SPEECHES AT A NOON DAY MEETING

Wm. J. Kershaw of Milwaukee and Congressman M. E. Burke of Beaver Dam Talk to Farmers and Citizens

Last Wednesday noon, regular monthly stock fair day, Democratic addresses were delivered to about 200 people, the majority of the audience being farmers. Mr. William J. Kershaw, the well known orator of Milwaukee was the first speaker. His talk was chiefly of upholding Wilson and condemning Hughes for the latter's stand upon Woman's Suffrage. Mr. Kershaw was followed by Congressman M. E. Burke who spoke for the county, state and national ticket. He appealed to the Germans not to be misled by Hughes, with Roosevelt's strong backing. Most of the Democratic candidates were also present at the gathering.

STATE TAXES GOING UP

Statement Just Issued by Secretary of State Shows Increase in Wisconsin Tax Levy

The sensational feature of the State Campaign is the increase by Sec. of State Donald, of the official state tax levy for 1916 fixing for the Phillip administration of the state tax this year at $5,763,417.01. Last year the state tax levy was $4,579,758.00. So this year the tax levy is $1,183,659.01 higher than last year. For Washington county the tax this year is $3,967,484. Last year $3,561,362, making the increase for this county this year $406,122.

This official statement explodes entirely all arguments that tax reductions have taken place or that there has been reduction in expenses in state affairs. With the official state tax levy this year thousands of dollars higher than last year the present state administration by its own acts and figures, is now convicted of sham and pretense in all its tax reduction claims. The voter need not listen any more to claims for tax reduction in state government. In every county in Washington the county clerk now has the official state tax levy for 1916 and comparisons with 1915. The taxpayers of each county are now compelled to contribute more to the state government than was the case last year.

VOTE FOR WOLFE

William F. Wolfe stands for the same progressive policies which are advocated by President Wilson. A vote for Wolfe is as necessary as a vote for Wilson for the reason that the President needs just such men as Mr. Wolfe in the state senate to carry out the policies of the administration.

An Eye Opener

There are a few occupations in Wisconsin which we should all like to see abolished for want of patronage. Among these are the sale of glass eyes. Few of us would object to seeing the asylum for the blind closed for the same reason. Prevention is always better than cure. In blindness prevention of cures almost the only hope, because the condition is almost never curable.

Such general conditions have led the Extension Division of the University of Wisconsin to issue a bulletin on "The Eye in Industrial Accidents" which should be widely read. While it is just out of the press, we expect the demand for it will be great. So long as copies are available, however, they will be mailed free of cost, to citizens who send a request to this bureau.

While written primarily for people engaged in industrial plants the bulletin has great value all because eye injuries are too common everywhere. This very morning I have learned of two personal acquaintances who have been dangerously injured during their vacations one by a golf ball the other in chopping wood at lake resort.

The bulletin considers the most common cases in which eyes are injured and describes safety appliances which have been devised to reduce liability. Just how carefulness; the content for danger which familiarity breeds; dullness; lack of alertness; or stupidity; poor eye-light; poor lighting; and poor sanitary conditions cause eye injuries is clearly described.

The bulletin has been prepared by a specialist who speaks with authority, but in language free from technical words and phrases. One cent invested in a post card might be the means of saving you eyesight or that of a near friend or relative. —Read the Statesman, it will interest you.

WOMEN VICTIMS OF SKIRT FRAUD

Offer of $4.50 New Petticoat for Ten Cents Nets Those Who Promoted the Swindle Thousands of Dollars

A large number of women of this village and on the rural routes are among the thousands of victims of the so-called National Brokerage Exchange, which offered a $4.50 silk petticoat to every woman who would send the concern 10 cents in silver and write five letters to her friends urging them to join the "exchange". Thousands of letters, each containing 10 cents are pouring into the Minneapolis post office daily from women in various parts of the country who have joined in an "endless chain" scheme, promoted by the so-called National Brokerage Exchange.

Federal agents are searching for officers of the "exchange", who are wanted for using the mails to defraud. A room in a Minneapolis business block, to which all the letters were addressed, was suddenly vacated three weeks ago by the authorities say.

"The volume of mail for the exchange is rapidly growing," said Postmaster E. A. Purdy of Minneapolis, and that on one day they received 2,500 letters, inclosing dimes.

State Bank Opens at Cascade

Cascade people do nothing by halves. Fresh evidence of this fact and of the energy, enterprise and public spirit of the citizens of this thriving village has been furnished by the opening on Monday, October 23, of the State Bank at Cascade with $50,000 deposits. This is considered the very best record made by any bank in this part of the country.

The building occupied is a new modern one story building, thoroughly equipped and used exclusively for banking purposes. The bank is incorporated for $15,000, the stockholders being local people.

The officers of the bank are: President—A. Suenicht; Vice president—Ed. Ruppenthal; Cashier—Hugo J. Darnieder; Directors—A. Suenicht, Edw. Ruppenthal, A. C. Kingston, John Devine, John Schleiter, Dr. H. G. Schleiter and Chas. Suenicht. Mr. Darnieder, the cashier has had considerable experience and is thoroughly competent, having served for seven years as assistant cashier of the State Bank at St. Cloud. The names of the directors and officers of the new bank are sufficient criterion of the safety and solidity of the institution.—Plymouth Review.

His meeting was one of the largest ever held in the village. Mr. Voigt delivered his address in German. It was very well received by the audience. His attacks were chiefly upon the Wilson Administration, claiming Wilson was unneutral. Most of the Republican county candidates were present, and after the meeting became acquainted with the numerous voters present.

ARRESTED AND FINED

Hunting Game Out of Season an Expensive Pastime

Hall, of Rubicon, for raccoon hunting out of season. The men were brought before Justice of the Peace H. J. Thoma, of this city, and both were fined $25 and costs amounting to $35. On the same day, William and Samuel Zahn, of the town of Jackson were arrested by State Deputy Game Warden Sampson of Stoutington, and Game Warden Hall, of Rubicon for hunting rabbits out of season. The men were brought before Justice Thoma, who imposed a fine of $25 and costs, amounting to $29.34, which was paid.—Hartford Times.

Fall Pigs Need Good Care

Success with fall pigs depends especially upon three things: comfortable quarters, proper feed and room for exercise. This is the way an experienced swine raiser has the matter sized up. Here are some of the details of his plan for pig raising which has worked.

Provide clean, warm, dry sleeping quarters for the fall litters, and thus avoid stunting them as a result of exposure to the cold. They should not be expected to eat new corn until they are at least eight weeks old, and then only in small amounts. Warm water and skim milk made into a thick slop with either corn meal or ground barley mixed equally with wheat middlings, is a valuable fall pig ration, well suited to their needs. Indoor feeding is always to be preferred, whenever possible. When properly cared for, fall pigs should keep free from skin troubles and intestinal diseases, and be in shape for market in May or early June.

When asked if it paid under the present conditions to hold a pig thru the winter for spring sales, the informant replied that as a rule only farmers having plenty of feed grown on the home farm should undertake to raise fall pigs for this reason there is little or no excuse for failure in the business through improper feeding, poor quarters or neglect.

Hog raising to pay well must be reduced to a strict business base. Farmers who go into the undertaking should never forget that stunting the ration or disregarding the comfort of the animals may end in an entry on the wrong side of the ledger.

NOTICE—Anyone wishing to take violin lessons kindly call at Haug's Jewelry store.

DR. J. P. CONNELL DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Surgeon of Fond du Lac Taken Ill While Performing Operation at Hospital Died in 20 Minutes

Dr. J. P. Connell, the well known surgeon of Fond du Lac was stricken at 11 o'clock last week Saturday morning, while performing an operation at the St. Agnes hospital and died twenty minutes later. Dr. Connell ranked with the leading surgeons of the state and his late work was of his profession was national. An autopsy disclosed no cause for death, but it is believed that the prolonged use of ether and chloroform in the operating room during his thirty years of practice may have affected the muscles of his heart, which caused it to fail to perform its function. The noted surgeon had practically completed an operation before he mentioned that he was not feeling well. When saying that he would lay down for a few minutes, he directed Miss Carey to complete the surgical work and went into the adjoining room. Nurses helped him into the bed where he rapidly grew weaker. Knowing the danger and that the end was near he asked for a priest, and his wife, Mrs. Connell. He was given the last rites by Father Lear, the hospital chaplain but died before his wife arrived. Dr. Connell leaves his wife, two sons and two daughters; four brothers and one sister.

SEE SUCCESS SURE

Democratic Leaders Confident of Landslide.

Splendid Record of the President Has Won the Confidence of the People of Three Important Western States.

President Wilson's western campaign managers have given him an agreeable surprise upon his arrival in Chicago on his way to Omaha when they informed him that a landslide awaits him in the West in the election.

At the close of a day's fatiguing journey on his first visit to the middle West since his re-nomination, the president listened for an hour to the gratifying reports of Senators Thomas J. Walsh, western campaign manager; Senators Sausbury and Hustling, Congressmen Ferris and Mrs. George Bass, head of the woman's bureau of the Democratic National committee.

As the president's train backed into the station, Mr. Wilson hurried to the rear platform of his car to greet the railway trainmen, whose enthusiastic cheering and noisy tooting of locomotive whistles greeted his arrival.

"We're with you, Woody," yelled the fireman of a passing switch engine. A man in the signal tower called for three cheers for Wilson, and they were given with lusty will.

From the platform of his car Mr. Wilson greeted the workers who crowded about, and for more than a quarter of an hour he grasped warmly the grimy hands that were held aloft to seize his.

"If one-half of the reports coming to the western headquarters are true," said Senator Walsh, "a tremendous Democratic landslide is ahead of us. We are making enormous gains in the West and middle West."

Former Republican Congressman George A. Peary of Maryland has repudiated the action of a group of Progressives in his state in endorsing Hughes, and has announced his intention to heartily support Wilson.

"We were led to the mountain peak," said Mr. Peary in announcing his new allegiance, "and were given a glimpse of the promised land. We then saw an idol dashed to the ground and shattered. I regret that the Republican party has been delivered into the hands of the Philistines."

"If Theodore Roosevelt was right in 1912, he ought to have been right in 1916. In 1916 we were the militants. We marched to the tune of 'Onward Christian Soldiers'; we were fighting the battle of Armageddon."

"The leaders of the Republican party of 1912 are the leaders of the Republican party in 1916. Do you suppose that these gentlemen have reformed? Is Joe Cannon any different? Penrose, whom Wilson denounced, is high in the councils of the Republican party. The burglars whom Roosevelt condemned are still in the saddle. In Illinois, Mr. Lorimer came within 2,000 votes of landing the congressional nomination."

Indiana in Democratic Column.

Senator Thomas Taggart of Indiana claims the Democrats will carry the Hoosier state by 90,000. These figures are being scoffed at by the Republican campaign managers, but it must not be forgotten that the Indiana senator knows the state like a book. It was he who made the famous prophecy when Harrison was the Republican candidate for the presidency: "We will beat him in the nation, we will beat him in the state, we will beat him in Marion county, in the city of Indianapolis, and in fact clear down to his front gate."

A Wilson Advantage.

One of Mr. Wilson's chief advantages has been given him by his critics. In answer to the deluge of criticism, verging into captiousness and abuse, that has been poured upon his head, he maintains an attitude of dignity and reserve, of self-confidence and discrimination in expression, which adds more power to his words than sheer logic.

President Elliot's Testimony.

President Emeritus Elliot of Harvard says the Democrats, guided by a powerful leader, have done more since 1913 than Republican administrations in five times that period. Harvard's emeritus president has now arrived at a position and at an age when to find the truth and aid it constitute the chief charm of living to a right-thinking man. There could not be a better campaign document than Mr. Elliot's article in the Atlantic Monthly on "The Achievements of the Democratic Party and Its Leader Since March 4, 1913."

DOES NATION DESIRE WAR?

President Wilson's Solemn Warning of What a Republican Victory Would Mean.

President Wilson, speaking before the Young Men's League of Democratic Clubs at Shadow Lawn, Long Branch, N. J., September 30, told the American people that the nation faces the parting of the ways at the election, November 7. The choice is: Elect Wilson and continue the policy of peace—or, elect Hughes and plunge America into war.

"There is only one choice as against peace, and that is war," said the president. "Some of the supporters of that (the Republican) party, a very great body of supporters of that party, outspokenly declare that they want war, so that the certain prospects of the success of the Republican party is that we shall be drawn, in one form or another, into the embroilments of the European war, and that to the south of us the forces of the United States will be used to produce in Mexico the kind of law and order which some of the investors in Mexico consider most to their advantage."

"I do not find that anybody else's counsel is taken in respect of the policy that this country should pursue with regard to Mexico, except those who have hitherto acted as the counselors for the vested interests in Mexico. The whole country is acquainted with the gentlemen who have been consulted. There is no concealment, even by themselves, whose attorneys they are. They have talked to me. I know exactly what they want. I have decided to give it to them and now they are going where they think they can get it."

"The conference which is being held with regard to Mexican affairs is embarrassed every day by the apparent evidence which is being produced that hostility to Mexico is being traded upon by one of the great political parties. These gentlemen may reconcile these influences with patriotic purpose, but it is difficult for all of us to do so, and the one thing I want to lay emphasis upon in this connection is this: That a great, fundamental, final choice with regard to our foreign relationships is to be made on the 7th of November."

Kentucky Safely Democratic.

Hughes' campaign chairman, William Wilcox, started out by listing the Democratic states of North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky in the doubtful column. He soon gave up the first two, and he might as well give up Kentucky, for the Blue Grass state was never more surely Democratic than it is this year.

If Wilson can carry most of the debatable states having a Democratic leaning he will have enough electoral votes and a few to spare.—Birmingham (Ala.) Age-Herald.

The laboring people are convinced that in President Wilson they have a man who will see that they get what he believes to be their rights, and they are for him. Hughes, on the other hand, has a record as governor of New York which is not especially pleasing to the workmen of the country. Then, he is not in the class with the president in the matter of public speaking and writing. It is becoming more and more certain that the president will be re-elected.

Which Policy Do Voters Prefer?

The Merrill (Wis.) Herald (Republican) says: "Mr. Wilson, in a notable speech, declares that if Roosevelt or even Hughes followed out what they are contending during the last four years, this country would have been plunged into war; that he has secured peace and prosperity with honor to the United States."

Secret of Hughes' Philosophy.

At last we believe we begin to get Candidate Hughes' idea. It is that everything that has been done, no matter how warmly we may have approved of it at the time, is wrong, evil and spurious if it was not done by Aldrich, Cannon, Taft, Smoot, Gallinger, Ballinger, Crane and Penrose under the aegis of the G. O. P.

Voice Troubles.

Mr. Hughes' voice trouble proves that a man can get as hoarse saying nothing worth while as any other way.

HUGHES LEADS FOREIGN NATIONS TO BELIEVE U. S. WANTS WAR

At this present moment—I want to repeat this because perhaps the country has not realized it enough—at this present moment it is almost impossible to do anything positive in the field of foreign affairs, because foreign nations have been led to suppose that there may be a change in our foreign affairs.

Foreign nations have been led to believe that a dominant element in the Republican Party is in favor of drawing the United States into the European war, and they have been told, with abundant evidence, that it is probable that if the Republicans succeed we shall enter upon a policy of exploitation of our neighbors in Mexico.

That is the whole moral of every criticism that I read, and until the people of the United States have spoken, it is extremely difficult to come to any definite conclusion about anything that touches our relations either to Europe or to Mexico. I myself do not doubt the result, but there are some who affect to doubt it.—From President Wilson's speech at Shadow Lawn, N. J., Oct. 14.

HUGHES FOE TO FARMERS.

Public records show the kind of a "friend" that Charles E. Hughes, Republican candidate for the Presidency, is to the farmers. White Governor of New York, he vetoed the following measures:

- For Farmers' Institute work, $6,000. For a specialist to fight insect pests, $2,500. For dissemination of information concerning cheap farms to be had in New York State, $8,000. For improving New York State College of Agriculture, $5,000. For enlargement of State Veterinary College, $10,000. For maintaining a department of veterinary science in the State University, $5,000. For investigation and extermination of contagious diseases of plants, $11,000.

CONTRAST THIS RECORD WITH PRESIDENT WILSON'S RURAL CREDIT ACT, THE GOOD ROADS BILL AND THE VOCATIONAL TRAINING MEASURE FOR WOMEN OF THE FARM.

WILSON WON ROOT'S PRAISE

"Thank heaven we have a President in whose lofty character, in whose sincerity of purpose, in whose genuine desire to do what is right, wise, patriotic, and what is best for the country and humanity, we can all trust absolutely. I trust him. He is my President and I would stand behind him in his leadership."

In a Senate in which were

Borah of Idaho, Cummins of Iowa, Bristow of Kansas, Clapp of Minnesota, La Follette of Wisconsin and Norris of Nebraska, all strongly progressive, but all Republicans, it was the Old Guard, Aldrich and Penrose, Smoot and Gallinger, that dictated all the important legislation that got through that body.

The Democratic Way. Ninety thousand individuals contributed to the Democratic campaign fund four years ago. The number will be far greater this year. This is as it should be. This is the DEMOCRATIC way. The people are supposed to rule in a democracy. The people should pay campaign expenses. This campaign is a fight between individual interests and the interests. Democracy itself is at stake and the welfare of our Republic is the issue. This Democratic campaign should not be financed by ninety thousand but by ninety hundred thousand.

There is only one drawback to the Democratic plan—it involves much work. That work is being done by the Finance Department of the National Democratic Committee, the largest organization of good Americans ever formed to finance a good cause.

A People's Campaign.

At the top of that organization is a General Finance Committee headed by Mr. Henry Morgenthau. Next comes a State Finance Committee in every state in the Union. Then come the Local Finance Committees. The bulk of the work falls upon them, but with over 9,000 Local Committees already organized, the burden will be distributed.

The success of the plan depends on the perseverance of the men of the local organizations. It is square up to them to see that this all important people's campaign is conducted with the people's money.

Every citizen of America who believes in the democratic legislation of this democratic President has now an opportunity to make tangible proof of his gratitude to the man who has guided the nation along safe, sound, constructive lines. Opportunity is not going to knock long either. Do it today. The time is short, much work remains to be done. The Democratic National Committee has no Blounted Bondholders' bank roll behind it—nor wants it. But it does require the immediate response of every American who believes in the rule of the people, for the people, by the people, and who is against the return to power of Barnes, Penrose, Perkins, Aldrich, Cannon, Smoot, Guggenheim, Crane regime, who would as surely wipe Wilson's non-partisan, all-American legislation from the books and deliver the country to Wall Street, as they would band together to shear a lamb.

Do Your Bit Now.

Do it NOW—do your bit—make your contribution through your local paper if it is collecting funds; if not see any member of your local finance committee or mail your contribution to W. W. Marsh, Treasurer, Democratic National Committee, 30 East 42nd Street, New York. Today, Nov. Help re-elect yourself and your family to four years more of honorable peace and glorious prosperity within, and an even better preparedness against possible aggression from without. With Wilson in the White House you know what you've got; with Hughes in the White House you will know who's got you.

MARSHALL JUSTIFIES WORD.

Republican newspapers and campaign speakers have been attempting to make capital out of the charge that Vice-President Marshall referred contemptuously to the Civil Service as the "Snivel" Service. Here are the facts stated by Mr. Marshall in a signed statement from Cincinnati: The phrase was not used with reference to the merit system, which I heartily favor, but was in condemnation of Republican hypocrisy of that Party's use of the law and its unjust criticism of Wilson's appointments.—Thomas R. Marshall.

What a grand time Wall Street and the Republican Old Guard would have "correcting President Wilson's mistakes" and re-establishing the "invisible government."

Vom Schauplatz des europäischen Völkerkrieges

Wie neulich bekannt wurde, hat sich die französische Meeresleitung der tagantesten Verlegung des Völkerrechts, die bis heute in diesen großen Kriegen auf irgend einer Seite vorgekommen ist, schuldig gemacht, indem sie eine besondere Truppenabteilung organisierte, welche die Aufgabe hat, alle deutschen Soldaten, verurteilt oder unverurteilt, die in eroberten Stellungen angetroffen werden, niederzumachen. Eine diesbezügliche Anordnung, welche wegen der Ungeheuerlichkeit der Verhöhnung in ganz Deutschland das größte Aufsehen erregt, lautet:

„Die Franzosen haben seit einiger Zeit eine neustampferweise eingeführt, welche als die feigste und flagranteste Verlegung des Völkerrechts, die bis heute vorgekommen ist, bezeichnet werden muß. Uebereinstimmende Berichte bestätigen die bisher nicht bekannte Tatsache, daß in den einzelnen Kompanien besondere Abteilungen gebildet wurden, welche den ausdrücklichen Befehl haben, in den gefürchten Gräben zu bleiben und alle Deutschen abzuschießen, welche noch lebend angetroffen werden. Diese Truppen führen den Namen „Nettoyeurs“ (d. h. Keiniger oder Jeger). Ihre Ausrüstung besteht nicht in Gewehren, Patronen und Bajonetten, wie bei den übrigen Soldaten, sondern in Revolver, Messer und Handgranate.

„Wenn es einer französischen Truppenabteilung gelingt, einen Graben zu nehmen, so folgen die „Nettoyeurs“ und beginnen ihr Mordhandwerk damit, daß sie alle noch lebenden Mannschaften töten. Diejenigen, welche den Handgranaten entgehen, werden, wenn sie herauskommen verurteilt, mit dem Revolver oder dem Messer abgeschlachtet. Diese schreckliche Schlächterei wird von Mann zu Mann fortgesetzt. Jeder Deutsche, mag er verwundet sein oder nicht, wird unbarbarisch niedergestochen oder erschossen.

„Einen der Beweise für diesen von der französischen Meeresleitung organisierten Mord bildet ein den Deutschen in die Hände gefallener Brief eines französischen Feldwebels von der Maroc-Division. Der Feldwebel schildert darin das schreckliche Vorgehen der „Nettoyeurs“ und fügt hinzu, daß er, ein Veteran von Afrika, immer entsetzt sei, wenn er, den „Nettoyeurs“ zugeeilt, sich an dem Abschlachten beteiligen mußte.

„Daß die „Nettoyeurs“ ihr Mordhandwerk unter dem Befehl des französischen Generalissimus betreiben, wird durch folgenden Armeebefehl bewiesen, der bei einem gefallenen französischen Offizier gefunden wurde: „Angriffsbefehl für das Infanterie-Regiment 293 von der 151. Division. Jeder Kompanie der ersten Sturmabteilung folgt eine halbe Abteilung „Nettoyeurs“; jeder Kompanie der zweiten Sturmabteilung folgt eine ganze Abteilung „Nettoyeurs“. Zwei halbe Abteilungen von „Nettoyeurs“ sollen in den zweiten erkrankten Graben verweilen und hier alle Deutschen erledigen, welche noch da sind. Die zweite Linie soll wie die erste vorgehen und beide Abteilungen „Nettoyeurs“ im Graben lassen, welche ihre Aufgabe mit aller Energie erledigen müssen.

„Die dritte Sturmabteilung soll zwei halbe Abteilungen „Nettoyeurs“ in der ersten von ihr genannten Grabenlinie lassen und bis zur vorbereiteten dritten Linie vorziehen, um hier mit der ersten Sturmabteilung zusammenzuarbeiten, so daß Major Roberts den Abschnitt am rechten Weckreuz und an dem Punkte 483 organisiert, während Major Arnadein die Stellungen am linken Weckreuz bis zum Punkte 508 deckt.“

„Ein weiterer Beleg für diese Mordhande der französischen Armee ist der frühere Korporal der vierten Kompanie der griechischen Legion in der französischen Armee, Adolf Levy, welcher freiwillig folgende beweisende Aussage gemacht hat: „Am 15. August bereitete die griechische Legion sieben Kilometer von Bois de Folie einen Angriff vor, der am folgenden Tag stattfinden sollte. Die Offiziere gaben den Befehl aus, daß keine Gefangenen gemacht und alle Verwundeten getötet werden sollten. Die Unteroffiziere verteilten eigens zu dem Zweck hergestellte Messer.

„Am 16. Juni sah ich während eines Angriffs bei Souday mit eigenen Augen, wie Deutsche, welche in den von uns genannten Gräben die Arme, erhoben hatten, unbarbarisch mit den Messern abgeschlachtet wurden.“

Die deutschen Zeitungen, welche diese entsetzlichen Enthüllungen befehlen, weisen darauf hin, daß Feinde dieser Art es sich nicht herausnehmen, die Deutschen in der ganzen Welt als Barbaren und Verächter des Völkerrechts zu verächtlichen. Die Geschichte dieses Krieges werde den Völkern erörtern, auf welcher Seite die Barbaren zu finden ist.

Der Besatz des deutschen Kriegs-Uboots.

Ein deutsches Kriegs-Uboot in amerikanischen Gewässern. Nur um einen Brief für den deutschen Gesandten Grafen Bernstorff zu bringen und fogleich wieder abzufahren, ohne Proviant oder sonst etwas an Bord zu nehmen. Die Freunde der deutschen Sache befinden sich in freudiger Erregung über diesen neuen Erfolg der deutschen Marine. Angefichts solcher Leistungen erträgt ihrer Brust ein inbrünstiges „Lieb Vaterland magst ruhig sein.“

Und schon schreien sie in ihrer ohnmächtigen Eile nach dem guten alten Anfel Sam um Hilfe. Sie verlangen es Uncle Sam klar zu machen, daß er es sich nicht bieten lassen dürfe, daß direkt vor seiner Türe englische Schiffe verladen würden. Wirklich rührend! Die eifrigen Englandfreunde vergessen nur dabei, daß das deutsche Uboot, oder vielmehr waren es auch mehrere, ganz genau die Regeln des Völkerrechts befolgte, es übertrieb außerhalb der 3 Meilen Grenze, durchsuchte die feindlichen Schiffe und forste für Rettung der Besatzung und Passagiere. Die deutschen Uboote haben, wie aus Washington selbst ausgeht, wird, ganz wie Kriegsschiffe behandelt.

Die anglophilen Amerikaneer können sich darum ihr Klageweien ruhig erlauben. Denn auch die Ber. Staaten haben Unterseeboote, welche sie im Falle eines Krieges sicher nicht in den Glasidraht stellen, sondern gegen. Feinde anzuwenden werden. Es ist darum geradezu kindisch, wenn die Presse die Ber. Staaten auf Unterseeboote bauen, nun auf einmal England zu gefallen die Uboottruppe als nicht zulässig erklären wollen. Man sieht eben, die Anglophilen sind sehr neugierig geworden.

Eine schamlose Kiste

Ueber die Ausbeutung der Arbeiter durch die Werksmeister in den großen Industrieanlagen im State Ohio erteilt ein neulich veröffentlichter Bericht der Industrie-Kommission Auskunft. Danach herrscht in gewissen Fabriken seit Jahren die Unsitte, Arbeitstischen an unwillkürliche und hilflose Eingewanderte erst nach Erlangung einer gewissen Gelddumme abzugeben. Der Bericht bezieht sich als unverständlich, daß betagte Kraftlöhner unter den Augen einer Gesellschaft betrieblen werden können, ohne daß die Gesellschaft selbst etwas davon weiß. Es handelt sich natürlich um nichtorganisierte Arbeiter, meistens erst kürzlich Einwanderer, die der englischen Sprache nicht mächtig sind. In vielen Fällen hat es der betreffende Vorkmann gar nicht nötig, die Zahlung irgend einer Summe zu fordern, da der Gebrauch zu erlangen ist, daß es der arbeitende Fremde für selbstverständlich hält, für die ihm sich bietende Arbeitsgelegenheit bezahlen zu müssen. Die Gehälter schwanken zwischen einer Kiste Cigaretten oder einer Flasche Schnaps und Geldsummen bis zu $25 für eine Stelle, welche 25 Cents pro Stunde einbringt. Die Vorleute sind schlau genug, die Gehälter nicht direkt in Empfang zu nehmen, sondern sie benutzen dazu Mittelmannen, die zum Teil selbst Arbeiter sind. Die Mittelmannen werden für ihre Dienstleistung entschädigt; den größten Teil des Gehältes geben sie natürlich der Werksmeister ein. Grat! Grat!

Erlas für Baumwolle.

Anstatt Deutschland „auszuburgern“, jornt die britische Blockade den Erdbergereit der deutschen Chemiker und Techniker zu immer neuen Ver suchen an, für die früher aus dem Auslande eingeführten Rohstoffe einen Ersatz im eigenen Lande zu finden. Das neueste Resultat auf diesem Gebiete ist, wenn sich alle Erwartungen erfüllen, von der höchsten wirtschaftlichen Bedeutung, indem es die bisher aus Amerika und Ägypten eingeführte Baumwolle vollständig ersetzen würde.

Ein in Siamen gedeihender, schnell wachsender und leicht zu erntender Pflanzentoff „Tupa“, von dem man dieses Jahr schon 1 1/2 bis 6 Millionen Tonnen geerntet hat, und der zehn Prozent Fabrikationsstoff der verschiedensten Spielarten ergibt, soll nach den bisherigen Versuchsergebnissen einen vollen Ersatz für Baumwolle, Jute und Wolle bieten.

Seine Reichstags-Wahl bis Frieden herrscht.

Verlin. Der deutsche Reichstag, dessen Lebensdauer im kommenden Januar ablaufen würde, wird nicht neu gewählt werden, bis wieder Frieden herrscht. Der Bundesrat hat, wie die „Voss. Zeitung“ berichtet, befolhene, die Legislatur-Periode um ein Jahr zu verlängern. Die Grundprinzipien der Parteien bleibt dabei unverändert.

Price of Product on Monroe Market Doubles in Year and Supply Almost Exhausted—Foreign Agents Buying.

Monroe—Never before has the cheese market in Green county boomed as it has the past few weeks. Swiss cheese is practically double in wholesale price what it was one year ago, sixty tubs being sold at the Jenny factory in Clarno township for 35 cents a pound, a record for Green county. For the past few days European buyers have been touring this territory, picking up all offerings. Local supplies are nearly exhausted, and the heavy demand is bringing out new cheese before it has been cured according to the prevailing custom. Although it is usual for some factories to close down at this season, all of the 170 in Green county are operating in full force this fall because of the heavy demand and high prices. October prices for Swiss cheese last year were 18 cents a pound, as compared with 35 cents at the present time.

FARMING WILL BE TAUGHT TO DEAF

Work in New Course to Be Inaugurated at Once at the State School.

EXPERTS SEE VALUE IN PLAN

Believe Instruction in Agriculture Will Be Big Aid to Inmates of the Delavan Institution.

Madison—Supt. H. C. Buell of the State School for the Deaf, which is maintained by the state for the free instruction of deaf and deaf-mutes, is taking definite steps toward the introduction of practical instruction in agriculture, it is announced here. Mr. Buell recently succeeded E. W. Walker as superintendent of the school, the latter becoming manager of the Wisconsin Masonic home at Dousman. The school is surrounded by fruitful farming country. A large tract which has been used for pasture, to the north of the buildings, has already been broken with a view of enlarging the gardening operations for the school. Citizens of Delavan are enthusiastic for the new plan, and experts in the education of the deaf believe that instruction in agriculture will be the most valuable course which this or any school for such unfortunate cases can adopt. Agriculture is considered to be admirably adapted for the future needs of the deaf.

Lightning Causes Heavy Loss. Great damage to barns in Wisconsin was wrought by lightning during the month of September, according to reports received by State Fire Marshal M. J. Cleary. A total of 80 barn losses were reported for the month, with losses aggregating $117,965. Not all of these were destroyed by lightning, but 58 losses occurred from this cause. Ordinarily danger from lightning is considered rather remote after the three summer months are past, but the heat prevailing during the early half of the month this year led to many losses. It is also interesting to note that of these 58 losses reported only one occurred on property that was roofed.

A total of 240 fires were reported. This is less than one-half the losses reported for August, when the total reached the unusually high figure of $895,190. September losses in 1915 were $357,690. During the month just passed there were 20 fires from threshing engines, entailing a loss of $27,615, and 21 match fires, with a loss of $9,530. Fires of unknown origin were 31 in number and the losses $141,345. Classified by occupancy the chief losses were 80 barns, 74 dwelling houses and 11 factories. The chief losses by counties were: Milwaukee, $67,405; Washburn, $58,000; Lafayette, $23,590; Waukesha, $23,455; Sauk, $20,625.

State Has 15,531 Teachers. Frank Swingle, for years a rural school educator and still interested in the improvement of the schools of the state, reports to the department of education that Wisconsin has 15,531, 273 are teaching in counties outside of cities. This corps of county teachers is made up of 1,057 men and 9,216 women, and they have in their care 456,981 children.

There is a total of 782,246 pupils enrolled in all schools of Wisconsin. The enrollment in the rural district schools is 165,894, in city high schools there are 24,855, and in high schools out in the counties there are 16,530 students. There are now in Wisconsin 6,635 rural schools, 542 state graded schools, 324 free high schools, 45 industrial schools and 45 county training schools for teachers. The average rural school now has 25 pupils enrolled.

There is expended for grounds, buildings and equipment, nearly $2,000,000. The sum spent for instruction annually is $8,900,000 and the cost of operation, maintenance, and other expenses brings the amount up to $15,036,800.

Treasury in Good Shape. State Treasurer Henry Johnson has issued a statement in which it is shown that the state treasury is in good condition and that there is no basis for charges to the contrary. This statement is a comparison of the condition of the treasury for the present year and that of 1915 at the same time and is as follows: "There has been so much said in the last eight months about state finances, so many insinuations made and statements given out to newspapers, that the question may well be asked: Is state government run honestly and on a business basis? It may be understood that the secretary of state cannot and does not draw any warrants on the treasurer excepting same are authorized by law, be the amount ever so small.

"It has been given out on several occasions that the state is bankrupt, at least when comparing finances with last year. If a comparison must be made as to the general fund on October 1, 1916, and same date last year, some legislative acts must be taken into consideration. The statement follows: "General fund October 1, 1915, $3,372,743.40. "General fund October 1, 1916, $2,748,645.88. "By a legislative act changing the dates of payment of railroad taxes from February 15 to May 1, and from August 10 to November 1, there was due from railroads on October 1, $1,880,392.43. "Terminal tax paid to cities where terminals are located, $233,550.65. "First payment made from general fund on indebtedness to school fund, $100,000. "Appropriations made from general fund, $800,000. "Total, $3,550,577.66."

To Tour Adjoining States. "Prosperity of states is not bounded by geographical state lines." This was the declaration by Commissioner of Immigration B. E. Packer, as he stood at the "Upper Wisconsin Products Special" train as it stood on a siding here for public inspection before it started on a five weeks tour of southern Minnesota and northwestern Iowa. The special train was fitted up by the state department of agriculture and the agricultural departments of the University of Wisconsin to go into the adjoining states and help get settlers for the arable, but as yet unutilized, lands of northern Wisconsin.

Two days to most of the cities visited will be the schedule and Commissioner of Agriculture C. P. Norgard himself will be one of the state's lecturers on this peaceful commerce raid on the west. Many to Take Dairy Course. Already more than 75 butter and cheese makers have enrolled for the twenty-seventh winter dairy course at the University of Wisconsin. It opens on Wednesday, November 8, and will continue, as usual, for 12 weeks. Courses in all branches of the dairy industry are taught. The application of milk tests for fat, casein, sediment and acids is imparted to students. The equipment of this school is recognized as the best of all such institutions in the United States.

During the period of existence of the winter dairy course more than 3,000 butter and cheese makers of this and other states have been instructed and 749 certificates have been granted to students who have done extra work. Insurance Report. The majority of fraternal benefit societies of Wisconsin are not 100 per cent solvent, according to the report of the insurance commission just issued for 1915. While this is not an indication that they are not on solid ground, the large percentage lacking to send the assets of the companies on hand for the payment of death claims to par with the total net value of outstanding certificates, which is what the insurance in force is worth at this time, is not looked upon with any too much favor by the insurance department. It is declared by officers of fraternal benefit societies that the method of determining percentage of solvency by the department of insurance is arbitrary.

Much Shoe Leather Saved. The faculty of the University of Wisconsin will be thanked by the students' parents, or whoever buys the shoes of the students taking lessons in economics. By a readjustment of classes, the professors have saved the economies class as a whole just 3,000 miles of walking a week. When the university classes opened a few weeks ago, no room was found for the class of 500 students, and they were forced to walk to the college of agriculture, making an extra distance of 1,000 miles per week. Another change this week, however, has enabled the class to assemble that much nearer to the dormitories.

Rural Teachers' Salaries Shown. The majority of rural school teachers of this state receive between $40 and $49 per month, according to the statistics just compiled by the state board of education. An investigation was started by the board to find out how much Wisconsin rural teachers get. Reports were obtained from all but six counties. Of the 5,847 teachers listed, 4,339 get from $40 to $49 per month. There are 1,467 of them getting salaries between $60 and $69 monthly. Four teachers get from $80 to $89 and only two of them get salaries so low as to go under the $40 mark.

Aerialist Returns Home. Stevens Point—Sergt. Felix Kluck, a Portage county boy, injured in a 500-foot aeroplane fall at Eagle Pass, Tex., June 13, is at home after five months in the hospital. He suffered fractures of the skull and collar bone. He will do recruiting duty here.

Dynamite Cap Disastrous. Antigo—While testing a dynamite cap with a nail, Walter Prasolowicz lost the thumb and forefinger of his left hand, sustained an injured eye and a badly bruised right hand.

Aeroplanes for Explorers. Aeroplanes are to be included in the equipment of an exploring expedition that is setting out from Buenos Aires to study a little-known region which includes Mar Chiquita, a lake having an area of some 1,000 square miles, located about 350 miles northwest of Buenos Aires. It is the belief of the explorer that with aeroplanes it will be possible to secure panoramic photographs which will prove invaluable in showing the topography and geography of the country.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Cardui Wins Suit. After a trial in the United States District Court of Chicago, before Judge Carpenter and a federal jury, the jury found the American Medical Association guilty of libeling Cardui, the woman's tonic, which they had denounced as a "nostrum." This is a vindication of the medicine and a proof that it has merit, which was recognized by a jury after a trial of three months, one of the longest civil cases on record. Many doctors and chemists testified on both sides and the evidence totaled nearly four million words.

New Fish Bait Declared Good. The United States bureau of fisheries reports that on the last cruise of the Fish Hawk in Chesapeake bay samples of grayfish meat, put up in brine, were distributed among crab fishermen and dealers, to test its value and the possibility of introducing it as a substitute for some of the baits now on the market. Fishermen who have tried the grayfish say that it is a very good bait.

Philipp's Reduction of Commissions

The number of departments, boards and commissions in the state Government was 52 at the time Governor Philipp was induced into office upon his pledge to REDUCE the number of boards and commissions. There are exactly that number in existence today. For every department consolidated a new department, or activity was created. Not a single board or department was abolished as the result of the action of the last legislature. As to these facts there is, and can be no dispute, regardless of any question of efficiency, about which there has been much argument and dispute.

Philipp and High Salaries

The number of salaried officials in the state government is greater today under Governor Philipp's "economical" administration than under any previous administration. Non-salaried boards have been displaced by salaried boards. The salaries of many existing officials have been raised and the limit of salaries for state employees formerly $5,000 annually, has been raised to $6,000, two entirely new positions being created at that salary. About these facts there can be no dispute, as no attempt has been made, nor can it be made successfully to disprove them. It is therefore unnecessary to go any further into details.

The Farmer and the Strike

The Republicans have never been able to regard the farmer as they do other business men, or to treat the farmer's business as they do other business. The whole legislative record of the party shows this; the line of argument used to the farmer by their speakers and in their campaign literature shows it.

The latest and most remarkable instance of this is the imprudent settlement of the strike by President Wilson was of no value to the farmer and that a great burden in the way of increased freight rates will fall upon his shoulders.

There is no basis for either assertion.

The strike would not have caused the farmer to actually suffer for food or for fuel as the poor in cities would have suffered. But his business would have suffered.

With the railroad traffic of the nation blocked the farmer's business would have suffered along with all other business—in some ways more. He would have seen his grain, his corn, his cotton, all his staple products, held on the farm or running up storage charges in warehouses, of no present use or value, and to belated sold in an impaired market. Were he shipping on contract he would have been forced to break his contract.

He would have seen his fruit and vegetables and all perishable produce rot for lack of transportation to market—a dead present loss to him, and a disorganized market at the end.

Those farmers who are feeders of live-stock and who depend in part on purchased foodstuff would have suffered extra losses.

The farmer would have suffered inconvenience and loss as to everything he ships to market and as to everything he buys from other points.

And in addition to this direct loss, he, too, with the rest of the population would have suffered from the disastrous state of the business of the country brought about by the strike. The farmer is not prospered by labor being idle, manufacturers, mines, mills and stockyards closed and all commerce handicapped; with the poor suffering for food and the babies for milk in the cities.

They harped on increase of freight rates the farmer is going to have to pay is mere present-pain. No promise of increase has been given the railroads. What has been promised is that an investigation shall be made and just and fair freight rates allowed. How welcome the fulfillment of this promise will be to the railroads is a question.

The net earnings of the railroads of the country for the year ending June 1, 1916, were 768 million dollars more than the last year of the Taft administration. This indicates a possibility that the establishment of "just" rates does not necessarily mean higher rates.

The water in railroad stocks, the manipulation in railroad deals and management, may cause it that the "burden" is to be borne by the men in Wall Street who got millions for slight or even dubious service to railroad management, as in the New Haven instance, instead of the shippers bearing the burden, be the shippers farmers or miners or manufacturers or lumbermen.

For two years the Interstate Commerce Commission has been having made a physical valuation of the railroad property in the United States. Upon its actual value and not upon their watered stocks are tax and freight rates to be computed and based. The question of just and fair freight rates is already being carefully investigated by the commission and will be investigated by Congress when it meets in December. The railroads are to be allowed to charge just freight rates and their successful operation is of so much value, so necessary to the well-being of the country, that no good business man, farmer, merchant, miner or manufacturer, is going to begrudge them the right.

The position and the arguments of the Republicans exemplify and prove their total inability and continued refusal to view the farmer in his true position in American life—a business man; that there is a producing end to his business as to that of the miner or manufacturer; that there is a selling end to his business as to others, a financial phase to his business as to other; that as a shipper and as a receiver of freight he stands in the same shoes as the other shippers and receivers.

And a main fundamental difference now between the two parties is that the Democrats under Wilson have recognized the farmer's real status.

MEXICO IS COMING BACK.
Saved From Conquest, It is Working Out its Own Destiny.
Encouraging news continues to come from Mexico, and the tirades of President Wilson's critics grow tamer all the while. Mexico has seen much misfortune, has borne many trials, has experienced many tragedies, but there is a buoyancy to the present situation that gives cheer to friends of that long-suffering republic.
Americans, coming from that country, bring optimistic assurances. They declare that there is much better government there than for many years, that Carranza money is increasing in value, that business is picking up and that law is being respected.
The New York Evening Sun, a Republican newspaper, which usually criticises everything President Wilson does, is compelled to recognize the facts, telegraphed from San Antonio, Texas, by William G. Shepherd, war correspondent of the United Press, who has been one of the keenest observers of conditions both in Europe and Mexico. Mr. Shepherd, back from a long service abroad, was sent recently to the Mexican border. After a careful survey he reported conclusions which the Sun displays under the heading: "Mexico Coming Back; Business Grows Bright—Confidence in Carranza Increases and Things Look Up." In part Mr. Shepherd says:
Mexico is coming back. It's not a dead rubber nation; it's got a bounce in it. A summary of the news from the heart of Mexico, gathered in the last three weeks along the border from Americans incoming from Mexico, shows beyond doubt that conditions are improving, confidence in Carranza is growing, the situation is gaining buoyancy, Carranza money is gaining in value and business is picking up.

GERMANS LOSE IN COUNTER-ATTACKS

Crown Prince Fails to Regain Ground Lost at Verdun.

DEFENDERS OF FORT KILLED

Paris Asserts Garrison at Fort Douaumont Refused to Surrender and Fought to Last—Commander Taken Prisoner.

Paris, Oct. 26.—Verdun, long lost to sight, sprang suddenly and unexpectedly into the forefront of the public mind, which had been directed toward the battle on the Somme. The German front on the right bank of the Meuse literally was swept away for a distance of four and a half miles like straw before the wind.

The Germans made counter-attacks north of Verdun in an effort to regain ground won by the French. They attempted to recapture the Haudoumont quarries and the Damloup battery. The war office announces that in both cases they were repulsed. The French gains were maintained. The German officer in command at Fort Douaumont is among the prisoners taken.

French Official Statement.

The text of the French statement is as follows:

"North of Verdun the Germans delivered two counter-attacks against the wings on our new front. One attack directed against the Haudoumont quarry was repulsed. The other delivered against the Damloup battery similarly failed. The ground captured has been maintained in its entirety.

"The clearing out of Fort Douaumont was completed in the night. The commander of the fort, who was in a dugout, was taken prisoner."

Nivelle Watching for Weeks.

General Nivelle for weeks had been watching the German movements like a lynx, carefully calculating the effect of every withdrawal of troops for transfer to the Somme and eastern fronts. At the same time he quietly made his preparations, and when he judged the Germans had thinned their defenses to the danger point he struck like lightning. The result was one of the most brilliant operations of the campaign.

The Germans, who on Tuesday were pressing close upon the inner line of defenses at Forts Souville and Tannettes, have been driven beyond the outer defenses of the Fort Douaumont-Vaux line. Vaux fort remains in the possession of the Germans, but the French line extends beyond it on the north at Vaux village and Fumin wood and also on the south of it at Damloup battery and Chenois wood, from both of which positions it can readily be attacked.

Attack in Four Columns.

When the time came the attack was delivered by four columns of a division each. The first was on the left, between the southern slopes of Pepper hill and Thihaumont farm. This met with little difficulty. The attackers carried Thihaumont work and farm and the Haudoumont quarries, set as the objective, and gained the Bras-Douaumont road beyond. There the attackers stopped, having advanced about a mile.

The second column was a colonial division under General Mangin from the corps that retook Douaumont fort last May. The task assigned to it was to take Hill 320, northeast of Verdun, and the edge of Caillette wood. The offensive there was even more rapid than on the left wing. General Mangin immediately saw he could advance farther and the commanding officer was therefore informed that preparations had been made to continue the attack. Hill 320 was rushed by troops from Fleury, which approached Caillette wood through the celebrated Ravine de Death.

Fierce Defense of Douaumont.

They then crossed the wood and reached the approaches to Douaumont fort. Everywhere the Germans gave way before them. However, the garrison of the fort hurriedly prepared to defend the important point and the French troops surrounded the fort and extended their gains everywhere without an instant's delay. Fatigue parties set to work, turning the defenses so as to be ready to resist counter-attacks. West of the fort the village of Douaumont had been carried at a run and the assaulters passed beyond.

COTTON SOARS, THEN DROPS

Market at One Time Yesterday at Highest Point Since the Civil War.

New York, Oct. 26.—A sensational break in the cotton market yesterday carried prices down 84.50 a bale, after an early advance above the 20-cent level, which was the highest price since the Civil war.

Ground Gained Around Vaux.

Things went equally well on the right. The third column advanced half a mile, reaching the edge of Vaux pond and carrying the part of the Vaux-Chaiffre wood still held by the enemy, as far as Punnin wood. The column stopped north of these woods on the outskirts of the village of Vaux.

The fourth column, which was ordered to operate in the vicinity of Vaux fort without taking it, followed out the program exactly. It drove out the Germans from Chenois and Lauffee woods, captured Damloup battery and, pushing ahead, encircled Vaux fort and the east, south and west, so that the defenders have no way of issue except to the north.

BIG RAIL PROBE NEAR

PROGRAM FOR INVESTIGATION OF RAILROAD CONDITIONS.

Purpose of Committee Announced by Chairman Newlands—Quiz Was Ordered by Congress.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The program for the nation-wide investigation of railroad conditions, ordered during the last session of congress, was announced by Senator Newlands of Nevada, chairman of the joint committee in charge of the inquiry. A letter inviting all interested to appear before the committee was distributed. Senator Newlands after explaining the resolution authorizing the investigation says:

"The purpose of the committee is to hear the opinions of economists and publicists of eminence; representatives of the interstate commerce commission; the National Association of States' Railroad Commissioners; state railroad and public utilities commissions; representatives of the railroad executives and labor organizations; representatives of farming organizations and farmers, shippers and bankers; representatives of chambers of commerce, and other important business and industrial organizations."

The program makes it clear that the committee proposes to take up the question of the wages of railroad employees in detail as well as all other costs. One question set forth for the consideration of witnesses reads:

"Whether any regulation is feasible of the wages and hours of employees of common carriers and whether it is advisable in the interest of the public and with a view to maintaining uninterrupted commerce between the states to take any further legislative action regarding the adjustment of disputes between the carriers and their employees and regarding strikes and lock-outs."

The committee also suggested consideration of questions as to whether the interstate commerce commission is overloaded and whether its jurisdiction should be curtailed; whether the commission should be divided to cover territorial districts; whether the present credit system of the railroads is efficient and whether the federal government should control the issue of railroad securities; whether federal incorporation of railroads is feasible and would be advisable.

BANDIT'S DEATH 'SMALL LOSS'

General Batista, Who Was Killed by U. S. Troops in Santo Domingo, Was Against Government.

New York, Oct. 26.—The death of Gen. Ramon Batista, a rebel leader, in a fight between his forces and American troops in the Dominican republic, was characterized by William W. Russell, United States minister to the republic, upon his arrival here, as "the smallest loss that could come to the country."

"Batista has been a thorn in the flesh of the present Dominican government for some time," Mr. Russell said. "With a nondescript band of 200 malcontents he had fomented much trouble."

WORLD IS SHORT OF WHEAT

December Soars to $1.86, Highest Since the Hutchinson Corner in 1888.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—The world-wide shortage of wheat has forced prices on the local board of trade above the mark set in the Leiter corner of 1898 and close to the high mark in the history of the cereal since Civil war days. December wheat soared to $1.86 and May to $1.85. When Joseph Leiter was cornering the grain he forced the price of wheat up to $1.85, which was the highest mark reached since 1867 except for a corner engineered by B. F. Hutchinson ("Old Hutch") in 1888, when the record-breaking figure of $2 a bushel was touched.

Cullen denied that he intended harming the president, saying he was not satisfied with the administration's foreign policies and just wanted to talk to him.

Berlin, Oct. 23.—The largest part of German trenches west of the road of Eaucourt l'Abbaye-Marque, lost to the British on October 18, were recaptured in the last 24 hours, the German war office announced.

The text of the statement follows: "Western theater — During rainy weather there was an artillery duel on both sides of the Somme, which was vigorously maintained.

"The largest part of trenches west of the road of Eaucourt l'Abbaye-Marque taken by the British on October 18 was recaptured by attack.

"It has just been reported that during the last great attack the British used some of the much-trumpeted armored automobiles, so-called 'tanks.' Three of them are lying in front of our lines. They were destroyed by our artillery fire."

QUEER LUCK

Did you ever have a piece of really good luck—for instance, help from an entirely unexpected source when you were in deep trouble?
Luck, good or bad, is certainly on the trail of Hugh Whitaker. You remember, a corps of eminent surgeons gave him just six months to live. So he found a girl in trouble, married her to save her good name and disappeared immediately. Five years later he reappeared in New York from Australia, happy, healthy and prosperous, and started out to find the little girl he married. He discovers her when he goes to the theater—she's Sara Law, great actress. Mutual recognition across the footlights stops the play and creates wild excitement among the audience. What next occurs is told in this installment. Go to it!

"Where's Miss Law?" he asked. "I dunno—go ask Max."
"Where is he?"
"You can search me; last I saw of him he was tearing the star dress' room up by the roots."
Whitaker hurried on just in time to see Max disappearing in the direction of the stage door, at which point he caught up with him, and from the manager's disjointed catchwords of the building while Max was making his announcement before the curtain.
Max swung angrily upon Whitaker. "Oh, it's you, is it? Perhaps you can explain what this means? She was looking straight at you when she dried up! I saw her—"
"Perhaps you'd better find Miss Law and ask her," Whitaker interrupted. "Have you any idea where she's gone?"
"Home, probably," Max snapped in return.
"Come on, then." Passing his arm through the manager's, Whitaker drew him out into the alley. "We'll get a taxi before this mob—"
"But, look here—what business've you got mixing in?"
"Ask Miss Law," said Whitaker, shortly. It had been on the tip of his tongue to tell the man flatly: "I'm her husband." But he retained wit enough to deny himself the satisfaction of this blustering rejoinder. "I know her," he added; "that's enough for the present."
At the entrance to the alley Max paused to listen to the uproar within his well-beloved theater.
"I'd give five thousand gold dollars if I hadn't met you this afternoon!" he growled. "I always knew that woman was a Jonah!"
"You were calling her your mascot two hours ago."
"She'll be the death of me, yet," the little man insisted gloomily. He stopped short, jerking his arm free. "Look here, I'm not going. I've got my work cut out for me back there"—with a jerk of his head toward the theater.
Whitaker hesitated, then without regret decided to lose him. It would be as well to get over the impending interview without a third factor.
"Very well," he said, beckoning a taxicab in to the curb. "What's the address?"
Max gave it sullenly.
"So long," he added morosely as Whitaker opened the cab door; "sorry I ever laid eyes on you."
Whitaker settled back in the cab and, oblivious to the lights of Broadway streaming past, tried to think. It suddenly presented itself to his reason, with shocking force, that his attitude must be humbly and wholly apologetic. It was a singular case; he had come home to find his wife on the point of marrying another man—and she was the one entitled to feel aggrieved! Strange twist of the eternal triangle!
Far too soon the machine swerved into Fifty-seventh street, slipped halfway down the block, described a wide arc to the northern curb and pulled up, trembling, before a modest modern residence between Sixth and Seventh avenues.
Reluctantly Whitaker got out and, on suspicion, told the chauffeur to wait. Then, with all the alacrity of a condemned man ascending the scaffold, he ran up the steps to the front door.
A man-servant answered his ring without undue delay.
"Was Miss Law at home? He would see."
This indicated that she was at home, Whitaker tendered a card with his surname penciled after that of Mr. Hugh Morten in engraved script.
He started toward him with pardonable wonder. It was truly the home of Mary Ladislav Whitaker—her property—he had builded far better than he could possibly have foreseen with that investment of five hundred dollars six years since. Soft, shaded lights, rare furnishings, the rich, yet delicate atmosphere of exquisite taste, the hush and orderly perfection of a home made and maintained with consummate art; these furnished him with dim, provoking intimations of an individuality to which he was a stranger—less than a stranger—nothing. . . . Almost immediately he became aware of feminine footsteps on the staircase—there entered to him a lady well past middle age, with the dignity and poise consistent with her years, her manifest breeding and her iron-gray hair.

"Mr. Whitaker?"
He bowed.
"I am Mrs. Secretan, a friend of Miss Law's. She has asked me to say that she begs to be excused, at least for tonight. And I am further instructed to ask if you will be good enough to leave your address."
"Certainly! I'm stopping at the Ritz-Carlton; but"—he demurred—"I should like to leave a note, if I may—?"
Mrs. Secretan nodded an assent. "You will find materials in the desk there," she added, indicating an escritoire.
Thanking her, Whitaker sat down, and, after some hesitation, wrote a few lines:
Please don't think I mean to cause you the slightest inconvenience or distress. I shall be glad to further your wishes in any way you may care to designate. Please believe in my sincere regret. . . .
Signing and folding this, he rose and delivered it to Mrs. Secretan.
He found himself in the street, with his trouble for all reward for his pains. He wondered what to do, where to go, next. The driver of the taxicab was holding the door for him, head bent to catch the address of the next stop. But his face lingered still in doubt.
Dimly he became aware of the violent bawlings of a brace of news-vendors who were ramping through the street, one on either sidewalk. At the spur of a vague wonder if the papers were already noising abroad the news of the fiasco at the Theater Max, Whitaker purchased a paper.

"There's a're, sir. 'Orrible noider . . . Thanky . . ."
The man galloped on, howling. But Whitaker stood with his gaze riveted in horror. The news item so pointedly offered to his attention was clearly legible in the light of the cab lamps:
LATEST EXTRA
TRAGIC SUICIDE IN HARLEM RIVER.
Stopping his automobile in the middle of Washington bridge at 7:30 p. m., Carter S. Drummond, the lawyer, and fiancée of Sara Law, the actress, threw himself to his death in the Harlem river. The body has not yet been recovered.

CHAPTER VII.

A History.

Whitaker consulted a telephone book without finding that Drummond had any private residence connection, and then tried at random one of the clubs of which they had been members in common in the days when Hugh Whitaker was a human entity in the knowledge of the town. Here he had better luck—luck, that is, in as far as it put an end to his wanderings for the night; he found a clerk who remembered his face without remembering his name, and who, consequently, was not unwilling to talk. Drummond, it seemed, had lived at the club; he had dined alone, that evening, in his room; had ordered his motor car from the adjacent garage for seven o'clock; and had left at about that hour with a small handbag and no companion.
Nothing further was known of his actions save the police report. The car had been found stationary on Washington bridge, and deserted, Drummond's motor coat and cap on the driver's seat. Bystanders averred that a man had been seen to leave the car and precipitate himself from the bridge to the stream below. The body was still unrecovered. The club had notified by telegram a brother in San Francisco, the only member of Drummond's family of whom it had any record. Friends, fellow members of the club, were looking after things—doing all that could and properly ought to be done under the circumstances.
Whitaker walked back to his hotel. There was no other place to go; no place, that is, that wooed his humor in that hour. He was, indeed, profoundly shocked. He held himself measurably responsible for Drummond's act of desperation. Next to poor Peter Stark, whom his heart mourned without ceasing, he had cared most for Drummond of all the men he had known and liked in the old life. Now . . . he felt alone and very lonely, sick of heart and forlorn. There was, of course, Lynch, his partner in the Antipodes; Whitaker was fond of Lynch, but not with the affection that a generous-spirited youth had accorded Peter Stark and Drummond—a blind and unreasoning affection that asked no questions and made nothing of faults. The capacity for such sentiment was dead in him, as dead as Peter Stark, as dead as Drummond. . . .

It was nearly midnight, but the hour found Whitaker in no humor for bed or the emptiness of his room. He strolled into the lounge, sat down at a detached table in a corner, and ordered something to drink. A page, bearing something on a saucer, ambled through the lounge, now and again opening his mouth to bleat, dispassionately: "Miss Whitaker, Mista Whitaker!"
The owner of that name experienced a flush of exasperation. What right had the management to cause him to be advertised in every public room at the establishment? . . . But the next instant his resentment evaporated, when he remembered that he remained Mr. Hugh Morten in the managerial comprehension.
He lifted a finger; the boy swerved toward him, tendered a blue envelope, accepted a gratuity and departed.
It was a cable message; very probably an answer to his to Grace Pettit. Whitaker tore the envelope and unfolded the inclosure, glancing first at the signature to verify his surmise. As he did so, he heard his name a second time.
"Pardon me; this is Mr. Whitaker?"
A man stood beside the little table—one whom Whitaker had indifferently noticed on entering as an equally lonely loner at another table.
Though he frowned involuntarily with annoyance, he couldn't deny his identity.
"Yes," he said shortly, looking the man up and down with a captious eye.
Yet it was hard to find much fault with this invader of his preoccupation. He had the poise and the dress of a gentleman; dignity without aggressiveness, completeness without ostentation. He had a spare, not ungraceful body, a plain, dark face, a humorous mouth, steady eyes; a man easily forgotten if overlooked unless he willed it other wise.
"My name is Ember," he said quietly. "If you'll permit me—my card."
He offered a slip of pasteboard engraved with the name of Martin Ember. "And I'll sit down, because I want to talk to you for a few minutes."
Accordingly he sat down. Whitaker glanced at the card, and questioningly back at Mr. Ember's face.
"I don't know you, but . . . What are we to talk about, please?"
The man smiled, not unpleasantly. "Mrs. Whitaker," he said.
"Mrs. Whitaker didn't send you to me? Then how—What the deuce—?"
"I happened to have a seat near your box at the theater tonight," Mr. Ember explained coolly. "From—what I saw there, I inferred that you must be—yourself. Afterwards I got hold of Max, confirmed my suspicion, and extracted your address from him."
"I see," said Whitaker, slowly. "Who the devil are you?" he demanded bluntly.
"I was," said the other slowly, "once, a private detective. Now—I'm a person of no particular employment, of independent means, with a penchant—you're at liberty to assume—for poking my nose into other people's business. Mrs. George Pettit once employed me to find her sister, Miss Mary Ladislav, who had run away with a chauffeur named Morton."
"Just a minute," said Whitaker suddenly—"by your leave—"
Ember bowed gravely. For a thought longer Whitaker's gaze bored into his eyes in vain effort to fathom what was going on behind them; the animus undisturbed by his words; then, remembering, he looked down at the cable message in his hand.
"Martin Ember (it ran) private agency 1435 Broadway, Grace Pettit."
Whitaker folded the paper and put it away in a pocket.
"Go on, please," he said quietly.
"In those days," Mr. Ember resumed, "I did such things indifferently well. I had little trouble in following the runaways from Southampton to Greenwood. There they parted. He was wanted for theft in a former position, was arrested, convicted and sent to Sing Sing; where he presently died. I'm glad to say. . . . Miss Ladislav had registered at the Commercial house as Mrs. Morton. She was there, alone, under that name, for nearly a week before you registered as Hugh Morten, and in the space of a few hours married her, under your true name, and shipped her off to New York."
"Right," Whitaker agreed steadily. "And then—?"
"I traced her to the Hotel Belmont, where she stopped overnight, then lost her completely; and so reported to Mrs. Pettit. I came into a little money about that time, and gave up my business; gave it up, that is, as far as placing myself at the service of the public was concerned. After some time Mr. Drummond sought me out and begged me to renew my search for Mrs. Whitaker; you were dead, he told me; she was due to come into your estate—a comfortable living for an independent woman."

ENTIRE CREW LOST ON LAKE STEAMER
Finding of Bodies From Merida Reveals Disaster.
DEATH TOLL IS NOW FIFTY
Four Vessels Were Wrecked During Great Storm on Erie Last Friday—Several Bodies Picked Up and Landed.
Cleveland, O., Oct. 24.—Local managers of the steamer Merida, owned by the Valley Camp Shipping company of Midland, Ont., admitted that the ship was lost in the gale on Lake Erie Friday night. The admission came after seven bodies of the crew had been picked up in midlake by two other ships. So far as known not a man of the crew of 23 survives the tragedy.
The loss of the Merida makes four lake steamers that went to the bottom of Lake Erie in the storm. The total loss of life is 50. The marshal of the Butlers sank, but all 13 of its crew were saved. The D. F. Filer went down with six of its crew, only the captain surviving. The James B. Colgate's crew of 22, again with the single exception of the captain, perished, while every man on the Merida is believed to be lost.
Bodies From Merida Are Found.
Three bodies from the Merida were picked up by the steamer W. B. Mathews in midlake and taken to Toledo. Four bodies were found bearing life belts by the steamer Charlotte Breitung and landed at Detroit. Reports from another ship sent out from a Canadian port to hunt for the Merida are that wreckage was sighted, but no survivors and that no other bodies were found.
In the crew of the Merida were H. L. Jones, Buffalo, the master; Gideon Fleming, Ogdenburg, N. Y., mate; Joseph O'Connor, Chicago, engineer, and Thomas H. Moore, Chicago, a deck-hand.
The Merida was due at Buffalo Saturday with a cargo of pyrites ore. It was commanded by Capt. H. L. Jones of Buffalo. The ship was 5,100 tons capacity and 360 feet long. It was built in 1882.
Pick Up Body From Whaleback.
Detroit, Mich., Oct. 24.—The body of one of the 21 men who went down with the whaleback steamer James B. Colgate in Lake Erie Friday night was brought to Sandwich, Ont., across the Detroit River from this city, by the steamer W. F. White.
Capt. W. J. McLean of the White said he left Buffalo early Sunday morning, and when some distance off Long Point sighted a lifeboat tossing on the waves. A boat was lowered from the White and sent to the lifeboat. It was found the body of a man. There was nothing to indicate who he was. Captain McLean said the lifeboat was No. 1 of the Colgate's equipment.
The bodies of two men, believed to have been members of the crew of the barge D. L. Filer, which foundered in Lake Erie Friday night with a loss of six lives, were washed ashore below Amherstburg, Ont., about twenty miles down the Detroit river. They have not been identified.

AUTO IN RIVER; FOUR DROWN
Machine Dashes Over Bridge Abutment at Chicago When Driver Falls to See the Danger Signal.
Chicago, Oct. 24.—An automobile containing six persons plunged from the west abutment of the Twelfth street bridge into the Chicago river last night. Four were drowned and two were rescued. The saved are: Mrs. Sarah Bernstein, a schoolteacher, living at 5649 Indiana avenue; Mrs. Henrietta Warner, 4440 Drexel avenue. Both were taken, bruised, cut and half-drowned, to the county hospital. Mrs. Warner's husband was one of the four drowned. The bridge had been opened to permit a boat to pass, and the auto, coming swiftly from the west, plunged over the west abutment into the water.

3,500 PRISONERS CAPTURED

Attack on Front of Four and One-Third Miles and Pierce Foe's Line to Depth of Two Miles—Berlin Reports Heavy Loss to Allies.

Paris, Oct. 26.—In a powerful series of attacks on the Verdun front the French have captured the village and fort of Douaumont, advanced beyond the Thiaumont work and farm, and occupied also the Haudromont quarries north of Verdun, according to the bulletin issued on Tuesday by the war office. The prisoners captured and counted thus far number 3,500, including 100 officers. The text reads:
"On the Verdun front, after intense artillery preparation, an attack on the right bank of the Meuse was launched at 11:40 a. m. The enemy line attacked on a front of seven kilometers (four and one-third miles) was broken through everywhere to a depth which, at the center, attained a distance of three kilometers (nearly two miles).
"The village and fort of Douaumont are in our hands.
"To the left our troops, advancing beyond the Thiaumont work and farm, rushed to Haudromont quarries and established themselves along the road from Bras to Douaumont.
"On the right of the fort our line runs to the north of La Caillette wood along the western outskirts of the village of Vaux and the eastern border of Fumin wood, and continues to north of Chemois wood and the Dauloup battery.
"Prisoners are pouring in. So far 3,500, including about 100 officers, have been counted. The quantity of material captured cannot yet be estimated. Our losses were small."
Berlin, Oct. 25, by wireless.—The war office announcement on Tuesday says:
"October 23 was like the preceding day, being characterized by battles of great violence. In order to break through at any price the British and French continued attacks in which strong forces were employed.
"In spite of their use of masses of troops north of the Somme they suffered a heavy and sanguinary defeat. It is reported from the front that rows of dead are lying one upon another, especially west of Transloy. The conduct of our troops was as splendid as was possible.
"Army group of the German crown prince.—The enemy attempted to assist the attacks on the Somme by attacks near Verdun. Our positions on the east bank of the Meuse were strongly shelled by artillery. Hostile infantry was held in its trenches by our strong and efficient artillery fire. Attempts to attack were thus frustrated."

CAUSES OF HIGH LIVING-COST

Restricted Production and Consumption Greatly Increased in Warring Countries.
Washington, Oct. 26.—Twenty million men fighting in Europe, producing nothing, while consuming enough food for 30,000,000 men and enough clothing for 80,000,000, are behind the high cost of living in this country—not Wall Street—Secretary of Commerce Redfield said on Tuesday.
"It is further true," he said, "that factories in all the belligerent countries that ordinarily produce goods for general use are busy on war munitions. The same is true in a smaller degree in our own country. The result is that at the time of the greatest consumption the production is greatly reduced."

Method of His Madness.

"You say Mrs. Naggs was here during my absence?" said the superintendent of the lunatic asylum to the attendant.
"Yes, sir," was the reply. "She called to see about taking her husband home, but he positively refused to go—said he would rather stay here."
"I always thought there was something wrong about that man," said the superintendent. "He isn't crazy at all!"

WOMAN HAD TRUE CHARITY

Refusal to Judge Others Harshly Proves Possession of the Highest Christian Character.
There died a short time ago a woman who never occupied, or aspired to occupy, a conspicuous position in the world but who was beloved by all who knew her. The secret of her charm lay in her charity—not the charity of almsgiving, although she was always openhanded to those in need—but the broader charity that consists in loneliness toward the frailties of others. When gossip, even gossip not unduly harsh, assailed man or woman she invariably met it with the one response: "Well, now, maybe if you knew all about the case you'd find the poor man (or woman) wasn't so much to blame after all."

Class vs. Class.

"Well, there is one thing to be proud of; we have no class prejudices in this country."
"Hm! I guess you were never around when three or four sophomores got hold of a freshman."

"There's a Reason"

THE GOOD JUDGE FINDS MEN SWITCHING FROM ORDINARY TOBACCO

WELL, I SEE YOU ARE WISE TO SOMETHING GOOD. YEP, WITH OTHER KINDS I HAD TO COAL UP TO THE LIMIT, NOW HALF THE AMOUNT SATISFIES. THAT'S RIGHT—IT'S RICH TOBACCO, SEASONED WITH SALT, AND A LITTLE CHEW DOES SATISFY.

WHEN a gentleman gets acquainted through and through with W-B CUT Chewing, he finds that the common sense of it helps him across a feature of ordinary tobacco he never did like. The shreds of tobacco give up the tobacco satisfaction without so much grinding and spitting—the salt helps bring out the good tobacco taste—and because it's rich tobacco, a small chew lasts and satisfies.

OUR acceptance of money is evidence of our faith that the customer is receiving a full round dollars worth of value for every dollar spent. If the goods we sell do not fill an honorable place in the mind of the purchaser then they certainly fail to perform the duty for which they were intended, namely, to gratify and satisfy those who buy.

A fundamental principle of this business is that each article shall "pay its own way" for the future and today by rendering a true service to the customer and the store.

How Catarrh is Contracted Mothers are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the colds which their children contract. The inflammation of the mucous membrane, at first acute, becomes chronic and the child has chronic catarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that many prove a life's burden. Many persons who have this loathsome disease will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. For sale by Edw. C. Miller.

Satisfy!—that's a new thing for a cigarette to do

It's nothing for a cigarette to just taste good—lots of cigarettes may do that. But Chesterfields do more—they satisfy! Just like a thick, juicy steak satisfies when you're hungry.

Yet, with all that, Chesterfields are MILD!

No other cigarette can give you this new enjoyment (satisfy, yet mild), for the good reason that no cigarette maker can copy the Chesterfield blend—an entirely new combination of tobaccos and the most important development in cigarette blending in 20 years.
