Double Wedding in St. Mathias Church
 St. Mathias Church Last Tuesday Was the Scene of a Very Pretty Double Wedding
BOTH COUPLE VERY POPULAR
 Miss Magdalen Fellenz Becomes The Bride of Jacob Schiltz and Joseph Uelmen Weds Miss Emma C. Krueger

A very pretty double wedding took place at the St. Mathias church in the town of Scott last Tuesday morning at 9:30 when Rev. Thuille united in the holy bonds of matrimony the following couples: Jacob Schiltz and Miss Magdalen M. Fellenz and Joseph P. Uelmen and Miss Emma C. Krueger.

The groom of the first couple is a very industrious young man of New Fane. He is very popular among his many friends. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fellenz of the town of Scott. She is a young lady of charming ways and will without doubt make a loving companion.

The groom of the second couple is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Uelmen of New Prospect and is a blacksmith by trade. He is honest in all his ways and is a very industrious young business man. He is one of New Prospect's most popular young men. He has accepted a companion who is very well known in this community. She is a daughter of Mrs. Augusta Krueger of New Fane. She has always a pleasant face and a pleasant word for everyone. She is sure to make a friend with everyone she meets.

The bride of the first couple who was attired in a satin gown made in a boiera style and carrying lilies of the valley, was attended by Clara M. Fellenz, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, who was dressed in an embroidery gown and carried roses. The groom was attended by John Schiltz, brother of the groom.

The bride of the second couple who was attired in a white chiffon over silk messaline gown and carrying a prayer book, was attended by Miss Rosalia Uelmen, a sister of the groom, as maid of honor, who was dressed in a tan messaline dress and carried roses. Nic. Uelmen, a brother of the groom, acted as bestman.

After the ceremony the couples repaired to the home of each respective bride's parents, where the occasion was celebrated in a most elaborate manner.

At the Fellenz home the house was beautifully decorated with red and white crepe paper. About 25 guests were present. The pastime of the day and evening was singing and dancing.

A dinner was served soon after the ceremony at the Krueger home with only near relatives present. In the evening all the relatives and a large number of friends assembled in Kohn's hall where dancing was indulged in. The hall was very beautifully decorated for the occasion with green and white crepe paper.

Mr. and Mrs. Schiltz will make their future home in the village of New Fane, where the groom owns a saw and planning mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Uelmen will reside at New Prospect, where the groom owns a blacksmith shop. We extend to both young couples a very happy and prosperous married life.

MEETING OF COUNTY BOARD
 Supervisors Will Have Many Important Matters to Act Upon
CONVENE ON NOVEMBER 13
 The County Poor Farm Matter to Come up Again

The county board of supervisors who will convene in annual session at West Bend, Monday, November 13th have a busy session before them, and many important matters to act upon.

The matter of providing for a county home for the poor, which was investigated in all its phases last session will again come up and it is probable that steps will be taken to build a new home at the insane asylum farm. Everything was in readiness last spring to proceed in the matter. Estimates had been obtained and bids received for the building when it was found the law prevents the bonding of a county for funds to build a home. This put a stop to further action at that time. It will now probably be decided to sell the present county farm, in the town of Jackson, which can be done for in the neighborhood of $30,000. This money will be turned toward the new buildings. As the bids are for some $48,000 the remainder will be raised by direct taxation.

The state board of control has directed the county to buy more land for the insane asylum farm at West Bend, which matter must also be acted upon.

The board will also have to consider and take action upon the new system of county roads, under the new state law governing that matter. A system will have to be laid out, a superintendent of highways appointed and the tax levied. The latter will be no small sum. The county tax levy will be approximately $102,000, on the three mill basis.

Arrested by Game Warden
 Young Men of Wayne Are Charged With Violating Game Laws.

Sheriff Schloemer and Under-sheriff Lemke yesterday arrested Hubert Fritz and Robert Fritz of the town of Wayne, the boys having been charged by Deputy Game Warden Brunett of Fond du Lac with having violated the game laws. Hubert's crime was that he had been trapping for muskrats along a small creek, which flowed through his father's land, and accidentally he got a mink into one of his traps. He pleaded guilty, but as he was but fifteen years old Justice Rix suspended sentence. Robert Fritz was charged with having hunted without a license. He pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial, which will be given him on November 13. Robert was out in the woods in his father's land and carried a 22 caliber rifle but had not shot game. He was engaged Atty. Thos. O'Meara to defend him and we venture the prediction that after the case is finished the game warden will be more careful in ordering arrests to be made. We doubt whether a jury can be found which would convict a man for simply carrying a rifle. Had the young man had game in his possession he would have been guilty beyond doubt.—West Bend Pilot.

 Fond du Lac Deputy Warden Confiscates Box of Ducks Found in Express Car

A box containing fifteen wild ducks confiscated at the North Western depot in this city Wednesday by deputy Warden Deibert Brunet resulted in the arrest of C. P. Becker of Winneconne and his subsequent arraignment and punishment in municipal court at Oshkosh Friday afternoon.

The box was shipped by Becker from Winneconne and consigned to J. Schmer, Chicago. It got by the warden in Winneconne and Oshkosh, but was discovered by Warden Brunet at the station in this city. The ducks were carefully wrapped in paper and packed tightly in the box.

Becker plead guilty when arraigned in court in Oshkosh and paid a fine and cost of $30.63—Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

Bowling Season Opens.
 The bowling season in this village opened last Saturday evening at Eberle's alleys. Landlord Eberle also served a very fine lunch to his patrons that night. The alleys this year are in better condition than ever before. The pins have already dropped well. Wm. Eberle, who lead the league last year bowled two 200 scores this week.

There will without a doubt be a league organized this season, which will be composed of four teams. From reports received there are already three teams in the field. From the lineup given the contest this year will be very well matched.

 "Why should I change my name? It is the best I have," said Aglam Appathooadoccomtojoethealoups, a candy jobber from Chicago, who is registered at the St. Charles.

The hotel clerk took a "pop" at the pronunciation of the name, but stopped or the consequence might have been serious.

A traveling man in the lobby of the hotel asked whether a letter was added to the name in honor of every town he visited, but he seemed proud of it and pronounced it glibly, although it sounded like a splash in a rain barrel.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

HAVE RENTED A MALT HOUSE
 The L. Rosenheimer Malt & Grain Company of This Village Have Rented a Malt House at Appleton
TO SATISFY THEIR CUSTOMERS
 The Firm Will Make About 100,000 Bushel of Malt in the Appleton Malt House for the Purpose of Satisfying Their Customers

The L. Rosenheimer Malt & Grain Co. of this village leased a malt house at Appleton recently and commenced making malt in the latter place last Sunday.

The reason for this course was on account of the firm having several contracts to fill, which were secured before their recent malt house fire in this village. They will make about 100,000 bushels of malt at the new location, which will take about six weeks time.

John Groeschel, who for years was foreman in the malt house here, left last week Friday for Appleton to take charge of the malt house there for the local concern.

As yet the adjusters have not completed the adjustment of the recent fire, but as soon as they do, work will be commenced to raise the old plant and build a new one, which will be of the most modern type. It is expected that the firm will be in a shape to commence malting the latter part of next spring.

At the Davidson Theatre.
 Two attractions of more than ordinary merit are announced for the Davidson Theatre, Milwaukee, next week. The first, opening Sunday night, will be John Hyams and Leila McIntyre, in the delightful musical play "The Girl of My Dreams" which scored so great a hit last season. This engagement will continue for four nights, with the usual Wednesday matinee. Joseph M. Gaites, who presents the piece, has surrounded his two stars with an exceptionally strong company, comprising seventy persons. The chorus is large, well trained and good looking, and the list of principals includes such well known players as Ray L. Royce, Harold Forbes, Percival Aylmer, W. C. Ricciardo, Irving Brooks, Henrietta Lee, Alice Hills and Carrie Bowman and others.

The book of "The Girl of My Dreams" was written by Willbur D. Nesbit and the lyrics by Otto Hauerbach, while Karl Hoschna, composer of "Madame Sherry," "The Tree Twins" and "Bright Eyes" is responsible for the alluring musical setting.

Starting Thursday night, the attraction for the remainder of the week will be "The Country Boy," Edgar Selwyn's famous comedy, which has been compared frequently with "The Fortune Hunter" which it resembles slightly in theme, although not at all in treatment. The company presenting it is one of unusual excellence, and the story of the lad from the small town is admirably enacted. Ethel Clayton and H. Dudley Hawley, both former stock favorites in Milwaukee, have important parts in the piece. Thursday night, the opening night of the engagement, will be the occasion of the annual theatre party of the Milwaukee Press Club, always one of the notable events of the season.

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

I was pleased to find that Kewaskum is again on the map which is caused by having a new orchestra organized here. The name of the orchestra will be known as the Kewaskum Symphony Orchestra. Upon calling on their manager, Busse I was handed the following article; Kewaskum will no doubt turn out in colors to attend this opening performance, which promises to be the best of its kind. I also understand that the manager is negotiating with other play houses in larger cities for their appearance. I at least wish the new organization much success.

The Kewaskum Symphony Orchestra has completed its plans for the Operatic Concert which is to be given at the Opera House sometime this fall. This concert promises to be a treat for all music lovers and everybody should make it a point to attend. The managers have secured the services of several floor managers and strict order will be enforced.

The orchestra features Fredrico Busse Violin Virtuoso, Mr. Busse lately returned from Leipsic where he has taken instructions from Branske the celebrated hungarian violinist and his services have been secured only through difficult and prolonged negotiations with his managers.

Other features of this programme are as follows: Marie Briglio, Soprano, Miss Fecano Contralto, Francois Lestree, Basso, Donaldicus Harbeckus, Tenor.

A Late Suit.
 The following story is going the rounds: A young man concluded that the home merchant did not advertise a very good line of clothing, so he sent to Sears, Roebuck to get something strictly up-to-date. When the suit arrived in the pockets of the pants he found a note reading this way: "Should this fall into the hands of a good looking young man who desires to correspond with a young lady of sweet disposition kindly address," etc. The young man promptly sent a letter to the address and a few days later received a reply as follows: "Sir, My wife is in receipt of a letter from you in her girl name. She says that twenty years ago she wrote the note. She is now my lawful wife, the mother of eleven children. If you do not quit writing to her I will make a trip to your town and make your face look like thirty cent's worth of hamburger sausage."

Moral: If you want up-to-date clothes made for 1911 people, with the latest cut and trimmings and good goods for your money, trade with your rhome merchants.

1912 Motorette.
 Max Bros. of Milwaukee, state agents for the "Motorette" wish to announce that the price of their 1912 model is $385, which includes top, slip cover, gas headlight generator. The former price was $385 stripped. The 1912 model is a better car than heretofore manufactured and is considerably improved. Watch for further particulars in the advertisements that will appear in this paper in the near future. If in Milwaukee give the boys a call who are always willing to demonstrate their car. Their offices are at 3114 North Ave.

FOSS IS RE-ELECTED

MASSACHUSETTS RETURNS DEMOCRATIC GOVERNOR BUT BALANCE OF TICKET DEFEATED.

NEW YORK GOES REPUBLICAN

Has Majority in Legislature—G. O. P. Wins in Maryland and Rhode Island—Democrats Carry Kentucky—Illinois Towns Vote "Dry."

Boston, Mass.—The Democrats won the state election and kept Massachusetts in the party column by continuing Gov. Eugene N. Foss in office for a second term. Complete returns for governor in the state election give: Foss, Democrat, 210,622; Frothingham, Republican, 202,888; Foss' plurality, 7,734. The margin of victory was the narrowest in years and for hours after the close of the polls the result hung in the balance. Republicans refused to concede the defeat of Frothingham and it was intimated that a state wide recount might be necessary.

The next legislature will stand as follows: Senate—Republicans, 27; Democrats, 19. House—Republicans, 146; Democrats, 92; socialist, 1; independent, 1.

New York—Returns from all sections of the state on assembliesmen show that the Republicans have regained control of the lower house of the state legislature by a safe majority. The present assembly is Democratic by 24 majority. Herbert M. Merrill, Socialist, is elected assemblyman from Schenectady county.

Returns from twenty-two of the thirty-five New York cities electing mayors show about an even division, eleven Republicans being elected, ten Democrats and one socialist.

The Republicans made practically a clean sweep in Buffalo. Mayor Ederout (Rep.) was re-elected mayor of Rochester by more than 6,000.

Edward Schoeneck (Rep.) was re-elected mayor of Syracuse over Ludington (Dem.) by 14,790 votes to 10,578, a plurality of 4,212.

Mayor James B. McEwan, Republican, of Albany, was re-elected by a substantial majority.

The city of Utica elected a Republican mayor by a majority of 300.

Cleveland, O.—Cleveland, which two years ago went Republican, electing Herman C. Baehr mayor over the late Tom L. Johnson, and returned to the Democratic fold, electing Newton D. Baker, Johnson's political heir, mayor over Frank G. Hogen, Republican, by about 18,000 majority. The entire Democratic city ticket was elected with the exception of five councilmen.

Henry T. Hunt, Democratic nominee for mayor of Cincinnati, was elected by a majority estimated between 5,000 and 6,000.

George J. Karb, Democrat, was elected mayor of Columbus by a majority of 4,000.

Brand Whitlock, Independent, was elected mayor of Toledo for a fourth term by a small plurality.

Returns show the election of Arthur Tarnbul, Democrat, as mayor of Canton, by a plurality of 5.

Eight Ohio cities elected Socialist mayors. These are Loraine, St. Marys, Martins Ferry, Potosi, Mount Vernon, Barborton, Salem and Cuyahoga Falls.

New Brunswick, N. J.—The Democrats elected all three members of assembly from Middlesex county. This is a Democratic gain of one.

Albuquerque, N. M.—Returns indicate a complete triumph for the Democratic ticket in New Mexico. There seems little doubt that the new state will enter the Union in the Democratic column.

Providence, R. I.—Returns for governor give: Potlter, Republican, 13,527; Waterman, Democrat, 9,357. This result will give Gov. Potlter more than 6,000 majority.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Complete returns show that Rudolph Blankenburg, Independent Republican, who headed the fusion ticket, was elected mayor of Philadelphia by 4,364 plurality.

Returns from the 11th congressional district indicate the election of W. D. B. Alney of Montrose, Republican, over Dr. O. H. Rockwell, Democrat.

Iola, Kan.—Iola gives Joseph A. Taggart, Democrat, for congress in the 2d Kansas district, 200 majority over Ulysses S. Guyer, Republican. By a three to one vote Manhattan adopted the commission form of government.

Fremont, Neb.—The returns from the 2d congressional district show that Dan V. Stevens, Democrat, was elected over Elliott, Republican.

Everett, Wash.—The Rev. B. B. Hazell, Republican, formerly pastor of the First Congregational church, was elected mayor of Everett.

Springfield, Ill.—Local option elections were held in a score of towns in central and southern Illinois. The "dry" won in a majority of the places.

Run on English Bank. London.—A run on the Stepany branch of the National Penny bank, limited, caused a great deal of excitement. Those clamoring for their money were principally foreigners. There was no cause for the run.

Lebary Wounded in Duel. Paris.—Lebary, the famous actor fought a duel with Publicist Malherbe as a result of a press controversy. Malherbe was twice wounded and Lebary once. The combatants refused to be reconciled.

U. S. AID IS ASKED

TURKEY REQUESTS GOVERNMENT TO INTERVENE.

Sultan's Ambassador Files Protest With State Department Against Barbarous Work of Italians.

Washington.—The so-called Italian barbarities in Tripoli finally have been brought officially to the attention of the American government by Turkey, through its ambassador filing a request that the United States intervene in the Tripolitan war.

The Turkish foreign office cabled its ambassador here to protest against the alleged barbarities committed by the Italians in the city of Tripoli and its neighborhood, Turkey taking the ground that every citizen of Tripoli has a right to bear arms and defend the country. The Turkish government makes the point that while the barbarities have heretofore been only matters of newspaper report they are now confirmed as facts.

The acting secretary of state, Mr. Adee, did not feel authorized to make the reply of this government to the Turkish foreign office. He assured the Turkish ambassador, however, that he would transmit the Turkish communication immediately to Secretary of State Knox, who is out of town. The United States is not a member of the European concert and there will naturally be a long discussion of the rights of the United States in the premises before a reply is sent to Turkey.

The reply, therefore, of the United States, if one becomes necessary within a day or two, would be that Turkey should appeal and get redress from the signatories of the Berlin treaty first.

TALKING IT OVER

WOMAN IS IN JAIL

MRS. VERMILYA INCARCERATED AS GIRL CHARGES THAT SHE POISONED SON.

YOUNG MAN'S BODY EXHUMED

Fiancee of Frank Brimmerkamp Swears His Death Resulted From Drug Given Him by Mother Accused of Policeman's Murder.

Chicago.—Following her arraignment at her home on a charge of murder before Municipal Judge Walker, Mrs. Louise Vermilya, accused of poisoning Patrolman Arthur Blasonette, was incarcerated in the county jail. She occupies a cot in the hospital ward closely guarded by one of the matrons. Her case will be placed on trial November 23.

Coincident with this action Assistant State's Attorney Burnham declared that Mrs. Vermilya "and others" will in all probability be indicted for murder when the grand jury convenes next Monday, or as accessories to murder.

Simultaneous with this statement, Coroner Hoffman made public an astounding affidavit signed by Miss Elizabeth Nblaa, former fiancee of Frank Brimmerkamp, Mrs. Vermilya's son, in which she charges that Mrs. Vermilya poisoned Brimmerkamp, her son, by a former husband, and mentions the name of Undertaker Charles C. Boyesen in connection with certain life insurance policies.

Coroner Hoffman exhumed the body of Frank Brimmerkamp and placed the viscera in the hands of Prof. Walter Haines for analysis.

The viscera of Richard T. Smith, who also died in Mrs. Vermilya's house after a short, violent and mysterious illness, is already in the hands of Professor Haines.

Arthur Blasonette, St. father of the dead policeman, told the police that he had visited Mrs. Vermilya's home the day before his son was removed to Mercy hospital, where he died the following day.

"Mrs. Vermilya gave me ham and eggs for breakfast," said he, "and I used pepper on them. Shortly afterward I was stricken with pains in my stomach and they have not entirely left me yet."

"My son, Archie, accompanied me; Mrs. Vermilya gave him a drink of whisky and he also was stricken with pains in his stomach, the cause of which we could not determine."

He has lost nine days on account of these accidents and damaged machine, been delayed five days on account of wind and rested up five days at different points en route.

The American Home

WILLIAM A. RADFORD Editor

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 123 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago, Ill., and will enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

In the winter months, when the ground is covered with snow and the fire burns in the stove, is the season when the family dreams of the new house. Nor is there any more laudable ambition than to own a home. The curse of modern life is the necessity that compels millions to live in rented apartments or houses. And every normal man who pays rent hopes some time to own a home of his own. His children, he feels, have a right to live under a roof of their own, and it is his ambition to give them what is their right.

Once there was a man who decided to build himself a home. This man had a few notions about what he wanted in his house when it was finished, he also knew how much he wanted to expend in the construction of it. He had gone into all the details and had figured out all about the interior trim and the kind of glass he wanted in the house. Every detail he had figured out and he had made up his mind about everything before he consulted his architect.

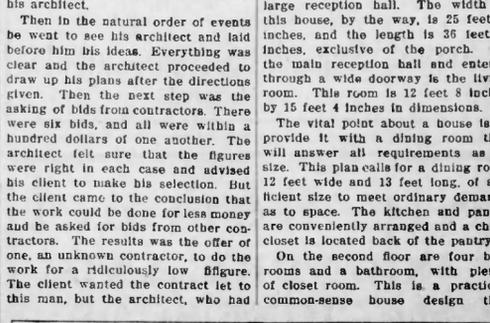

Then in the natural order of events he went to see his architect and laid before him his ideas. Everything was clear and the architect proceeded to draw up his plans after the directions given. Then the next step was the asking of bids from contractors. There were six bids, and all were within a hundred dollars of one another. The architect felt sure that the figures were right in each case and advised his client to make his selection. But the client came to the conclusion that the work could be done for less money and he asked for bids from other contractors. The results was the offer of one, an unknown contractor, to do the work for a ridiculously low figure. The client wanted the contract let to this man, but the architect, who had able for use on summer nights. Entrance to the house is had through a large reception hall. The width of this house, by the way, is 25 feet, 6 inches, and the length is 35 feet, 6 inches, exclusive of the porch. Of the main reception hall and entered through a wide doorway is the living room. This room is 12 feet 8 inches by 15 feet 4 inches in dimensions.

The vital point about a house is to provide it with a dining room that will answer all requirements as to size. This plan calls for a dining room 12 feet wide and 13 feet long, of sufficient size to meet ordinary demands as to space. The kitchen and pantry are conveniently arranged and a china closet is located back of the pantry.

On the second floor are four bedrooms and a bathroom, with plenty of closet room. This is a practical, common-sense house design that experience, advised him to give the work to one of the first bidders because they were men who had reputations for good work. The client was insistent and the job was let to the man of his choice. The house was built, but what a difference from what had been planned. Inferior and cheap grades of materials were used in every possible form and in every item of the construction. There was careless work everywhere, and things were charged in the details to such an extent that when the house was finished

"Football," cried the old gentleman in the Red Lion smokeroom, "is a sin and a disgrace. Football," he continued, thumping the table with his fist, "is an abomination and a blot on civilization. The very name of football," he shouted, sweeping two glasses and a pint pot off the board in his excitement—"the very name of football is enough to make a decent, respectable man go and 'ang himself out of pure disgust!'"

"The gentleman seems to feel rather deeply on the subject," said a commercial traveler, who had been listening to his remarks.

"He do," assented one of the natives.

"Has he lost something at a match?" inquired the commercial.

"No, 'ave so. 'Ad a relative killed at one," replied the other, oracularly. "What relative was it?" asked the querist.

"Is wife's first husband?" was the response.—London Tit-Bits.

Exit the Romance.

"It seems to me," said Battersby, "that we are knocking nearly all the romance and imagination out of life when we commercialize marriage—for that's about what we are doing. I like the good old way of courting, the way that was the classy thing when knights were bold. I like the idea of galloping across the drawbridge and snatching up the girl of my heart and putting her on the saddle before me and galloping away like mad! Wouldn't that suit you?" "No, it wouldn't," replied the other man. "The girl of my heart weighs 160 pounds."

A High Explosive.

These dime museum jokes are awfully old stuff, but every now and then the active disciples of Joe Miller may extract a nearly-new wheeze from the old situation. For instance: "Do you mean to infer that I use cosmetics?" asked the Fat Woman of the Living Skeleton in the next chair. "Far be it from me," answered the skinny one, airily. "Nothing but giant powder would be any use to you."—Boston Traveler.

Dodging the Question.

"Young man," said the Maine merchant, "what are your habits as to intoxicating beverages?" "Excuse me," replied the applicant for employment, "but under the circumstances mightn't we just as well avoid talking politics?"—Washington Star.

First Floor Plan.

It was not satisfactory from any point of view. It was then that the owner woke up to the fact that he had made a mistake. All too late he realized the fact that he had sacrificed the quality and appearance of his house to save a few dollars. The unknown contractor had built the house at the price he had agreed on, but the house was far from being the one the owner had expected.

Now, the experience of this man is typical of that of all home builders who try to get their work done by unknown contractors or at figures too low. A few hundred dollars may be saved at the time, but in the end it is an extremely expensive undertaking. The way to go about building a house is to enter upon the enterprise just as you would in buying a suit of clothes. If you go

DEER SEASON OPEN FROM NOV. 11 TO 30

GAME PLENTIFUL AND ESTIMATE MADE THAT 6,000 ANIMALS WILL BE SLAUGHTERED.

VENISON MUST NOT BE SOLD

New Law Also Prescribes That But One Animal Can Be Killed by Each Hunter—Extra Force of Deputy Game Wardens to Enforce Law.

Madison.—The open season for hunting deer in Wisconsin will begin at sunrise on Nov. 11 and close at sunset on Nov. 30. Within that period it is expected that at least 6,000 deer will be killed. State Game Warden John A. Shotts says that deer are plentiful in the state, and that, if weather conditions are favorable more than 6,000 deer will be killed during the season. He estimates that there are about 20,000 deer in the state. Hunting licenses to the number of 80,000 have been issued since September 1.

State Game Warden Shotts has put about fifteen extra deputy wardens on his force for the deer season. His regular force consists of sixty deputies.

Deer may be killed in all but thirty-eight of the seventy-one counties of the state. The last legislature added the county of Door to the list in which deer may be taken. In Milwaukee county the hunting of deer is prohibited, but it is not likely that there are any wild deer in that county. In Dane county, however, which comes under the ban, there are wild deer, especially in the western part of the county. Other counties in which the taking of deer is prohibited are Grant, Lafayette, Green, Rock, Walworth, Kenosha, Racine, Richland, Sauk, Columbia, Dodge, Waushara, Jefferson, Iowa, Crawford, Buffalo, Washington, Ozaukee, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Green, Monroe, La Crosse, Waushara, Winnebago, Calumet, Manitowish, Outagamie, Brown, Kewaunee, Portage, and Waupaca.

It is unlawful to take deer at night, with dogs, in the water or on the ice of any stream or lake, by the use of pits, traps or snares or any device whatever. It is unlawful to place salt on any trail or spot in order to induce deer to stop and be shot.

It is unlawful for a person to kill or have in his possession more than one deer during the season.

It is unlawful for a person to buy, sell or offer for sale any deer or part of the carcass of a deer at any time. Hunters must hereafter kill their deer themselves instead of buying them from local hunters.

Herfurth of Madison, second vice president of the Wisconsin Teachers' association, whose efforts did much to secure the passage of the new teachers' retirement fund law by the last legislature, have called a meeting of the teachers of the state, for organization under the law.

In accordance with the terms of the act, a board of trustees is to be elected and a salaried secretary, who, with the board of trustees, is to have charge of the retirement fund. The new act takes the place of that voted in the session of 1909 and was framed to overcome the objections to the first act. The meeting to be held during the state convention here will be of great interest to the teachers of the state who are to be benefited by the law.

Thousands of acres of timbered cutover lands in the northern part of the state are covered by wild wintergreen plants. The aid of Congressman J. J. Esch of this city has been enlisted. Prof. Kraemer's scheme is part of a plan for the reforestation of northern Wisconsin and the employment of Indians as forest rangers, agents and timber keepers.

Trainmen in removing the ties found three boys hiding by the right-of-way and they admitted they had tried to wreck the train as they had read stories and seen moving pictures which showed train wrecks and they thought it would be fun to see one.

Winship, 80 years old, hale and hearty and full of vitality. She specializes in social psychology, social and political ethics, sociology and philosophy and is entered as an "adult special" student. This is her first semester at Wisconsin.

"I do this simply for the pleasure I get out of the study," said Mrs. Winship. "I enjoy it. I want to keep my mental faculties active. I am not going to get old. In studying I do not lose any faculties and will keep young. How long will I attend the university? As long as I live."

Mrs. Winship's biography is extremely interesting. She is the widow of Col. J. J. Davis of Freeport, Ill., where she lived for a number of years. Mr. Davis being a member of the Illinois legislature. Col. Davis was killed during the last day's fight of the civil war at Shiloh. The widow later married Mr. Winship, a Racine manufacturer.

The aged "coed" personally knew Lincoln and heard five out of his seven debates with Douglas. Students at the university show a signal interest in their elderly classmate and she is everywhere treated with great respect and admiration.

HOG CHOLERA COSTS $20,000

Racine County Farmers Lose Hundreds of Animals Through Epidemic—Disease Spreading.

Racine.—Farmers and cattle growers of Racine county have suffered a loss estimated at $20,000 because of an epidemic of hog cholera. Veterinary surgeons seem unable to stop the spread, although every known means has been tried. Hundreds of hogs have been inoculated and driven from the pens into the woods.

The hogs were ready for shipment when the epidemic broke out. Not until the disease had spread throughout the county did the farmers know that hog cholera was about and then it was too late to save the porkers. At the county insane asylum 100 hogs died within a few days and the county lost $3,000. The state veterinarian was called in and consulted with local veterinary surgeons and it was decided to inoculate the hogs. Whether this will prove successful remains to be seen.

He says that boiling is the only method which kills the parasites which cause the disease.

Men Candidates Withdraw in Favor of Mrs. Mary E. Bradford of Kenosha—Address of Welcome Delivered by Gov. McGovern.

Mrs. Bradford is a member of the executive committee of the association and has been an active member for years.

Richland Center.—Mrs. Martin McNamara has died from injuries received while burning rubbish, when her clothes caught fire.

Attractive Hats

THE two hats pictured here are of that useful variety known as semi-dress or tailored hats and are designed for general wear. They are of substantial materials well put together. They are quite elaborate enough to harmonize with a dressy costume and not too much trimmed to be worn with the plainest of tailored gowns. Where women do not have occasion to go out a great deal, such hats are the best choice. ("Going out" in this connection signifies filling social engagements.)

It goes without saying, almost, that every woman should walk in the open air for a time, every day of her life. Most of them do, going about the business of life—marketing, shopping or getting out to other lines of endeavor. Very plain hats will answer for wear in the morning, but every woman needs a tailored hat for church—and other occasions demanding the proper attention to her personal appearance. Women going to and from business choose the plainer types of tailored millinery, or rather those made of the most durable millinery materials, such as beavers, felts and cloth covered shapes, with trimming of silk velvet or fancy feathers.

Fig. 1 is a shape which may be had in felt or velvet, with a fancy braided crown. Velvet loops and chenille rosettes and tassels with a narrow crushed band of velvet makes up the trimming. The color combinations possible in this model are very fine. The bonnet-like shape adapts the hat to the faces of older as well as young women.

The moderately large hat of felt, shown in Fig. 2 is faced with velvet and has a velvet collar about the crown. A large handsome pompon of short ostrich tips forms all the trimming it needs. This hat may be made in any good color or combination of colors. It protects the head and eyes and is very generally becoming—a hat to be worn with almost any costume.

We should beware of the "bare-headed" hat that possesses some communities, as it is very bad for the hair. Just now more caps for morning and evening wear are made than for many years. Nevertheless girls and women ride about the city and country roads with the hair unprotected and blowing about to become loaded with filthy dust. The hair is naturally oily and dirt sticks to it. Too frequent washing makes it brittle and injures its texture and color, yet there is no other way of keeping it clean except to protect it from the dust laden air. In the country one may wear sunbonnets, those cut gracefully are as pretty as any head covering ever made. In the city there are well fitting soft street hats that protect the hair and eyes. Mothers should insist on their daughters wearing hats, or caps, to and from school, as a matter of cleanliness. If this precaution is taken, the hair may be kept clean without literally wearing it out with washing. Once a month will be often enough for the shampoo.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

PRETTY BODICE.

Almost any dress material can be made up in this style. The round yoke and collar-band are of tuckered silk, the shaped trimming of fancy silk piped at the edge with some plain dark-colored silk; the sleeves are set into the armhole with a little fullness, and are finished with cuffs of silk to match the trimming.

Materials required: 1 1/2 yard 42 inches wide, 3/4 yard silk 22 inches wide, 1/4 yard dark silk on the cross, 1/4 yard tuckered net.

Do You Know

That when a gown is made of two materials, such as satin and cloth, tulle and satin, or any mingling of the lighter stuffs, the fashion of the dress is extremely ornate, and all sorts of fine needlework are displayed in the tucks, the ruchings and the embroideries of the trimmings, especially of Novels and Serious Books.

Do the public libraries cater exclusively to the novel-reader? Statistics prepared under the supervision of the Budget Exhibit committee prove otherwise. Out of a collection of 1,556,832 volumes, the public libraries contain only 380,927 novels, as against 1,023,854 books for the student and serious reader.—New York World.

Without Limitations.

Our country is the world; our countrymen are mankind.—William Lloyd Garrison.

IDEAS IN SEPARATE SKIRTS

Garment Practically Indispensable and a Wide Choice of Materials May Be Made.

If you would profit by the example of French tailors, you will order separate skirts of one of the following materials:

First, a double-faced cloth that has leaped into important place is being used. It practically trims itself, and will be very popular for this economical reason.

Then there are chevrons and serges for light-weight models, and all colors are in vogue, the neutral shades and dark blue leading.

Heavy fancy suitings are very popular. The English tweeds and mixed suitings are having a tremendous favoritism shown them by the leading houses.

Tailored skirts are not so straight in outline, many showing slashed effects at the side, and all are made walking length.

Some have a slightly ailed waist-band, so that no belt is needed, while others show a normal line, with a stitched band attached to the skirt. On others a back panel is attached, with a modified front edge that extends towards the front, thus forming a belt or girle.

Artificial Flowers.

Artificial flowers are still strictly en vogue. Before condemning the custom of plagiarizing nature consider the satisfaction of knowing the flower which is certain to remain fresh think of the security offered by the fact that it cannot crush and ruin one's favorite gown, or drop and scatter its faded leaves over the floor, a mute suggestion of the year's flagging animation. Then, too, the art of copying flowers has reached such a stage of perfection that only the acute and appraising eye can detect the pretty deception, which is its own excuse.

Pots and Kettles.

I saw a friend impatiently cleaning a bean pot. I said to her: "Fill that with cold water; put in a teaspoonful of baking soda; cover and set in the oven. When it has boiled half an hour it will be as easy to wash as a coffee cup." Clean fish and meat roasting pans in the same way.—Good House Keeping.

Dunn—Ah, you are in this time. I've called five times with this bill, but you've been out. Owens—Indeed? Well, you are out this time. Fine morning, isn't it?

A SERIOUS ERROR.

Many a case of kidney disease has proven fatal because the symptoms were not recognized. If you suffer from backache or bladder irregularities, follow the advice of G. H. Tuttle, Rogers street, Broken Bow, Neb., says Mr. Tuttle: "I was confined to my home for weeks, unable to walk more than ten feet at a time. The doctor said I had returned with greater severity than before. Being urged, I used Doan's Kidney Pills and received almost instant relief. In a few weeks' time I was completely cured."

Summoned as Witnesses. Whenever Rev. Solo Jefferson called on Aunt Candace it was her custom to set a plate of gingerbread before him and then ply him with what she called "jigloous spoundins."

"Wha fo' does de Lawd send epidemics into de land?" she asked him one day.

"When folks get so bad dey must be removed, some of 'em, Sist' Candace, den de Lawd permits de coming ob an epidemic," said Mr. Jefferson and took a large bite of gingerbread.

"Uh-h!" said Aunt Candace. "Ef dat's so, how come de good people gets removed along wid de bad ones?"

"De good ones are summoned fo' witnesses," said Rev. Solo, fortified in spirit and clarified in mind by the gingerbread, although slightly embarrassed in his utterance. "De Lawd gibs every man a fair trial."—Youth's Companion.

Arms Made to Order.

A United States senator, worth millions which he made rapidly, has a collection of arms recently acquired. He gave a large dinner party one night. His coat of arms was emblazoned in gold on the top of the dinner cards. The lady who went in with the senator, the wife of another senator, observed the insignia when she picked up her dinner card and exclaimed: "How pretty!"

"Yes," replied the senator proudly. "I think it is rather nice. My wife invented it."—Saturday Evening Post.

RED.

It's the Red Blood Corpuscles That Proper Food Makes.

An Ohio woman says Grape-Nuts food gave her good red blood and restored the roses of youth to a complexion that had been muddy and blotchy. She says:

"For 10 years I had stomach trouble which produced a breaking out on my face. The doctors gave it a long Latin name, but their medicines failed to cure it. Along with this I had frequent headaches, nervousness and usually pain in my stomach after meals. I got disgusted with the drugs, stopped them and coffee off short, and quit eating everything but fruit and Grape-Nuts, with Postum for my table beverage.

"The headaches,

In case a landowner sees fit he can remove the fence along the highway or allow it to go down and thereby annoy the general public who have to drive over it. The law does not require the maintenance of a fence in sections of country where there are no fences. It is becoming a common practice not to have a fence along the road, but where a man allows his fence to go down expressly to be torn to go down, seeking to aggravate temptations, seeking to aggravate those who must use the roads, is decidedly an undesirable citizen.

Institutes Planned for Wisconsin Farmers

Many communities that have applied for farmer's institutes this year cannot be accommodated. Supt. George McKernan, located at the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin at Madison, reports that 133 meetings have been planned for this winter. These are located in almost every county in the state. In fact there are only two or three counties that will not have institutes. In some cases towns that had the institutes last year will be the meeting place again this year but many of the meetings are planned for new locations.

ERUPTION COVERED BODY

"Three years ago this winter I had a breaking out that covered my whole body. It itched so it seemed as if I should go crazy. It first came out in little pimples on my back and spread till it covered my whole body and limbs down to my knees, also my arms down to my elbows. Where I scratched it made sores, and the terrible itching and burning kept me from sleeping. I tried several remedies all to no purpose. Then I concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, also the Resolvent, for about four months, and they completely cured me of eczema. I have had no return of the disease since. I never had a good night's rest after the skin eruption first broke out till I commenced using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I had only used them a few days before I could see they were beginning to heal, and the terrible itching was gone.

"Those that lived in the house at the time know how I suffered, and how the Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me. I never take a bath without using the Cuticura Soap, and I do not believe there are better remedies for any skin disease than the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 5 K, Boston.

SYNOPSIS.

Jack Keith, a Virginian, now a border plainsman, is riding along the Santa Fe trail on the lookout for roaming parties of savages. He notices a camp fire at a distance and then sees a team attached to a wagon and at full gallop pursued by men on ponies. When Keith reaches the wagon the raiders have massacred two men and departed. He searches the victims finding papers and a pocket with a woman's portrait. He resolves to hunt down the murderers. Keith is arrested at Carson City, charged with the murder, his accuser being a ruffian named Black. Keith is jailed, realizing the peril of swift border justice. A companion in his cell is a negro, who tells him he is Neb and that he knew the Keith family back in Virginia. Neb says one of the murdered men was John Sibley, the other Gen. Willis Waite, formerly an officer in the Confederate army. The plainsman and Neb escape from the cell, and later the two fugitives become lost in the sand desert. They come upon a cabin and find its lone occupant to be a young girl, whom Keith recognizes as the girl he saw at Carson City. The girl explains that she came there in search of a brother who had deserted from the army. Mr. Hawley induced her to come to the cabin while he sought to locate her brother. Hawley appears, and Keith in hiding recognizes him as Black Bart. Hawley tries to make love to the girl. There is a terrific battle in the darkened room in which Keith overcomes Black Bart. Horses are appropriated, and the girl whines that her name is Hope. Joins in the escape. Keith explains his situation and the fugitives make for Fort Laramie, where the girl is left with the hotel landlady.

CHAPTER XV.

Again Christie Maclaire.

Keith possessed sufficient means for several months of idleness, and even if he had not, his reputation as a plains scout would insure him employment at any of the more important scattered army posts. Reliable men for such service were in demand. The restlessness of the various Indian tribes, made specially manifest by raids on the more advanced settlements, and extending over a constantly widening territory, required continually interchanging of communication between commanders of detachments. Bold and reckless spirits had flocked to the frontier in those days following the Civil War, yet all were not of the type to encourage confidence in military authorities. Keith had already frequently served in this capacity, and abundantly proved his worth under rigorous demands of both endurance and intelligence, and he could feel assured of permanent employment whenever desired. Not a few of the more prominent officers he had met personally during the late war—including Sheridan, to whom he had once borne a flag of truce—yet the spirit of the Confederacy still lingered in his heart; not in any feeling of either hatred or revenge, but in an unwillingness to serve the blue uniform, and a memory of antagonism which would not entirely disappear. He had surrendered at Appomattox, conquered, yet he could not quite adjust himself to becoming companion-in-arms with those against whom he had fought valiantly for four years. Some of the wounds of that conflict still smarted. A natural soldier, anxious to help the harassed settlers, eager enough to be actively employed, he still held aloof from army connections except as a volunteer in case of emergency.

Just now other considerations caused him to desire freedom. He had been accused of murder, imprisoned for it, and in order to escape, had been compelled to steal horses, the most heinous crime of the frontier. Not only for his own protection and safety must the truth of that occurrence at the Cimmaron Crossing be made clear, but he also had now a personal affair with "Black Bart" Hawley to be permanently settled. They had already clashed twice, and Keith intended they should meet again. Memory of the girl was still in his mind as he and Neb rode silently forth on the black prairie, leading the extra horse behind him. He endeavored to drive the recollection from his mind, so he might concentrate it upon plans for the future, but somehow she mysteriously wove her own personality into those plans, and he was ever passing the pleading in her eyes, and listening to the soft Southern accent of her voice. Of late years he had been unaccustomed to association with women of high type, and there was that touch of the gentleman about this girl which had awakened deep interest. Of course he knew that in her case it was merely an inheritance of her past, and could not truly represent the present Christie Maclaire of the music halls. However fascinating she might be, she could not be worthy any serious consideration. In spite of his rough life the social spirit of the old South was implanted in his blood, and no woman of that class could hold him captive. Yet, some way, she refused to be banished or left behind. Even Neb must have been obsessed by a similar spirit, for he suddenly observed:

"That an' a suttin' a mighty fine gal, Massa Jack. I ain't seen nothin' to compare wid her since I quit ol' Virginia—'deed I ain't."

Keith glanced back at his black satellite, barely able to distinguish the fellow's dim outlines.

"You think her a lady, then?" he questioned, giving thoughtless utterance to his own imagination.

"Deed I does!" the thick voice seemed to vibrate. "I reck'n I know de real quality when I see it. I see 'society' wid quality white folks befo'."

"But, Neb, she's a singer in dance halls."

"I don't believe it, Massa Jack."

"Well, I wouldn't if I could help it. She don't seem like that kind, but I recognized her as soon as I got her face in the light. She was at the Gaiety in Independence, de last time I was there. Hawley knew her too, and called her by name."

"A bit as a cup as coffee for ye, honey," she explained, crossing to the his pony's flank, unable to answer, yet still unconvinced.

"I reck'n both ob yer might be mis-lookin' yet."

"Not likely," and Keith's brief laugh was not altogether devoid of bitterness.

"We both called her Christie Maclaire, and she didn't even deny the name; she was evidently not proud of it, but there was no denial that she was the girl."

"Dat wasn't like no name dat you called her when we was ridin'."

"No; she didn't approve of the other, and told me to call her Hope, but I reckon she's Christie Maclaire all right."

They rode on through the black, silent night as rapidly as their tired horses would consent to travel. Keith led directly across the open prairie, guiding his course by the stars, and purposely avoiding the trails, where some suspicious eye might mark their passage. His first object was to get safely away from the scattered settlements lying east of Carson City. Beyond their radius he could safely dispose of the horses they rode, disappear from view, and find time to develop future plans. As to the girl—well, he would keep his word with her, of course, and see her again sometime. There would be no difficulty about that, but otherwise she should retain no influence over him. She belonged rather to Hawley's class than his.

It was a lonely, tiresome ride, during which Neb made various efforts to talk, but finding his white companion uncommunicative, at last relapsed into rather silent silence. The horses plodded on steadily, and when daylight finally dawned, the two men found themselves in a depression leading down to the Smoky River. Here they came to a water hole, where they could safely hide themselves and their stock. With both Indians and white men to be guarded against, they took all the necessary precautions, picketing the horses closely under the rock shadows, and not venturing upon building any fire. Neb threw himself on the turf and was instantly asleep, but Keith climbed the steep side of the gully, and made searching survey of the horizon. The wide arc to the south, east and west revealed nothing to his searching eyes, except the dull brown of the slightly rolling plains, with no life apparent save some distant grazing antelope, but to the north extended more broken country with a faint glimmer of water between the hills. Satisfied they were unobserved, he slid back again into the depression. As he turned to lie down he took hold of the saddle belonging to Hawley's horse. In the unbuckled holster his eye observed the glimmer of a bit of white paper. He drew it forth, and gazed at it unthinkingly. It was an envelope, robbed of its contents, evidently not sent through the mails, as it had not been stamped, but across its face was plainly written, "Miss Christie Maclaire." He stared at it, his lips firm set, his gray eyes darkening. If he possessed any doubts before as to her identity, they were all thoroughly dispelled now.

As he lay there, with head pillowed on the saddle, his body aching from fatigue yet totally unable to sleep, staring open-eyed into the blue of the sky, the girl that had left behind awoke from uneasy slumber, aroused by the entrance of Mrs. Murphy. For an instant she failed to comprehend her position, but the strong brogue of the energetic landlady broke in sharply:

"A bit as a cup as coffee for ye, honey," she explained, crossing to the her, but she had lived on the border too long to be ingenuitous. The other lifted her head, flinging back her loosened hair with one hand.

"Mr. Keith dropped it," she exclaimed. "Where do you suppose he got it?" Then she gave a quick, startled cry, her eyes opening wide in horror. "The Cimmaron Crossing, the murder at the Cimmaron Crossing! He—he told me about that; but he never showed me this—this. Do you—do you think—"

Her voice failed, but Kate Murphy gathered her into her arms. "Cry here, honey," she said, as if to a child. "Shure an' Ol'm tellin' ye it niver was Jack Keith what did it—murder ain't his style."

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH YOUR BABY?

The young mother—and many an old one, too—is often puzzled to know the cause of her child's ill nature. The loudness of his crying does not necessarily indicate the seriousness of its trouble. It may have nothing more than a matter with it than a headache or a feeling of general dullness. But as a preliminary measure you are safe in trying a mild laxative.

Nine times out of ten, you will find it is all the child needs, for its restlessness and peevishness are perhaps due to the stricture of the bowels, and once that has been remedied the headache, the sluggishness and the many other evidences of constipation and indigestion will quickly disappear.

Don't give the little one salts, cathartic pills or nasty waters, for these will act as purgatives, and they are not strong for a child. In the families of Mrs. E. A. Thelin, Marvel, N. D., and Mrs. Henry Jensen, Granton, Wis., the only laxative given is Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been found to answer most perfectly all the purposes of a laxative and its very mildness and freedom from griping recommend it especially for the use of children, women, and old folks generally—people who need a gentle bowel stimulant. Thousands of American families have been enthusiastic about it for more than a quarter of a century.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 201 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

No Refreshments for Him

Pedestrian's Hopes, at First High, Dashed When Explanation Was Made.

A pedestrian in North Carolina one morning came upon a mountain cabin which gave unusual evidence of rural industry. There was a flourishing patch of wild mustard at the rear of the premises, a bantam hen on the front doorstep, and something that resembled a milking stool overturned on the hard-packed, yellow clay of the yard.

Although it was but ten o'clock in the morning, the traveler decided to stop and ask for refreshments, since he might not come upon anything so promising in many hours.

The tall, simply-clothed, and apparently meagerly-dressed woman who came to the door looked at first amazed and then resentful when her visitor made known his request.

"We've et," she drawled, in a rebellious tone. "Jim's gone to town to fetch co'n meal."

Infering from this that there was no solid food in the larder, the man cheerfully suggested a glass of milk.

Again the woman shook her head, while her sallow visage lengthened. "Jim went an' forgot to milk the cow. He won't be back till evening."

This seemed to be the traveler's opportunity, both to exercise his gallantry and to obtain a glass of the pure and unadulterated beverage which he coveted.

"I'll be glad to milk her for you," he offered, looking hopefully at the overturned stool in the yard. "I was brought up on a farm."

Again the woman shook her head. "Ye ain't, stranger." This time her resentment was tinged with futile regret. "Jim rid de caow to town"—Youth's Companion.

An Early Suffragette.

There has just been found up in Edinburgh, Scotland, the trust made by Miss Mary Dick, sister of Mr. William Dick, the founder and chief benefactor of the Royal Dick Veterinary college. She was a strong personality, kindly disposed, active and possessed of business habits. She personally managed the house property and fees, and conducted a large correspondence, often on public questions. She was born in Whitehouse Close in June, 1791. She used to relate that she had been offered the perusal of several of Scott's novels while yet in manuscript; but on political grounds declined to read them both then and afterward. She advocated female suffrage half a century ago. At the age of twelve she crossed the Forth in an open boat, paying two shillings for her passage, part of which counted in her being carried from the boat to the landing place on the boatman's stout dars.

COLDS BREED CATARRH

Her Terrible Experience Shows How Peruna Should Be in Every Home to Prevent Colds.

Mrs. C. S. Sagerser, 1311 Woodland Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes: "I feel it a duty to you and to others that may be afflicted like myself, to speak for Peruna. My trouble first came after the grippe eight or nine years ago, a gathering in my head and neuralgia. I suffered most all the time. My nose, ears and eyes were badly affected for the last two years. I think from your description of internal catarrh that I must have had that also. I suffered very severely. "Nothing ever relieved me like Peruna. It keeps me from taking cold. With the exception of some deafness I am feeling perfectly cured. I am forty-six years old. "I feel that words are inadequate to express my praise for Peruna."

Immensity of Nature. They were on a trip in Switzerland, and had that day braved all dangers and ascended one of the highest points in the Alps. He was very fat, and as he stood panting and mopping his brow at the top of the mountain, he turned to his wife and said, with pathos in his voice: "See, dear, how small one is in the face of the immensity of nature." "Small, indeed!" answered his better half. "Why, you're standing in front of me, hiding the whole of Mont Blanc and the best part of the valley of Chamoni!"—Exchange.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

Late in the fall is a good time to hatch spring chicks in some sections.

Shorts are more economical feed for sows and growing pigs than corn.

The deepest mudhole and steepest hill measure the real distance to market.

Turkeys will soon become weak and subject to disease where inbreeding is practiced.

Drenching is a poor way to give doses of liquid medicine to any farm animal.

Where there is plenty of skimmed milk, beef scraps for hens need not be bought.

When the hogs fail to gain at least a pound a day it is time to say good-bye to them.

Get your cows started right for the coming cold weather and they will do well all winter.

Build a warm, dry and otherwise comfortable room for the calves for the cold weather.

When selecting a cow for the dairy look and see if the eye of the animal is large and full.

This is the time of the year when dairy cattle require better care and more liberal feeding.

A mule is no more prone to kick than a horse unless he is taught to do so by bad treatment.

Always have a great deal of respect for the bull. His past conduct is no guarantee of future gentleness.

When fattening for the market, do it quickly; push all the feed down the hogs they will stand for.

To thoroughly clean milk utensils they first should be rinsed with cold water, to remove all particles of milk.

The successful feeding of lambs depends largely on their being offered great variety of food while in the yards.

It is now a well known fact that the average pure-bred will produce more milk than the average grade cow.

Peach trees can be planted any time between last and first frost; the earlier in the winter they are planted the better.

Keep all the rotten fruit well cleaned up around the orchard, as these constitute the winter quarters of numerous orchard pests.

If all of the garden space is to grow profitable crops, no large trees must stand closer than thirty to fifty feet from the garden fence.

The calf that is expected to develop into a strong and profitable cow should be given all the chance possible during its early period of growth.

The best results are usually obtained from the work that is systematized and most carefully planned. This is not always the hardest work on the farm.

The best way to stop a hog from eating chickens is to put it on the market as soon as possible, since it will soon lead other hogs into the bad habit.

The best milking pail is the one so constructed that it will reduce to a minimum the amount of dirt falling into the milk during the process of milking.

An old horseman says that the chief cause of colic in horses, or the cause of the largest per cent. of these cases, is brought through long abstinence from water.

Do not neglect to secure a good supply of fine dust for the fowls during the coming winter, while the ground is yet dry and there is dust in the road.

There is much difference in the individuality of cows and their powers to produce milk as there is in men and their powers to perform certain kinds of work.

The profit in a cow comes from the extra amount of milk she will yield over what she ordinarily gives on common pasture or the coarse feeds usually given her.

The poultry raiser who notes his flock carefully, taking into account what they are doing, and capable of doing, ought to know more how to feed and what to feed, than anyone advising at long range.

Poultry experts claim that the ordinary hen averages only eighty eggs per year, whereas she ought to lay at least one hundred and fifty. That is, she ought to lay twice as many eggs as she does now. The aim of the fancy poultry man has always been to increase egg production and he is succeeding to a great extent, for the two hundred-egg year hen is now no longer a rarity.

WINTER IS COMING, BATTEN THE CRACKS.

Sour milk is caused by dirt and warmth.

What water is to a person a dust bath is to a hen.

See that your fowls are absolutely free from vermin.

If the feathers are to be sold, ducks must be dry picked.

There is profit in breeding turkeys up to the fifth year.

The value of butter increases as the quality improves.

A good horseman never trots a draft horse, even when he has no load.

Laying hens need from 15 to 25 per cent meat scraps added daily to their mash.

Don't feed hay or other forage, which will raise a dust, before or during milking.

Tainted, musty or mouldy feeds should never be served in the dairy herd rations.

If we have not access to road dust, we may take some field earth, fine and free from lumps.

The best market for skim milk on the farm is afforded by good dairy calves and quick growing pigs.

If the cream in the churn foams up and runs over, the churn is too full or the cream is improperly ripened.

Simply because a calf is given her ration of milk each day, it does not signify that she does not need water also.

Cholera and other diseases of swine attack herds which are in poor condition and consequently most susceptible.

If your horse is troubled with indigestion have the animal clipped and its teeth attended to by a veterinarian.

Until recent years the poultry business, especially on the farms, was of so little importance that not much attention was paid to it.

The egg production of the United States is given as $400,000,000 for the past year. The entire poultry production is put at $600,000,000.

Prune out old canes of raspberries and blackberries and burn them. Thin the hills to three or four shoots. Cultivate, and add some manure to the soil.

The red mites or lice do not stay on the fowls during the daytime, but hide in cracks during the day, sailing forth after dark to seek their prey.

Orchardists who have never used dynamite should be sure to get all possible information from the manufacturers of the explosive before attempting to use it.

If celery is to be brought into the cellar for winter storage, cut the top root, lift it from the ground and then with a strong knife cut off the branching roots and most of the earth.

Lousy fowls are necessarily weaker than those that are free from lice, and strength and vitality are quite important factors while the fowls are producing their new suit of clothes.

If your fowls have the range of the fields and orchards and can pick up a number of insects and worms daily, you will not need to bother much about the meat supply in the ration.

Although flying about and appearing of mature age, birds may be distinguished as squabs by the squeaking noise they make, which is always the call of the squab.

The raising of poultry on the farm or in conjunction with fruit growing, can be made very profitable with the same kind of management that is devoted to raising good stock or good grain.

Everything should be kept as clean on the little chicks' feeding floors as if it is on the floor of the kitchen. If this is done the little birds will never have gaps or many of the chicken diseases.

If you are feeding clover, remember to cut down the bulk. This is a hearty food and you can't use as much of it as you can of timothy without doing your horse harm.

In filling a silo attention must be given to the outer edges, for when the silage begins to settle there is always a draw away from the wall, leaving an air space that makes the silage spoil.

There is no better germ slayer than an ounce of carbolic acid added to a pail of whitewash. Give the walls and ceiling of the hen house a good coating, working it in rather thick in all cracks and crevices.

There is not a farm in the country where farming is seriously attempted at all where it is necessary to try to raise chickens without decent provision for the safety of the flock and for the convenience of the attendant.

Have a gunny sack soaked with crude oil hanging over the hole made for the pigs in the farrowing pen to run through, just high enough to rub their backs as they run through. This will be sufficient to keep them disinfected from lice, etc.

Power farming is as certain to come as is next Fourth of July. It means a lowered cost of production, and an increased profit. It makes possible the large farm well-tilled, and substitutes expensive horsepower for reliable and

Her Infinite Variety. A woman smoked a cigarette, and made thereby a sensation. Such a sensation, in fact, that shortly another woman was smoking, and then another.

But as more and more women smoked the sensation they made grew less and less, until at length they made no sensation at all. That ended it.

"Well, what next?" quoth woman-kind, for age could not wither her nor custom stale her infinite variety.—Puck.

Test of Real Greatness. Columbus had made the egg stand on end. "But could you unscramble it?" demanded the mortified courtiers.

Which merely accentuates the great truth that nobody is springing any real puzzles nowadays.

SHE SUFFERED FIVE YEARS

Finally Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Erie, Pa.—"I suffered for five years from female troubles and at last was almost helpless. I went to three doctors and they did me no good, so my sister advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I had taken only two bottles I could see a big change, so I took six bottles and I am now strong and well again. I don't know how to express my thanks for the good it has done me and I hope all suffering women will give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It was worth its weight in gold."—Mrs. J. P. ENDLICH, R. F. D. No. 7, Erie, Pa.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

A CUP OF BONANO IS MADE IN A MINUTE

Don't be the slave of habit. You can improve your health, feel better and be better by being your own master. Just because you have been drinking coffee and tea, don't be so prejudiced that you won't try something else which is better for you.

This is the Twentieth Century and new things—better things—are coming forward every day.

BONANO, made from fruit only, is one of the newer better things. It is the best thing in a table drink,—the quickest prepared and the most economical.

If you suffer from headaches, constipation, nervousness or stomach trouble, discontinue drinking coffee and tea and use BONANO for a week, and note how much better you feel.

A New York lady writes:

"I love BONANO and know it is doing me and my husband a world of good. I now sleep well all the time. I am so happy to know of BONANO. Last summer I had indigestion so had the doctor said I must stop drinking coffee, which I did. BONANO came into my life just the time I wanted it, and I assure you I will advance the cause all I can."

BONANO is packed in cans and sells for 25c, enough for 75 big cups. Order a can of your grocer today. You will never regret it.

Trial package makes 10 cups. Sent postpaid for 2c stamp.

"Twin" Pedestal Extension Tables

Up to this time, Pedestal Tables have been made with a single pedestal, but their shortcomings are so many that one manufacturer has succeeded in overcoming them by using two pedestals—each oval or oblong and complete in itself. They are called

They are superior to others because:
No troublesome lock necessary. Gaping or standing open at bottom impossible. As perfect extended as when closed.
In extending a "Twin" to 6 ft. the tops open without spreading pedestals. Prevents marring of finish on legs. If extended farther than this the pedestals spread, giving the most rigid support possible without exposing unfinished surfaces, locks, bolts, etc., as is the case with the single pedestal tables, a feature worthy of your attention, especially when entertaining friends at luncheon or if table is continually used, in the extended position.

"Twins" are made in numerous designs and finishes.
