NIPPED AT THE KEWASKUM OPERA HOUSE

A Strong Play of Mexican-Japanese Intrigue at The Movies Sunday Evening, June 6th

Nasso Nakado, a Japanese of high birth, is living on Magdalena Bay, Mexico, disguised as a fisherman. Tark Kamura, another distinguished subject of the Mikado, is sent as special envoy to arrange with General Gomez for land concessions. He and Nakado work together on the proposition and succeed in securing the promise of the land in return for arms and ammunition. In the meantime San Toy, Nakado's beautiful daughter secretly has been posing for an American artist, Tom Wright, with whom she has fallen in love. He learns through her the secrets of the Japanese. Tark Kamura meets San Toy and wishes to marry her. She rejects him, however, and one day he follows her to the American's tent. Wright sees the Mikado's envoys at night unloading a ship filled with ammunition and rifles which they store in the Japanese Christian mission. He enlists the help of Bill Davis, another American, and with the cooperation of some minors they blow up the mission. Kamura tells Nakado and the Mexican general to look for the spy in Wright's tent. Meanwhile the young American has made his escape. But San Toy, returning to warn him, is shot and killed by Gomez who mistakes her for Wright. Kamura displays to Nakado the artist's painting of San Toy and says, "It is just. Your daughter was a traitor to her country."

The above thrilling play and "The Archaeologist," a Romance of an Excavator; "The Taking Way," a side splitting Keystone Comic; and The Mutual Weekly, incidents of the present European War, will be shown at the Movies, Sunday evening, June 6th. Show starts at 8 o'clock sharp. Be there on time.

Sells Barber Outfit

Last week Friday Peter Mies, the local tonsorial artist, sold his barber fixtures to Chas. Guth of West Bend. Possession will be given Mr. Guth immediately. The consideration is kept private. Mr. Guth is one of West Bend's most popular young men, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Guth of said city. We welcome the new artist to our midst and wish him success in his new venture.

Last Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mies were at Mayville and while there purchased a barber outfit in the Wolf block, where Mr. Mies will after June 15th, conduct a barber shop. May he be successful at his location.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY WELL RENDERED

"All of a Sudden Peggy" a Very Pleasant Event. Parts Are all Well Taken. Draw Large Audience

The Senior Class play held at the Opera House Thursday evening was a great success. The cast was well carried out and the good costumes and stage scenes added to the effect of the production. The members of the cast carried out their parts well and spoke their lines distinctly. Miss Peggy O'Mara, a young girl of frank independence, who doesn't want to be ruled or governed by anything else but her own impulses was well acted by Irene Peters. Her makeups and skill in acting her part was good. Her mother, a widow of the late Professor O'Mara, is a lively woman, who is set on a marriage between Peggy and Lord Crackenhorpe was well acted by Irene Oppenorth. Her looks on first appearance and Irish dialect used caused an uproar of laughter from the audience. The part of Jimmy Keppel, a bronzed good looking man of 35 was cleverly acted by Harvey Brandt. Ida Jung, who acted the part of Lady Crackenhorpe gave her lines with clear expression and played the part of an elderly lady perfectly. Elvira Morgenroth acted the part of Millicent Keppel, a fresh, healthy looking girl of 20, and also expressed her lines very clearly. Ruth Wollensak acting the part of Mrs. Colquhoun, an elegant, perfectly dressed woman with a bored stare that chills everybody, entered in the second act only, but her lines were humorous and stirred up laughter by the audience. All the other characters carried out their parts very creditably. Praise must also be given to the teachers having charge of the rehearsals, for the time spent and earnestness taken to make the play a pleasing affair to the large audience which greeted the players.

Married at Campbellsport

The marriage of Miss Adell Calhoun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Calhoun of Campbellsport to George Wilfred Benson of Chicago, was solemnized at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Matthew's church, Campbellsport, Rev. B. July officiating. Miss Viola Mitchell of Fond du Lac and Frederick Koehn of Chicago were the attendants.

The bride was gowned in white satin, trimmed with Irish point lace. She wore a veil fastened with orange blossoms and fashioned into a Juliet cap and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Her maid of honor was attired in white embroidered organdy. She wore a picture hat and carried sweet peas.

A wedding dinner was served to sixty-five guests at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Benson left on an afternoon train for the Dells and other points in Wisconsin. They will reside at 3223 Forest avenue, Chicago, Ill., where the groom is a prominent lithographer.

The bride is very well known here being a graduate of the local high school with the class of 1913.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

That our village marshal Tim Sammons, is on the alert was demonstrated by him during the past week, when he made two arrests which increased the village funds with $16.50. The first arrest was that of E. T. Briggs who was arrested for driving his automobile on the wrong side of the street, and who paid a fine of $7.50. Of course any official would dare to arrest "common ordinary" people like E. T., but our marshal does not look on rank or title, for on Saturday evening he arrested Village President J. E. McCarty, who was running his auto without a tail light after darkness had engulfed our little city, and the chief executive paid a fine of $9 which sum he handed over to the with a smile, stating he was not aware that his auto light had become extinguished, but that his manly breast and head too, for that matter filled with pride to know, that there was municipality, of which he was the "Main Stay," had an officer equal to any emergency like we have in the person of Mr. Sammons.—Eden Correspondent in Campbellsport News.

A warrant was issued last week by Justice Joe Egerer of this city, charging one John Glendon with the malicious destruction of property. The complainant in the case is J. C. Bueger, manager of the Crystal Brook Trout Hatchery at Lomira, and he alleges that Glendon, who was formerly employed at the hatchery, before leaving Lomira several months ago wantonly destroyed practically the entire hatch of the company, entailing a loss of several hundred dollars. A charge of grand larceny was also lodged against Glendon, who is said to have a wife and family living in a Massachusetts city, near Boston. Requisition papers have been signed by Governor Philipp and as soon as Glendon can be definitely located Sheriff Kohlman or Under Sheriff Riege will make the trip to Massachusetts and take him into custody.—Horicon Reporter.

The following clipping is taken from the Radisson (Sawyer Co.) Courier: "Lambert Knoeck and his nephew, Edward Bertram of Kewaskum, in Washington County, were here this week to look over land they have purchased east of town. Mr. Knoeck expressed himself as being well pleased with Radisson and the character of the land adjoining the town. He expects to soon dispose of his property in the southern part of the state and move to Sawyer county not later than next fall."

J. W. Davis, of Neosho, is the happy possessor of a new left handed violin, which was made especially for him by Henry P. Ruedebsch of Mayville. Mr. Ruedebsch was loath to undertake the making of a left handed instrument, but has succeeded beyond all expectations. The violin is a beauty and has a full and powerful tone. Mr. Ruedebsch, although in his eighty-second year, has shown that his hand has lost none of its cunning.—Hartford Times.

RIOTS IN LONDON

CROWDS BREAK OUT IN ANTI-GERMAN RIOTING AFTER ZEPPELIN ATTACK.

FOUR KILLED BY BOMBS

Ninety Missiles Dropped by Teuton Flyers Injure Many and Start Numerous Fires, Authorities Report—Berlin Says Act Is Reprisal.

London, June 3.—As a result of the Zeppelin raid the anti-German rioting broke out again in London on Tuesday.

When it was officially announced that German flyers had dropped 90 bombs, killing four persons, injuring others and starting many fires in the attack, angry mobs surrounded the premises of persons suspected of being of German nationality in Shore-ditch, and attacked the shops which were smashed in the previous rioting and had since been barricaded.

In one case the occupants fled when the mob approached, and were pursued by the infuriated crowd.

A special constabulary has been called out in an attempt to check the outbreaks.

In Pimlico Walk three shops were attacked. A baker's shop in Pearson street, raided a fortnight ago, was destroyed by an angry crowd composed chiefly of women.

The statement of the authorities on the Zeppelin raid reads:

"Late Monday night about ninety bombs, mostly of an incendiary character, were dropped from hostile aircraft in various localities not far distant from each other. A number of fires of which only three were large enough to require the services of fire engines broke out. All of them were promptly and effectively dealt with. The fires all were caused by the incendiary bombs referred to.

"No public building was injured, but a number of private premises were damaged by fire or water.

"The number of casualties is small, so far as has at present been ascertained. One infant, one boy, one man and one woman were killed, and another woman was so seriously injured that her life is despaired of.

"A few other private citizens were seriously injured, but the precise number has not yet been ascertained."

Berlin, June 3.—The official report of the Zeppelin attack on London follows:

"As a reprisal for the bombardment of the open town of Ludwigshafen we threw numerous bombs on Monday night on wharves and docks of London. Enemy airmen bombarded Ostend, damaging some houses without causing any other injury."

PLANS COALITION IN MEXICO

U. S. Will Urge Best Elements to Join Forces to Restore Internal Peace—May Grant Recognition.

Washington, June 3.—President Wilson and his cabinet on Tuesday adopted a new policy to be pursued by the United States toward Mexico. It has for its object restoration of order and the relief of millions of noncombatants from the devastations of Mexico's military elements, which have brought about conditions regarded as intolerable.

The president read to the cabinet a statement which is to be communicated to the leaders of all Mexican factions, serving notice that unless they themselves compose the situation some other means will be found by the United States to bring about the establishment of a stable government in the republic. The statement was approved after prolonged discussion. It will be made public later.

The administration's present purpose is to move moral support to a coalition of the best elements in Mexico and accord the government thereby created formal recognition.

CLAIM VICTORIES OVER RUSS

Three Przemysl Forts Stormed, Radom Evacuated and City of Stry Captured by Teutons.

Berlin, June 3.—Tremendous gains against the Russians are announced in reports available here on Tuesday. These include: Storming of three forts before Przemysl, Russian evacuation of Radom in Poland, capture of Stry, south of Lemberg, capture of 24,700 prisoners north of the Niemen in May. Total prisoners taken on eastern front, 10,532.

An official German statement issued here tells of the successful storming of forts 10-A, 11-A and 12 west of Dulkowicz, which constitute part of the outer defense of Przemysl, and of the capture of 1,400 men, together with eighteen heavy and five light cannon.

Big Review Costs $26,000.

New York, June 3.—The total cost of New York city's entertainment of the Atlantic fleet during its recent visit and review here ending May 18 was $26,000. The city gave $10,000 and the public $27,000.

Majestic's Officers Saved.

London, June 3.—Official announcement was made by the admiralty that all the officers of the British battleship Majestic, sunk by a German submarine at the Dardanelles, had been saved.

Grey's Sight Falls.

London, June 2.—Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, has been advised by his physician to leave his work to rest his eyes, as his sight has been failing. Lord Crewe has taken charge of the foreign office.

Jail for Killing Strikers.

New Brunswick, N. J., June 2.—Nine deputy sheriffs who have been on trial here on the charge of murder and for killing two strikers at Roosevelt and wounding a score, were convicted of manslaughter.

ITALIANS TAKE GRADO

CITY ONLY 25 MILES FROM TRIESTE IS CAPTURED.

Austrian Mobs Wreck Italian Shops and Homes—Italy Sends 40,000 to Dardanelles.

Geneva, May 31.—The Italians are continuing their advance into Carinthia. They have taken three of the lower mountain passes and fourteen villages.

The Italian army which is driving toward Trieste has occupied the Austrian port city of Grado, on the Gulf of Trieste, only 25 miles from Trieste. It is officially given out by the Italian war office at Rome.

A squadron of Italian aeroplanes, that crossed the northern end of the Adriatic sea, successfully bombarded the Trieste-Nebresina railway on the night of May 26-27, destroying part of the line and seriously crippling troop and supply movements of the Austrians.

Violent artillery duels are in progress among the Alpine mountains on the Tyrol and Trentina boundaries.

The Italian army of occupation between the Idria and Isonzo rivers is increasing the extent of captured Austrian territory. Many prisoners have been taken, and at some points the inhabitants received the invading Italians with cordial expressions of fraternity.

The detailed report of the commander of the Italian destroyer Zafire, which bombarded Porto Buso, on the Gulf of Trieste, says that the destroyer entered the port unscathed and destroyed the barracks and steamship landing. Lieutenant Marck, commander of the garrison, hoisted the white flag and surrendered with his men.

Italy has begun the transportation of troops to take part in the forcing of the Dardanelles, according to dispatches reaching London. Although no declaration of war has been issued against the Turks, 40,000 Italian troops have been landed on the island of Rhodes, in the Aegean sea, to take that position as a base from which to aid the allies on the Gallipoli peninsula.

Austrian mobs in Trieste have wrecked the Italian shops and houses. Many Italians were victims of the mob's violence. The authorities are reported to have fled the town.

CALLS LUSITANIA A CRUISER

United States Asked to Investigate—Asserts Liner Carried Mounted Guns and a Cargo of Ammunition—Justifies Sinking of the Falaba.

Washington, May 31.—The German reply to the American note sent after the sinking of the Lusitania was received in Washington last night from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin and made public here.

The following is the text of the German note:

"The undersigned has the honor to submit to Ambassador Gerard the following answer to the communication of May 15 regarding the injury to American interests through German submarine warfare.

"The imperial government has subjected the communication of the American government to a thorough investigation. It entertains also a keen wish to co-operate in a frank and friendly way in clearing up a possible misunderstanding which may have arisen in the relations between the two governments through the events mentioned by the American government.

"Regarding, firstly, the cases of the American steamers Cushing and Guilflight. The American embassy has already been informed that the German government has no intention of submitting neutral ships in the war zone, which are guilty of no hostile acts, to attacks by a submarine or submarine war vessels. On the contrary, the German forces have repeatedly been instructed most specifically to avoid attacks on such ships.

"Cites Misuse of Flags. "If neutral ships in recent months have suffered through the German submarine warfare, owing to mistakes in identification, it is a question only of quite isolated and exceptional cases, which can be attributed to the British government's abuse of flags, together with the suspicious or culpable behavior of the masters of the ships.

"The German government, in all cases in which it has been shown by its investigation that a neutral ship, not itself at fault, was damaged over the unfortunate accident, and if justified by conditions, has offered indemnification.

"The cases of the Cushing and the Guilflight will be treated on the same principles. An investigation of both cases is in progress, the result of which will presently be communicated to the embassy. The investigation can if necessary be supplemented by an international call on the international commission of inquiry, as provided by article III of The Hague agreement of October 18, 1907.

Justifies Sinking of Falaba. "When sinking the British steamer Falaba, the commander of the German submarine had the intention of allowing the passengers and crew a full opportunity for a safe escape. Only when the master did not obey the order to heave to, but fled and summoned help by rocket signals, did the German commander order the crew and passengers by signals and megaphone to leave the ship within ten minutes. He actually allowed them 23 minutes' time and fired the torpedo only when suspicious craft were hastening to the assistance of the Falaba.

"Regarding the loss of life by the sinking of the British passenger steamer Lusitania the German government has already expressed to neutral governments concerned, its keen regret that citizens of their states lost their lives.

"On this occasion the imperial government, however, cannot escape the impression that certain important facts having a direct bearing on the sinking of the Lusitania may have escaped the attention of the American government.

"In the interest of clear and complete understanding, which is the aim of both governments, the imperial government considers it first necessary to convince itself that the information accessible to both governments about the facts of the case is complete and in accord.

Calls Lusitania a Cruiser.

"The government of the United States proceeds on the assumption that the Lusitania could be regarded as an ordinary unarmed merchantman. The imperial government allows itself in this connection to point out that the Lusitania was one of the largest and fastest British merchant ships, built with government funds as an auxiliary cruiser and carried expressly as such in the 'navy list' issued by the British admiralty.

"It is further known to the imperial government from trustworthy reports from its agents and neutral passengers that for a considerable time practically all the more valuable British merchantmen have been equipped with cannon and ammunition and other weapons and manned with persons who have been specially trained in serving guns. The Lusitania, too, ac-

For Best Tomatoes.

Everyone who wishes to grow fine tomatoes must bear in mind that good, strong, stocky plants are absolutely necessary to success.

According to information received here had cannon aboard which were mounted and concealed below decks. To direct the particular attention of the American government to the fact that the British admiralty, in a confidential instruction issued in February, 1916, recommended its mercantile shipping not only to seek protection under neutral flags and distinguishing marks, but also while thus disguised, to attack German submarines by ramming. As a special incitation to merchantmen to destroy submarines, the British government also offered high prizes and has already paid such rewards.

Says Liner Carried War Material.

"The imperial government in view of these facts indubitably known to it, is unable to regard British merchantmen in the zone of naval operations specified by the admiralty staff of the German navy as 'undefended.' German commanders consequently are no longer able to observe the customary regulations of the prize law, which they before always followed.

"Finally, the imperial government must point out particularly that the Lusitania on its last trip, as on earlier occasions, carried Canadian troops and war material, including no less than 5,400 cases of ammunition intended for the destruction of brave German soldiers who are fulfilling their duty with self-sacrifice and devotion in the fatherland's service.

"The German government believes it was acting in justified self-defense in seeking with all the means of warfare at its disposition to protect the lives of its soldiers by destroying ammunition for the enemy.

Put Blame on Ship Owners.

"The British shipping company must have been aware of the danger to which the passengers aboard the Lusitania were exposed under these conditions. The company in embarking them, notwithstanding this, attempted deliberately to use the lives of American citizens as protection for ammunition aboard and need against the clear provisions of the American law, which expressly prohibits the forwarding of passengers on ships carrying ammunition and provides a penalty therefore. The company therefore is wantonly guilty of the death of so many passengers.

"There can be no doubt, according to the definite report of the submarine's commander, which is further confirmed by all information, that the quick sinking of the Lusitania is primarily attributable to the explosion of the ammunition shipment caused by a torpedo. The Lusitania's passengers would otherwise, in all human probability, have been saved.

"The imperial government considers the above mentioned facts important enough to recommend them to the attentive examination of the American government.

Withholds Final Decision.

"The imperial government, while withholding its final decision on the demands advanced in connection with the sinking of the Lusitania until receipt of an answer from the American government, feels impelled, in conclusion, to recall here and now that it took cognizance with satisfaction of the mediating proposals submitted by the United States government to Berlin and London as a basis for modus vivendi for ceasing the maritime warfare between Germany and Great Britain. The imperial government by its readiness to enter upon a discussion of these proposals, then demonstrated its good intentions in ample fashion. The realization of these proposals was defeated, as is well known, by the declinatory attitude of the British government.

NAMES ON WORKS OF ART

Men of Genius Have Not Always Signed Productions That Will Live Forever.

It appears that many of the works of the old masters were not signed. Experts rarely rely on signatures alone in determining the authenticity of an old work, but trust rather to their knowledge of the painter's technique, says the Philadelphia Record.

False signatures can be easily detected. Spirits of wine or turpentine will usually remove a name of later date than the painting. In the course of time signatures often become very difficult to find. Painted originally in a shade slightly lighter than the ground, perhaps, they sink in, darken, and merge into the ground color or they are almost rubbed away by successive cleanings. Recognizable one day in a specially favorable light, they may not be visible again for weeks.

Experts speak of "will-o'-the-wisp" signatures, and many collectors have encountered accidental strokes and cracks that tantalizingly suggest a signature, though it can never be made definite. On the other hand, there have been remarkable cases of such marks, after careful study, resolving themselves into a famous name.

Sometimes the painter's name is most conspicuous, as, for example, in Raphael's "Sposazio" at Milan. Proud of having surpassed his master, the youthful genius wrote on a frieze in the very center of the canvas, "Raphael Urbinas." Reynolds hardly ever signed his work. But upon the completion of the portrait of Mrs. Siddons as the "Tragic Muse," he wrote his name large on the gold embroidery of her dress. He was unable, he said, "to resist the temptation of sending my name to posterity on the hem of your garment."

Cornbread is very good for young ducks, but it is very fattening. They never feed raw mixtures to newly-hatched ducks. They will eat raw food of course, but it will sometimes cause bowel trouble.

So many other things are taking place in the world that the news of a revolution in Portugal is only picturesque. It seems oddly inconsequential. Portugal's area is about equal to that of Indiana. It contains only a few more people than live in New York city. The whole adult male population would hardly fill the fighting trenches across Flanders. The outside world is as little concerned about a civil war among the Portuguese as the Portuguese are concerned with the great present affair of Europe.

And yet 500 years ago (the span of a few generations) Portugal was the greatest maritime power, preceding Great Britain in that eminence. The Portuguese first explored the two coasts of Africa. The Cape of Good Hope was doubled by Bartholomew

Old Man's Hospitality.

The Isle of Man government, which is concerned at the financial loss caused by the requisition of passenger steamers for military purposes, used at one time to legislate against visitors from the mainland. One of the very earliest laws on the Manx statute book enjoined "all Scots to avoid the land with the next vessel that goeth into Scotland, upon pain of forfeiture of their goods and bodies to prison."

Another enacted that "Irish women loitering and not working be commanded forth of this Isle with as much speed as may be." The first-mentioned law was the result of a series of raids on the Manx coast by a Galloway rover called MacCulloch.

Accidental Inventions.

The ancients believed that there was a certain kind of mineral substance in existence by means of which all the common metals could be turned into gold. This supposed substance was called the philosopher's stone, and the alchemists of classic times and during the middle ages spent much time and labor in search of this wonderful substance.

Of course, since nothing of the kind ever existed, it was never found, but it is worth remembering that some of the most notable inventions were discovered in this wild search. It was in looking for the philosopher's stone that the German chemist, Botchiger, stumbled upon the secret of making the beautiful Dresden porcelain.

Roger Bacon, in the same way, discovered the composition of gunpowder; Geber found the properties of acids; Van Helmon discovered the nature of gas, and Doctor Glauber found the secret of making the salts which now bear his name.

CLEAR-HEADED.

Head Bookkeeper Must Be Reliable. The chief bookkeeper in a large business house in one of our great Western cities speaks of the harm coffee and tea did for him:

"My wife and I drank our first cup of Postum a little over two years ago, and we have used it ever since, to the entire exclusion of tea and coffee. It happened in this way:

"I had an attack of pneumonia, which left me with dyspepsia, or neuralgia of the stomach. My 'cup of cheer' had always been coffee or tea, but I became convinced, after a time, that they aggravated my stomach trouble. I happened to mention the matter to my grocer one day and he suggested that I give Postum a trial.

"Next day it came, and we liked it so much that we will never change back, for I am a well man today and have used no medicine.

"My work as chief bookkeeper in our Co's branch house here is of a very confining nature. During my coffee drinking days I was subject to nervousness and the 'blues' in addition to my sick spells. These have left me since I began using Postum and I can conscientiously recommend it to those whose work confines them to long hours of severe mental exertion."

SYNOPSIS.—The yacht Lola narrowly escapes wreck in Leghorn harbor. Gordon Gregg, locum tenens for the British consul, is called upon by Hornby, the Lola's owner, and dines aboard with him and his friend, Hyton Chater. Aboard the yacht he accidentally sees a room full of arms and ammunition and a torn photograph of a young girl. That night the consul's safe is robbed and the Lola puts suddenly to sea. The police find that Hornby is a fraud and the Lola's name a false one.

"Unfortunately the telegraphic replies from England are only to hand this morning," he went on, "because just before two o'clock this morning the harbor police, whom I specially ordered to watch the vessel, saw a boat come to the wharf containing a man and woman. The pair were put ashore, and walked away into the town, the woman seeming to walk with considerable difficulty. The boat returned, and an hour after, to the complete surprise of the two detectives, steam was suddenly got up and the yacht turned and went straight out to sea."

"Leaving the man and the woman?" "Leaving them, of course. They are probably still in the town. The police are now searching for traces of them."

"But could not you have detained the vessel?" I suggested. "Of course, had I but known, I could have forbidden her departure. But as her owner had presented himself at the consulate, and was recognized as a respectable person, I felt that I could not interfere without some tangible information—and that, alas! has come too late. The vessel is a swift one, and has already seven hours start of us. I've asked the admiral to send out a couple of torpedo-boats after her, but, unfortunately, this is impossible, as the flotilla is sailing in an hour to attend the naval review at Spezia."

I told him how the consul's safe had been opened during the night, and he sat listening with wide-open eyes. "You dined with them last night," he said at last. "They may have surreptitiously stolen your keys."

"They may," was my answer. "Probably they did. But with what motive?" The captain of the port elevated his shoulders, exhibited his palms, and declared: "The whole affair from beginning to end is a complete and profound mystery."

CHAPTER II.

Why the Safe Was Opened. That day was an active one in the questura, or police office, of Leghorn. Detectives called, examined the safe, and sagely declared it to be burglar-proof, had not the thieves possessed the key.

Probably while I sat at dinner on board the Lola my keys had been stolen and passed on to the scarred Scotsman, who had promptly gone ashore and ransacked the place while I had remained on board, but as far as Francesco and I could ascertain nothing whatever had been taken. The detective on duty at the railway station distinctly recollected a thin, middle-aged man, accompanied by a lady in deep black, passing the barrier and entering the train which left at three o'clock for Colle Salvetti to join the Rome express. They were foreigners, therefore he did not take the same notice of them as though they had been Italians.

The description of the Lola, its owner, his guest, and the captain were circulated by the police to all the Mediterranean ports, with a request that the yacht should be detained. Yet if the vessel were really one of mystery, as it seemed to be, its owner would no doubt go across to some quiet anchorage on the Algerian coast out of the track of the vessels, and calmly proceed to repair, rename and disguise his craft so that it would not be recognized in Marseilles, Naples, Smyrna, or any of the ports where private yachts habitually call.

For purposes of their own the police kept the affair out of the papers, and when Frank Hutcheson stepped out of the sleeping car from Paris on to the platform at Pisa a few nights afterwards, I related to him the extraordinary story.

"The scoundrels wanted these, that's evident," he responded, holding up the small, strong leather hand-bag he was carrying, and which contained his jealously-guarded cipher. "By Jove!" he laughed, "how disappointed they must have been!"

"It may be so," I said, as we entered

"That the drummer is the right sort of chap was demonstrated to me today," said a Pittsburgher. "Coming in on the train was a widow woman with three kids. From the amount of her drapery she had on I guess her husband had just died and left her a sum of money. You could tell she had seen good, easy times, but maybe there was some neglect about insurance. What with the kids and other reasons you could see she was nervous about this traveling. Anyhow, we hadn't gone far before the conductor found out that she was on the wrong train. Then she broke down, but she was as proud as a well-bred woman could be. It didn't take the drummers—there were six of them—long to find out that she was so badly fixed that she had spent her last dollar on tickets and was like to be stranded with the kids in a place where she didn't want to land. The drummers wanted to help her, but they didn't know how to go about it; she was so darned reserved that no one had the nerve to offer to pull her out. But finally they got in the smoke room and figured out the thing on a time table. They all chipped in and then called in the conductor. He was the right sort of a fellow. The way he done it was fine. He walked back to the lady with a thoughtful air and said he had telegraphed to New York and had had the tickets changed. To see that woman's face would have done you good."

GOT HOLD OF WRONG HOSE Colored Man Intended to Make Paste, But Instead He Landed in the Police Court.

Covered with white from head to foot, the prisoner looked like a snow man. "With what is this man charged?" asked the court. "I saw a white cloud," replied Officer 666, "and I thought he was trying to blow up a building."

he saw in a hard tone, striding across the deck and back again, and I saw in his eyes a strange look, half of anger, half of deep regret.

Was he telling the truth, I wondered? Some tragic romance or other concerning a woman had, I knew, overshadowed his life in the years before we had become acquainted. But the real facts he had never revealed to me. Outwardly he was as merry as the other fellows who offered that huge floating fortress, on board he was a typical smart marine, and on shore he danced and played tennis and flirted just as vigorously as did the others. But a heavy heart beat beneath his uniform.

When he returned to where I stood I saw that his face had changed; it had become drawn and haggard. He more the appearance of a man who had been struck a blow that had staggered him, crushing out all life and hope.

"What's the matter, Jack?" I asked. "Come. Tell me—what ails you?" "Nothing, my dear old chap," he answered hoarsely. "Really nothing—only a touch of the blues just for a moment," he added, trying hard to smile. "It'll pass."

"What I've just told you about that yacht has upset you. You can't deny it."

He started. His mouth was, I saw, hard set. He knew something concerning that mysterious craft, but would not tell me.

"Why are you silent?" I asked slowly, my eyes fixed upon my friend the officer. "I have told you what I know, and I want to discover the motive of the visit of those men, and the reason they opened Hutcheson's safe."

"I admit that I have certain grave suspicions," he said at last, standing astride with his hands behind his back, his sword trailing on the white deck. "You say that the yacht was called the Lola—painted gray with a black funnel."

"No, dead white, with a yellow funnel."

"Ah! Of course," he remarked, as though to himself. "They would repeat and alter her appearance. But the dining saloon. Was there a long carved oak buffet with a big, heavy cornice and three gilt dolphins in the center—and were there not dolphins in gilt on the backs of the chairs—an armorial device?"

"Yes," I cried. "You are right. I remember them! You're surely been on board here!"

"The captain, who gave his name to you as Mackintosh, is an undersized American of a rather low-down type?"

"I took him for a Scotsman."

"Because he put on a Scotch accent," he laughed. "He's a man who can speak a dozen languages brokenly, and pass for an Italian, a German, a Frenchman, as he wishes."

"And the other man who gave his name as Phillip Hornby?"

"Durnford's mouth closed with a snap. He drew a long breath, his eyes grew fierce, and he bit his lip.

"Ah! I see he is not exactly your friend."

"You are right, Gordon—he is not my friend," was his slow, meaning response.

"Then why not be outspoken and tell me all you know concerning him? Frank Hutcheson is anxious to clear up the mystery."

"Well, to tell you the truth, I'm mystified myself. I can't yet discern their motive."

"But at any rate you know the men," I argued. "You can at least tell us who they really are."

"You saw no woman on board?" he asked suddenly, looking straight into my eyes.

"No. Hornby told me that he and Chater were alone."

"And yet an hour after you left a man and a woman came ashore and disappeared! Ah! If we only had a description of that woman it would reveal much to us."

"She was young and dark-haired, so the detective says. She had a curious fixed look in her eyes, which attracted him, but she wore a thick motor veil, so that he could not clearly discern her features."

"And her companion?" "Middle-aged, prematurely gray, with a small, dark mustache."

Jack Durnford sighed and stroked his chin.

"Ah! Just as I thought," he exclaimed. "And they were actually here, in this port, a week ago! What a bitter irony of fate!"

"I don't understand you," I said. "You are so mysterious, and yet you will tell me nothing!"

"The police, fools that they are, have allowed them to escape, and they will never be caught now. Ah! you don't know them as I do! They are the cleverest pair in all Europe. And they have the audacity to call their craft the Lola—the Lola, of all names! Gordon, let me be frank and open with you, my dear old fellow. I would tell you everything—everything—if I dared. But I cannot—yet you understand!"

I stood before him, open-mouthed in astonishment.

"You really mean—well, that you are in fear of them—eh?" I whispered.

He nodded slowly in the affirmative, adding: "To tell you the truth would be to bring upon myself a swift, relentless vengeance that would overwhelm and crush me. Ah! my dear fellow, you do not know—you cannot dream—what brought those desperate men into this port. I can guess—I can guess only too well—but I can only tell you that if you ever do discover the terrible truth—which I fear is unlikely—you will solve one of the strangest and most remarkable mysteries of modern times."

"What does the mystery concern?" I asked, in breathless eagerness.

"It concerns a woman."

CHAPTER III.

The House "Over the Water." I had idled away a pleasant month in Boston, and from there had gone north to the Lakes, and it was one hot evening in mid-August that I found myself again in London, crossing St. James' square from the Sports Club. I had just turned into Pall Mall when a voice at my elbow suddenly exclaimed in Italian:

"Ah, signore!—why, actually, my padrone!"

And looking around I saw a thin-faced man of about thirty, dressed in neat but rather shabby black, whom I instantly recognized as a man who had been my servant in Leghorn for two years, after which he had left to better himself.

"Why, Olinto!" I exclaimed, surprised, as I halted. "You—in London—eh? Well, and how are you getting on?"

"Most excellently, signore," he answered in broken English, smiling. "But it is so pleasant for me to see my generous padrone again. What fortune it is that I should pass here at this very moment!"

"Where are you working?" I inquired.

"At the Restaurant Milona, in Oxford street—only a small place, but we gain discreetly, so I must not complain. I live over in Lambeth, and am on my way home."

When we halted before the National gallery prior to parting I made some inquiries regarding Armidia, the black-eyed, good-looking housemaid whom he had married.

"Ah, signore!" he responded in a voice choked with emotion, dropping into Italian. "It is the one great sorrow of my life. I work hard from early morning until late at night, but what is the use when I see my poor wife gradually fading away before my very eyes? The doctor says that she cannot possibly live through the next winter. Ah! how delighted the poor girl would be if she could see the padrone again!"

I felt sorry for his wife. Armidia had been a good servant, and had served me well for nearly three years. Old Rosina, my housekeeper, had often regretted that she had been compelled to leave to attend to her aged mother. The latter, he told me, had died, and afterwards he had married her. He asked so wistfully that his wife might see me once more that, having nothing very particular to do that evening, and feeling a deep sympathy for the poor fellow in his trouble, I resolved to accompany him to his house and see whether I could not, in some slight manner, render him a little help.

Mike had just come over from the old country to work with his brother, who was butler in a millionaire's home. It was a morning custom for Mrs. Rich to have several chats with her friends over the telephone. Sometimes these talks stretched well into the forenoon. James, the brother, was tired of this, and induced Mike, the greenhorn, into the work.

"The first morning Mike tried his hand disaster resulted. Mrs. Bucks called up."

"Answer that," ordered Jimmy to Mike. "If it is Mrs. Bucks tell her to 'hold the line.'"

Mike took down the receiver and listened.

"Is Mrs. Rich there," a voice asked. No answer from Mike. "Who is at the phone?" in a maddening tone. "It's me, Mike."

"I want Mrs. Rich—this is Mrs. Bucks," said the lady in anger. "All right," said Mike. "Just hold the rope."

Later Development. "One sees a great many freakish and flashy automobiles these days." "Quite so."

"How do you account for such a fact?" "I dare say it's the outcropping in motordom of the desire for the sensational that in other days made some people want to drive a team of zebras."

Did You Know That:

There is annually produced upon the farms of Wisconsin enough vegetables, other than potatoes, to supply every family in the state with two tons.

We raise and pack 40 per cent of the nation's peas—enough to fill a freight train 42 miles in length.

Every family in Wisconsin has 70 bushels of potatoes each year or four times its need if it consumes our crop of tubers.

If all of the cheese made in Wisconsin in a single year was loaded into refrigerator cars, it would require 100 trains of 36 cars each to haul it to market.

Our farmers have more silos than do those of any other state. Winter succulence is stored for winter feeding every year in 50,000 Wisconsin silos.

One-sixth of all the factory butter made in the United States every year is manufactured in Wisconsin creameries and should bear the Badger brand.

Every county in the state is adapted to the raising of healthy, vigorous farm animals. That's one reason why Wisconsin is one of the greatest of all live stock states.

There are enough shoes made in Wisconsin each year to supply every family with 14 pairs. While we do not produce enough clothing to supply our needs, we could easily swap some of our shoe supply for garments or materials.

Our farmers grow and market more pure bred seed grains than do those of all the other states combined.

We grow more cranberries than all the rest of the United States with the exception of Cape Cod and New Jersey.

Ours is the greatest dairy state in the union.

Wisconsin farmers have pushed the corn belt to the shores of Lake Superior.

Six of the tests generally used in the manufacture of dairy products were derived or improved at the Wisconsin Dairy School.

It is doubtful if there is a state in the union in which the organizations and institutions working for the advancement of agriculture are so well correlated as in Wisconsin.

Twenty millions of people, all of whom would be consumers of our products if they but knew of their excellence, live within a night's ride of Wisconsin.

The secret of Wisconsin's prosperity is that her farmers follow diversified cropping system. They early learned the wastefulness of the one crop system. There has never been a crop failure in Wisconsin since we abandoned wheat raising.

Several agricultural journals, fifty or more dailies and between 400 and 500 weekly newspapers are aiding in putting Wisconsin and its farm products prominently before the people.

More Low 20th Century Points

YOU will notice at once on seeing the Low 20th Century spreader how low the box is. The top of the box is only 43 inches from the ground. This point is valuable. The waist-high box will save you all of the hardest work of loading because the real strain of pitching manure comes in lifting it above the waist line.

Still there is ample clearance underneath for work in rough fields and soft yards. And you will have no trouble because of lack of traction. The drive wheels of the Low 20th Century are well under the load, supporting the greater part of it. This position of the rear wheels also lightens the draft. A third point is that it does away with the tendency to sag that would be present if the box were suspended between front and rear axles.

Bring in and let us show you about two dozen points that make the Low 20th Century a trouble-proof, sure-satisfaction spreader.

SEEK NEW CIRCUIT FOR DANE COUNTY

BILL INTRODUCED IN ASSEMBLY PROVIDING FOR SPLIT IN JUDICIAL DISTRICT.

LAING BILL IS ENGROSSED

Measure Appropriates Money for a Course in Domestic Science in the Waukesha High School.

Madison, June 2, 1915.

A bill was introduced in the assembly by the committee on judiciary which seeks to add another judicial circuit to those now in the state. The bill provides that Sauk county shall be cut off from Dane county, the two now making the ninth judicial circuit, and be known as the twenty-first judicial circuit, leaving Dane county by itself.

Money for Waukesha School.

The assembly engrossed the Laing bill which appropriates money for a course in domestic science in the Waukesha high school.

The resolution by Senator Hanson giving the railroad commission power to regulate the speed of interurban cars was nonconcurrent in by the assembly.

Assembly bills passed were: Edwards, relating to the date for school district meetings; Stempfer, relating to discontinuance of streets and alleys; Prescott, relating to recovery from the policeman's pension fund.

The assembly concurred in the following bills: by Senator Bennett, relating to registration of births; by Senator Everett, as to qualifications of city engineers in cities of the second and third classes.

On motion of Senator Ackley the committee bill providing that all street railway company taxes shall go to the counties, towns, villages and cities in which the property is located, instead of part of it to the state, was laid over.

The Bichler bill changing the open season for partridges to November was ordered engrossed.

Governor Signs Cigarette Bill.

Gov. Philipp signed the Doble bill authorizing the sale of cigarettes to adults. The bill provides that dealers shall pay an annual license of $5 each. Severe penalty is contained in the bill for the sale of cigarettes to minors.

The measure will go into effect as soon as published.

A bill by Senator Abers was introduced in the senate which provides that the Wisconsin Industrial School for Girls in Milwaukee be made a state institution and placed under the jurisdiction of the state board of control.

The Poole bill, which seeks to prohibit the tuberculin test for milk supply in cities, was reported in to the senate by the committee on state affairs for concurrence.

On motion of Senator Bennett the Grell bill relating to the opening of saloons on Sunday will come up for hearing on June 3.

The assembly committee on judiciary introduced a new bill, dividing the ninth judicial circuit into two circuits, the new circuit to be known as the Twenty-first. The new district is to consist of Sauk county, leaving Dane county as the Ninth district.

The Crosby bill, creating a marketing department under the supervision of the state dairy and food commissioner, was ordered engrossed.

Senate Passes Many Bills.

The senate passed the following bills: By Senator Fairchild, relating to income tax payable on insurance policies; by Senator Bichler, prohibiting soliciting of insurance by tax assessors; by Senator Stevens, relating to granting of liquor licenses to hotels; by Senator Bichler, regarding village elections for purchase of water works; and concurred in bills by Mr. Dixon, relating to municipal court of Racine county; by Mr. Schroeder, relating to the care of county hospital patients; by Mr. Helm, relating to the liens of jewelers; by Mr. Kent, relating to school census and secretary of school board in cities of the first class.

A substitute amendment introduced in the senate to bill 429, provides that any domestic fraternal benefit society authorized to do business in this state may establish and maintain two or more separate classes of members. The proceeds of assessments other than for expense purposes must, however, be kept separate from funds of any other class and claims on certificates must be paid from funds of the class to which the policyholder belongs.

Among the bills ordered to a third reading were the Hambrecht bill granting to cities power to make appropriations to aid in industrial development.

TRAIN HITS AUTO; THREE ARE KILLED

CAR STALLS ON TRACKS IN FRONT OF NORTHWESTERN PASSENGER.

DRIVER CRANKING ENGINE

Well-to-do Farmer, Trying to Start Machine, Suffers Serious Injuries—Housekeeper and Two Boys Are Dead.

Racine.—Three persons were instantly killed and another injured when an automobile was struck by a Northwestern train at Durant crossing, two miles south of this city.

The dead: Mrs. Mary Steene, 47 years old; Walter Steene, 11 years old; Clarence Hansen, 13 years old. Mrs. Hansen, the driver, is in St. Mary's hospital, suffering from bruises, but is expected to recover.

The party was bound for Racine on a shopping expedition. After mounting the grade the engine became stalled, and the car stopped on the track. Hansen got out to crank it, and did not see the train.

Those in the machine were thrown about fifty feet and terribly mangled. Hansen received only a glancing blow. The bodies were brought to Racine.

Hansen is a well-to-do farmer living near Union Grove. He is a widower and Mrs. Steene was his housekeeper.

The machine was hit by the fast Northwestern passenger train. Persons in the vicinity of the crossing claim they heard the engine's whistle. It is believed that cars on a siding obstructed the view of the approaching train.

SUPERIOR GETS 4-CENT FARE

Supreme Court Upholds Railroad Commission in Order—Water-works Purchase Sustained.

Madison.—By a decision of the supreme court, Superior won its fight against the Duluth Railway company to obtain a 4-cent fare by the sale of six street car tickets for 25 cents.

The Superior Commercial club was behind the campaign which resulted in a ruling of the state railroad commission ordering the fare concession. An appeal to the circuit court of Dane county resulted in the order being upheld and the appeal to the supreme court followed.

By another ruling, the city of Oshkosh was sustained in its efforts to purchase a part of the Oshkosh Water Works company for $525,000. In November, 1912, the voters of Oshkosh indorsed a resolution to take over the privately owned water plant and after appropriate proceedings the railroad commission fixed the purchase price at $525,000, plus $11,821.53 for materials and supplies on hand. Later the company brought action to set aside the award claiming it was entitled to $501,809.

An appeal to the circuit court of Dane county resulted against the company and the appeal was carried to the supreme court.

SPECIAL ELECTION IS VOID

Milwaukee Judge Annuls Vote Favoring City Purchase of Electric Light Plant.

Portage.—Judge Williams of Milwaukee, presiding for Judge Chester Fowler, in Circuit court here, heard the case of E. S. Baker vs. the City of Portage and officials to nullify the special election held here last fall whereby the citizens voted to purchase the Portage electric light plant by ten majority.

The Baker complaint alleged that Contractor Raasmussen and employees of Oshkosh who were laying brick paving here, all voted at the election without being duly bona fide electors of Portage. Stipulations signed by all parties was filed with Judge Williams, declaring that there was no intention on the part of Raasmussen or the city at fraud, but it was admitted that the parties in question were transient residents.

Judge Williams will base findings on this stipulation and annul the election.

Danbury Has $30,000 Fire.

Superior.—A damage of $30,000 was done by a fire which threatened to sweep Danbury, a village in northern Burnett county. The blaze started in the Consolidated lumber yard sheds. More than 1,000,000 feet of lumber and a large residence were destroyed before aid from Superior reached the scene.

Two Years for Horse Stealing.

Racine.—Frank Hayes, 67 years old, formerly of Plattville, convicted of the theft of a horse and buggy from a Yorkville farmer, was sentenced to two years at the state's prison by Judge Smieding.

Receivers Make Report.

Oshkosh.—The assets of the Palme Lumber company are $4,396,000 and liabilities on April 2 were $1,209,000, according to the statement filed by receivers.

Investigate His Accounts.

Oconto.—The accounts of August Kuehl, former postmaster, town treasurer, school board treasurer and merchant of the town of Breed, who disappeared two weeks ago, are being investigated by officials.

Railroad Station Robbed.

Beloit.—Robbers blew open safes in the depots of the Milwaukee road at Darien and Allen's Grove. They secured $12 at Darien and nothing at Allen's Grove.

PLAN COST SYSTEM

PUBLISHERS WOULD EMPLOY EXPERT TO VISIT ALL SHOPS.

A Universal Method Would Be Installed—Hold Election of Officers.

Madison.—Efforts to form a federation of members of the Wisconsin Press association, the Wisconsin State Franklin club and the Wisconsin Daily league to promote a universal cost system to be installed in all job printing offices of the state will be made within the next few months if plans discussed at meetings of these organizations are carried out.

The scheme is to have an expert on cost systems visit all the shops in the state and install a method of determining cost of printing. This expert is to be paid either by the federation or by the extension division of the university.

The following officers were elected by the Wisconsin State Franklin club: George Harrington, Oshkosh, president; C. L. Coward, Lodi, vice president; C. H. Van Vleet, Racine, secretary; F. C. Bled, Madison, treasurer; Halbert L. Hoard, Ft. Atkinson; Frank W. Cantwell, Madison; and Rudolph Haessler Milwaukee, members of the executive board.

Halbert L. Hoard, Ft. Atkinson, was re-elected president of the Wisconsin Press association, and E. J. Scott, Shawano, was re-elected treasurer. Miss Lura Dow, Palmyra, was elected secretary. This is the first time in the history of the association that a woman has been elected to this office.

STUDENTS DROWN IN LAKE

Two Juniors at University of Wisconsin Lose Lives in Mendota in Canoe Accident.

Madison.—Two students of the University of Wisconsin were drowned and a third narrowly escaped a similar fate in a canoeing accident on Lake Mendota.

The dead: H. Stockton Ewell, Baltimore, Md.; F. Harrison McCarthy, Baltimore, Md.

A third student, Darlington Hoopes of Belair, Md., had a narrow escape and was rescued by a launch in an almost exhausted condition.

The accident occurred off Picnic Point, when there were but few boats on the lake. According to reports, the three men were driving their canoe over the rough water when an exceptionally large wave struck the side of the bark and in the effort to right the canoe it was overturned.

Ewell was a junior in the college of engineering and McCarthy was a junior in the college of agriculture. They were room mates and were known as fast friends.

May Ship Game Fish.

Madison.—The attorney general advised District Attorney C. H. Wieland of Eagle River that a licensed nonresident fisherman may ship not to exceed twenty pounds of game fish within or without the state and that a licensed resident fisherman may ship a similar quantity between points within the state. The state fish and game warden called attention of the fishermen to observe the law requiring them to throw back into the water all bass under ten inches long and all pike under twelve inches long.

W. G. Arle Heads Mail Carriers.

Madison.—At the state convention of the Wisconsin Rural Mail Carriers' association here the following officers were elected: President, W. G. Arle, Sturgeon Bay, vice-president, A. D. Larson, Sheridan; secretary, E. L. Demaree, Waupaca; treasurer, G. C. Granser, Sheboygan Falls; organizer, Henry Gallenbach, Beaver Dam; executive committee, F. E. Dewsnap, Endeavor; W. R. Roberts, Randolph.

Stock Breeders Organize.

Janesville.—Rock county livestock breeders have organized for the improvement of the types of farm animals raised in this region with the following officers: James Van Etta, town of Lima, president; George Hemingway, Hanover, vice president; J. H. Fisher, Janesville, secretary; J. I. Greene, Clinton, treasurer, and W. J. McDowell, corresponding secretary.

Leave Stone Quarry for War.

Baraboo.—The call for unnaturalized Italians to serve in the Italian army will greatly reduce the force of men now working at Devil's Lake quarrying rock. Most of them are Italian subjects.

Frame Buildings Condemned.

Beloit.—Assistant Fire Marshal Florin has condemned twelve wooden buildings in the business part of the city and they will be torn down. The structures are pronounced a menace.

Wisconsin Boys Elected.

Beloit.—Assistant managers of next year's interscholastic athletic activities at Beloit college were elected as follows: Assistant basketball manager, John Hanscom, Mineral Point; oratory and debate, Joseph Gibson, New Lisbon.

Former Sheriff to Carry Mail.

Baraboo.—Former sheriff H. H. Hulbert of Sauk county has been awarded the contract to carry the mail between Baraboo and Kilbourn.

Boys Excursion Steamer.

Cumberland.—The Cumberland Steamboat company has purchased the old steamboat Curtis and will use it for excursions.

U. S. MAY MODERATE NOTE TO GERMANY

Von Bernstorff Tells President Liner Was Armed.

FOUR AFFIDAVITS ARE CITED

Wilson Surprised When He Learns Documents, Sworn to by Lusitania's Survivors, Were in State Department.

Washington, June 3.—Not since the stirring days of the Spanish-American war has there been such excitement and activity of the state department as there was following Secretary Bryan's admission that the four affidavits stating that the Lusitania was armed, had been received by the department.

Early in the day Secretary Bryan had denied that the affidavits had been received. He announced that he had conferred with Counselor Robert Lansing. Neither he nor Lansing knew anything about them, he said, and consequently they were not there.

Bryan Admits Affidavit. The secretary's later admission that the affidavits were in the department was to the correspondents of the morning newspapers, about three in number. It followed the visit of the German ambassador, Count von Bernstorff, to the White House and his half-hour conference with President Wilson.

It is understood that Count von Bernstorff in his talk with the president referred to the affidavits as justification for the German request that there be an investigation into the facts concerning the Lusitania before a decision is made on the demands of this government.

The president, it is understood, was surprised by the ambassador's statement that such affidavits were before the state department.

Presumably after the departure of the ambassador from the White House the president made inquiry at the state department, and this inquiry led to a further investigation by state department officials, with the result that the affidavits were located. Then came Secretary Bryan's admission.

Papers Are Important. There is no need to comment on the fact that papers of the great importance of these affidavits were in the department without the knowledge of its two chief officials—according to Secretary Bryan earlier in the day. The significance of this situation is increased by the fact that three of the affidavits have been in the state department since last Friday.

It was learned that immediately upon the finding of the affidavits clerks were set to work to make briefs of them for submission to the president.

Envoys Visit Bryan.

While Ambassador Bernstorff was in conference with the president Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, and Ambassador Jusserand were closeted with Secretary Bryan.

The developments today and comments on them by important officials point clearly to modifications, and, perhaps, very important changes in the intention of the president, as reported, to send substantially an ultimatum to Germany in reply to her recent note.

The revelations of the past twelve hours show that Germany has furnished the state department in affidavit form facts controverting those on which the president framed his previous note. Before that development the impression was allowed to go forth in seemingly inspired form that the president would "demand" an unconditional diplomatic surrender by Germany.

TORPEDO STEAMER SAIDIEH

Another British Ship Sunk by a German Submarine—Eight Members of Crew Perish.

London, June 3.—The British steamship Saidieh, a vessel of 3,203 tons, bound from Alexandria, Egypt, to Hull, was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine in the North sea on Tuesday.

Seven male members of the Saidieh's crew and the stewardess were drowned. The Saidieh was a mail-carrying steamship hailing from London.

The survivors of the Saidieh's crew and her passengers were landed at Chatham. They declared that the ship was attacked without warning and sank within fifteen minutes. She was owned by the Khedivial Mail line.

Vom Schauplatz des europäischen Völkers-Krieges

Der Lusitania-Fall noch einmal.

Die ungeheuerliche Katastrophe, daß die Cunard-Linie die Passagiere der Lusitania unter Verordnungen der britischen Admiralität mit vollem Bewußtsein in's Verderben gehen ließ, und die Schlußfolgerung, daß England eine Katastrophe wie die der Lusitania gewünscht habe, um die Vereinigten Staaten in den Krieg gegen Deutschland hineinzuziehen, behauptet der Kongreßabgeordnete Richmond P. Johnson in einer Erklärung, die er veröffentlichte.

Er stellt fest, daß ein Beamter im New Yorker Bureau der Cunard-Linie eine Dame, die auf der Lusitania Passage nehmen wollte, heimlich gemerkt habe, das Schiff zu demgen, während andere Passagiere in Sicherheit gewahrt wurden.

Die Erklärung Johnson's lautet wörtlich: „Eine vermittelte Kusine von mir wollte im New Yorker Bureau der Cunard-Linie auf der Lusitania Passage belegen. Da nahm sie der betreffende Agent, ein alter Freund, beiseite und sagte ihr, das Schiff liege unter dem Verbot der britischen Admiralität und sie dürfe unter keinen Umständen darauf Passage nehmen. Er nahm ihr das Verbot ab, dies bis nach der Fahrt geheim zu halten. Diese Katastrophe regt zu verschiedenen einschlägigen Fragen an: Warum ließ die Cunard-Linie nicht alle Passagiere, die mit dem Schiff beiseite wollten, dieselbe menschenfreundliche Warnung ergehen, die dieser Agent um alter Freundschaft willen meiner Kusine gab, statt das Schiff mit einer vollen Passagierladung zu befrachten, darunter diese hervorragende Amerikaner, deren Verlust die Stimmung der Amerikaner notwendigerweise tief beeinflussen mußte? Warum ließ die britische Admiralität, die mußte, daß an der Südküste Irlands deutsche U-Boote operierten, die Lusitania nicht den ungefährenden Kurs um Nord- und Südherum nehmen? Warum erhielt das Schiff, das mit 25 1/2 Knoten von der Admiralität Order, in der Gefahrenzone nur mit 17 Knoten zu fahren? Wie konnte ein Torpedo ein solches Schiff in zwanzig Minuten versenken? Die elementarste Kenntnis der Schiffsfahrt mußte jenen berrmann überzeugen, daß so etwas unmöglich ist, wenn nicht eine weitere Ursache dafür im Innern des Schiffes vorhanden war. Ungeschlossene Schloten oder eine innere Explosion zum Beispiel.

„Warum war kein Begleiterschiff zum Schutz in der Gefahrenzone? Warum war kein Begleiterschiff zur Stelle, um Rettungsarbeiten zu leisten? Warum waren an der Küste keine Vorbeiräumungen getroffen? Warum dauerte es so lange, ehe die Rettungsarbeiten an Ort und Stelle aufgenommen werden konnten? Wie war es möglich, daß bei ruhiger See angesichts des Unfalls, mitten am Tage so viele Menschenleben verloren gehen konnten? Warum wurde die Jenfur allen ersichtlichen Einzelheiten während des unerklärlich langamen Bergungsversuches gegenüber aufgehoben, während die Befehle der Admiralität, unter denen das Schiff versenkt wurde, entgegengesetzt, geheimgehalten werden mußten? Deutschland konnte unmöglich Gründe haben, die Vernichtung des Lebens von Amerikanern zu wünschen. Im Gegenteil, Deutschland suchte in dem Verlust, das Leben von Amerikanern nicht zu gefährden, den Verlust von Amerikanern durch eine ausdrückliche Warnung zu verhindern. Der deutsche Kapitän verweigerte das Schiff so nahe wie möglich dem Lande, wo man annehmen konnte, daß für die Rettung der Menschen reichlich Zeit sein würde.

„Andererseits hat England allen Grund eine solche Tragödie zu wünschen — den Wunsch, Amerika in Krieg mit Deutschland zu führen. Unsere eigene Selbsttötung und unsere Stellung in der Geschichte verleiht den Worten eine Bedeutung, die wir nicht den niedrigsten Verbrecher nicht ohne einen gerechten Prozeß verurteilen. Wir können über ein christliches Bruderverbot nicht den Stab auf Grund von Anlagen seiner Feinde brechen, die in dem glühenden Verlangen, uns in den Krieg zu verwickeln, erhoben werden.

„Amerika hat sich noch nie aus Vagdelüste in einen Krieg geföhrt. Die Rede ist mein, ich will vergeten.“ Spricht der Herr.

EXCELLENT FARMING CONDITIONS IN CANADA

Letters from Settlers Indicating Growing Prosperity.

The present year will add another proof that farming in Western Canada, when carried on with the same energy and system devoted to other lines of business, will bring about results fully as satisfactory.

Mixed farming as a tocsin has been sounded for a number of years, and today it is being adopted pretty generally throughout the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

From Sedgewick, Alberta, we hear of E. L. Deputy, for past twelve years manager for Frye & Sons, packers, Seattle, who during 1914 were the largest buyers of hogs on Alberta markets.

Thomas McKay, a farmer near Hardisty, Alberta, has this to say about the country:

"I came to Hardisty from Osage City, Kansas, nine years ago and took up a homestead here. This is a good district for the farmer who wishes to raise grain exclusively, and as a mixed farming country it cannot be beaten anywhere in the world to my knowledge."

"I had ten cattle, which ranged outside all last winter, and this spring they were fat enough for the market, this without being fed but one night during the entire winter; they were fine fat cattle and looked beautiful. I raised some winter wheat here which weighed sixty-seven and a half pounds to the bushel, government weight, and which I shipped to Calgary. The miller who bought it said that it was the best wheat that had ever gone into Calgary."

"All in all I think the farmers are very well satisfied with the country, and the farmer who farms his land intelligently is sure to make a success. The climate here is the best I have ever lived in, the summers are delightful and the winters are mild. There has never been a blizzard during the nine years I have lived here nor any cyclones or wind storms."

A settler in the neighborhood of Gleichen, Alberta, spent $2,000 in improving his quarter section, has 125 acres ready for crop, reeds 70 head of stock, believes in mixed farming, keeps two hired men, one all year, the other in summer only. He milks 12 cows, and receives an average monthly cream cheque of $110. Last June he sold $1,200 worth of hogs and in November two more carloads, besides supplying his own requirements, and is not only making money but building up a good home amid desirable surroundings. This is an example of the possibilities open to the industrious in the Gleichen district.

It is stated in the last three months $38,000,000 of American capital has been invested in Canada, showing that United States financial men are satisfied of the solidity of Canadian institutions. Western Canada has been a heavy borrower and Western Canada's great resource is agriculture. U. S. financiers must be convinced that agriculture in Western Canada is sure and profitable or they would not be ready to invest so many millions in the country.—Advertisement.

It Seems So. "Pa, what does it mean when a man says he's between the devil and the deep blue sea?"

"It means, my son, that he doesn't know which way to jump, but I judge from the choice the average man eventually makes that he is not a good swimmer."

Not Proportionate. "They say the national conscience is growing."

"They can't prove it by the national conscience fund."

Cinched Him. Redd—You say he's reckless in a car?"

Green—Very; I understand the other day he kissed a widow twice.

There is a lot of advice, but this is as good as any: "Try to be the sort of man retirement doesn't affect."

Indianapolis, June 2.—Ralph DePalma, driving one of the most spectacular races ever seen on any American automobile track, won the fifth annual revival of the International Sweepstakes 500-mile race at Indianapolis on Monday when he drove his Mercedes to victory over the classiest field which ever has been seen in the race.

In winning the race, DePalma clipped more than half an hour off the old record, going the route in 5:33:55.90, an average of 89.84 miles an hour. The old record was 6:03:55.50, an average of 82.47 miles an hour, made a year ago by Rene Thomas in a Delage.

Close behind DePalma came Dario Resta, winner of the Vanderbilt and Grand Prix races this year. Less than three laps separated these two Italian rivals and the duel between them had been in progress all day. It was DePalma's greater experience and better racing brain that told the story.

DePalma virtually ran Resta to death on two occasions, once when he was striving to regain a lost lead and the other when Resta was trying to do the same thing. On both occasions DePalma jockeyed with his Anglietized compatriot and on both occasions he made Resta overstep the bounds of safety for himself.

America had to be content with third and fourth places. Gil Anderson taking the fifth, a Stutz, while Earl Cooper took fourth with another Stutz. The Hoosier machines made a vallant showing but they could not speed up quite fast enough to catch the flying German and French cars. The Stutz entries set the pace for the first hundred miles of the classic, but then they had shot their bolt and never again seriously threatened to take the lead away from DePalma and Resta.

The start was perfect, the best ever obtained for the event. The cars went over the wire in perfect line, for the most part, only a few inches apart. Dario Resta took the lead at the end of the first lap, but on the second Howdy Wilcox brought the intensely partisan Indianapolis crowd to its feet by going by the Englishman in a brush on the backstretch. Wilcox lived up to the expectations of those followers of the race by setting a terrific pace from the start. Resta challenged him, but DePalma lived up to his promise by letting the American force the pace.

The first lap was run in 1:39, an average better than ninety miles an hour.

Three cars were forced out of the race before the leaders had gone one-fifth of the distance. The Purcell, driven by Cox; the Mals, driven by John Mals, and the Bugatti, driven by George Hill.

ZEPELLINS REACH LONDON

German Flyers Seen Over Suburbs and Nearby Towns—Many Fires Reported.

London, June 2.—The official press bureau issued the following announcement on Monday night: "Zeppelins are reported to have been seen near Ramsgate on the Kentish coast, sixty-seven miles east-southeast of London and Brentwood (seventeen miles east-northeast of London), and in certain outlying districts of London. Many fires are reported, but these cannot be absolutely connected with the zeppelins."

Prior to giving out the above communication the official press bureau issued a notice reminding the newspapers that, in the interest of public safety, no statement whatever should be published dealing with places in the neighborhood of London reached by air craft or the course supposed to be taken by them.

It was added that an admiralty communication would give all the information which might properly be published.

Victory Won by the Wets. Washington, June 3.—The conviction of a Lowellville (O.) liquor dealer for taking orders in Hotellville, Pa., in violation of the law was set aside by the Supreme court as an improper interference with interstate commerce.

5,806,532 in Gotham, Claim. New York, June 2.—Enumerators began a decennial census of the population of the state. It was estimated that the count would show a total of 10,200,000. The population of New York city was estimated at 5,806,532.

Liner Aquitania Is Ashore. New York, June 2.—The former Cunard liner Aquitania, now an auxiliary cruiser in the British navy, went ashore in the Jersey on May 19 while loaded with troops for the Dardanelles was the information brought here.

Turks Routed, Britain Says. London, June 2.—Heavy fighting on Gallipoli peninsula, resulting in the rout of the Turkish forces, is announced in an official statement given out here. The casualties of the Turks were 2,000. The British 300.

BRITAIN LOSES BIG SHIP

SUBMARINE SENDS MAJESTIC TO BOTTOM OF DARDANELLES.

Auxiliary Ship Princess Irene Blown Up at Sheerness Dockyard—324 on Board Die.

London, May 29.—The admiralty announced on Thursday that the battleship Majestic has been torpedoed and sunk in the Dardanelles. The lives of nearly all on board were saved.

A wireless dispatch from Berlin says that the Majestic was sunk off Sed-ul-Bahr. The Majestic was a battleship of 14,900 tons displacement, and normally carried a crew of 757 men. She was built in 1895. Her length over all was 413 feet.

She was armed with four twelve-inch guns, twelve six-inch, sixteen twelve-pounders and smaller guns. She also had four eighteen-inch torpedo tubes submerged and one above water.

The admiralty announces that in a raid on the Sea of Marmora the British submarine E-11 sank a vessel with a great quantity of ammunition on board, chased and torpedoed a supply ship off Rodosto, ran another ship ashore and finally entered the waters of Constantinople and discharged a torpedo alongside the arsenal.

General Bridges, in command of the Australian division on the Gallipoli peninsula, was mortally wounded in an attack by the Turks against the Australian position on May 17, and has since died. This fact was made known here on Thursday.

With the sinking of the Majestic six allied battleships have been accounted for by Turkish gunfire, mines or torpedoes in the Dardanelles. Of these losses the British have sustained five—the Majestic, Triumph, Ocean, Irresistible and Goliath, and the French one, the Bouvet.

Several other allied battleships have been struck by Turkish shells and forced to withdraw. None were damaged seriously however. The lost ships had a total tonnage of 79,705 tons, divided as follows: Majestic, 14,900; Triumph, 11,800; Ocean and Goliath (sister ships), 12,950 each; Irresistible, 15,000; and Bouvet, 12,205.

H. M. auxiliary ship Princess Irene, was blown up in the Sheerness dockyard at 11:15 o'clock in the morning and 324 persons on board were killed.

An official statement given out for the admiralty by the official press bureau says an accident was responsible.

TO USE KINDNESS IN MEXICO

Food for Famine Sufferers to Be Followed by Pacification Moves President's Plan.

Washington, May 31.—President Wilson on Friday issued an appeal to the American public to relieve the general distress and suffering in Mexico caused by famine conditions.

Coincident with the issuance of the president's appeal an authoritative announcement was made at the White House that the president may in a few days issue a statement "on the present situation in Mexico."

In the public action of the president and his promised statement friends close to him see the important purpose of solving the whole Mexican situation by winning the hearts of the people of Mexico by generous help.

The great gratitude now being manifested toward the government of the United States and its people by the rulers and the starving millions of Belgium and Poland has led the administration to hope that a similar feeling of friendship may be created in Mexico by a similar service.

TEUTONS REPULSED BY RUSS

Berlin Says Weak Force Was Driven Back From San River—More Prisoners Taken.

Berlin, May 31.—A reverse at the hands of the Russians in the fighting along the River San, in Central Galicia, is announced in the statement from the war office on Friday. It is said the Germans in the region of Siemlawa, on the left bank of the river, were forced back and lost six cannon. The German positions, according to this announcement, were not defended by strong forces.

In the district northeast of Przemysl the Teutons are still progressing favorably on both sides of the River Vistula. In addition to the booty reported May 25, about 9,000 additional prisoners have been taken.

Petrograd, May 31.—Russian troops have recaptured Trumiah, the important city of Persian Armenia which was occupied by the Turks several months ago.

Mexican Famine Desperate. Washington, June 2.—Bread riots continue in Mexico City and the situation is growing more desperate, according to foreigners reaching Vera Cruz from the capital. Consul Stillman reported to the state department.

Germans Killed by Bombs. Amsterdam, June 2.—Forty-four German soldiers were killed and thirty wounded in a raid on the German warplane at Gontrode, between Ghent and Brussels. The raid was carried out by two of the allies' aviators.

Five Drowned in Nebraska. Omaha, Neb., May 29.—The drowning of five persons in Nebraska was reported on Thursday afternoon as the result of heavy rains. The heavy rains were general over the middle West states.

Danish Steamer Sunk. London, May 29.—The Danish steamship Betty was torpedoed and sunk in the North sea on Wednesday by a German submarine. The members of the crew were landed at Shields.

HORSES FOR EUROPE

Europe is buying thousands of horses from the United States for the war. The army agents refuse all horses that are not in good condition and free from contagious and infectious diseases.

SMALL MOTOR FOR DENTISTS

Does Away With Rather Cumbersome Material Which Must at Present Be Used.

An electric motor, even in small sizes, is quite heavy for the power it yields. For this reason dentists have been using a motor mounted on a bracket and connected by a flexible shaft with the point of application of power.

A light electric cord connects the motor with a lamp socket. The motor is one of the smallest ever made for commercial use. Its weight is but five and one-quarter ounces, and it is one and three-quarter inches long by one and one-quarter inches in diameter.

It uses only 12 watts and operates at a speed of 15,000 revolutions per minute.

It has relieved himself of this joke Henry repeats it three times; gets away with a combination pie and ice cream dessert; and within twenty-four hours becomes the life of the table.

Paw Knows Everything. Willie—Paw, do you know everything? Paw—Yes, my son. Why do you ask?

Willie—I merely wanted to know how a man is able to carry a mortgage when he can't even lift it? Paw—You go sprinkle a little salt on yourself, young man. You're getting too fresh.

Really Quite Arduous. "Tilbury seems to have no trouble in winning the favor of the fair sex." "No trouble? Are you aware that he spends hours every day practicing the latest dance steps?"

An Essential Particular. Knecker—Smith can tell the date of the end of the war. Pocker—Which end?

Wisdom often amounts to this: People know a lot of things that are really not worth knowing.

Many a big head is full of emptiness.

Something to Wish.

"My husband is a jack of all trades." "Don't you wish he were an ace in just one?"

The Uplifters.

"I believe that humanity is born with the desire to improve itself," said the altruist. "I don't know about all humanity," said the cynical person, "but I'm convinced that half humanity is born with a desire to improve the other half, regardless of consequences."

That Kind of Woman. "I hate Mrs. Gadscomb," said Mrs. Flitterby, with flashing eyes and a trembling lip. "Why so, my dear?" asked Mr. Flitterby. "When I said Nora was the czar of our kitchen, she smiled and said, 'You mean "czarina," don't you?'"

Constant Reminders. "We never know when we are going to fall," said the near philosopher. "That's true," answered the harassed person. "What troubles me most is the fact that there are so many critics about it is almost impossible to lull oneself into a sense of security."

Madam, Allow Me

To Introduce the

New

Post Toasties

You may have eaten "corn flakes" but you have never tasted any that equal the New Post Toasties.

These new flakes, madam, are crisp and flakey, and have a substance and toasty flavour, a snap and zest that make them distinctive.

Dainty to be sure in their sweetness, the New Post Toasties have a body and firmness that don't mush down when cream or milk is added; and a true ripe-corn flavour that makes one feel that here, at last, is something really new and good to eat.

New Post Toasties—selected Indian corn, prepared for the table as it was never prepared before.

Your grocer has them now.

Buy and Try and Smile Awhile

GRINDING not necessary with the Real Tobacco Chew—and it gives you all the good tobacco satisfaction you are entitled to.

There's the reason in a nutshell why users of the Real Tobacco go out of their way to tell a friend about it.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS!! W-D CUT IS LONG SHRED, RIGUT CUT IS SHORT SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.

IT PAYS TO HITCH TO THE HOUSE OF HILL'S

HELPS FOR HOME-MAKERS

That describes this event on the third floor. Aside from the attractive prices, we offer the homemaker a real service in that it enables her to turn her Spring plans for the refitting of the home into splendid realities. The new curtains and draperies are worth seeing even if you are not ready to buy just to note the many pretty things devoted to this work. Draperies we collect these fabrics with taste and discretion. Everything for hanging and curtaining the home—woman's haven, man's solace, the family's shrine—curtains, portieres, cushions and draperies to brighten its hospitality and make its comfort irresistible. The Hill Mark of Quality in every article that brightens the home.

A party of joy riders came near having a serious accident while going down Schleif's hill Monday evening. The skill and steady nerve of the driver alone saved the lives of the others. The driver then telephoned to a local garage man to come and take the party back to town, leaving the damaged car by the roadside until the next day when he and a machinist from the garage went out and repaired the damaged car and took it back to town. This proves experience for one and a warning for others.

HEALTH CREED

The Wisconsin Congress of Mothers through its Child Hygiene Department has issued the following "Articles of Faith," which merit the consideration of every parent and of every school administrative officer and teacher.

1. I believe it is easier and more sensible to keep well than it is to get well.
2. I believe that hard study and hard work under right conditions never hurt anybody; on the other hand, I believe both are necessary to every child's development.
3. I believe that too many children of today sleep too little and too irregularly to expect good nerves in adult life.
4. I believe that too many children eat too little of the right kinds of food and too much of the wrong kinds.
5. I believe that the reason the American people is a race of dyspeptics is because from childhood they have not taken time enough to eat or to digest their meals.
6. I believe that it is as grave a mistake to urge a child to study when the brain is tired, as it is to urge a child to walk before the legs are strong enough to support the body.
7. I believe in daily exercise for every growing child—but not beyond the point of extreme fatigue.
8. I believe that the increased advantages of a large school do not compensate for the extra energy used by the children attending such school.
9. I believe that it is almost as unfair to ask well teachers and well pupils to use basement rooms or dark rooms, as it is to ask sickly children to use them.
10. I believe that it is unfair to a child's mental growth to expect him to do the work of a class when he needs "special help" two or three times a week in order to "make his grades".
11. To me it is like feeding a little one "tea and crackers" or potatoes and gravy when he should have milk.—'Tis true, some thrive, in spite of the treatment, not because of it.
12. I believe that living rooms and sleeping rooms should be on the sunny side of the house and wholly above the ground.
13. I believe that indigestion, headaches and "nervous breakdowns" should be added to the list of preventable diseases.
14. I believe that living rooms and sleeping rooms should be on the sunny side of the house and wholly above the ground.
15. I believe that indigestion, headaches and "nervous breakdowns" should be added to the list of preventable diseases.
16. All that are kin to the deceased jumpeth on the editor with ex-cru-ding great jumps. And they pulleth out their aids and cancellish their subscriptions and they swing the hammer into the third and fourth generations. Canst thou beat it?—Ex.

THE EDITOR
Consider the editor. He weareth purple and fine linen. His abode is amongst the mansions of the rich. His wife hath her limousine and his first born sporteth a racing car that can hit her up in forty flat.
Lo! All the people breaketh their necks to hand him money. A child is born unto the wife of a merchant in the bazaar. The physician getteth ten golden plunks. The editor writeth a stick and a half and telleth the multitude the child tippeth the beam at nine pounds. Yea, he lieth even as a centurion. And the proud father giveth him a cremo.
Behold, the young one groweth up and gradueth. And the editor putteth into his paper a swell notice. Yea, a peach of a notice. He telleth of the wisdom of the young woman, and of her exceeding comeliness. Like unto the roses of Sharon is she and her gown is played up to beat the band. And the dressmaker getteth two score and four iron men. And the editor getteth a note of thanks from the S. G. G.
The daughter goeth a journey. And the editor throweth himself on the story of the farewell party. It runneth a colom, solid. And the fair one remembereth him from afar with a picture postal card that costeth six for a jitney.
Behold, she returneth and the youth of the city fall down and worship. She picketh one and Lo, she picketh him one of our most promising young men and getteth away with it. And they send unto him a bid to the wedding feast and behold, the bids are fashioned by Muntgumery Haw-buck, in a far city.
Flowery and long is the wedding notice which the editor printeth. The minister getteth ten bones. The groom standeth the editor off for a twelve month superintion.
All flesh is grass and in time the wife is gathered into the silo. The minister getteth his bit. The editor printeth a death notice, three columns of obituary, three lodge notices, a cubit of poetry and a card of thanks. And he forgetteth to read proof on the head, and the darned thing cometh out "Gone to Her Last Boasting Place".
