YE EDITOR JOINS THE BENEDICTS

George H. Schmidt and Miss Clara Mertes Joined in Matrimony

George H. Schmidt, Editor and Proprietor of the Statesman and Miss Clara Mertes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Mertes were married at the home of the bride's parents last Tuesday at high noon, Rev. Moehme officiating.

The witnesses to the marriage were Miss Mildred Groeschel and Ben Mertes. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony where only near relatives were in attendance. Following the dinner a short reception was held after which the bridal couple left by auto for West Bend, where they boarded the 2:45 P. M. train for Floyd, Iowa, and points in the west for a two weeks honeymoon trip.

Both of the young people are so well and favorably known that comment on their good qualities is not necessary. The young bride is admirably qualified to make a home happy and this assertion is doubly certain when the good character and sterling qualities of the young groom are considered.

Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt upon their return will make their home in the rooms over the newly located printing office on Fond du Lac Ave. It gives the office force of the Statesman great pleasure to join with the many friends of the happy couple in extending hearty good wishes for their future success and happiness.

LOCAL MALT HOUSE ALMOST COMPLETELY DESTROYED BY FIRE

The L. Rosenheimer Malt & Grain Company's Elevator and Malt House Wiped Out by Flames Early Last Tuesday Morning

LOSS OVER $150,000, FAIRLY COVERED BY INSURANCE

Plant to be Rebuilt at Once—To be Fire Proof Throughout and Modern in Construction

The L. Rosenheimer Malt & Grain Co's plant was visited by fire early last Tuesday morning and completely destroyed the malt house and elevator, entailing a loss of more than $150,000. The origin of the fire is not definitely known. The fire was first noticed at about 6 A. M., by Jos. Schlosser and John Weddig who saw flames shooting out of the second story windows in the malt house. An alarm was sounded immediately by the ringing of the fire bell and within no immediate danger of the fire spreading. The apparatus was however unloading and put in operation on the west side of the mill dam from where they forced water a distance of about 2500 feet to check the fire.

The Fond du Lac engine was not shut down until after two o'clock. While the ruins were smouldering and smoking there was no danger of any further outbreak of fire which could not be handled by the local department, who were kept few minutes the village fire department with their apparatus were on the grounds. By that time the interior of the malt house building was already in flames and it was evidenced at once that the fire could not be controlled and that the malt house and elevator were doomed, so their attention was directed to keeping the fire from spreading to the adjacent buildings, which were in great danger at times.

The engine house, boiler room and electric light plant were saved only by the prompt use of the steam pump in the boiler room which forced sufficient water to save these buildings.

The fire which swept through the malt house burned for over two hours before fire broke out in the large elevator containing over 100,000 bushels of barley. This was the most dangerous time of the fire, everybody expected that this would spread throughout the village but fortunately the wind was in a favorable direction and the firemen had no trouble in confining the flames to the elevator. The interior of the malt house by this time had been gutted by the flames on watch until late in the night. Huge piles of barley that dropped down from the upper bins were burning to a depth that water could not reach. Hundreds of spectators from the neighborhood were in the village all day watching the fire.

The malting plant had been shut down for about four weeks to make necessary repairs and was ready to resume operations the following day after the fire. The original malting plant was built by the Rosenheimers in 1889 and enlarged in 1898 to increase the capacity to 600,000 bushels per annum. The loss on grain, buildings and machinery to the company will be between $150,000 and $200,000 with insurance to cover the loss fairly well.

The buildings that were destroyed were the frame elevator 56 x 66 covered with sheet iron which had a capacity of over 100,000 bushels. It was fully equipped with all the latest improved machinery for the handling and cleaning of grain in large quantities. The malt house was a brick building, two stories high, 76 x 114 feet in size and a dry kiln building 39 x and no danger of fire spreading from there was then feared.

A call for aid was sent to West Bend shortly after the fire was noticed but the West Bend department was unable to come as there was no flat car on the track there to load their apparatus on. Fond du Lac was then appealed to and came down on a special train with a fire steamer and a hose reel carrying 1200 feet of hose accompanied by five members of the department. They reached here shortly after 9 o'clock, but at that time there was 78, 72 feet high. The work house and the three large steel tanks to the north of the malt house were not attacked by the flames.

The officials of the malting company informed us that the elevator and malt house would be rebuilt immediately as soon as the adjustment of the loss had been made. The new plant is to be built of concrete and steel to make it strictly fire proof. The company is now buying grain having made arrangements to handle any amount that may come in.

EFEAT FOR UNION

SHOP FEDERATION IS REFUSED RECOGNITION BY SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

ISSUE NOW UP TO WORKERS

Stand of Harriman Lines Chief Makes Strike on Big Rail System Imminent—No Further Conferences Are Arranged for.

San Francisco.—The Southern Pacific Railroad company, through Julius Kruttschnitt, vice-president and director of maintenance of the Harriman lines, absolutely rejected a demand for recognition of the Federation of Shop Employees, comprising five shop craft unions and 25,000 men.

Whether or not a strike shall be called of all shopmen on the Harriman system rests with the national officers now in this city.

F. W. Albern of the Southern Pacific bureau of economy, spokesman for Kruttschnitt, made this statement just after the labor officials had left the meeting room in the Flood building: "The railway officials refused to recognize the railway federation while agreeing to discuss their demands with the representatives of their individual crafts."

"As a basis for this refusal they contended that the company cannot conscientiously perform its proper duties to the public, as a quasi-public corporation, and place in the hands of any federation the power that would necessarily be placed in any such organization as was proposed."

The company's refusal to recognize the federation is all that occurred at the conference, and no further meeting between the railroad officials and the union men has been arranged.

After they left Kruttschnitt's office the labor officials refused to discuss the conference, declaring they had nothing to say. Their manner indicated that their patience had been tried by the four hours' debate with the railroad officials. They were brusque and curt and their expression indicated that the situation was serious.

There can be no appeal from Kruttschnitt's decision. J. W. Kline, representing the shopmen, has received a telegram from President Lovett of the Harriman system saying that any action resolved upon by the officials now here would be ratified by the railroad company.

The Southern Pacific company continues to lay off men, between seventy-five and one hundred men from its auditing staff having been dropped. Most of these men have been employed as train auditors, whose work will be done hereafter by conductors.

OIL OCTOPUS EXPIRES

BIG COMBINE PASSES OUT AS RESULT OF COURT DECISION.

Standard of New Jersey, Great Holding Concern, Must Reorganize—Share Division Task Is Huge.

New York.—The Standard Oil company of New Jersey, the corporation which has been the storm center of anti-trust agitation throughout the country for years, has passed out of existence, as far as its present form and functions are concerned.

Henceforth this famous corporation will cease officially to carry on its operations as the head of a vast organization whose activities extend into almost every part of the world.

In obedience to the decree of dissolution of the supreme court, it is to relinquish its control of the subsidiary concerns.

The work of apportioning the company's holdings of the stock of more than thirty subsidiaries affected will occupy at least three months, it is expected, so that the readjustment will not be complete prior to December 1.

The New Jersey company, in addition to acting as the holding corporation, conducts a large oil business and has extensive property holdings. The company, however, has never made a public report, and no opportunity has been afforded for gauging the value of its business, and of its tangible assets.

An official of the company said that the only element of doubt as to the general effect of reorganization on the present stockholders lay in the ability of the constituent companies, operating independently, to produce as large a total of profits as has been possible under the present form of management. As to whether this can be done, he said, only the future will disclose.

George Hackenschmidt, the Russian "Lion," went down to defeat before Frank Gotch, the world's champion wrestler, in the presence of 35,000 spectators, the largest throng that ever witnessed a wrestling match.

The showing made by Hackenschmidt proved that his powers had been largely overestimated.

Gotch won the first fall in 14 minutes and 18 seconds with an inside leg hold and chancery, which is the new hold Gotch developed for the match. The lowman won the second fall in 5 minutes and 32 1-2 seconds with a toe hold switched into a crotch and half nelson.

Gotch proved his superiority in the most marked manner. He was the aggressor throughout and the Russian never had a chance. There was little rough work, that which was done being by Hack himself.

The bout simply demonstrated that Hack lacked the heart to stand up to Gotch's punishment.

The instant that Referee Smith tapped Gotch on the back to signalize victory Farmer Burns grabbed the American flag from Gotch's corner and planned it to Gotch's neck.

Gotch said after the bout: "Honest, I didn't think it would be so easy. I expected to win, but not with the ease with which the feat actually was accomplished. I had not been in the ring three minutes when I knew that Hack was even less to be feared than he was three years ago."

Hack ran for his dressing room clad in his dressing gown on the instant that his shoulders touched the mat and he could regain his feet. He was cheered by the crowd as he ran. The Russian had nothing to say following a defeat.

Unless the four clerks demand satisfaction, the incident will be closed, Representative Carter said.

One of the clerks, Joseph Josephson, who is said to have insulted Miss Carter, shows many signs of the encounter. His companions escaped with minor bruises, as the rattle cane carried working in the front part of the building escaped unharmed.

Lindauer's leg was blown off and carried a distance of about twenty feet. It was found in an alley, as there also other parts of his body. He was about 50 years old and leaves a wife and six children.

The explosion tore out one side of the rear part of the building and lumber were carried for a distance of several blocks. Its force was felt in all parts of the city.

No Deduction for Repairs. La Crosse.—In a ruling on the estate of the late George H. Booty of Five Men Who Held Up the Southern Pacific Express Near Lemoine, California. Redding, Cal.—It has been learned that the five robbers who held up a southbound Southern Pacific express train Friday night near Lemoine, Cal., got $2,399 from the safe of the express car. Posses are in pursuit.

Engineer and Two Tramps Meet Death and Several Are Injured—Train Leaves Rails While Running Sixty Miles an Hour.

Fremont.—Three men were killed and a score injured when the Soo line "Velvet Special," running at sixty miles an hour, struck a misplaced switch here and was wrecked. The locomotive was demolished and four cars derailed.

The dead: Kuester, August, aged 35, North Fond du Lac, engineer. Two unidentified men, both tramps. The injured: Earl Hineson, North Fond du Lac, fireman.

S. Fortune, tramp, Detroit, Mich. Probably will die. Mrs. M. Garney, Duluth, Minn. Fireman Earl Hineson of North Fond du Lac was also reported killed, but later he was found back along the track, having been badly hurt in jumping. His injuries will not be fatal.

By some freak of fortune the regular engineer, J. F. Zimmerman of North Fond du Lac, had obtained leave of absence the day before to go on a hunting trip, and his place was being filled by Engineer Kuester.

The other two victims of the fatality were hoboes who had been riding on the blind baggage.

Immediately after the wreck the Soo officials made up a train at Stevens Point and rushed it to the scene. The injured were removed to the hospital at Menasha.

Detectives of the road are investigating the cause of the wreck. They suspect the switch had been tampered with.

The bout simply demonstrated that Hack lacked the heart to stand up to Gotch's punishment.

The instant that Referee Smith tapped Gotch on the back to signalize victory Farmer Burns grabbed the American flag from Gotch's corner and planned it to Gotch's neck.

Gotch said after the bout: "Honest, I didn't think it would be so easy. I expected to win, but not with the ease with which the feat actually was accomplished. I had not been in the ring three minutes when I knew that Hack was even less to be feared than he was three years ago."

Hack ran for his dressing room clad in his dressing gown on the instant that his shoulders touched the mat and he could regain his feet. He was cheered by the crowd as he ran. The Russian had nothing to say following a defeat.

Unless the four clerks demand satisfaction, the incident will be closed, Representative Carter said.

One of the clerks, Joseph Josephson, who is said to have insulted Miss Carter, shows many signs of the encounter. His companions escaped with minor bruises, as the rattle cane carried working in the front part of the building escaped unharmed.

Lindauer's leg was blown off and carried a distance of about twenty feet. It was found in an alley, as there also other parts of his body. He was about 50 years old and leaves a wife and six children.

The explosion tore out one side of the rear part of the building and lumber were carried for a distance of several blocks. Its force was felt in all parts of the city.

THREE ARE KILLED IN SOO LINE WRECK

"VELVET SPECIAL" TRAIN DERAILED AT FREMONT BY A MISPLACED SWITCH.

DETECTIVES SCENT A PLOT

Engineer and Two Tramps Meet Death and Several Are Injured—Train Leaves Rails While Running Sixty Miles an Hour.

Fremont.—Three men were killed and a score injured when the Soo line "Velvet Special," running at sixty miles an hour, struck a misplaced switch here and was wrecked. The locomotive was demolished and four cars derailed.

The dead: Kuester, August, aged 35, North Fond du Lac, engineer. Two unidentified men, both tramps. The injured: Earl Hineson, North Fond du Lac, fireman.

S. Fortune, tramp, Detroit, Mich. Probably will die. Mrs. M. Garney, Duluth, Minn. Fireman Earl Hineson of North Fond du Lac was also reported killed, but later he was found back along the track, having been badly hurt in jumping. His injuries will not be fatal.

By some freak of fortune the regular engineer, J. F. Zimmerman of North Fond du Lac, had obtained leave of absence the day before to go on a hunting trip, and his place was being filled by Engineer Kuester.

The other two victims of the fatality were hoboes who had been riding on the blind baggage.

Immediately after the wreck the Soo officials made up a train at Stevens Point and rushed it to the scene. The injured were removed to the hospital at Menasha.

Detectives of the road are investigating the cause of the wreck. They suspect the switch had been tampered with.

CATHOLICS ELECT OFFICERS

Convention of State Federation of Societies Held at Two Rivers Chooses Rooney as Head.

Two Rivers.—Frank J. Rooney of Appleton was re-elected president of the State Federation of Catholic societies by the annual meeting held here, and all other officers with the exception of L. E. Kennedy of Burlington, secretary, who voluntarily resigned, were re-elected. Leo Pangborn of Racine was named as secretary.

Resolutions were adopted endorsing labor unions, denouncing divorce, urging Catholics to support parochial schools, declaring against billboard advertising as a detriment to civic beauty and declaring for the uplift of mankind through organizations similar to the federation.

A parade of more than 1,000 Catholic societies of the state was a feature of the meeting, which was attended by about 3,000, one-third from this city. Bishop Fox of Green Bay for the first time in the history of Two Rivers celebrated pontifical mass.

$350,000 FIRE AT KEWASKUM

Flames Destroy Big Malt House and Elevator and Threaten the Entire Town—Origin Is Unknown.

Kewaskum.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the elevator and malt house of the L. Rosenheimer Malt and Grain company here, entailing a loss estimated at $350,000.

The flames spread rapidly, threatening the entire town, and an appeal to Fond du Lac resulted in the arrival here of an engine and several firemen. With the aid of this apparatus and trained men, the boiler house, engine room and electric light plant were saved.

The elevator, built of wood with iron sheathing, was one of the largest in the northwest and contained 110,000 bushels of barley. The malt house walls remain, but will have to be razed.

The amount of money which will come into the possession of Miss Force the day of the wedding was not announced, but most estimates range from $1,000,000 to $10,000,000. Some believe the sum as high as $25,000,000, but it is probable that the actual settlement is between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. Even at that, Miss Force will be the richest bride in many years.

BOUNDARY LINE IS NOT YET SETTLED

COMMITTEES FROM WISCONSIN AND MINNESOTA DISAGREE AT JOINT CONFERENCE.

WILL MEET AGAIN ON DEC. 6

Wisconsin Claims Boundary Should Follow Main Channels of Lake Pepin and St. Louis River—Midway Between Shores, Says Minnesota.

Superior.—Differences which arose in the joint conference of the boundary committees of Minnesota and Wisconsin, here, and precluded the possibility of reaching an agreement on the St. Louis river dispute at this time, led to the settlement by the two committees upon Dec. 6 as the date for the next joint conference.

That the boundary line should follow the center of the main channel, as indicated by the government maps, is advocated by the Wisconsin commission. Similarly the Minnesota commission maintains that the boundary in the St. Louis river, as in Lake Pepin, should be midway between the two shores of the river and bay.

The attorney generals of both states will submit briefs on this question, showing the general trend of decisions on similar disputes.

PROBE MAY COVER PRIMARY

Senator Heyburn, Chairman of Stephenson Investigating Committee, Declares Scope of Work Uncertain.

Milwaukee.—Until the committee appointed to investigate the election of Senator Isaac Stephenson meets in Milwaukee early in October, it will not be known whether the investigation will be confined to the election of Senator Stephenson or whether the primary nomination will be included in the investigation.

This was the statement made by Senator W. B. Heyburn, chairman of the committee, who stopped over in Milwaukee while on his way from Washington to his home in Wallace, Idaho.

Senator Heyburn's visit was for the purpose of looking over the situation and making preliminary arrangements for the meeting of the committee.

There will be much interest taken in the decision of the committee regarding the scope of the investigation. Those opposed to Senator Stephenson are anxious that the committee take up the expense at the primary election, as that was where Senator Stephenson's money was spent.

If the investigation extends to the primary the committee may remain in session six or seven weeks.

PANIC AT FAIR GROUNDS FIRE

Crowd of 15,000 Is Endangered at Fond du Lac—Women and Children Trampled in Crush.

Fond du Lac.—Fifteen thousand people were thrown into a panic when, just as the last of the county fair races had been completed, flames shot up from a building on the grounds and quickly spread to the sheep barns, half that section being destroyed by fire.

Before the flames were brought under control women fainted and children were trampled on, but no fatalities resulted.

The city fire department was called out and the fire kept from reaching the main buildings.

Fee for Hunting Licenses.

Madison.—Attorney General Bancroft has ruled that a county clerk may charge a reasonable fee for clerical and notarial work in making out hunting licenses and require applicants for such licenses to pay the fees. The case came from Kenosha county, where the county clerk has been charging 50 cents for making out a hunting license, which, with the license fee of $1, made a charge of $1.50 for each applicant.

Hospital Site Bought.

Waupun.—The Wisconsin state board of control purchased six acres of land adjoining the prison farm on the east for the site of the new state hospital for the criminal insane. The legislature two years ago appropriated $100,000 for the construction of the buildings, while the last legislature appropriated $20,000 for a site. The new hospital buildings will be located about half a mile east of the prison buildings.

ACQUIT WOMAN OF MURDER

Marinette Judge Frees Mrs. Wertelwiski, Charged With Slaying Husband—Death Was Accidental.

Marinette.—Mrs. Mary Wertelwiski, the Pound woman charged with the murder of her husband, has been freed from custody. Judge Bernardy, the examining magistrate, discharged the woman, finding that her dead husband had come to his death by a fall down stairs.

When the opinion of the court was announced, there was applause and cheering for the defendant and relatives and friends hurried to her side, kissing and embracing her. The demonstration was the most marked ever seen in a local courtroom.

There is considerable feeling against the officers who examined the body of the deceased and brought the head, heart and lungs here as trial exhibits. One report is that Mrs. Wertelwiski will sue for $50,000 damages for her arrest and the mutilation of her husband's remains.

The village of Pound, where the woman resides, is badly stirred up over the autopsy and the arrest of the woman and an interesting scene is expected when the officers re-enter the parts of the body.

The state, at the time, was confident it had a strong case, but one of the chief witnesses, a Hebrew peddler, who saw the body in the house, did not tell the story expected on the stand. In fact, the entire case of the state went glimmering, although it claimed to have even the piece of iron with human hairs on it, which it was asserted the woman had used in dispatching her husband.

WORKERS' ACT NOW IN FORCE

Compensation Law Becomes Effective With 61 Firms and 20,000 Employes Under Provisions.

Madison.—September 1 marked the beginning of the workmen's compensation law in Wisconsin, by which the state inaugurates a system of compulsory industrial insurance. Up to that date the total elections involve approximately 20,000 workmen who are thus made sure of compensatory damages in case of injury and their dependents sure of benefits in case of death. A total of sixty-one concerns have come under the act prior to the day of its operation.

RURAL LIBRARIES IS NOW AIM

University School and Regents Cooperate in Plan for State-Wide Extension Work.

Madison.—The library school of the University of Wisconsin is seeking to enlarge the circle of its influence by putting free libraries in the smaller rural communities wherever it is found that books are needed or will be welcomed.

This extension of the library work is made possible partly through a recent action of the regents of the university in setting aside $7,500 to be used by the library school. The legislature of 1909 authorized the regents to co-operate the school in pioneer work and the name of the school was changed from Wisconsin library school to the library school of the university.

It is the plan of those in charge to send into communities wherever it is thought interest may be awakened small libraries of from thirty-five to fifty standard books, with an addition of several books printed in a foreign language, selected as the population of the community may desire. These books may be left for six months at some convenient center and exchanged from time to time.

Speaking of the Divorce Evil

Trying to succeed in business without advertising is like the case of the man who, trying to cut expenses, divorced his wife and alone attempted to keep house and raise his children. It cost him more money for doctor bills and funeral expenses in a year than he gave his wife in a lifetime.

When advertising is divorced, business success becomes failure.

This paper is building your neighbor's business. He has reasons. He tried advertising and it helped him. It is not an experiment—this paper brings results. Good, hard, convincing results—dollars.

Struck by Lightning.

The residence of August Backhaus 2 1/2 miles north-east of this village was struck by lightning last week Friday night. The bolt entered the building at the chimney and passed along the eave trough. Outside of a bad scare the only damage done was the tearing down of the chimney and the ripping of the eave troughs in one corner. All members of the family claim it was no warm bolt as the house soon after was filled with smoke and appeared to be ablaze. Arthur Heller, the young man, who was seriously injured while threshing at Mr. Backhaus place a few weeks ago also was in the building at the time, as he has since the accident been unable to return to his home. The shock of the strike excited him considerably.

KEITH OF THE BORDER

A TALE OF THE PLAINS

By RANDALL DARRISH
AUTHOR OF 'MY LADY OF THE SOUTH'
'WHEN WILDERNESS WAS KING ETC. ETC.
ILLUSTRATIONS BY DEARDORR MELVILLE

(Copyright, A. C. McClurg & Co., 1910.)

SYNOPSIS.

Jack Keith, a Virginian, now a border plainsman, is riding along the Santa Fe trail on the lookout for roaming war parties of savages. He notices a camp fire at a distance and then sees a team attached to a wagon and at full gallop pursued by men on ponies. When Keith reaches the wagon the raiders have massacred two men and departed. He searches the victims finding papers and a locket with a woman's portrait. He resolves to hunt down the murderers. Keith is arrested at Carson City, charged with the murder, his accuser being a ruffian named Jack Bart.

CHAPTER IV.

An Old Acquaintance.

The Carson City lock-up was an improvised affair, although a decidedly popular resort. It was originally a two-room cabin with gable to the street, the front apartment at one time a low grocery, the keeper sleeping in the rear room. Whether sudden death, or financial reverses, had been the cause, the community had in some manner become possessed of the property, and had at once dedicated it to the commonweal. For the purpose thus selected it was rather well adapted, being strongly built, easily guarded, and on the outskirts of the town. With iron grating over the windows, the back door heavily spiked, and the front secured by iron bars, any prisoner once locked within could probably be found when wanted. On the occasion of Keith's arrival, the portion abutting upon the street was occupied by a rather miscellaneous assembly—the drunk and disorderly elements conspicuous—who were awaiting their several calls to appear before a local justice and make answer for various misdeeds. Some were pacing the floor, others sat moodily on benches ranged against the wall, while a few were still peacefully slumbering upon the floor. It was a frowsy, disreputable crowd, evincing but mild curiosity at the arrival of a new prisoner. Keith had barely time to glance about, recognizing no familiarity of face amid the mass peering at him, as he was hustled briskly forward and thrust into the rear room, the heavy door closing behind him with the snap of a spring lock.

He was alone, with only the faintest murmur of voices coming to him through the thick partition. It was a room some twelve feet square, open to the roof, with bare walls, and containing no furniture except a rude bench. Still dazed by the suddenness of his arrest, he sank down upon the seat, leaned his head on his hands, and endeavored to think. It was difficult to get the facts marshalled into any order, or to comprehend clearly the situation, yet little by little his brain grasped the main details, and he awoke to a full realization of his condition, of the forces he must war against. The actual murders of those two men on the trail had had their suspicions aroused by his actions; they believed he guessed something of their foul deed, and had determined to clear themselves by charging the crime directly against him. It was a shrewd trick, and if they only stuck to their story, ought to succeed. He had no evidence, other than his own word, and the marshal had already taken from his pockets the papers belonging to the slain man. He had not found the locket hidden under his shirt, yet a more thorough search would doubtless reveal that also.

Even should the case come to trial, how would it be possible for him to establish innocence, and—would it ever come to trial? Keith knew the character of the frontier, and of Carson City. The inclination of its citizens in such cases was to act first, and reflect later. The law had but slender hold, being respected only when backed by the strong hand, and primitive instincts were always in the ascendancy, requiring merely a leader to break forth in open violence. And in this case would there be any lack of leadership? Like a flash his mind reverted to "Black Bart." There was the man capable of inciting a mob. If, for some unknown reason, he had sufficient interest to swear out the warrant and assist in the arrest, he would have equal cause to serve those fellows behind him in other ways. Naturally, they would dread a trial, with its possibility of exposure, and eagerly grasp any opportunity for wiping the slate clean. Their real security from discovery undoubtedly lay in his death, and with the "Red Light" crowd behind them they would experience no trouble in getting a following desperate enough for any purpose.

The longer Keith thought the less he doubted the result. It was not then a problem of defence, but of escape, for he believed now that no opportunity to defend himself would ever be allowed. The arrest was merely part of the plot intended to leave him helpless in the hands of the mob. In this Hicks was in no way blamable—he had merely performed his sworn duty, and would still die, if need be, in defence of his prisoner. He was no fool, but only an instrument they had found means of using.

Keith was essentially a man of action, a fighter by instinct, and so long accustomed to danger that the excitement of it merely put new fire into his veins. Now that he understood exactly what threatened, all numbing feeling of hesitancy and doubt vanished, and he became instantly alive. He would not lie there in that hole waiting for the formation of a mob; nor would he trust in the ability of the marshal to defend him.

He had some friends without—not many, for he was but an occasional visitor at Carson—who would rally to Hick's assistance, but there would not be enough on the side of law and order to overcome the "Red Light" outfit, if once they scented blood. If he was to be saved from their clutches, he must save himself; if his innocence was ever established it would be by his own exertions—and he could accomplish this only out yonder, free under the arch of sky.

He lifted his head, every nerve tingling with desperate determination. The low growl of voices was audible through the partition, but there was no other sound. Carson City was still resting, and there would be no crowd nor excitement until much later. Not until nightfall would any attack be attempted; he had six or eight hours yet in which to perfect his plans. He Aunt Caton's house servant, a black limp of good humor, who begged so hard to be taken back with him to the war. Why, the boy had held his stirrup the next morning when he rode away. The sudden rush of recollection seemed to bridge the years, and that black face became familiar, a memory of home.

"Of course, I remember, Neb," he exclaimed, eagerly, "but that's all years ago and I never expected to see you again. What brought you West and got you into this hole?"

The negro hitched up onto the bench, the whites of his eyes conspicuous as he stared uneasily about—he had a short, squat figure, with excessively broad shoulders, and a face of intense good humor.

"I reckon dat am considerable ob a story, Massa Jack, de circumlocution ob which would take a heap ob time tellin'," he began soberly. "But it happened 'bout dis way. When de Yankee comes snoopin' long de East Sho—I reckon maybe it des a yeah after dat time when we done buried de ol' Colonel—dey burned Missus Caton's house clah to de ground'; de ol' Missus was in Richmond den, an' de 'few niggers left jest natchally took to de woods. I went into Richmond huntin' de ol' Missus, but, Lawd, Massa Jack,

"I tell you, Massa Jack, it was mighty lonely fo' Neb dem days. I didn't know whar any ob yo' all was, an' it wan't no fun fo' dis nigger bein' free dat away. I got out ter Independence, Missouri, an' was roustaboutin' on de ribber, when a couple ob men come along what wanted a cook to trabbel wid 'em. I took de job, an' dat's what fetched me here ter Carson City."

"But what caused your arrest?"

"A conjunction ob circumstances, Massa Jack; yes, sah, a conjunction ob circumstances. I got playin' pokah ober in dat 'Red Light,' an' I was doin' fine. I reckon I'd cleaned up mo'n a hundred dollars when I got sleepy, an' started fo' camp. I'd most got dar when a bunch ob low white trash jumped me. It made me mad, it did fo' a fact, an' I reckon I carved some ob 'em up befo' I got away. Ennyhow, de marshal come down, took me out ob de tent, an' fetched me here, an' I ben here eber since. I wan't goin' ter let no low down white trash git all dat money."

"What became of the men you were working for?"

"I reckon dey went on, sah. Dey had 'portent business, an' wouldn't likely wait 'round here jest ter help a nigger. An' nubbybody ben here ter see me, nohow, an' I 'spects I 'ae eradicated from dey mem'ry—I 'spects I is."

CHAPTER V

The One Way.

Keith said nothing for some moments, staring up at the light stealing in through the window grating, his mind once again active. The eyes of the black man had the patient look of a dog as they watched; evidently he had cast aside all responsibility, now that this other had come. Finally Keith spoke slowly:

"We are in much the same position, Neb, and the fate of one is liable to be the fate of both. This is my story,"—and briefly as possible, he ran over the circumstances which had brought him there, putting the situation clear enough for the negro's understanding, without wasting any time upon detail. Neb followed his recital with bulging eyes, and an occasional exclamation. At the end he burst forth:

"Yo' say dar was two ob dem white men murdered—one an' ol' man wid a gray beard, an' de odder 'bout thirty? Am dat it, Massa Jack, an' dey had fo' span ob mules, an' a runnin' hoss?"

"Yes."

"An' how far out was it?"

"About sixty miles."

"Oh, de good Lawd!" and the negro threw up his hands dramatically. "Dat sut'nly am my outfit! Dat am Massa Waite an' John Sibley."

"You mean the same men with whom you came here from Independence?"

Neb nodded, overcome by the discovery.

"But what caused them to run such a risk?" Keith insisted. "Didn't they know the Indians were on the war path?"

"Sho'; I heard 'em talkin' 'bout dat, but Massa Waite was jest boun' fo' ter git movin'. He didn't 'pear to be 'fraid ob no Injuns; reck'ned dey'd neber stop him, dat he knowed ebery chief on de plains. I reckon dat he did, too."

"But what was he so anxious to get away for?"

Power of Praise.

There is one thing which no man, however generously disposed, can give, but which everyone, however poor, is bound to pay. This is praise. He cannot give it, because it is not his own, since what is dependent for its very existence on something in another can never become to him a possession; nor can he justly withhold it, when the presence of merit claims it as a consequence.—Washington Allston.

Greatest Man in the City

How Sherlock Holmes Knew Important Individual Was Brought Up in the Country.

"Hab!" exclaimed Sherlock Holmes.

"Very well, Sherl," said Dr. Watson, "if you wish it I will hab! But what is the occasion for halting?"

"Have you noticed that man with the grayish hair and the important manner?"

"Of course. I could not very well help doing so. He would attract attention anywhere."

"He was born in the country and spent his boyhood either on a farm or in a small town."

"What is his name?"

"I don't know."

"If you don't know his name, how have you found out that he was once a country boy? There is no hayseed in his hair, and I can see nothing about him to indicate that he has not always been used to city ways."

"Of course you can't. There isn't anything of that kind about him. But didn't you hear that man who pointed him out a moment ago say he was the greatest man in this city?"

"Ah, Sherlock, they can't beat you as a deducer. Since you explain it the whole thing is as plain as day."

Butter Making on Increase.

Madison. — Nearly three million pounds of butter was produced in Barron County, Wisconsin, in 1910, as against less than 1,500,000 pounds in 1905. In Dunn county the production increased during the same period from 1,771,424 to 2,580,440 pounds butter. There was an increase of one-third in Grant county and the butter production more than doubled in Vernon county. The production doubled in Columbia and Wood counties.

Although the number of creameries has decreased during the past five years in some localities, this does not indicate that the production of butter has decreased. In several cases the size of creameries has increased and the production has become much greater. In Walworth county, where the creameries have decreased 73 per cent in number, the decrease in pounds of butter was only about one-half of one per cent. In Dane county, with a decrease of 16 creameries, the production of butter is greater than that of five years ago.

Five counties in the state show a decrease in butter production, but this is due in a great measure to milk being used for other purposes.

New Cheese Territory Develops.

Madison.—A new cheese territory is developing in Wisconsin. In Polk county the number of cheese factories increased from 5 to 13, and in Barron county from 7 to 14, from 1905 to 1910. These facts are brought out in a bulletin just issued from the Wisconsin Experiment Station. Cheese factories in Lincoln county increased from 4 to 13, in Marathon county from 43 to 61 and in Clark county from 27 to 50. There has been a healthy, vigorous growth all over the state and in many counties not considered as in the cheese district heretofore, the number of factories has doubled.

In the south central portion, comprising the old dairy region of Dodge, Columbia and Dane counties, cheese factories have increased to the detriment of the butter making industry.

News Notes of Wisconsin

Madison.—Angered, it is said, to the point of insanity over a line fence dispute, Gunder Chinous, aged 50, shot and killed his nephew, Harry Chinous, at his farm, ten miles south of Blatchardville, in the town of Argyle. The tragedy is said to be the result of a family feud arising over the division of property between Gunder Chinous and his brother. The latter's son was digging in a ditch near the line fence on the farm. The ditch, Chinous claims, is on his side, and when he came upon the youth, a lad of 20, he shot and killed him. The slayer is a bachelor.

Waukesha.—A number of Wisconsin breeders had exhibits of livestock at the Iowa state fair at Des Moines. Among those who took prizes were A. W. and F. F. Fox of Waukesha for Guernsey cattle, Adam Seitz of Waukesha for Ayrshire, and F. W. Harding of Waukesha, Short-horns.

Sheboygan.—Stumbling on a small chip of wood, Arthur Heberer struck his head against a circular saw at his home in the town of Scott. It is doubtful whether he will recover.

HANDS WOULD CRACK OPEN

"About two months ago my hands started to crack open and bleed, the skin would scale off, and the good flesh would burn and itch dreadfully. When my hands first started to get sore, there were small blisters like water blisters which formed. They itched dreadfully, it just seemed as though I could tear the skin all off. I would scratch them and the skin would peel off, and the flesh would be all red and crack open and bleed. It worried me very much, as I had never had anything the matter with my skin. I was so afraid I would have to give up my employment.

"My doctor said he didn't think it would amount to anything. But it kept getting worse. One day I saw a piece in one of the papers about a lady who had the same trouble with her hands. She had used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and was cured. I decided to try them, and my hands were all healed before I had used one cake of Cuticura Ointment. I am truly thankful for the good results from the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, for thanks to them I was cured, and did not have to lose a day from work. I have had no return of the skin trouble." (Signed) Mrs. Mary E. Breg, 2522 Brown Street, Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 12, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 6 K, Boston.

Pat Was More Than Willing.

A very pretty girl who recently returned from Ireland tells of an encounter with an Irish caddy in Dublin. She had started out from the hotel to do some shopping, but decided instead to make a tour of the city on a jaunting car. Arriving at the first car stand, and having selected the smartest looking vehicle she told the driver that she "wanted to engage him for the day." Pat never backward in paying homage to beauty, earnestly replied: "Begorra, ma'am, you are welcome. I only wish it was for life!"

A Sandwich Filling.

A delicious filling for sandwiches or crackers is made by mixing equal parts of cream cheese and snappy cheese with French chives in a smooth paste, then stirring in it chopped red peppers or chopped olives. This paste should be very creamy and put on thickly, at least a quarter of an inch. It is nice between salted wafers or on thin rounds of brown or rye bread.

FOUND RIGHT PATH After a False Start.

"In 1890 I began to drink coffee. "At that time I was healthy and enjoyed life. At first I noticed no bad effects from the indulgence but in course of time found that various troubles were coming upon me.

"Palpitation of the heart took unto itself sick and nervous headaches, kidney troubles followed and eventually my stomach became so deranged that even a light meal caused me serious distress.

"Our physician's prescriptions failed to help me and then I dosed myself with patent medicines till I was thoroughly disgusted and hopeless.

"Finally I began to suspect that coffee was the cause of my troubles. I experimented by leaving it off, except for one small cup at breakfast. This helped some but did not altogether relieve my distress. It satisfied me, however, that I was on the right track.

"So I gave up coffee altogether and began to use Postum. In ten days I found myself greatly improved, my nerves steady, my head clear, my kidneys working better and better, my heart's action rapidly improving, my appetite improved and the ability to eat a hearty meal without subsequent suffering restored to me. And this condition remains.

"Leaving off coffee and using Postum did this, with no help from drugs, as I abandoned the use of medicines when I began to use the food drink." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

WHY BE WEAK?

Why suffer backache, headache, dizziness, weariness, urinary irregularities and other troubles that arise from disordered kidneys when relief is so near at hand? Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands. Mrs. George Earl, Madison, Neb., says: "For over a year I was afflicted with terrible kidney trouble. I was subject to hot flashes, became dizzy and felt tired and exhausted. Puffy spots appeared beneath my eyes and my feet were so swollen I could scarcely wear my shoes. I noticed improvement after I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and was soon cured. The swelling and bloating disappeared. I can rest like a child and have gained ten pounds in weight."

For the LITTLE ONES

LITTLE BOY'S UNIQUE TRUNK

Quaint "Hold-All" is Handy Place for Youth to Store Away His Many Treasures—How Made.

Every boy likes to have a place where he can store away his treasures. Here is just the place, and, in the making of such a unique little trunk, the boy who likes work with tools will have a treat.

This quaint "hold-all" is a copy of grandfather's trunk that is in a museum at Salem, Mass., and by following the instructions given below it can be quite easily made. When it is completed the possessor will have not only an artistic and convenient receptacle for his treasures, but will also have a reminder of the days of long ago when just such trunks were taken by great-grandfather and great-grandmother on their travels.

Cut two circles from a lath board, having the diameter just 12 inches.

Arranging Circles.

Use a pair of dividers to make exact circles; or, if these are not at hand, use a string and pencil attached to the end. Set the two circles just 25 inches apart, and cover the entire outside with laths nailed close together, as suggested in the illustration. When the circles have been entirely covered by laths and firmly nailed at the ends of these, take a small smoothing plane and smooth off all the edges of the laths that may be prominent. In this way a smooth rounded surface can be secured. Now saw off the top by sawing through the end circles at the point shown by the dotted lines, letting the saw pass between the same pair of laths at each end. We shall now have the body of the trunk and its cover, which is to be hinged to the body by a small pair of hinges—one part of each hinge being screwed to the top lath of the body and the other part to the lath next above in the cover. In fact the hinges may well be screwed in place before the end circles are sawed apart.

Great-grandfather's trunk was covered with leather, tanned with the hair on, making what was called a "hair trunk." If one wishes to imitate the original as far as possible, he could cover this little trunk with cotton flannel, the rough side out. This will give quite the original effect. Circles of cloth are cut for the ends, a trifle larger than the wood circles, and the edges carried over to the sides. The sides have the cloth stretched straight above the outside, the edges covering the ends. Then a dark strip of braid can be put about the edges and secured by round-headed brass tacks, as shown. Two skate or book straps of leather complete the fittings, except for the handles at the ends, which can be had at a hardware store, and the little decoration with round-headed brass tacks shown in front. The trunk can be lined with paper.

A Hungry Motor Car.

Have you ever noticed how hungry an automobile sometimes looks when it is trying to run you down on the street? It looks as if it would like to eat you and leave nothing except the buttons. That may have been the feeling of the motor car that got in the path of a runaway in Kalamazoo. The runaway was composed of two frightened horses and a loaded pie wagon, which may or may not have been frightened. The driver was thrown off the wagon seat, and the horses dragged the swaying pie wagon through the streets, dripping pies behind. They ran into an automobile, and the wagon suddenly stopped, but the pies went straight on and plastered themselves all over the car. The car was spotted with red cherry and purple raspberry and blue huckleberry and brown apple and yellow lemon pie filling until it looked like a horse on a merry-go-round or in a Noah's ark.

Putting Your Foot on it. This familiar saying has an amusing historical origin, which is as follows: When the title to land is disputed in Hindustan, two holes are dug in the ground, and one leg of each of the lawyers of the rival claimants are buried therein. In this awkward position the dusky legal champions fall to arguing and the one who thus first loses his client's case. Three, in a very humiliating sense, both the losing litigant and the defeated lawyer have "put their foot in it."

THE CAT SPEAKS.

In fall, when I peer out at night, The stars seem very, very bright. They're surely brighter when it's cold; And, though I never have been told,

I know those little stars all try To shine their brightest in the sky. To warm the world and make things bright. For cats that sing outdoors at night.

POPULAR GAMES IN LONDON

Dabbit, Castello, Holo and Three Tricks Have Possibilities—Description of Pastimes.

"Dabbit." This sounds like a swear word from a man who is suffering from a severe "code id the dose," but it isn't. Dabbit is only the title of a new game, which some people say has a good chance of becoming more popular than ping-pong was, says the London Sketch.

The idea is ridiculously simple. You are provided with a sort of oblong tray, the bottom of which is formed by the table on which you play. Placed across the middle of the court thus provided is a piece of wood containing arches.

The ordinary rules of tennis are followed, but instead of going over the net you serve the ball under the center arch. In returning, the players send the ball back under any of the arches and the fun is exciting. It is a series of pushes, and one is surprised at the amount of skill which can be obtained.

Dabbit is only one of several. Perhaps the best is Castello, a game on an entirely new principle, which is becoming very popular in London, for it can be played either on a lawn or the table, specially shaped mallets are used, while ordinary croquet balls, four players having a castle and two balls. Much skill is required in the capturing of flags and castles, each game lasting about 20 minutes, and providing all sorts of excitement when the players are skillful.

More modest, but equally interesting, is holo, the players trying to drive a ball through their opponents' well-guarded goals. Holo appeals quite as much to children as to grown-ups, and what seems fairly simple at first is in the end very difficult.

Stepping-stones is a game in which the players have to step from one block to another while balancing a ball on a platter. The results are ludicrous.

Finally, there is three tricks. A little table is revolved and suddenly stopped, whereupon the players try to spike loose tablets which are numbered. The fact that one player spikes more than another does not mean that he wins, for he may have taken several for which he has to concede points.

WHEELED SADDLE FOR GOATS

Contrivance So Arranged That Little Animals May Be Used to Carry Small Person About.

Goats, unlike horses and little ponies, are not heavily enough built to allow of riding upon their backs, but goat-back riding is made possible by means of the wheeled saddle shown in the illustration. The arrangement has two wheels in front and one rear wheel. The goat is hitched under the frame bearing the saddle, so that the entire weight of the rider is carried on the wheels instead of on the goat. The front wheels are attached to a bow-shaped fork, within which the goat runs. A handle-bar is provided for turning the front wheels in steering.

Could Change the Wind.

King Ericus of Sweden publicly confessed that he was a sorcerer and magician. He was the owner of an enchanted cap, which he pretended enabled him to control the spirits and change the direction of the winds at pleasure. So firmly did his subjects believe in the supernatural powers of their ruler, says the London Mail, that when a storm arose they would exclaim: "Ah, the king is again wearing his magic cap!"

Another Reason.

Then, again, perhaps the reason why women's feet are becoming larger, suggests the Philadelphia Inquirer, is because they put them down often and harder than formerly.

The KITCHEN CABINET

THE presence of a large amount of cellulose in food enables us often to satisfy the appetite without injury from over-eating.

RELISHES SERVED WITH MEATS.

The old-fashioned chutney, which one always finds in every English household, is a relish which is unusual with us, but is very good.

To make chutney, take one and a half pounds of apples, peeled and quartered, one pound of ripe tomatoes, one pound of raisins, stoned, one pound of brown sugar, two ounces of mustard, one ounce of pepper, one quart of cider vinegar and a teaspoonful of salt. Simmer gently for two hours and bottle. Another recipe calls for onion and chill peppers.

For Virginia Mixed Pickle, choose small cucumbers, string beans, button onions, cauliflower and any vegetable one's fancy suggests. Pack in a stone jar in layers of salt; cover the top layer with salt and put over a plate with a weight. Leave in this brine for a month, stirring to the bottom each day. When ready to put them up, look over each pickle carefully, discarding any which seems soft. Cover the pickles with cold fresh water and change the next day, letting them stand another twenty-four hours. Line a two-gallon preserve kettle with grape leaves and pack in the pickles, strewing powdered alum between the layers, using a tablespoon rounding full. Fill with cold water and cover with three layers of grape leaves. Cover closely and cook very slowly six hours, never allowing the water to boil. The pickles will then be a fine green. Lay them in cold water to chill. To a gallon of cider vinegar add three dozen black peppercorns and as many cloves, eighteen allspice and a dozen blades of mace. Stir into the spiced vinegar a cup of sugar and boil, covered, to keep in the aroma. Drain and wipe the pickles and pack in a jar, then pour the scalding vinegar over them. Cover tightly; two days later scald the vinegar again and pour over. Repeat in three days and again in a week from that time. Fit a tight lid and cover with a waxed cloth. Keep in a cool place, and in two months they will be ready. They will keep for your grandchildren's wedding if a tablespoonful of sugar is added once every month. This keeps the acid of the vinegar from softening the pickles.

MELONS, MUSK AND WATER.

To the true melon lover nothing added in the way of flavor to a ripe, rich melon improves it. A melon, either musk or water melon, should be thoroughly chilled before serving. Water melon scooped from the pink deliciousness with an ice cream scoop and served on well-washed grape leaves makes a delightful dessert.

When wanted to take the place of a preserve for tea, musk melon may be cut in dice and sprinkled with a grating of nutmeg and sugar and a few drops of lemon juice. Such a dish will not go begging.

Water Melon Sherbet.—Scrape the ripe pulp from the melon, saving all the juice; to two quarts of the mixture add a cup of sugar and a cup of finely chopped nut meats; freeze, and when partly frozen stir in the beaten whites of two eggs and finish freezing. A little lemon juice added before freezing improves the flavor.

A most delicious dessert when one has company and wants an extra attractive dessert is prepared as follows: Cut ripe musk melons in halves crosswise, remove the seeds and fill with vanilla ice cream; decorate with almonds dipped in chocolate to resemble seeds and serve on plates covered with grape leaves.

Water Melon Pickles.—Peel and cut the melon rind into small pieces and put them into a stone jar; sprinkle with salt and let them stand overnight. To every pound of melon allow a half pound of sugar, a pint of vinegar and stick of cinnamon, and cloves to taste. Cook the ingredients together, then add the melon, which has been parboiled until tender in clear water. Add to the sirup and scald. Then put away in a jar covered with a cloth.

Preserved Melon Rind.—Peel and chop the rind, then cook together with lemons sliced with seeds removed. Add three-fourths of a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit and cook in the sirup until clear. Fill the jars with the preserve, pour over the hot sirup and seal when cool.

Woman's Danger Periods Made Safe

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Here is proof:

Natick, Mass.,—"I cannot express what I went through during the Change of Life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold. I had creepy sensations and could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I had a tumor.

"I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Nathan B. Groaton, 61 No. Main St., Natick, Mass.

ANOTHER SIMILAR CASE.

Cornwallville, N. Y.,—"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time for Change of Life, nervousness, and a fibroid growth.

"Two doctors advised me to go to the hospital, but one day while I was away visiting, I met a woman who told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and I know it helped me wonderfully. I am very thankful that I was told to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Wm. Boughton, Cornwallville, N. Y., Greene Co.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Coming to Fond du Lac, at New Erving Hotel, Wednesday, Sept. 13th, One Day Only.

The Northwestern United Doctors duly organized and licensed by the state for the purpose of treating diseases, deformities and all curable ailments without surgical operations. All that is asked in return for these valuable services is that every person treated will state the result obtained to their friends and thus prove to the sick and afflicted in this locality, that at last treatments have been discovered that are absolutely sure and certain in their effects.

By their developed system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors, goiter, piles or cancer. They were among the first in America to do away with the knife, blood and pain in the successful treatment and cure of these dangerous diseases.

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, skin, nerves, heart, spleen, kidneys and bladder, rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, bedwetting, leg ulcers, epilepsy or fits, etc., all treated with gratifying success. Consumption, asthma, bronchitis and catarrhal diseases absolutely cured with combination of medicine, hygiene, diet, exercise and the important uses and advantages of clothes, occupation, etc. Many cases of deafness are frequently cured in sixty days. Loss of sight, blindness, cataract, granulated lids and old, weak, watery, sore eyes treated after a fashion that knows no fail. In long standing, deep-seated, chronic diseases of men and women, and slow growths and undeveloped children's diseases, a treatment that is absolutely certain in its effects can be had and depended upon. Thousands of patients throughout the Northwest attest the ability of the Northwestern United Doctors to cure these dread diseases.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others have told you, no matter what experience you have had with other physicians! It will be to your advantage to treat with the Northwestern United Doctors Specialists. Even if your case is incurable they will give you such advice that will relieve you and stay the disease. There is no string tied to this proposition, they mean just what they say and will do to your advantage what they contend. Every specialist is prominent in this line and stands at the head of the profession.

Do not put off this duty you owe yourself, your friends and your relatives this time costs you nothing and may save your life. If you have kidney or bladder trouble bring a two-ounce bottle of your urine for chemical analysis and microscopic examination. Remember this free offer is for this trip only. Hours 9 A. M. to 6 P.
