. Later authorities say they disappear upward. The swift reappears as mysteriously as he disappears. Hawks and vultures collect in the upper air and when a large congregation has assembled they move off silently and majestically at a great altitude and we see them no more until next spring, when they return one at a time, without any parade or spectacular performance. Many kinds of birds skulk and hide for days before leaving for the south and then they leave at night.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING REDUCED

Much has been said about the high cost of living, its causes, and the possibilities of its reduction. But little has been said about the most costly leak; the false economy existing today in nearly every household.

Much foodstuffs are bought with but one point in view: "How cheap can I get it" without a thought of quality or "after cost." One of the most serious is baking powder.

By the use of perfect baking powder the housewife can derive as much economy as from any other article used in baking and cooking. In selecting the baking powder, therefore, care should be exercised to purchase one that retains its original strength and always remains the same, thus making the food sweet and wholesome and producing sufficient leavening gas to make the baking light.

Very little of this leavening gas is produced by the cheap baking powders, making it necessary to use double the quantity ordinarily required to secure good results.

You cannot experiment every time you make a cake or biscuit, or test the strength of your baking powder to find out how much of it you should use; yet with most baking powders you should do this for they are put together so carelessly they are never uniform, the quality and strength varying with each can purchased.

Calumet Baking Powder is made of chemically pure ingredients of tested strength. Experienced chemists put it up. The proportions of the different materials remain always the same. Sealed in air-tight cans, Calumet Baking Powder does not alter in strength and is not affected by atmospheric changes.

In using Calumet you are bound to have uniform bread, cake or biscuits, as Calumet does not contain any cheap, useless or adulterating ingredients so commonly used to increase the weight. Further, it produces pure, wholesome food, and is a baking powder of rare merit; therefore, is recommended by leading physicians and chemists. It complies with all pure food laws, both STATE and NATIONAL. The goods are moderate in price, and any lady purchasing Calumet from her grocer, if not satisfied with it, can return it and have her money refunded.

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED. For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills. Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me. I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman."

"I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOHN F. MOLDAN, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

One Dose for Coughs

Children cough at night? Give them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Often a single dose at bedtime will completely control the cough. Good for any one with a cold or cough. Good for easy cases, hard cases; good for acute cases, chronic cases. Ask your doctor to tell you, honestly and frankly, just what he thinks of this old standard remedy. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J.C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

A lazy liver makes a lazy boy. An active brain demands an active liver. No better laxative for boys and girls than Ayer's Pills. Ask your doctor about them. He knows.

Obituary.

Mrs. Barthol Serwe, nee Martha Mc Laughlin, aged 31 years, 8 months and 19 days, died at her home at New Cassel Thursday morning, after a year's illness with consumption.

Deceased was born in this village on March 12, 1879. She was married to Barthol Serwe of Ashford on January 26, 1909, soon after their marriage they went to housekeeping at New Cassel, where her husband has charge of a saloon. Their union was blessed with one child.

Mrs. Serwe was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Mc Laughlin of this village. Besides her parents, husband and child, she leaves to mourn her loss, two brothers and two sisters, viz: Philip and Rosa of this village, John of Wausau and Mrs. Maggie Woerly of Nodaway, Iowa.

Mrs. Serwe was always a kind-hearted woman, her death will be felt by her many friends and relatives. She was also well known in this community. The funeral will be held to-day, Saturday, at 10 A. M. from the St. Bridgets church with interment in the adjoining cemetery. Rev. Ph. Vogt officiating. The STATESMAN extends to the bereaved relatives its sincere sympathy. May she rest in peace.

Thunder Storm in November.

A thunder storm, real lightning, vivid and intense with sharp cannon like volleys of thunder followed by a heavy rain was the unusual feature of last week Saturday in this community. A thunder storm for this time of the year is a rare occurrence, probably in localities further south a thunder storm within four weeks or even on Christmas day would be no surprise. The rain started early in the evening and continued during the night and most all day Sunday, towards Sunday evening, the temperature dropped and the rain turned to snow and for a few hours the flakes fell rapidly. As a result of the decrease in the temperature the streets were covered with ice Monday morning and traffic was dangerous.

Hold Family Reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bath of the town of Kewaskum celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their wedding on Thanksgiving, with a large number of friends and relatives in attendance. A reunion of the family was held, all members of the family being present. An elegant Thanksgiving supper was served at 6 o'clock, after which dancing and playing games were indulged in until a late hour. The evening was one which will long be remembered not only by them but by their many friends as well.

The STATESMAN wishes Mr. and Mrs. Bath the happiness of many more wedded years.

Curfew Ordinance Needed.

What would be better than a curfew ordinance in this village? It certainly is a shame to see children roam around the streets after dark, and who knows in what mischief they are. Of late a practice has been made by the youngsters by attending charivari gatherings. Can this not be stopped? If the parents do not give it their attention, why does not our Honorable Board of Trustees pass a curfew ordinance.

Basket Ball Season to Open Soon.

The basketball baskets were placed in Groeschel's hall this week and practice is being resumed by the High School and city girls team. Prospects for both teams being strong are very promising. The season will open on Friday, December 16th, when the Oakfield Highs come to this village for a game with the local Highs.

—Now is the season when the women go to the stores and tell the clerk, "I just came in to see what you had," and then proceed to paw over everything in the store.

—One of the bad things about having to attend college or university is that there is always a football team to be worried about this time of the year.

SCHOLARSHIPS WON BY LAWRENCE

RESULTS OF CONTESTS IN ENGLISH, LATIN AND MATHEMATICS ANNOUNCED.

PRIZES CONSIST OF CASH

Alfred M. Uplegger and the Misses Ethel A. Dicke, Bertha M. and Elsie Kopplin Declared Winners.

Appleton.—The freshmen scholarships, awarded to members of the freshman class at Lawrence college after competitive examinations in English, Latin and mathematics, were announced this week as follows:

Norman Brokaw Scholarship—To Miss Ethel Adeline Dicke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Dicke, Black River Falls. Miss Dicke was born in Black River Falls and was graduated from the high school in that city in 1908, being valedictorian of her class. In 1907 she took first place in the Eau Claire league declamatory contest in Augusta, Wis. During the summer of 1909 she attended the Black River Falls Normal school and secured the highest average. During the two years since her graduation from high school she taught in the rural schools of Jackson county.

John McNaughton Scholarship—To Miss Bertha May Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Morse, Tomahawk. Miss Morse was educated in the James G. Blaine Grammar school and the Lake View High school, Chicago, and in the Tomahawk High school, graduating from the latter in 1908 as salutatorian of her class. Since then she has taught in the country schools in Lincoln county.

Lawrence Scholarship—To Miss Elsie Kopplin, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. A. Kopplin, Fond du Lac. Miss Kopplin was born in Almond, Wis., but the greater part of her life was spent in Appleton. She was educated in the public schools of this city and was graduated from the Appleton High school in 1908, valedictorian of her class. The last two years she taught school in the west.

Herman E. Saecker Scholarship—To Alfred Martin Uplegger, son of the Rev. and Mrs. F. Uplegger, Greenville, Wis. Mr. Uplegger was born in Shawano county and received his early education in Herrmansfort. Later his parents returned to Germany, and in 1903-4 he studied at Friedrich Wilhelm gymnasium in Hamburg, and later at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. From 1907 to 1910 he was a student in the Lawrence academy, from which he was graduated last year in the last class to be graduated from the institution, that department of the local institution having been abolished.

The scholarships are worth $100 each and all students regularly matriculated in the colleges as freshmen, without entrance condition, and enrolled as members of the classes in English, mathematics and Latin, are eligible to participate in the competition. The successful candidates, however, must continue to be acceptable in character and demeanor and to maintain their high class standings throughout the year under penalty of forfeiting their scholarships.

NORMAL DORMITORY OPENED

State Provides Quarters for Women Students Unable to Find Rooming Places.

Superior.—The new dormitory at the Superior Normal school has been formally opened. Students at the school have been rooming at the dormitory for some days past, but owing to the fact that some of the furnishings had been delayed, it has not been possible to use it to its fullest extent.

The dormitory is the first of its kind to be erected in connection with a Wisconsin normal school, and the success or failure of the venture here will determine to a large extent whether dormitories shall be built for other schools.

The building and its furnishings have cost the state $65,000. It is built to accommodate seventy-five girls. Meals for twenty-five students besides the regular occupants can be furnished in the dining room. The dormitory will be in charge of a matron and six maids under the supervision of Miss Grace Geary, a member of the school faculty.

At one end of the living room is a large fireplace and along the sides are numerous long window seats. There is a small gymnasium or playroom, also a hospital room, isolated from other parts of the building.

The erection of the dormitory was found necessary on account of the difficulty experienced by the students in securing rooming and boarding places.

Demand Single Fare.

Neenah.—The state railroad commission is taking testimony on the petition filed by the city for a 5 cent interchangeable fare and transfer on the two local electric lines, the Wisconsin Electric Railway company and the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company. Thirty witnesses were examined. The commission will render a decision some time this month. Under the present plan 5 cents is charged on both lines for rides within the city limits, when a passenger rides on both lines.

HAS ELEVEN GRANDPARENTS

17-Month-Old Lois Huntington, Platteville, Fortunate in Number of Parental Relatives.

Platteville.—Little Miss Lois Huntington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Huntington of this city, is especially fortunate in her number of living grandparents.

Her mother's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Alcott, with her father's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Huntington, come first in line.

Cyrus Huntington's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Huntington, are both living, and Mrs. Fanny Bonson, Mrs. Cyrus Huntington's mother, completes the list on the paternal side, making a great-grandfather and two great-grandmothers, all of whom are here.

On the mother's side in addition to the immediate grandparents are Mr. Alcott's mother and father, who live in Arthur, Wis., Mrs. Alcott's mother, Mrs. Sophia Sorensen, living in Dakota, and her mother's mother, Mrs. Mary Jensen, 90 years old, lives in England. This gives little Miss Huntington's list, great-grandfather, two great-grandmothers and a great-great-grandmother. There are eleven grandparents who claim their relationship to this little miss of 17 months.

CUMBERLAND MAN CAPTAIN

Martin Olson, Captain of the Philippine Constabulary of the Province of Carlac.

Cumberland.—Capt. Martin Olson, who returned to the Philippine islands recently, has had an eventful military career. Born in Norway thirty years ago, he accompanied his parents to this country at the age of 8 years. His father worked in the woods here and later located on a homestead near Cumberland, and Martin received his education in the district log schoolhouse near his father's homestead. When volunteers were called for the Spanish-American war, Mr. Olson enlisted at Superior and accompanied his company to Cuba, where he served until the close of the war. Upon his return he was stationed at Fort Snelling until the Leech Lake Indian uprising, when he was called into active service again and remained until the redskins were subdued. Immediately after the close of this conflict he was sent to the Philippines, where his military training, his attention to his duties won for him the position of captain of the Philippine constabulary of the province of Carlac. He was given a six months' furlough last spring to visit his home here.

MINISTER IN FIRST CHARGE

The Rev. H. A. Fleur Installed in Friedens Church, Stevens Point, by His Father.

Stevens Point.—The Rev. H. A. Fleur was recently installed pastor of Friedens church, this city, by his father, the Rev. J. Henry Fleur, pastor of Friedens Evangelical church, Milwaukee.

The Rev. H. A. Fleur is a graduate of Elmhurst college, Elmhurst, Ill., and Eden Theological seminary, St. Louis, Mo., and was ordained to the ministry July 3 last at Milwaukee by the Rev. J. H. Fleur.

He was sent here during the latter part of July to take temporary charge of the Friedens congregation, intending to enter the Chicago university this fall to take a post-graduate course.

Yielding, however, to the unanimous vote of the congregation and the urgent request of the president of the Wisconsin district that he remain and take permanent charge of the congregation, he decided to postpone his post-graduate course.

Services at the church will be conducted in both English and German.

MACHINE IS DEMOLISHED

F. B. Mitchell, Victim, Clings to Car in Van Effort to Save Car From Destruction.

Appleton.—Tumbling in his automobile seventy-five feet down a precipitous and rocky incline and landing finally in a tree, Dr. F. B. Mitchell of Appleton escaped death at High Cliff on the east shore of Lake Winnebago recently. He had been called to Clifton on professional business. The night was extremely dark and the doctor, in turning his machine to start down the 150 foot hill, failed to see the edge of the precipice, and the rear wheels of the car rolled over the edge.

The machine plunged ten feet to the roadway leading down the cliff. Mitchell lost control of the car and it rolled down the steep incline nearly a hundred feet, when it hit a large tree and stopped. Mitchell clung to the machine and escaped without a scratch. The machine was demolished.

A Double Wedding.

Dundas.—A double wedding took place at the Beach home here when Miss Phoebe Beach became the bride of Dr. Bronhorst, Hortonville, and Miss Grace Beach of Chester Prince, Missouri. The Rev. H. J. Burton, Racine, performed the ceremony.

Birthmark Operated on Fatal.

Beloit.—Winifred Baker is dead as the result of the removal of a birthmark about three years ago. From the time the mark was cut away Baker's health failed gradually. He was 26 years old.

"BACK TO THE SOIL" WITH AID OF STATE

POLITICAL SCIENCE EXPERTS AND LABOR COMMISSIONER PLAN MOVEMENT.

MUCH UNOCCUPIED LAND

Appropriations May Be Asked of Legislature to Make Settlement of Country Easy. Population Drifting to Cities.

Madison.—How to induce people to "get back to the soil" was the subject of a conference held with State Labor Commissioner J. D. Beck and representatives of Wisconsin railroads and Wisconsin labor interests present.

Reports show population is drifting to the cities at the expense of the country districts. There is much unoccupied farming land in the state, according to the authorities, and it was agreed that it is essential to the welfare of the state that this land be worked and made to produce real wealth.

The plan of holding land fairs was suggested as a solution of the problem. State aid in making it easy for settlers to take up land was proposed and the railroad representatives gave assurance that they would do all in their power to help the movement.

Assemblyman Fred Brockhausen of Milwaukee, representing the state Federation of Labor; Prof. R. T. Ely and Prof. J. R. Commons of the political science department of the university, and Dean H. L. Russell of the college of agriculture were present and gave suggestions.

The outcome of the conference is likely to be that the legislature will be asked to appropriate money to help settlers make homes in the country.

WEDS FORMER SWEETHEART

Man Who Was to Become Her Husband Fails to Appear for the Ceremony.

Marinette.—Because the groom to be did not show up for the ceremony, Miss Mary Louise Gardner took as husband one of the guests invited to her wedding. The ceremony was performed in the presence of friends bidden to the other marriage.

The substitute bridegroom was Karl Johnson, Sycamore, Ill., a boyhood sweetheart of Miss Gardner, who comes from the same city. The man who lost a bride is a Marinette resident.

Justice of the Peace Van Denberg, Menominee's famous marrying justice, was secured to tie the knot. When the time set for the ceremony drew near the groom to be failed to appear at the hall. The bride to be waited impatiently. Half an hour, then an hour passed, but no groom came. Friends were sent scouting for him, but they could not find him and returned to the hall to find an exceedingly agitated young woman and Johnson trying his best to pacify her.

"Well," said Justice Van Denberg, "I guess they'll not need me." And he turned to leave the hall.

"Stick around awhile longer. There still may be something doing," said Johnson, heading off the justice at the door.

Then taking Miss Gardner into a corner Johnson offered to change her name to Mrs. Johnson. She accepted his proposal, a new license was hurriedly secured and in less than half an hour Johnson had become the husband of his former sweetheart.

AFTER DEER IN AN AUTO

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Bennett, Chicago Introduce Modern Ideas of Hunting Methods.

Eagle River.—Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Bennett, Chicago, are the exponents of a decidedly modern method of hunting deer.

In their "hunting auto" they drove from Chicago to Eagle River in four days. Another day was required to get to Buckatoban lake, where they are following the trails of the denizens of the wild.

Two tires blew up on the trip, one between Rhineland and another just before reaching Buckatoban lake.

The machine carries a complete outfit for the hunting season. There are tents, cooking outfit, bedding, provisions, ammunition, guns—for both Mr. and Mrs. Bennett are ardent hunters—camera, axes, spades and other equipment necessary.

The party is prepared for deep snow, and carries tire chains, rope and pulleys.

So far as is known this is the first time any one ever went deer hunting in an automobile. It is an innovation planned by the Chicago Hunters' club, and the Bennetts are the first to try it out. They will report to the club and others may try the same scheme next fall. Mr. Bennett wishes to get two deer, and these will be taken to Chicago in the machine.

Racine Establishes County School.

Racine.—A school of agriculture and domestic science will be established in the village of Rochester. The county board appropriated $2,000 for the establishment of the school, and it is expected that the state will appropriate $4,000 in accordance with an act of the last legislature. The majority of the members of the board are in favor of appropriating an amount of money for the establishment with Kenosha county of a joint tuberculosis sanatorium midway between Racine and Kenosha on the lake shore.

CHOSEN FROM THIRTY-THREE

Albert C. Shong, Principal of Superior High School Called to Milwaukee.

Milwaukee.—Albert C. Shong, principal of the Superior High school, has been chosen principal of W. Division High school to succeed Charles E. McLennan, who assumed his new duties as public librarian.

The new principal was selected from a list of thirty-three men available. The selection was made without much delay after it was agreed that an outside man would be preferred to local candidates. The salary is $3,000.

The new principal is rated as one of the best men in his profession in the state by the state high school inspector, and it is understood that this estimation of the candidates was taken into consideration. He will assume his new duties as soon as he can arrange to leave his present post.

Mr. Shong is between 35 and 40 years of age and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin with the class of '98. He has been connected with educational work in Superior and Hancock, Mich.

WISCONSIN NEXT TO HARVARD

University Strong According to the New "Biographical Dictionary of Men of Science."

Madison.—That the University of Wisconsin has made the greatest gains in the strength of its faculty in the science departments of any American university during the last four years is shown by statistics compiled by Prof. J. McK. Cattell of Cornell from the new "Biographical Dictionary of Men of Science."

Wisconsin has gained 22 per cent, while Chicago has gained 18 per cent and Illinois 16. The University of Wisconsin has had twelve of its teachers of science added to the names of the new scientific directory, and has had none of its professors taken out of the directory. It thus makes the best showing of any American university.

Next to Harvard, the University of Wisconsin has the distinction of having the largest per cent of increase in the number of professors who rank among the first thousand of the most distinguished scientists. Wisconsin has gained 12 per cent during the last four years in this respect, while Harvard has gained 13 per cent and Yale 11.5 per cent.

BODY FOUND NEAR CAMP

Cullen Purple, Hibbing Mining Engineer, Is Shot in Some Unknown Way.

La Crosse.—The body of Cullen Purple, aged 29, a young mining engineer, was found a short distance from the party's deer hunting camp near Chisholm, Minn., where he had gone to spend Thanksgiving.

Whether he was killed by a hunter who mistook him for a deer or was murdered is not known. It is not definitely known that he had any enemies, but a man in his position would be likely to engender the animosity of some in the discharge of his duties.

Purple was the son of Ellis Purple, a prominent resident of Galesville, Wis.

"He was a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, class of '05. He was prominent as a student, being an officer in the university band. He was a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

Racine News Notes.

Racine.—The Rev. Stephen Trant, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church here for almost forty years, lies at St. Mark's hospital in a critical condition, the result of injuries sustained by falling down a stairway in the church. He was found unconscious and with a deep gash in his head.

Managers of three Racine theaters were arrested on complaint of Deputy State Factory Inspector David Evans, charged with violating a state law which prohibits the employing of boys under 16 years old.

Racine Establishes County School.

Racine.—A school of agriculture and domestic science will be established in the village of Rochester. The county board appropriated $2,000 for the establishment of the school, and it is expected that the state will appropriate $4,000 in accordance with an act of the last legislature. How a Severe Case of Kidney Trouble Was Finally Conquered.

Byron Bennette, 1018 St. Clair Ave., East Liverpool, O., says: "Six months I was helpless in bed with kidney trouble. Kidney secretions were painful, my head ached terribly and my body bloated. I ran down until I weighed but 80 pounds and everyone thought I had consumption. A specialist gave me up and so did my home physician. Surprising as it may seem, I was able to leave my bed after using six boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and for six years I have remained free from kidney trouble. I confidently believe Doan's Kidney Pills saved my life."

UNKIND JOLT FROM ADAM

As if Eve Hadn't Sorrow Enough, Her Partner Had to Add to the Affliction.

Adam had just received his notice of ejection.

He stared at it a long time in silence, while Eve, crouched in a dusky corner, softly whimpered.

Presently the father of mankind looked around.

As Eve caught his angry eye her whimper changed to a gulping sob.

"Well," he sternly said, "you've certainly put us in a fine mess with your silly curiosity! And yet when I refused to have anything to do with your apple scheme you called me a poor fool. Do you remember that you called me a poor fool?"

"Ye-es," sobbed Eve.

"Well, there's but one question I want to ask you?" said Adam.

"What is it?" gasped the first mother.

"Who's looney now?" he harshly demanded.

Then he turned away abruptly and started to pick up the family gourds and the tent poles.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

END STOMACH TROUBLE NOW

Dyspepsia, Gas, Sourness or Indigestion Go Five Minutes After Taking a Little Diapepsin.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating, and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

A large case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only fifty cents at any drug store here in town, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at your drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out-of-order Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort, all of any kind of food you eat.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure any chronic case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Gastritis or any other Stomach trouble.

Should you at this moment be suffering from Indigestion, Gas, Sourness or any stomach disorder, you can surely get relief within five minutes.

Different.

"That man wouldn't touch a cent that didn't belong to him."

"I know," replied Mr. Dustin Tax.

"But how about giving him a chance at $10,000?"

Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Sore Throat will not live under the same roof with Halibut Wizard Oil, the best of all remedies for the relief of all pain.

The Kitchen Cabinet

WHAT do you BELIEVE that economy does not mean spending a small amount, but in getting the largest return for the money expended.

The Winter Berry.

The rosy winter berry is now in abundance in our markets. There are many attractive ways of serving them. For the plain stewed cranberry, wash them and cut once in half, adding a pint of water to a quart of berries. When about half cooked add two cupsfuls of sugar and finish cooking.

Spiced cranberries are nice served with game, and are prepared as any fruit for spicing. Prepare a quart of the berries and a half cup of water. In a small bag tie a dozen cloves, 12 allspice, two sticks of cinnamon and several blades of mace. Put the bag into the cranberries and water and stew all together until the fruit is well broken. Remove the spice bag, run the berries through a colander, add two cups of sugar (brown), stir until dissolved and set away to get cold.

Cranberry Pudding.—Pour boiling water on one pint of bread crumbs; melt one tablespoonful of butter and add to the crumbs. Add two well-beaten eggs, one pint of stewed cranberries and sweeten to taste. Bake in a buttered dish until firm. Serve with an egg sauce, which is made by beating one egg until light. Add a half cup of sugar and a cup of hot milk; flavor with lemon or vanilla.

Cranberry and Apple Pie.—Peel, core and slice five large cooking apples, put a layer in the bottom of the pie plate, sprinkle with sugar and put in a layer of cranberries, then more apples and berries until the dish is full. Moisten with water, cover with a rich crust, brush over with the beaten white of an egg. Bake the pie for an hour in a moderate oven.

Cranberry Dumplings.—Bake a paste of half a pound of chopped suet rubbed into a pound of flour; add a teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a teaspoonful of sugar and sufficient water to make paste to roll out. Line a buttered baking dish with it, fill with uncooked cranberries well sweetened, cover with a crust, cover with buttered paper and steam gently for two hours.

Cranberry Tart.—To one quart of berries add a pint of sugar and a pint of water; simmer gently until soft. Put through a colander and turn out to become cold. Line a pie plate with puff paste, fill with the cranberries and lay strips of paste across the top. Bake in a hot oven.

That's a makin' the sun shine every

Ways of Serving Game.

A prairie chicken is especially good roasted with a dusting of sage besides the salt and pepper.

Ducks are sometimes stuffed with apples pared and cored and cut in quarters. Others like three small onions used for stuffing. Neither of these are to be served with the ducks, but are favorite stuffing. Another favorite stuffing is a bunch of celery. Bake 20 minutes in a very hot oven, basting every five minutes with the fat in the pan. Remove the string and skewers before taking to the table. Serve with orange or olive sauce. Currant jelly should accompany a duck course.

Tough ducks are steamed an hour and then braised. To braise, try out two slices of fat salt pork, remove the scraps and cut in cubes, one-half of a sliced onion, two sprigs of parsley, one bay leaf, then cook ten minutes; add two tablespoonfuls of butter, and fry the duck, turning often until the surface is well browned. Place on a trivet in a pan, pour over the fat and add two cups of boiling water or soup or stock. Cover and bake in slow oven until tender, basting often and adding more water if needed.

To broil a quail, allow ten minutes for cooking. Serve on slices of lemon. Currant jelly should accompany this course.

Larded Grouse.—Clean and, if tough, remove the skin covering the breast. Lard the breast with slices of salt pork and insert two lardoons in each leg. Lay on a trivet in a shallow pan, rub with salt and melted butter, dredge with flour and surround with the trimmings of the fat. Bake twenty to thirty minutes in a hot oven, basting three times around. Arrange on a platter and pour around bread sauce, sprinkle the bird and sauce with coarse bread crumbs. Garnish with parsley.

Bread Sauce.—Cook two cups of milk with half a cup of fine bread crumbs and an onion stuck with six cloves, 30 minutes. Remove the onion, add a half teaspoonful of salt, a few grains of cayenne and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Use a tablespoonful of butter on the crumbs that have been browned and are sprinkled over the grouse.

Roast quail are baked the same as larded grouse. Plover is broiled or roasted the same as quail.

Nellie Maxwell

Smart Turbans

BY JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

THE influence of Oriental ideas is more evident in our millinery styles than for many a year. The dressier turbans for evening wear appear to be pieces of rich fabric draped about the head and fastened with gorgeous looking ornaments of metal and jewels. Gold and silver tissue and jeweled bands are used in these.

For day wear turbans made on larger frames show crowns in handsome fabrics, such as heavy brocades, tapestries and gold or silver tissues. Tinsel nets are draped over silk nets or lace. Nothing is more popular for the brims or "coronets" than bands of fur. This is, in fact, the furthest of seasons. Fur bands appear about the bottoms of handsome gowns for street or visiting and on the finest of fabrics for evening wear. Lace hats with collars of rich fur and hats of all descriptions share with the gowns the smart touch of fur.

For less expensive millinery the turban of velvet is the most effective that can be chosen. In order to get best results, a good quality of plain velvet is selected or one of the "panne" velvets in good colorings. The latter are a little less expensive than good quality in plain velvets.

Fancy feathers and wings are chosen for their decoration.

It takes about a yard and a half of velvet to make a turban. Rows of parallel shirrings confine the velvet to the frame, which may be either of wire or of buckram. A soft crown should be supported by a lining of crinoline.

Fabric hats are much in evidence. Silks, satins, velvets, brocades, tapers, figured ribbons and colors of various descriptions, all are cast in the play for winter millinery, but velvet holds away in the star part.

BARGAINS IN CHEAP STUFF

Few Deft Touches Will Frequently Give Garment an Entirely Different Appearance.

Often you will see real bargains in frocks and blouses on the ready-made counter. Do not give one look at the cheap lace or trimming, or at the way the seams are finished, and throw it back. Buy your bargain, take it home and redeem, and regenerate it.

Cheap lace can be replaced by good; dainty tulle or net frills can take the place of cheap ruffles; seams can be restitched and courses can be restitched and worked by hand. If the material and the cut justify your buying the garment at all, you can give it an individual touch that will raise the value of your bargain 75 per cent.

And even where there is nothing noticeably cheap or common about the garment, try to give those little extra touches; then you will be in no danger of meeting your new gown on another woman at the next street corner.

USEFUL DRESSING JACKET.

Of cream flannel, finished at the edges with blanket stitch in old rose silk, and threaded with satin ribbon in same shade. This is a very easy pattern for the home dressmaker.

Improving a Blouse.

The most economical and satisfactory way of obtaining a hand-embroidered shirtwaist is to purchase a ready-made waist with machine embroidered design and work over the embroidery by hand, thus saving stitching, padding and making the waist. A blouse embroidered in this way will deceive the most expert needlewoman.

TWO PRETTY HOLIDAY GIFTS

Slipper Case or Sewing Bag Both a Welcome and Serviceable Present.

A slipper case and a sewing bag are delightful holiday gifts, which are easily made and very useful to the receiver. They may be made from any strain pieces of bright-colored silk, linen, chintz, satin, denim or, in fact, any material of that kind; or, if desired, the slipper case may be developed in pink-flowered cretonne bound with dark-green braid.

The loosely gathered sewing bag has an outside flap, which contains the needle book, and a pretty fancy is to embroider the owner's initials on the outside of the flap. Fancy brass rings are sewed to the upper edge, through which is run the ribbon which regulates the fullness about the top, and is used to hang it up by.

The slipper case, which is divided into compartments and stiffened by means of cardboard interlining, requires seven-eighths yard of material 22 inches wide or five-eighths yard 26 inches wide; either with 2 1/4 yards of tape to bind and two hangers. The sewing bag needs 1 1/2 yards 22 or more inches wide, with 2 1/2 yards of broad and seven rings.

Chenille Caps.

Parisian women have taken with enthusiasm to the new knitted caps of chenille, mostly in red and other bright colors, very flat and untrimmed. These are warm, light and pretty, and will be much worn this winter for skating, etc., and as traveling caps. The idea originated with a little girl who sold dolls' caps of this sort at the Paris fairs.

Men Like Simplicity of Fare.

How many well-meaning housewives make the mistake in their over-zealous hospitality to furnish men guests with elaborate dishes, when simple, well-prepared foods would please the men so much more! Any hostess who will bear this fact in mind will not only save trouble, expense and time, but will also please her masculine guests to a greater extent.

Sash for Slender Figure.

The slender woman who cannot wear the too narrow girdle should try the sash with the "pump" or obi bow, worn in front, its folds arranged in perfectly flat loops and the whole of stiff, wide ribbon. The effect is most becoming and very easy to wear, besides extremely fashionable.

To Save Trouble.

From garments that have been laid aside, cut the strip containing the buttonholes, leaving enough material to turn under. Use this strip as a "fit" to new garments, thereby saving both time and labor.

SIMPLY A WASTE OF MONEY

Old Sexton Had His Time Mapped Out, and There Was No Need of a Clock.

There had been some talk of placing a clock in the tower of the village church. But John, the old sexton, who lived in the little cottage opposite the church, declared himself "dead agin it," and expressed the opinion that it would mean "an awful waste o' brass" were the scheme carried out.

"We want no clocks," he said the other day. "We've done without clocks up to now, an' we shall manage. I can see the time by the mornin' I can see the time by the mornin' over the porch."

"Yes," replied one who approved of the scheme, "that's all right so far as it goes. But the sun doesn't shine every morning. What do you do then?"

"Why," answered John, surprisedly, "I know't how it ain't fit weather to be out o' bed, an' I just stops where I is."—Tit-Bits.

Some One Must Do It.

J. Pierpont Morgan, at one of the sumptuous dinners that he gave in Cincinnati during the recent church congress, praised the power of advertising.

Mr. Morgan's eulogy concluded with an epigram quite good and quite true enough to be pasted in every businessman's hat.

"If a dealer," he said, "does not advertise his wares, it is ten to one that the sheriff will do it for him."

BABY'S SCALP CRUSTED

"Our little daughter, when three months old, began to break out on the head and we had the best doctors to treat her, but they did not do her any good. They said she had eczema. Her scalp was a solid scale all over. The burning and itching was so severe that she could not rest, day or night. We had about given up all hopes when we read of the Cuticura Remedies. We at once got a tube of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and followed directions carefully. After the first dose of the Cuticura Resolvent, we used the Cuticura Soap freely and applied the Cuticura Ointment. Then she began to improve rapidly and in two weeks the scale came off her head and her new hair began to grow. In a very short time she was well. She is now sixteen years of age and a picture of health. We used the Cuticura Remedies about five weeks, regularly, and then we could not tell she had been affected by the disease. We found no other treatment after we used out what the Cuticura Remedies would do for her. J. Fish and Ella M. Fish, Mt. Vernon, Ky., Oct. 12, 1909."

AS REPRESENTED.

Doctor—Well, don't you call that a remarkable appetite?

NEWSPAPERS TAKING IT UP

Metropolitan Dailies Giving Advice How to Check Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble.

This is a simple home recipe now being made known in all the larger cities through the newspapers. It is intended to check the many cases of Rheumatism and dread kidney trouble which have made so many cripples, invalids and weaklings of some of our brightest and strongest people.

The druggists everywhere, even in the smallest communities, have been notified to supply themselves with the ingredients, and the sufferer will have no trouble to obtain them. The prescription is as follows: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce, and Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle. The dose is one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Recent experiments in hospital cases prove this simple mixture effective in Rheumatism. Because of its positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, it compels these most vital organs to filter from the blood and system the waste impurities and uric acid which are the cause of rheumatism. It cleanses the kidneys, strengthens them and removes quickly such symptoms as backache, blood disorders, bladder weakness, frequent urination, painful scalding and discolored urine. It acts as a gentle, thorough regulator to the entire kidney structure.

Those who suffer and are accustomed to purchase a bottle of medicine should not let a little inconvenience interfere with making this up, or have your druggist do it for you.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to throw off lingering food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—It pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English, or Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, cloth-bound, sent for $1.00 per cent, to cover cost of wrapping and mailing only. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Something New In Kitchen Ware

The "1892" Pure Spun Aluminum Ware is rapidly coming into use for cooking purposes. It is taking the place of agate and enamel ware because while its first cost is a trifle more than ordinary ware, it is really much cheaper in the long run, as it is guaranteed for twenty-five years and will last practically a life time.

The genuine "1892" Ware, made only from pure SPUN (not cast) Aluminum, will not crack, scale, peel, break, scorch or burn.

It looks like silver but weighs only about one-quarter as much, is easily cleaned and handled, and will not rust, corrode or tarnish. Absolutely pure, non-poisonous and wholesome; saves money, time and doctor's bills.

Be sure you get the original and genuine ware stamped with the Maltese Cross. At your dealer's.

WHY EVERYONE SHOULD BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

Farmers as Well as City People Should Support the Fight Against Tuberculosis.

"No matter what the individual belief may be concerning the transmissibility of bovine tuberculosis to human beings, there is no excuse for not supporting the work of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association and the sale of Christmas seals, by which the association is supported," says a bulletin issued by the association at the beginning of the Christmas seal campaign on Nov. 28th. It is pointed out that farmers as well as city people should buy Christmas seals to create funds for further work against the disease. "There are so many sources of preventable infection from man to man that the association is not warranted in spending its time in disputes on mooted questions," the bulletin continues. "With thousands of men, women and children dying and more thousands of homes being desolated by the disease, what right have we to stop and argue over ways and means?"

"God knows there is enough to do to save those already afflicted and to care for those who will get the disease within their families, to call for all the fighting ability being trained against the enemy. "When every consumptive is well housed, under proper care of physicians and nurses, when innocent children are no longer in danger of being diseased by careless spitting, unclean homes, and other evils due to ignorance, then perhaps we can afford civil war. "Now there is a foreign invasion Every Christmas seal sold at a penny each is a bullet in the fight. If you are not asked to buy, ask someone to sell you some at one cent each."

At the Alhambra Theatre.

A notable event in the theatrical history of Milwaukee will be the Shakespearean and Classical Festival to be offered at the Alhambra during the week of Dec. 5th by Mr. Mantell, who is universally agreed to be the foremost exponent of the standard drama in America. The repertoire for the engagement offers the widest possible variety in the field in which Mr. Mantell is such a conspicuous figure, and ranges from the comedy of "The Merchant of Venice," to the most impressive and stupendous tragedies in the English language. The following is the complete repertoire. Monday evening, "Macbeth." Tuesday evening, "Hamlet." Wednesday afternoon, "Merchant of Venice." Wednesday evening, "Otello." Thursday evening, "Richeieu." Friday evening, "King Lear." Saturday afternoon, "Romeo and Juliet." Saturday evening, "Richard III."

Under the direction of Wm. A. Brady, the production for each of these performances has been provided with every possible accessory in the way of scenery and costumes, and the most captious critics will find no reason to complain at the perfection of which these immortal plays are presented to the public. It is an encouraging commentary on the present condition of the public mind, in spite of the hue and cry that had been raised concerning the degradation of the stage, that the Mantell performances are invariably greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience, and that last season while many theatrical enterprises were failing for lack of support, Mr. Mantell and his distinguished company enjoyed the most prosperous period within their experience.

The sale of seats will open on Thursday, December 1st at nine o'clock A. M.

THE USE OF BEER

Advanced temperance advocates are very much inclined to take the conservative, common-sense view regarding the use of beer. It is now conceded by many of these that beer, used in moderation, is an aid to temperance, in that it displaces the injurious, highly intoxicating drinks.

Promotes strength and vigor, gives zest to a meal, aids digestion, adds to the enjoyment of eating and animates the spirits. It is mild and healthful.

WEST BEND MARBLE and GRANITE WORKS

Having installed a pneumatic plant at my works, I cordially invite you to visit my place of business at any time when convenient, to see the new cutting and lettering device. With this new plant I am able to do work considerably faster than by the former hand method, and can therefore give you better prices on all kinds of work. Soliciting a share of your business and thanking you for past patronage.

Holiday Suggestions

Store Next Door to Rosenheimers.

What shall we buy for Christmas—is the question which is occupying the minds of many at the present time. We believe that the problem can easily be solved if you will visit our Store. There is nothing more appropriate for a Xmas present than a nice piece of Furniture or a Piano. In selecting Holiday Furniture there are two important points to consider. The first—where is the largest and best selection. The next and most important one is, where to buy best for your money. We believe on inspection of our stock, you will find that this is the place to do your Xmas shopping and save you money. Come and visit us before buying elsewhere.
