OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Prosperous Wisconsin to Poverty Stricken Belgium

In response to a request from many people of the state the Wisconsin Advancement Association has consented to conduct a state-wide campaign for cash, food and clothing for the relief of the people of Belgium who are now at the point of starvation.

The more recent information magnifies the distress that prevails among the Belgium people, many of whom are stranded in other countries where the burden has passed the breaking point but the bulk of whom are even unable to leave the country.

Foot-and-Mouth Disease Quarantines Do Not Interfere With The Poultry Market

The rise of price of poultry of all kinds which is reported to have taken place in various states can not, in the opinion of experts in the Department of Agriculture, be in any way attributed to the outbreak of the foot-and-mouth disease.

Wisconsin Potatoes and Belgian Sufferers

It is a strange situation when Wisconsin desires to give a cargo of potatoes to the starving people of Belgium and they are declined from fear of importing potato diseases from a state that is free from such disease.

To the Citizens of Kewaskum

THE TRUTH

We are about to give photoplays at the Opera House in your city commencing Thursday, December 3rd.

We are going to give these shows every Thursday evening. The prices will be 10 and 15 cents.

We are going to put on the best kind of a photoplay that we can give you within the bounds of reason.

Nothing but first class features will be run. This is not a road show, we mean to stay in your city.

If you support us we will give you anything you ask. We do not promise anything. You will do the judging.

If we don't do as we advertise in this paper we can't expect your patronage. That's all we have to say in this issue. Watch for these advertisements they will appear in this paper every week.

HUMOR OF A CENTURY AGO
Seems Not Always to Have Been in Best of Taste, But This is a Good Story.
Toole's was a brand of humor that went out with the pun and a practical joke. The things the comedian and his friends did off the stage, as a matter of course, and "to raise a laugh," would today bring them within the clutches of the law on many occasions. The pun was less devastating as a rule.
Sims Reeves told the story in his reminiscences how he was playing the part of Tom Tug in company with his friend Toole, who was also a member of the cast. In "The Waterman," he explains, a word or two of a gag was held to be permissible; and, partly to amuse the audience, partly to astonish his fellow-actor, Reeves, in a certain scene, in reply to Toole's question, "What's the meaning of all this?" replied, "The meaning of it is that you've been made a fool of, and I'm a happy fellow."
"Johnnie looked very much surprised," Reeves relates, "and as a popular comedian does not, if he can help it, allow himself to be scored off, he, after a moment's reflection—during which he must have suffered the keenest agony—replied, 'So it sima.'"
SEEK TO PRESERVE EAGLE
King of Birds Does Much Damage, but Swiss Authorities Decide to Protect it.
Eagles are gradually disappearing from the peaks of Switzerland, and the grand council has found it necessary to take steps to prevent the complete destruction of these noble birds of prey. Till recently eagles were methodically hunted all the year 'round in the Bernese Oberland, and last year a whole family of eagles was destroyed so ruthlessly at Murren that the cantonal authorities were requested to intervene. Unfortunately, since the measure of protection, a pair of eagles in the Muota Valley have destroyed so many sheep and goats that the inhabitants have requested the authorities of Schwyz to repeal the enactment. The Society for the Protection of the Countrybirds has endeavored to calm the agitation by giving the damaged proprietors an indemnity of 200 francs. The sum has been considered insufficient and the discontent has increased. The people of the valley demand not only the right to hunt the eagle, but also a reward for each bird killed. Nevertheless, the cantonal authorities have decided to maintain the protection for a year.

PRINCE OF WALES AT FRONT

He Wins the Praise of Officers and Men by His Unassuming Zeal.

North France.—The prince of Wales, now on Field Marshal Sir John French's staff at the front, is kept busy by his military duties, so busy that his big motor car has been brought across from England to enable him to get around faster. He is winning the praise

KAISER KEPT EYE ON BANKS

Told President of Reichsbank a Year Ago to Be Ready for Trouble.

Paris.—The Temps says it is a fact which is well known to French financiers that a year ago the Kaiser summoned the president of the Reichsbank and asked him: "In case a grave international political event should arise tomorrow would the German banks be able to pay their deposits?" The president replied that such an event would mean bankruptcy. The Kaiser then said: "Well, arrange it so that if I ask you the same question soon you will be able to give me a different answer."

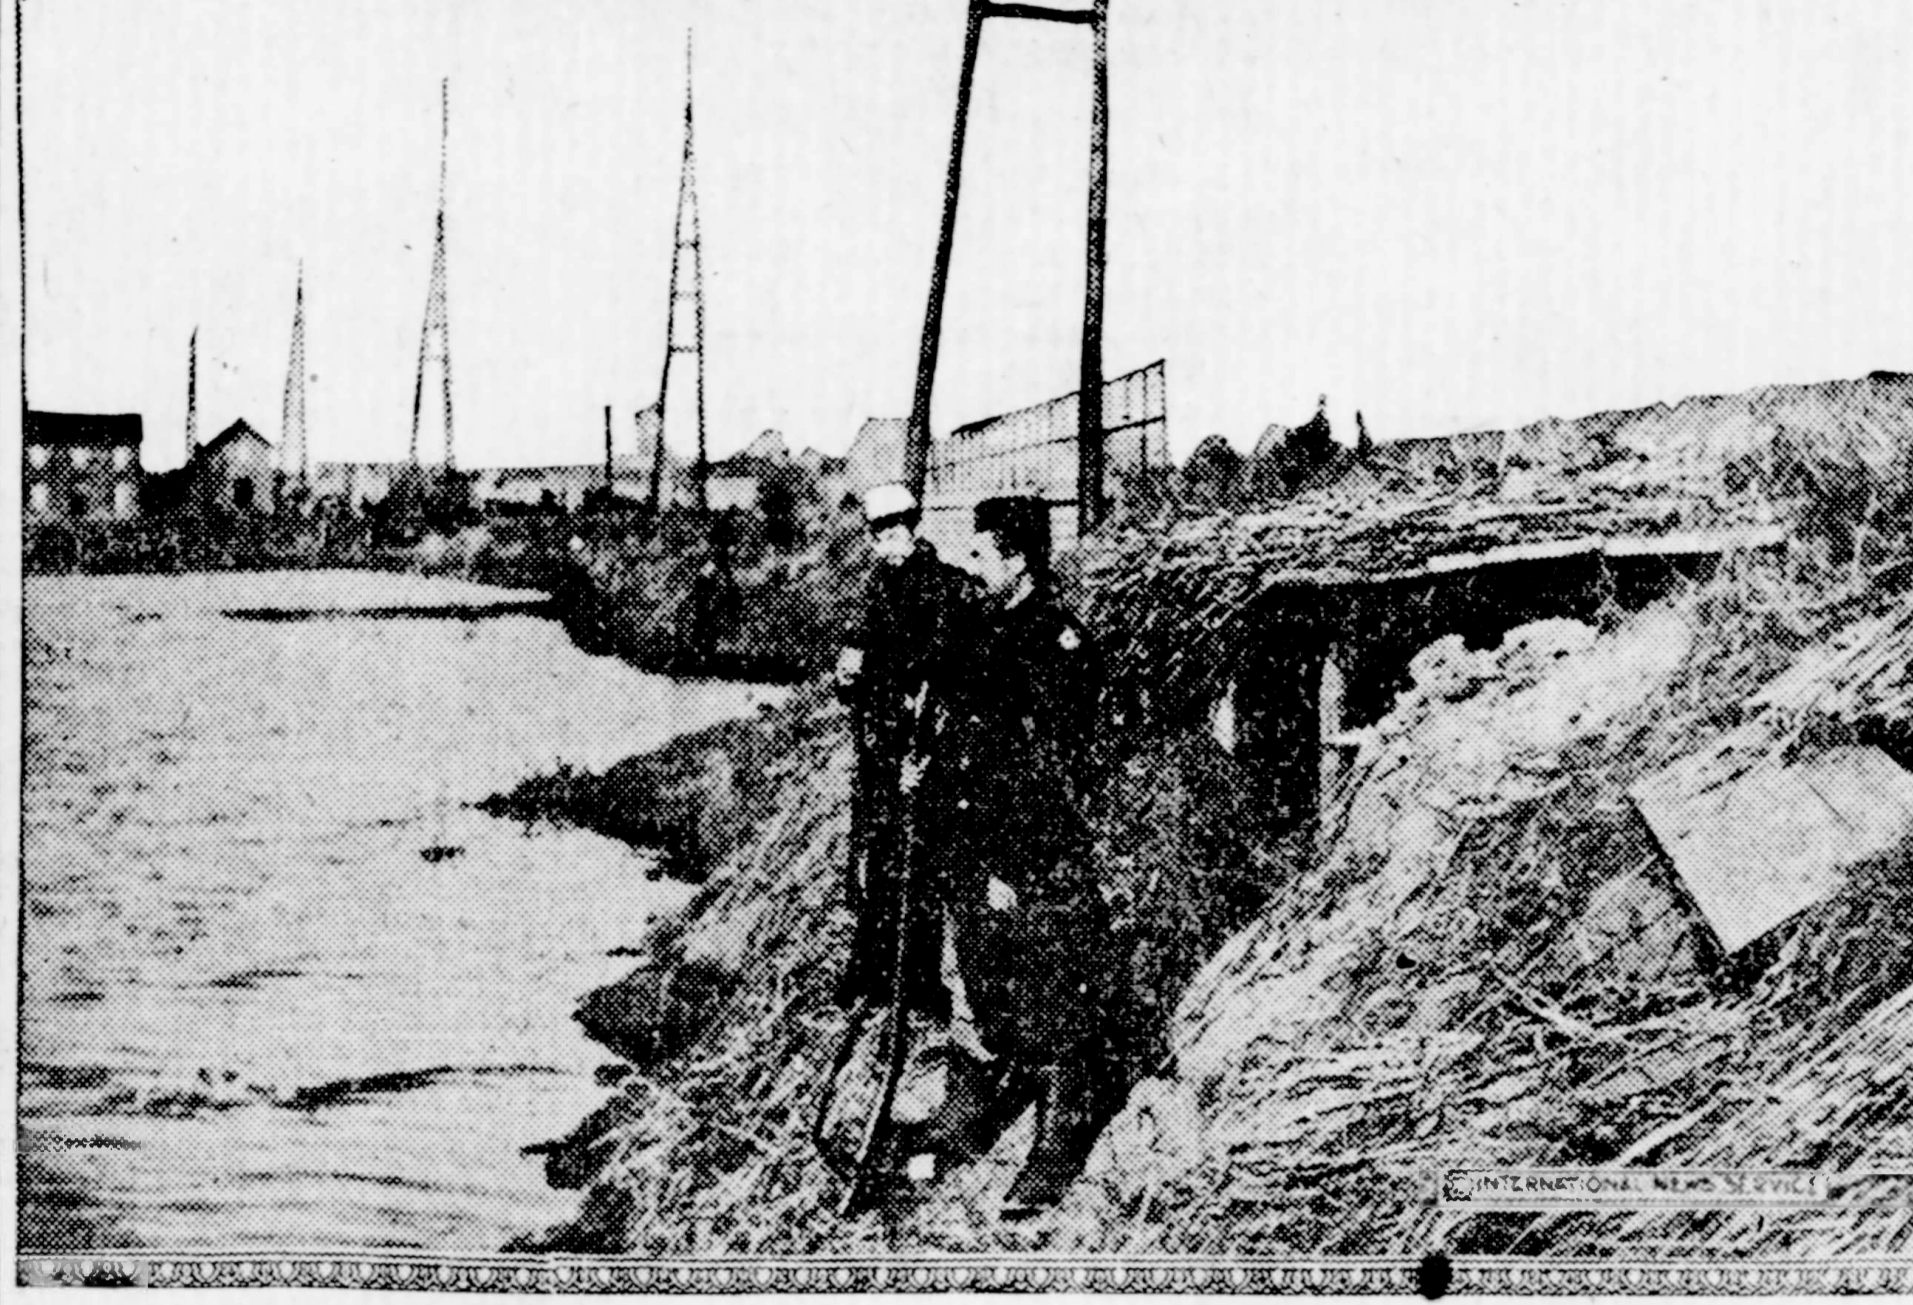

The president of the Imperial bank has ever since insisted that the German banks kept an active watch on their liquid assets. At the beginning of June he convoked the representatives of the great financial establishments of Berlin to refund them of this necessity.

TWO ROMANCES OF THE WAR

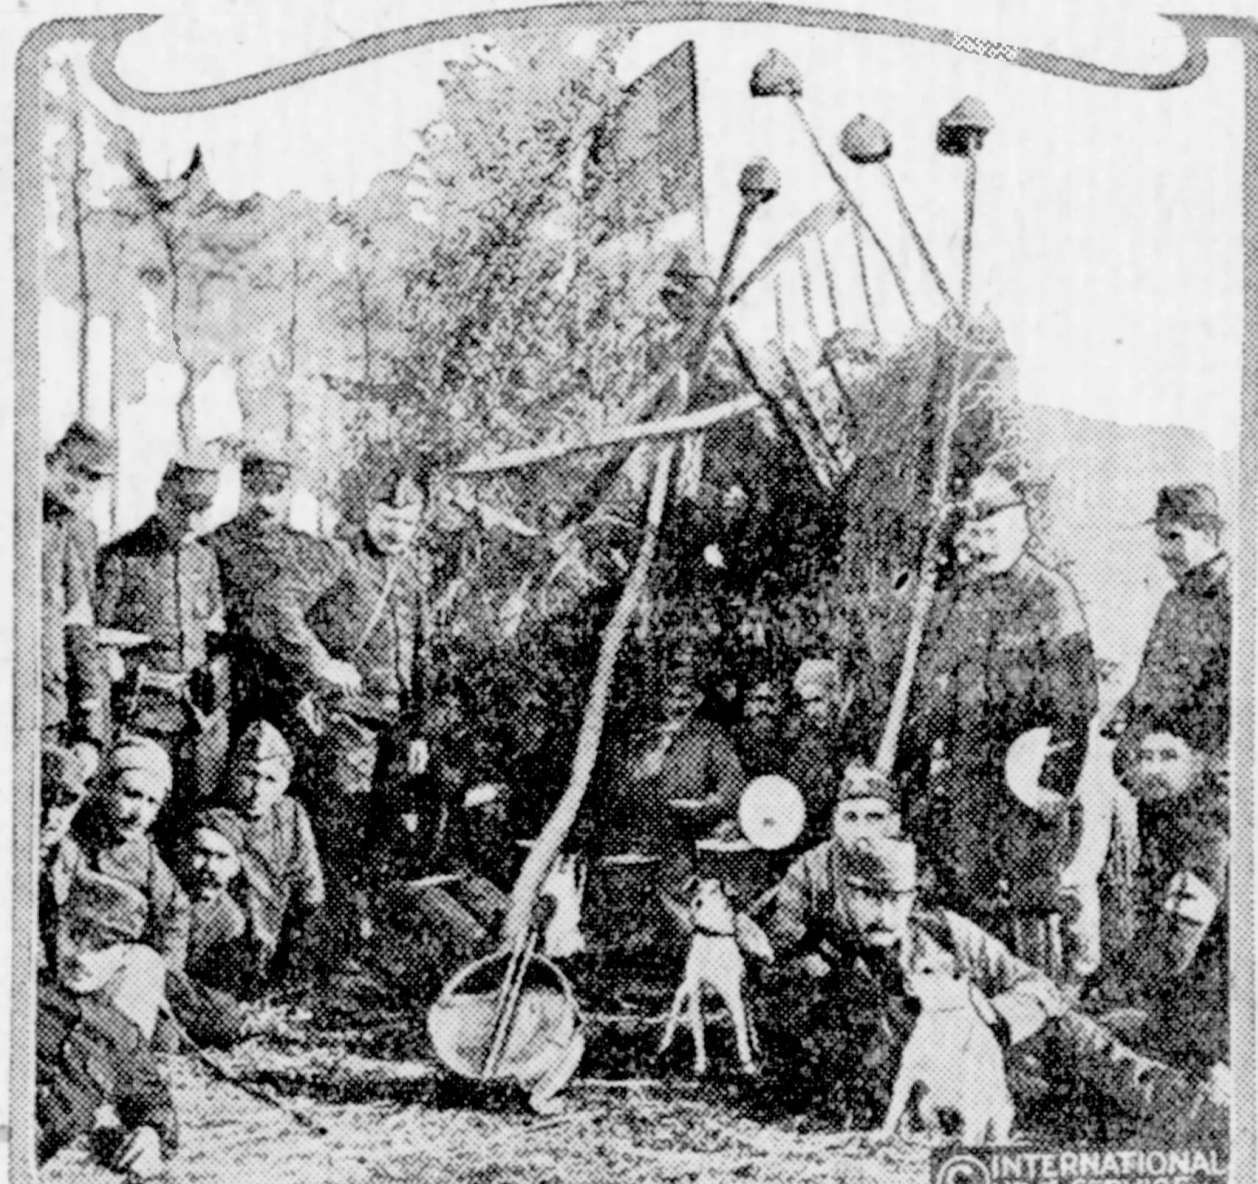

Woman Adopts Nephew and Niece, and Long-Separated Brothers Meet in England.

London.—Here are two romances of the war. A boy and girl, Belgian refugees, at Swansea, were adopted by a man and wife of Abercromby. The children now prove to be those of the wife's dead sister, who went to Belgium as a governess years ago. A locket which was found on the little girl led to the discovery.

There has been at a hospital in Cardiff a remarkable reunion of two brothers who had not seen each other in 16 years. One is Martin Gaffey, of the Second Leinster regiment, the other John Gaffey, of the First Connaught rangers. One of the nurses noticed the coincidence in names and this led to their meeting. When John joined the regiment Martin was still a child. One brother was wounded in the right arm, the other in the left arm.

Captures a Vampire. Ottawa.—Edward Wickham, living north of here, has captured a queer, batlike creature of vampire type. It bit Mr. Wickham's dog, causing its death in a few moments. It is about four inches long, covered with thick gray fur, mottled with yellow, brown and white. The membranous wings measure twelve inches from tip to tip. It has five toes, a small mouth and teeth.

WHY CATCH COLD

One-half of the Deaths and Two-thirds of the Sickness is the Direct Result of Catching Cold. Nothing could be of greater vital interest to the family than to know how to avoid catching cold. Colds that kill. If it be true, as one famous doctor says, that catching cold can be avoided, think what it means. Two-thirds of the sickness that now oppresses the people would be avoided. Serious interference with business. The anguish of anxious parents. The blasting of many brilliant dreams. All these things would be largely done away with if people knew how to avoid catching cold. Catching cold is a very common experience in numerous households. People have come to believe that there is no way to avoid it. CAN BE AVOIDED. People are taught in the "ills of Life" how to avoid the ceaseless drain that catching cold makes upon the vital organs. Get it and read it and judge for yourselves of its value and practicability. CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. RUPTURE CURED. HER APPRECIATION OF ART. Visitor's Genuine Tribute Must Have Thrilled the Soul of the Copying Artist. It was about three o'clock, and the fading light in the art gallery of the public library was beginning to bother the painter-woman who faced the sunset canvas with lumpy palette impaled on one thumb and paint brush held hesitatingly in the other while she scrutinized again the intricate blending of sunset colors and backed away a few steps farther to squint at the perspective of the old whaler she was copying as it lurched in painted waves. Details of color blending, of light and shade, of form after the fashion of a painter's sensitive appreciation, undoubtedly filled her mind. Then came thumping along the polished floor two other women. They stood for a moment in silence in front of the sunset picture. One of them raised a thick beringed hand and rubbed the canvas with a slow, feeling rub. "Ain't it grand, Nellie?" she said. "An' all hand-painted, too." Verse and Verse. Two at least of the British morning papers, in reporting one of Mr. Asquith's recruiting speeches, treated the well known quotation, "One crowded hour of glorious life," as if it were the speaker's own. The most delightful thing of the kind that was ever done stands to the credit of a Birmingham reporter, who "took down" a peroration somewhat as follows: "The gallant major concluded his speech by remarking that in his opinion kind hearts were superior to coronets and simple faith infinitely to be preferred to Norman blood." His Method. "How did Dauber come to paint such an extraordinary picture?" "Used a revolving canvas while painting." Defined. "So the Turks have proclaimed a holy war." "Wholly unnecessary."

WHY CATCH COLD

One-half of the Deaths and Two-thirds of the Sickness is the Direct Result of Catching Cold. Nothing could be of greater vital interest to the family than to know how to avoid catching cold. Colds that kill. If it be true, as one famous doctor says, that catching cold can be avoided, think what it means. Two-thirds of the sickness that now oppresses the people would be avoided. Serious interference with business. The anguish of anxious parents. The blasting of many brilliant dreams. All these things would be largely done away with if people knew how to avoid catching cold. Catching cold is a very common experience in numerous households. People have come to believe that there is no way to avoid it. CAN BE AVOIDED. People are taught in the "ills of Life" how to avoid the ceaseless drain that catching cold makes upon the vital organs. Get it and read it and judge for yourselves of its value and practicability. BREWSTER'S BLACK LEG. LOSSES SURELY PREVENTED. CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. RUPTURE CURED. HER APPRECIATION OF ART. Visitor's Genuine Tribute Must Have Thrilled the Soul of the Copying Artist.

It was about three o'clock, and the fading light in the art gallery of the public library was beginning to bother the painter-woman who faced the sunset canvas with lumpy palette impaled on one thumb and paint brush held hesitatingly in the other while she scrutinized again the intricate blending of sunset colors and backed away a few steps farther to squint at the perspective of the old whaler she was copying as it lurched in painted waves. Details of color blending, of light and shade, of form after the fashion of a painter's sensitive appreciation, undoubtedly filled her mind. Then came thumping along the polished floor two other women. They stood for a moment in silence in front of the sunset picture. One of them raised a thick beringed hand and rubbed the canvas with a slow, feeling rub. "Ain't it grand, Nellie?" she said. "An' all hand-painted, too." Verse and Verse. Two at least of the British morning papers, in reporting one of Mr. Asquith's recruiting speeches, treated the well known quotation, "One crowded hour of glorious life," as if it were the speaker's own. The most delightful thing of the kind that was ever done stands to the credit of a Birmingham reporter, who "took down" a peroration somewhat as follows: "The gallant major concluded his speech by remarking that in his opinion kind hearts were superior to coronets and simple faith infinitely to be preferred to Norman blood." Let Them Speak

For Themselves. You needn't take anybody's word for the superiority of Post Toasties—Get a package from your Grocer, pour some of the crisp, sweet flakes into a dish, add cream or milk, and a sprinkle of sugar if you wish. Then be the judge of Post Toasties. The Superior Corn Flakes—made from the hearts of the finest Indian Corn, skilfully cooked, seasoned, rolled and toasted. Toasties are not ordinary "corn flakes," so remember when you want Superior Corn Flakes to ask your grocer for Post Toasties.

THIS BUMP PROVES THAT YOU KNOW A GOOD THING AS SOON AS YOU TASTE IT.

THAT BUMP LED ME TO DISCARD THE OLD WAD FOR THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW.

THE GOOD JUDGE DOES THE PHRENOLOGY ACT.

ANY man who chews tobacco understands the feeling of fellowship that impels the "Right-Cut" user to tell his friends about the Real Tobacco Chew.

Let him use "Right-Cut" and you find him telling his friends and neighbors about the small satisfying chew.

Gives you the taste of mellow, ripe tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the size of ordinary tobacco. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shreds so that you won't have to cut or cut it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary cased tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the real tobacco taste is in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Catholic church on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, when Miss Otilia Braun and Martin Baehner were united in marriage by Rev. July. They were attended by Lawrence Baehner and Eleavor Braun. The bride was attired in a white satin dress and carried a white prayer book, the maid of honor wore a white shadow lace dress and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Braun and is very popular with her many friends. The groom is an industrious young man, of Mayville where the couple will reside.

Jacob Rothenberger a respected citizen of Campbellsport died Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at his home after a short illness, though he had complained of not feeling well for several days, but his condition grew worse Saturday morning and medical aid was summoned. He was 64 years of age, and for the past five years has been a resident of this village.

He is survived by one daughter, Miss Margaret at home, his wife and two daughters having preceded him in death several years ago, and four grandchildren, three sisters, viz: Mrs. Bushman and Mrs. Kunz of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Dix of Marshfield, and four brothers, Christian, John and Burkhardt of Marshfield and Samuel of Mayville. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at the Baptist church Rev. J. W. Taylor officiated and interment was made in the Union cemetery.

NEW METHOD OF SELLING CHRISTMAS SEALS

By making a business of selling Red Cross Christmas Seals to moneyed men and large financial interests as an investment of security, the bond salesmen of Milwaukee, including representatives of all its banks, its bonding concerns, the insurance companies, and other financial corporations, will this year carry on the most unique selling campaign that Wisconsin has ever known. They are inaugurating a plan which will probably be copied by other cities in this and other states and which promises to be one of the most effective means of financing the right against disease which is being carried on by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association and kindred organizations. The sale will be entirely separate from the usual sale carried on by the association through its campaign managers, the schools and other agencies.

Following the statement of Samuel Hopkins Adams, the eastern magazine writer who has been in Wisconsin gathering material for an article on the public health work of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, the fact that the Wisconsin organization is the most expert and most economically administered of the state associations for fighting disease, it occurred to several Milwaukee men that such a work should not be forced to rely for financial support solely on the pennies brought in by the annual sale of Christmas Seals. These pennies amount to less than $30,000 a year, part of which goes to local health organizations making the balance devoted to the state work in every instance. It is the foundation of the local work.

The Milwaukee men decided that the work of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association deserved recognition from the state and from its large financial interests as a business enterprise rather than as a philanthropy. They felt that if the facts were brought home to moneyed men and large employers of labor, they would see the economic value of a movement to prevent the spread of disease and thus increase human efficiency. They decided to do their share in bringing about a new condition of affairs and they believe that as a result of this year's work in Milwaukee, other cities will be stimulated to follow the example set by this unique campaign.

On the thirtieth day of November, a selling force of from thirty-five to fifty of the best known bond and security salesmen in the city of Milwaukee, organized into four teams captained by representatives of the bank, will start out on a systematic campaign to sell Christmas seals by the hundreds of dollars worth. They will call only on business men, leaving the general field to the school children and other agencies in the regular sale, and will work for one week each man having volunteered to devote at least from one to two hours to this special campaign.

Walter Kasten, vice president of the Wisconsin National Bank, is the campaign treasurer, and R. W. Schoyer, a well known bond man, is campaign manager. The general advisory committee is composed almost entirely of bank vice presidents and cashiers and some of the best known men of the state are sponsors for the movement which, it is believed, will have a state-wide interest.

Saving a Nation

The Wisconsin Advancement Association, whose general offices are 1505-1511 First National Bank Building, Milwaukee, Wis., is conducting a state-wide campaign for the relief of the sufferers in Belgium, where more than six millions of people are at the point of starvation.

The Wisconsin Advancement Association is giving the time of its officers and office force and a large expense for postage and printed matter without any charge to its officers and contributors that their contributions will be handled properly. It is working in conjunction with the Rockefeller Foundation and the American Commission at London and the American Minister at Brussels. Railroad and steamship lines will carry these contributions free of charge—100 per cent of the contribution will actually go to the saving of human life. Let Wisconsin do her full part in this greatest of human emergencies.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
