Mr. Wendorf has been married three times. His many friends here extend heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family.

VELVET JOE'S 1920 ALMANAC

In his new almanac, Velvet Joe, the genial philosopher of the tobacco world, has collected a rich fund of interesting information, timely statistics, helpful suggestions, with his own quaint, pointed comments on life and things in general.

Printed in the old-fashioned almanac style, and replete with splendid illustrations, this year book will again take its place on home reading tables with the dictionary and the encyclopedia. Throughout the forty-eight pages, Velvet Joe offers answers to the hundred and one questions that invariably arise when family or friends converse.

Besides the usual weather forecasts, there are weather records in different cities for each month and a very interesting method of reading the clouds. A mass of Government statistics has been tabulated, including facts showing the part which the United States played in the world war. For exercise men there is a chronological outline of the growth and achievements of the American Expeditionary Force that will be preserved for many years to come.

Velvet Joe has anticipated the Presidential election this year with a summary of the popular and electoral vote for President in 1916, which should settle many an argument and provide ammunition for the political speaker.

For the motorist there is a concise interpretation of the automobile laws in all states, compiled by a recognized authority; for the agriculturist there is a three-years comparative chart of the leading crops of this country, together with the acreage and productive value of farm lands in other countries.

To help reduce the cost of living, this almanac gives simple directions for making various home products; helpful hints to the housewife; and a practical home garden chart, telling what to plant, when to plant and how to cultivate.

School children will find Velvet Joe's Almanac useful in preparing lessons on current subjects, in judging character by handwriting and many an evening's entertainment through amusing, easily arranged games.

Indeed, Velvet Joe's Almanac is both an Information Bureau and an Entertainment Bureau, and as such is becoming more and more each year an American institution.

From Velvet Joe's smiling face and outstretched hand of welcome on the front cover to his alioquy on the back cover, every page is brimful of valuable reading.

Anyone desiring a copy of Velvet Joe's 1920 Almanac can secure it free by writing to Velvet Joe, 3241 Folsom Avenue St. Louis, Missouri.

LOCAL HIGH IN FAST COMPANY

That quality is sometimes done up in small packages was again clearly proven by the Grafton high school team in the basket ball game against Kewaskum high last Friday evening. The common remark of the crowd as the visiting team appeared upon the floor was, "How short and small they are". In fact it looked as if there was a mistake and the kindergarten had arrived or possibly worse yet "some one had robbed the cradle". A few minutes of practice however showed that the visitors had an eye for the basket and would score on a reasonable chance. When the game began the little fellows likewise showed that they had all the speed that was expected of them and that their close guarding was another strong feature of their team. Both teams played fast ball. A try for goal was received by a player near the basket or else the chance was lost by the play being broken up by an opponent. Eldon Ramthun, who played guard for his first time for the locals did excellent work in breaking up several opponent plays which seemed quite certain to be point getters.

The score was exceedingly close during the entire first half; the finish of the first half left a 9 to 11 count in favor of Kewaskum. The visitors were a little too anxious to win the last half and failed to cage a basket as successfully the second half as the first. The locals soon began to take a little lead and kept gaining gradually until the final whistle shrieked a 25 to 9 victory for Kewaskum. Runte starred for the locals with eight field goals and a free throw. Wolfe starred for the visitors with two field goals and a free throw; Kraupa was a close second to Wolfe with two field goals. The conclusion is that the little Grafton team surely puts up a game of which its school and all concerned can well be proud.

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN, IT'S YOUR TOWN

If you want to live in the kind of a town

Like the kind of a town you'd like.

You needn't slip your clothes in a grip

And start on a long hike.

You'll only find what you left behind.

For there's nothing that's really new.

It's a knock at yourself when you

Knock your town.

It isn't the town—it's you.

Real towns are not made by men

Lest somebody else gets ahead.

When everybody works and nobody

shirks

You can raise a town from the dead.

And if while you make your personal stake

Your neighbors can make one, too.

Your town will be what you want to see.

It isn't the town—it's you.

DECIDE TO PAY FOR SHORT STRETCH OF ROAD

At the county board meeting last week Friday it was decided to grant Hartford's request that the board pay the amount of the cost of the eighteen feet of road to be built by the county from the city limits on the East to Grand Ave., and from the city limits on the west to Cedar St., on East and West Summer, to the city so that the work of cementing the entire width could be done at once and make a better job of it and probably at a less cost.

Two new members, A. F. Schauer of Hartford and August Schuur of the town of Kewaskum were added to the State trunk road and bridge committee which now consists of five members.—Hartford Press.

FIFTEEN COUNTIES VOTE FOR ROAD BOND ISSUE

MADISON, WIS.—Up to December 31, fifteen counties of the state had taken a referendum vote on bond issues for road purposes favorably to the proposed issue, and the total bond issue thus authorized is $35,000,000. Four counties, Dane, Outagamie, Iowa and Grant voted adversely to a bond issue. The 15 counties supporting bond issues are the following:

Rock, $1,500,000; Jefferson, $2,000,000; Washington, $2,000,000; Florence, $100,000; Wood, $1,500,000; Green, $3,000,000; Douglas, $1,200,000; Brown, $2,500,000; Dodge, $5,400,000; Fond du Lac, $4,600,000; Green Lake, $900,000; Ozaukee, $1,500,000; Racine, $2,650,000; Walworth, $3,250,000; Waukesha, $3,800,000; total, $35,000,000.

No Great Act of Heroism Required.

If some great act of heroism was necessary to protect a child from croup, no mother would hesitate to protect her offspring, but when it is only necessary to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and give it as soon as the first indication of croup appears, there are many who neglect it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is within the reach of all and is prompt and effectual.

DON'T BE OPERATED UNTIL YOU HAVE SEEN DR. KARASS

Expert Makes Startling Statements Regarding Surgery.

That most doctors are too anxious to use the knife when the same case could have been cured by scientific medical treatment is the claim of Dr. Karass, Expert Specialist. If you are troubled with gall stones, fistula, goitre, rupture, tumors, adenoids, enlarged tonsils, with a female disease don't submit to an operation until you have seen Dr. Karass, for he has saved many sufferers from the operating table, for he treats these conditions without the knife, loss of blood, or loss of time. PERSONAL LIABILITY FOR FIRE DAMAGE

In Exodus XXII, 6, we read: "If fire breaks out, and catch in thorns, so that the stalks of corn, or standing corn, or the field be consumed, thereby, he that kindleth the fire shall surely make restitution." This is the law of Moses. A farmer setting a brush fire on his own land, who permits it to escape to his neighbor's land, is liable for any damage done to the neighbor by such fire. Railroad companies are liable for damages caused by locomotive sparks. Tenants have recovered damages from landlords, caused by fires originating from a chimney known to be defective. This is the law of today. The Supreme Court of Michigan has decided that "One through whose negligence fire is caused in his building, which spreads to his neighbor's building, is liable for damages." A few more actions for damages due to fires caused by gross negligence or violations of local ordinance or state law would impress upon all the fact that "each one is his brother's keeper." If your careless neighbor knowingly harbors a defective chimney, a rubbish-filled basement, a trash-laden attic, defective electric wiring, stoves installed so as to endanger woodwork or is careless in the use of gasoline or the storage of other oils, oily waste and rags, then he is careless of the safety of his own property and family, and of your property and family, and the lives of firemen. It is therefore your duty to warn him and to notify the proper authorities. Such a man needs discipline, not sympathy in case he has a fire. He must be taught the lesson that since the days of Robinson Crusoe "No man liveth to himself alone," and each owes a duty to the other. Hold him to strict account for the results of his carelessness.

Further, each city should, by ordinance, require such a man to pay to the city the cost of putting out a fire, caused by clear carelessness or negligence.

Strict enforcement of such laws and ordinances would eliminate the many careless fires.

Dated January 16, 1920.

LOCALS LOSE CREDITABLE GAME

Before a packed house of excited fans, and what proved to be one of the best and most scientific games of basket ball ever played on the local floor, and probably in Washington county, was played at the Opera House last Sunday evening, when the locals went down to defeat for the first time this season on the home floor, at the hands of the Oshkosh B'Gosh team by a score of 20 to 26. The game was marked by brilliant team work and tricky playing on both sides. It was a ball game different in character and style than any former games played here. Every player figured to outwit his opponent in order to make a safe pass, to either his fellow team mate or the basket, close shots for the baskets were rare for the defensive on both sides was very strong. The score never varied more than two points after the first few minutes of play. The first half ended 8 to 9 in favor of Oshkosh. In the last half the visitors were compelled to resort to a five men defensive to keep the locals from scoring, running chances on making long distance shots for the basket, at which they were very good, any kind of a fair open chance for the basket meant two points for either side. During the last minute of play the score stood 19 to 19, when the Oshkosh team scored three field goals, one of them being a one hand shot from nearly the full length of the hall, the locals satisfied themselves with one free throw. Both teams put up a splendid exhibition of ball, keeping the fans at a very high pitch of excitement throughout the entire game. The large number of fans present stated that it was one of the best games they had seen for a long time, and hoped to see many more such contests pulled off here. It was a good game to either win or lose. The visitors were strengthened by two professionals from Minneapolis, one from the Edison team of New London and another from the Bushey Business College. The locals had coach Fogarty of Fond du Lac in the lineup, whose clever playing time and again received hearty applause from the audience.

On Sunday evening, February 1st, the locals will clash with the crack Cedarburg team at the Opera House. The Cedarburg team has won four straight games during the past two weeks, one of them being a victory over the Wisconsin Indians, who are touring the state, meeting their first defeat at Cedarburg. This promises to be another hummer of a game, as both sides are determined to win. Come and see two old rivals battle to a finish.

On Friday evening, Feb. 6th, the locals will clash with the strong Crescent team of Ripon, Wis. The Ripon team is classed with the best in the state, they have in their lineup John Wilson, a former star in the Oshkosh B'Gosh team. The locals will have a hard time in trying to defeat this team.

St. Charles Man Tells How He Suffered Before Doan's Cured Him.

"Heavy strains on my back and being exposed to all kinds of weather, weakened my kidneys," says John E. Shelton of St. Charles, Mo. "The misery in my back was constant and I had to get up several times during the night to pass the kidney secretions. I got no rest night or day and lost twenty-two pounds in weight. My eyes burned as if there were fire in them. I also had dizzy spells and would feel as if I were going to pitch forward. Sharp catches would take me in my back as if someone were driving a sharp knife into my back. My kidneys were so weak I had no control over them and the secretions were scanty and burned in passage. I had pains in my bladder too. I was discouraged. I tried different remedies but received no benefit. I was advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills and when I did so I was soon relieved of my misery. Doan's cured me."

DRESSING THE SCHOOL GIRL

It is a lucky thing for the American public that the women whose intelligence raises them to the responsibility of buying for the great department stores and mail order houses are gifted in several directions. Intelligence in the selection of good styles is a necessary part of their equipment. They cultivate a "sense of clothes" which is another way of describing the art of dressing appropriately—the fine art of dressing correctly. It is true that they must consider in their purchasing a following that will not buy their most tasteful merchandise. But when they make their display and match up their choice of clothes with that of other buyers, we may be fairly sure of seeing the best things that money will buy. The arbiters of fashion insist that the schoolgirl should be dressed as a schoolgirl. That dress should occupy a very small part of her time and attention while she is in school. That her clothes should be simple and inconspicuous, and that utility and neatness are their important requisites. It goes without saying that they are attractive, for there is a charm about the simple schoolgirl clothes that belongs to them alone. A fine example of schoolgirl styles for the coming spring is shown in the picture given here, in which a cotton voile with colored satin stripe makes a delightful dress for a junior miss. It has a pretty bodice with a shawl collar edged with narrow lace, a vestee of the voile, three-quarters length sleeves with turned back cuffs. The plain skirt is gathered into the bodice and a short tunic is suggested in it by the simple means of a wide tuck set in on a slope. A wide sash of the voile with bow and ends at the back finish up a dress in which the young girl will look sweet when summer comes. These pretty cottons, simply made, have a freshness and youthfulness that belongs to nothing else. It is best to copy such dresses just as they are, for the things that make them so pleasing to women of the finest taste are subtle things. Accept them, and do not presume to change them.

Negligees Odd and Colorful

Some character of negligee appears in very fine cotton crepes from Japan, embroidered in silk floss material, matching them in color; they are something between a kimono and a coat. Mandarin coats and silk kimonos, gaily embroidered, hold their place among the luxurious apparel that blooms in the privacy of home. Speaking of ribbons and laces will naturally lead one to discuss bonnet caps and camisoles. A very handsome specimen of each of these is shown above and they are so well pictured that it will not take long to describe them. The cap is made of chiffon, with puffed crown. A shaped and wired band is extended into two points over the ears. The camisole of wide lace has a band of light ribbon about the top, filled with chiffon gathered into a fell and similar bands over the shoulders. Straps of the ribbon pointed at the ends are applied to the lace, and a narrow beading accommodates the ribbon that draws it up at the waist line. As it happens the lightest and most delicate of sheer fabrics are less fragile than they look. Crepe, georgette and wide net top lace are used for making many negligees, with the georgette in two plain colors and the lace in cream color. A pretty specimen of this particular style of negligee appears in the picture above. Just as pretty as these colorful and sheer affairs are coats of taffeta in gay colors, more or less long, to be worn over lacy petticoats. They are trimmed with ruchings of ribbon or of frayed taffeta. Very much the same character of negligee appears in very fine cotton crepes from Japan, embroidered in silk floss material, matching them in color; they are something between a kimono and a coat. Mandarin coats and silk kimonos, gaily embroidered, hold their place among the luxurious apparel that blooms in the privacy of home.

Colors in Soft Shadings. Pastel colors are going to take the place of the vivid colors that we have become accustomed to within the past few years. That is, if one can prophesy correctly from what is already being worn and accepted with much admiration at Palm Beach and other winter resorts. There will be corn yellow and soft Nile green, sky blue and light violet, salmon or apricot pink and just plain baby pink—in short, all the colors will be there, but they will be in their soft shadings.

Fur Neckpieces. Fur neckpieces, with practically no exception, are made in straight scarf form, in various lengths and widths. Collarettes and fancy shoulder capes have some representation.

Full Gathered Skirts. Some afternoon dresses feature full gathered skirts.

Like Accordion Pleated Skirts. Accordion pleated skirts are in high favor.

AID MARKETING FARM PRODUCTS

Extension of Activities Which Have Demonstrated Their Value Is Favored.

MUCH DEPENDS ON FARMERS

Promotion of Proper Storage of Crops on Farm Is One of Points Emphasized in Annual Report of Secretary Houston.

A private or governmental agency of national range to supervise or direct the marketing of the nation's farm products would probably break down of its own weight, in the opinion of David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture. He calls attention, in his annual report, to the fact that measures to this end have recently been introduced in congress and that the present time is especially fruitful of proposals of a large and novel nature designed quickly to solve marketing problems. "In the field of distribution, as well as in the field of production," says the secretary, "the farmers of the nation must assume the main tasks of Improvement. The government should furnish all possible aid in the way of information and suggestion, create favorable conditions under which production and distribution may take place, and especially see that the channels of trade are open and that abuses do not exist.

"There is no question," continues the secretary, "that everything which can legitimately be done to eliminate waste in marketing and to promote orderly distribution should be done. But the views of the most experienced students of the matter seem to be that we must approach the problem in simpler terms, work along lines which have clearly proven to be feasible, and promote existing tendencies and practices.

A Field for Work. "Certainly we can proceed further by state, federal, and individual action in standardizing the production, the handling, and the packing of farm products and in promoting the use of standard containers and proper storage on farms, in transit and at market centers. We can continue to furnish assistance in the preparation and installation of accounting systems and more extensively and accurately gather and furnish to the farmers of the nation all pertinent statistical information. I need scarcely emphasize the paramount importance of making available daily to producers facts as to market prices, supplies, and demands. The market news services of the department of agriculture have already clearly proved their value. The department now conducts and operates an inspection service on fruits and vegetables covering 164 markets.

Help Co-operative Associations. "Particularly must the federal and state agencies omit nothing to promote farmers' co-operative associations along right lines. Already, within a generation, many such bodies have appeared and rapidly expanded. It is estimated that they now market annually approximately $1,500,000,000 worth of commodities. They are of very diverse forms and sizes. For the most part, where they have been successful they have centered their activities on some one product, or on related products, in a given area. The indications are that with the continued success of these enterprises and with the proper educational effort and direction they will develop even more rapidly in the future. Through bulletins, news articles, and lectures the department of agriculture has endeavored to stimulate these efforts. "The department is requesting increased funds to make this extension possible and will take the necessary action promptly if the appropriations are made."

NEED FOR MORE DAIRY COWS

Animals Afford Market for Crops and in Return Produce Foods for Farmer's Family.

More dairy cows are needed on many farms to produce food for the family. To do this the cows will need feed, such as grain, hay, stover, and silage which may be produced. Hence the cows will afford a market for the crops and in return produce foods for the family and contribute a valuable by-product, manure, which if properly used, will enrich the soil for larger crops and better profits.

Average Weight of Oats. The average weight per measured bushel of the oat crop of 1919 is 31 1/2 pounds, or nearly 1 pound below the standard of 32 pounds. No year since 1908 has had a lower weight.

Transplant Gooseberries. The best time to transplant gooseberry bushes is in the autumn, but they can be transplanted successfully if they are moved early in the spring before there is growth.

Try a Few Mushrooms. If you have a suitable place, try a few mushrooms. They are delicious and wholesome, and the boys and girls would enjoy growing a few for the home table.

DISINFECTING SOIL WITH BOILING WATER

Practical Means of Ridding Land of Certain Parasites.

Marked Increase in Percentage of Germination and in Size and Vigor of Plants Observed in Large Number of Tests

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) The need of a simple, practical method for disinfecting small quantities of soil in which to grow healthy seedlings for home garden planting, now made more emphatic because of the great expansion of tomato and other club work, has prompted the bureau of plant industry to obtain more accurate data on the effectiveness of hot water as a means of ridding soil of the root-knot nematode, and certain parasitic fungi usually associated with root troubles. By means of a large number of tests it was found that an application of boiling water at the rate of seven gallons per cubic foot of soil in shallow benches practically eliminated the parasites. Applying this method to the needs of boys' and girls' garden club work, where the size of the seedbox or flat commonly used is 14 by 30 by 3 inches, 4 1/2 gallons of boiling water would be necessary to disinfect the soil in such a flat. In all cases a marked increase in the percentage of germination and in the size and vigor of plants grown in the treated soil was observed. Substantially the same method of killing plant parasites in the soil has been used with some success in certain vegetable greenhouses; but the department's experiments serve to determine accurately the temperatures required and also the necessary quantities of hot water. The root-knot nematode can be eliminated from the soil contained in a four-inch pot by submerging it for five minutes in water brought to a temperature of 209 degrees Fahrenheit. In eight-inch pots the organisms are killed by an application of boiling water at the rate of about three quarts to a pot.

PREPARE FOR NEW BUILDINGS

Best Time to Make Preparations for Contemplated Structures is in Late Winter.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Late winter is the best time to make plans and preparations for any building which is contemplated. This will assure the presence of the materials when needed, and will permit the making of favorable contracts which would be difficult to consummate when the rush of spring work begins. As the coming season promises to be a busy one in the building line, every farmer who wishes to build is urged by the federal department to "shake a leg" and get his plans under way.

Now is the time to prepare hog houses for the spring crop of pigs. Repair where necessary, so as to minimize pig mortality due to inadequate shelter. Thousands of new-born pigs are lost each season due to unsatisfactory housing. Weather-proof houses will save money. The late winter also is a propitious time for the building of new and repairing old fences. Worn-out posts and wire should be replaced where necessary to make the fields stock-tight. If possible the supply of posts should be cut on the farm or purchased from a neighbor. Osage orange, locust, cedar and chestnut posts are satisfactory for permanent fences. It is a good practice to peel the posts and dip the butts in creosote for preservative purposes.

The wise and frugal farmer piles the paint brush during the spare time of spring and fall, as he understands the dual value of paint in protecting against decay and weathering and in improving the sightliness of the farm buildings.

GET FARM AGENT'S OPINION

Farmers Will Do Well to Get Information Regarding Value of Various Fertilizers.

Farmers are advised by various state colleges to keep in touch with their farm bureau agent who has information about the value of various fertilizers and fertilizing materials. The farmer will do well to get the agent's opinion before substituting something new for the standard material he has used in the past.

Artificial Scents.

The great bulk of perfumes are chemical productions. The Wall Street Journal says the commercial problem is whether the American perfumer of the future is to be an artisan or an artist. Shall he deal with the fragrance of flowers or chemical odors and scents? The idea of the layman is that the cosmetic chemist seeks the odor of flowers; but as a matter of fact synthetic chemistry not only crowns his work with the crushed oil of roses, violets and jessamine, but seeks to rival the fragrance of flowers with superior scents originating wholly within the laboratory and trademarked as such.

A New One.

They were still out in the conservatory and Tom had just asked Sally to marry him. She had said, "I don't care if I do," and thus they were engaged. "Tom, dear," she began, "am I the only girl?" "Now, look here, Sally," he interrupted, "don't ask me if you are the only girl I ever loved. You know as well as I do—" "Oh, that wasn't the question at all, Tom," she answered, "I was just going to ask if I was the only girl that would have you?"

Comparisons.

"What an awful eater that man is! I believe he takes a peek at every mouthful." "That proves nothing on him in the way of a big appetite. So does a bird."

The Main Thing.

"That office-holder says he has divorced himself from politics." "How much alimony did he get?" "Why does nearly all the milk of human kindness taste of the can?" "People seldom appreciate good advice unless they have to pay for it."

Definition of "Play."

In a quaint volume published many years ago occurs the following credited to "Jones of Nayland": "The words commonly used to signify 'play' are these four: Relaxation, diversion, amusement, recreation. The idea of relaxation is taken from a boy, which must be unlearned when it is not wanted, to keep up the string. Diversion signifies a turning aside from the main purpose of a journey to see something that is curious or out of the common. Amusement means an occasional forsaking of the muses as when the student lays aside his books. Recreation is the refreshing of the spirits when they are exhausted by labor so that they may be ready in due time to resume it again. "From these considerations it follows that the idle man who has no work can have no play; for how can he be relaxed who never is bent? How can he turn out of the road who never is in it? How can he leave the muses who is never with them? How can play refresh him who has never been exhausted?"

Dried Snow.

Little Mary Louise saw snowflakes falling and said to her mother, "Let's hurry and put up our Christmas decorations, it's Christmas." In a little while she went outside to play, but soon returned to the house, for the air was so cold. Her mother noticed something that looked like clay on her shoe, and said to her: "What is that on your shoe, dear?" "The snow dried on there," answered the five-year-old.

TURNED THE LIGHT ON HER

Timed Illumination That Was Not at All Pleasing to the Central Figure. A few years ago we drove to the East and camped along the way. The first night's camp was made in a field along a side road, far enough from the main road to avoid many passers-by. However, in the midst of our bedtime preparations a car with bright lights turned off the main road and came toward us. My wife, who was using the rear seat of our car for her boudoir, gathered her kimono about her and ran around in front of our machine as she should be turned in our direction. At the same time another number of our party reached for the switch buttons to extinguish one small light which we were using, imagine his astonishment, my wife's horror, and the shouts of laughter from the passing car, as he pushed the wrong button and turned the powerful lights of our car full on my wife's thinny chin form.

FATES ATTEND BABY'S BIRTH

Peculiar Superstition That Has Strong Hold on the Poorer Classes of Greece. Almost every nation has some particular superstition or belief about babies, and these result in actions which vary all the way from the merely absurd to the terribly tragic. The peasantry of Greece firmly believe that the future of every child is determined by three fates, known as the Moirai. In the popular mind these fates are three old women, whose abode is a mountain cave and they come together to a house where there is a new-born child. In preparation for them, all furniture is set aside, their tottering footsteps are not to be impeded, and refreshments in the shape of honey, bread, cakes and wine are set out for these important though invisible guests. Money, too, is placed on the table as a bribe, for it is believed that in the gift of these fates are all good things as well as bad. Under no circumstances must a child's beauty be circumscribed to while the Moirai may be in the house, or they will certainly make its good looks disappear.

Anything for Friends. I was chatting on some friends one evening when during the conversation the host inquired about my aunt and uncle, who were planning to drive to Florida. Security Calf Food

We wish to call your attention to Security Calf Food, a food especially prepared for calves and little pigs. They require proper food and just as much so, as young babies require proper food. Security Calf Food is put up to take the place of mother's milk for young calves and little pigs, as a baby foods are put up to take the place of mother's milk for babies. Security Calf Food replaces the whole milk from the time the calf is three days old. A calf requires from 8 to 12 quarts of whole milk a day. This is worth from 4 to 7c a quart and it will cost you from 30 to 40c a day to feed your calf with whole milk, while you can raise or fatten your calf with Security Calf Food for less than one-fourth the cost of whole milk, and raise just as good a calf. Security Calf Food does not have to be cooked or bothered with. Just mix a measureful (you will find a measure in each pail or package) with whey or skim milk. Stir up well. There is no danger from indigestion or scours from using Security Calf Food and the calves like it. We guarantee you to raise as good, fat and healthy a calf on Security Calf Food as on whole, fresh milk. We also guarantee to refund in cash for every pail or package of Security Calf Food that does not give perfect satisfaction.

Get Your Tractor Now

THOUSANDS of farmers now own Titan 10-20 tractors. Ask any of them whenever you get a chance and you will hear that they found owning a tractor operating successfully on low-priced, low-grade fuels—kerosene, distillate, etc.—is a paying investment from the very outset.

At hundreds of International tractor schools in the past few months farmers have been shown that kerosene engines must be specially designed—and that Titan 10-20 tractors are specially designed and built to operate on kerosene, or any other crude oil distillate testing 39 degrees Baume or higher.

Titan—The Best Tractor Buy

They are easier to handle than a farm team and easier to care for. You can get your work done on time, plow deeper, prepare better seed beds, do more work with less help, and get more profit from your farm. They do belt work that cannot be done by horses and pull more in proportion to weight than horses. Horses must have rest whether the work is crowding you or not. If necessary, you can keep your Titan working continuously, without rest, until the work is done.

When you have economy, efficiency, dependability—three prime essentials of farm machinery—carrying an assurance of bigger crops, better yields, and fatter profit. Order a Titan early. Be sure of having it for the labors ahead.

ALL ALIEN REDS MUST GET OUT

Ruling by Secretary of Labor Is Death Blow to Communists.

ARE ENEMIES OF THE U. S.

Manifesto and Constitution of Organization Show It Seeks to Overthrow Government by Force or Violence in Open Combat.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Membership in the Communist Party of America is sufficient to make an alien liable to deportation whether or not he may have taken any possible steps to further the execution of the avowed object of the organization to overthrow the government of the United States.

Secretary Wilson's decision establishes the precedent which will govern cases of all other members of the Communist party against whom deportation proceedings have been or will be begun and will affect equally with Pries the three other men whose cases were argued by attorneys Benjamin Bachrach and Isaac E. Ferguson of Chicago, the latter having been indicted by the Cook county grand jury with 85 others charged with advocating overthrow of the government.

In a carefully prepared statement, Secretary Wilson recited the facts in the case of Pries, quoted the law of October 16, 1918, under which his deportation was recommended, established by quotations from its manifesto and constitution that the Communist Party of America "is not merely a political party seeking the control of affairs of state, but a revolutionary party seeking to conquer and destroy the state in open combat."

"It does not devolve upon the secretary of labor," Mr. Wilson said, "to determine whether Congress was wise in creating the law, or the Communist party wise in creating the facts. It is his duty to apply the law to the facts as he finds them. It is mandatory upon him to take into custody aliens who are members of this organization and deport them in the manner provided for in the immigration act of February 5, 1917."

Pries is a native of Austria who entered the United States at Port Huron, Mich., November 13, 1915, having arrived in Quebec by the S. S. Scoten June 14, 1915.

"It is alleged," Secretary Wilson states, "that the alien is a member of the Communist Party of America, which is affiliated with the Communist International. The alien admits membership in the Communist Party of America, and that it is affiliated with the Communist International. The sole question, therefore, to be determined by the secretary of labor is: Is the Communist Party of America such an organization as is described in the act of October 16, 1918, membership in which makes an alien liable to deportation?"

"The language of the act applicable to this particular case is as follows:

"Section 1. . . . aliens who are members of or affiliated with any organization that entertains belief in, teaches or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the government of the United States. . . ."

"Section 2. . . . shall, upon the warrant of the secretary of labor, be taken into custody and reported in the manner provided in the immigration act of February 5, 1917."

"It will be observed that belief in, teaching or advocating the overthrow of the government of the United States is not alone sufficient to bring any organization within the scope of the act. There must in addition be a belief in, teaching or advocacy of force or violence to accomplish the purpose."

"An examination of the documents submitted clearly demonstrates the fact that it is the purpose of the Communist party to overthrow the government of the United States. . . . There are many statements that might be quoted showing that purpose. The following is typical. On page 9 of the manifesto and program the statement is made:

"Communism does not propose to 'capture' the bourgeois parliamentary state, but to conquer and destroy it. The revolutionary era compels the proletariat to make use of the means of battle."

ERZBERGER SHOT BY AN ASSASSIN

German Minister of Finance Attacked as He Leaves Courts Building.

BULLET ENTERS SHOULDER

His Assailant, a Young Cadet Officer and Son of Bank Official, Is Arrested—A Second Bullet Glanced Off Victim's Watch Chain.

Berlin, Jan. 28.—Germany's militarists and nationalists came within an inch of celebrating their first great triumph since the armistice. An aristocratic would-be assassin who had posted himself near the criminal courts building, fired three shots at Finance Minister Dr. Matthias Erzberger as the latter was coming out, homeward bound, after a hearing in his libel suit against Dr. Karl Helfferich. Only one bullet struck Erzberger, slightly wounding him in the shoulder. The assailant, who gave his name as O. Von Hirschfeldt, was arrested.

Hirschfeldt is a former cadet officer. The assailant of the finance minister was seized by the police and taken to a police station, where his name was discovered. He is twenty years old and now is a student living in a suburb of Berlin with his parents. His father is a bank official.

Herr Erzberger was engaged in conversation with his solicitor, Doctor Friedlander, outside the criminal court at 2:30 o'clock when his assailant, a well-dressed young man, approached and fired a pistol at the finance minister. The shot entered his shoulder.

Doctor Friedlander sprang at the youth, who at the same moment fired a second shot, which hit Erzberger in the region of the stomach, but glanced off his watch chain and a button.

Herr Erzberger staggered into his motorcar, which was waiting to take him home, and drove off at full speed. While the finance minister is not seriously wounded, an operation will be necessary to extract the bullet, from his shoulder.

Mathias Erzberger, for many years leader of the German center party, is one of the most prominent figures in German public life.

Doctor Helfferich in the trial of the libel suit brought by the finance minister January 29 stigmatized Herr Erzberger as "a menace to the purity of our public life."

When the Bauer cabinet was formed in June, 1919, Herr Erzberger was appointed vice premier and minister of finance.

Dutch Refuse to Deliver Former Emperor to Allies. American Troops Engage in Skirmishes in Siberia.

Two Yanks and Five Slavs Killed—Americans Capture General, Six Other Officers and 48 Men.

The Hague, Jan. 28.—The official note of the Netherlands government in reply to the demand of the allies for the surrender of the ex-king for trial is dated January 21 and reads:

"By a note verbal dated January 15, 1920, and handed to her majesty's envoy in Paris, the powers, referring to article 227 of the Versailles treaty, request the Netherlands government to deliver into their hands William of Hohenzollern, emperor of Germany, in order that he may be put on trial.

"In support of this request they observe that if the emperor had remained in Germany the German government would have been obliged, according to article 228 of the peace treaty, to hand him over."

"Her majesty's government has the honor to observe forthwith that the obligations which might have resulted for Germany under article 228 of the treaty of peace cannot prevail in order to define the duties of Holland, which is not a party to this treaty.

"If in the future an international jurisdiction were created by the League of Nations competent to judge in a case of conflict on facts qualified as crimes punishable by statute preceding these facts, it rests with Holland to associate herself with this new system.

"Her majesty's government cannot in the present instance acknowledge any other duty than that imposed by the laws of the state and national tradition, the constitutional laws of the state based on universally recognized principles of law, and on honorable traditions centuries old, which has made of this country at all times a refuge for the vanquished in international conflicts.

"Her majesty's government would fain believe that the powers will recognize the soundness of these considerations which are above any personal appreciation and which moreover appears so preponderant that they cannot reasonably give rise to erroneous impressions as to Holland's attitude.

HITCHCOCK HEARS FROM PRESIDENT

Senate Strife Looms Again Over League of Nations.

CONFERENCE TO BE RESUMED

Lodge Ultimatum for the Acceptance of His Article X and Monroe Doctrine Reservations Is Rejected by the Democrats.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The peace treaty conciliation conference was saved from collapse by a threat of Senator Hitchcock, who previously had communicated with the White House, to throw the controversy back into the senate.

The senator did not indicate what he had learned, if anything, from the president. The Democrats rejected the Lodge ultimatum for the acceptance of his article X and Monroe doctrine reservations without change. Senator Hitchcock soon after that intended to abandon the conference, but was dissuaded by Senators McKellar, Tennessee, and Simmons, North Carolina.

The conference will be resumed on Thursday. Menheneup senators of the irreconcilable group indicated they would support any move to bring the treaty up for debate, declaring discussion would strengthen their case before the country. The mild reservation Republicans showed a desire to get the treaty into the senate again should the compromise negotiations fail.

Rejected Compromise Plan.

The day's clash was accentuated by the refusal of the Republicans to agree to the following substantive reservation of article X:

"The United States assumes no obligation to employ its military or naval forces or the economic boycott to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country under the provisions of article X, to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose, unless in any particular case the congress, which, under the Constitution, has the sole power to declare war or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall by act or joint resolution provide. Nothing herein shall be deemed to impair the obligation in article XVI, concerning the economic boycott."

The Hitchcock forces in a statement said of this proposed compromise: "The unexpected interruption of the conference and the decision to refuse any compromise on article 10 is all the more surprising because it seemed from expressions on both sides of the table that we were close to a possible compromise on this very important reservation."

Republican Counter-Attack.

The Republicans countered with this: "We have seen Senator Hitchcock's statement. The majority of the conference did not agree to the reservation affecting article 10 which he published. In fact, Mr. Hitchcock himself would not agree to it. No one agreed to it. It was simply up for general discussion. The conference adjourned until Thursday in the hope something could be worked out. It ought to be understood that all we can do or assume to do is to recommend to our associates."

Ask for Ratification.

During the day a plan for immediate ratification, either with or without reservations, was presented to Senators Wadsworth and Calder of New York by a delegation from New York city, headed by William Church Osborne, and representing the League to Enforce Peace, the League of Nations association, the New York Federation of Churches, farm organizations, the state Chamber of Commerce of New York, and Daughters of the American Revolution.

Pamphlet Read at Trial Declares Any Means Are to Be Used to Set Up Dictatorship.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Counsel for the assembly judiciary committee investigating charges of disloyalty against the five suspended Socialist assemblymen indicated at their trial the line of their attack.

After reading into the records a clause from the national constitution of the Socialist party providing for expulsion from the party of members voting to appropriate funds for military or naval purposes, John B. Stanchfield, committee attorney, referred to the oath of office taken by the five assemblymen and then read from the New York state constitution an article specifying that it shall be the duty of the legislature to provide funds for maintenance of the militia.

Proponents of "the dictatorship of the proletariat" hold that the first step must be the seizure of the government by any means possible and taking over of industry by force, according to a pamphlet read at the trial.

The pamphlet, published by the Jewish Socialist federation of New York, was translated from the Hebrew by Charles M. Robinson, a department of justice operative serving the joint legislative committee investigating radicalism, who was recalled to the stand.

Purporting to give views of both proponents and opponents, the pamphlet asserted the former held preparation must be made for "revolution" and "class dictatorship." Upon the seizure of the industries, they would be run by workingmen's soviets, according to the program.

ATTACK ON SIMS IS CHEERED

House Hears the Admiral Denounced for "Liberating Army and Depreciating Navy."

Washington, Jan. 28.—Rear Admiral Sims, a leading figure in the naval decorations controversy and in the pending senate investigation of the navy's conduct of the war, was attacked in the house by Representative Byrnes (Dem.), South Carolina. Byrnes said he deserved "the condemnation of every American and a dishonorable discharge from the navy."

Characterizing Admiral Sims as a "hypnotized politician," Mr. Byrnes charged that, when serving as commander of American naval forces in European waters during the war, he had "libeled the army and depreciated the work of the navy," and urged that the United States leave the control of the seas to Great Britain.

Democratic members frequently interrupted Representative Byrnes with applause and when he concluded arose, cheering and clapping their hands.

MONDELL SOUNDS A WARNING

House Leader Sees Political Death of Militaristic Party—Cost to Be Enormous.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Political oblivion for the leaders in the party responsible for adoption of universal military training was predicted in the house by Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican leader. The initial cost of the plan would be $1,000,000,000, he said, requiring an additional bond issue.

"Men cannot be trained for a mere pittance," he continued. "It costs $1,000 for six months' training for every man in the regular system. This amount would be exceeded for men undergoing their first training, because of additional clothing and other equipment costs. We would also need 50,000 additional officers. Three hundred million dollars would be necessary to put camps and cantonments in condition and $60,000,000 is required for their maintenance each year."

DRY LAWS TIGHTER FEB. 1

Mere Possession Outside of the Place Not Covered by Permit Will Be Law Violation.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Midnight, February 1, will add a new and powerful weapon to those already trained on the violator of the national prohibition act. Up to that time the sale or transportation of liquor must be proved in order to convict the bootlegger or "cheater." After that hour, according to A. V. Dalrymple, chief prohibition officer for this district, the mere possession of liquor outside of a household or place covered by a government permit will be a violation of the law.

"We have made some arrests for transporting liquor on the hip," said Mr. Dalrymple. "After February 1, possession of it there will be sufficient to get a man into trouble."

GIVE VOTE TO DEACONESSES

Episcopalians in Eastern Missouri Think They Are First in the U. S. to Do So.

St. Louis, Jan. 28.—The Protestant Episcopal diocese of eastern Missouri, at its annual convention here, unanimously adopted a resolution giving deaconesses the privilege of voting in diocesan conventions on the same basis as the clergy.

So far as Episcopalians know, this is the first diocese in the United States to take such action.

Then Mr. Duncan talked about gardening, and from that to Dave's skill in backing his team to the coal chute, and from that to coal itself.

ENTER EDITH DUNCAN. Synopsis.—David Elden, son of a drunken, shiftless ranchman...

Fortunate fate, or whatever good angel it is that sometimes drops unexpected favors, designed that young Elden should the following day deliver a horse at the home of Mr. Melvin Duncan.

CHAPTER IV.—Continued. "You handle a team like you were born to it," he said. "Where did you get the knack?"

"Well, I came up on a ranch," said Dave. "I've lived with horses ever since I could remember."

"You're a rancher, eh?" queried the older man. "Well, there's nothing like the range and the open country. If I could handle horses like you there isn't anything would hold me in town."

"Oh, I don't know," Dave answered. "Did you get sick of it?" Elden shot a keen glance at him.

"Yes, I got sick of it," he said. "I lived on that ranch eighteen years and never was inside school or church. Wouldn't that make you sick?"

"And I suppose you are attending church regularly, now, and night school, too?" Dave's quick temper flared up in resentment, but again the kindness of the man's manner disarmed him.

"No, I didn't. That's what makes me sick now. I came in here intending to get an education, and I've never got even a start at it, except for some things perhaps wasn't worth the money. There always seems to be something else in ahead."

"There always will be," said Mr. Duncan, "until you start." "But how's it to be done?" Dave questioned with returning interest.

"And never will," said Mr. Duncan, "until you start. But I think I see a plan that might help, and if it appeals to you it will also be a great convenience to me. My wife likes to go driving Sundays, and sometimes on a weekday evening, but I have so many things on hand I find it hard to get out with her. My daughter used to drive, but these new-fangled automobiles are turning the world upside down—and many a buggy with it."

"Well—as I saw you driving in here I thought to myself, 'There's the man for that job of mine, and I can't get him; but I'm not rich and I couldn't pay you regular wages. But if I could square the account by helping with your studies a couple of nights a week—I used to teach school and haven't altogether forgotten—why, that would be just what I want. What do you say?'"

"I never saw anything on four feet I couldn't drive," said Dave, "and if you're willing to take a chance I am. When do we start?" "First lesson tonight. Second lesson Thursday night. First drive Sunday."

Mr. Duncan met him at the door and showed him into the living room. Mrs. Duncan, plump, motherly, lovable in the mature womanliness of forty, greeted him cordially. She was sitting at the table with a book, and she looked up at him with a smile.

CHAPTER V. The summer was not far gone when Dave, through an introduction furnished by Mr. Duncan, got a new job. It was in the warehouse of a wholesale grocery, trundling cases and sacks of merchandise. It was cleaner than handling coal, and the surroundings were more congenial and the wages were better—fifty dollars a month to begin.

"The first thing is to get out of the headline," said Mr. Duncan. "I am not hoping that you will have found destiny in a wholesale warehouse, but you must get out of the headline. As long as you shovel coal you will shovel coal. And you are not capable of anything better until you think you are."

"But I've liked it pretty well," said Dave. "As long as I was just working for my wages it was dull going, but it was different after I got to see that even shoveling coal was worth while. I suppose it is the same with groceries, or whatever one does. As soon as you begin to study what you handle, the work loses its drudgery. It isn't a man's job that makes him sick of his job; it's what he thinks of his job."

A light of satisfaction was in his teacher's eyes as Dave made this answer. Mr. Duncan had realized that he was starting late with this pupil, and if there were any short cuts to education he must find them. So he had set out deliberately to instill the idea that education is not a matter of schools and colleges, or courses of reading, or formulae of any kind, but a matter of the five senses applied to every experience of life. And he knew that nothing was course or common that passed through Dave's hands.

Edith becomes interested in Dave. (TO BE CONTINUED.) LEFT FALSE TEETH IN GUTTER Kansas City Man Proud Than Railroad Engineer Who Was Victim of Same Accident.

A man left the office of a Kansas City dentist the other day with a full complement of new false teeth. Hardly had he reached the street when he was seized with a fit of sneezing, and when the storm had passed over, the upper plate was gone. It had rolled into the gutter, much to the amusement of the crowds.

The man, being greatly humiliated, turned away and went directly back to the dentist. "I couldn't stoop down and pick up those teeth, in front of all those people, you know," he told the dentist, and proceeded to order a new plate.

This man was considerably more sensitive than a certain engineer on a Santa Fe branch road in Kansas a few years ago. The engineer, while leaning out of his cab window, sneezed and lost his teeth. He stopped the train, walked back half a mile until he found them.

On his return the passengers naturally wanted to know what he had been doing, and so pleased was he with his success that he told them. And the passengers in turn were pleased with the explanation that no one complained of the delay except the conductor, who said he had left his spectacles at home that morning, but nobody offered to hold the train for him while he went back after them.

Soldiers' Hat Cords. The colors of the cords on the hats of soldiers stand for distinctive branches of the army. POTATO DISHES. Beginning with soup and ending with dessert, one may have potatoes in every course in the meal. One would hardly care for such a meal, but it is interesting to note how valuable the potato is as a food.

Potato Cream Soup.—Take a cupful of boiled mashed potatoes; scald one quart of milk, and two slices of onion in a double boiler. Rub the potatoes through a sieve, and add the milk, removing the onion; put into a double boiler to heat. Add three tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour, mix and pour some of the hot mixture over the thickening, and cook until smooth. Add to the soup with a little chopped parsley.

Hashed Potatoes.—Chop cold boiled or baked potatoes into small bits. Season with salt and pepper and chopped parsley. For one quart of chopped potatoes, add three tablespoonfuls of butter. Beat the butter and turn in the potatoes; stir until they begin to brown, then add one-fourth cupful of thin cream, and set back to brown on the back of the stove. Fold like an omelet, and serve with the brown crust on top. Garnish with parsley. Do not put potatoes through a meat chopper for this dish, as the bits should be at all mushy. A good hash should always be chopped in the chopping bowl. Meat loaf is much better done so, rather than ground in the meat grinder.

Potato Cake.—Cream together one cupful of sugar and half a cupful of butter substitute; add the yolk of an egg and beat again; add one cupful of hot mashed potato, half a cupful of sweet milk or cold water alternately with two cupfuls of flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Mix two squares of grated chocolate in the hot potato before adding it to the mixture. Add one-third of a teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves and grated nutmeg and one-third of a cupful of chopped walnuts. Fold in the beaten white of the egg. Bake in a loaf or in layers. This cake will keep moist for weeks.

Cleaning White Paint. Spirits of ammonia used in sufficient quantities to soften the water and ordinary hard soap will make a white painted surface look white and clean with half the effort of any other method. Care should be taken not to have too much ammonia.

Her Cordial Indorsement. Elva was left alone with grandma for the day. An aunt, upon her return, said, "Did you have a nice day, Elva?" "O, yes," she replied. "I had a fine day—grandma just minded me perfectly."

Mrs. J. H. Dodg, R. No. 3, Medon, Tennessee: "PE-RU-NA is a grand medicine for coughs and colds."

So many diseases are due to catarrh and catarrhal conditions, makes PE-RU-NA the best medicine in the world to have on hand for emergencies and general health protection.

CENSUS TAKERS USE AEROPLANES

Everything from aeroplanes to snowshoes is being used by the agents of Uncle Sam in taking the 1920 census of the United States.

Aeroplanes have come in handy in enumerating the dwellers on the islands off the coast of Florida; yachts and rowboats have been used in the harbors of the country; native canoes have been in demand among the Hawaiian Islands; "flitvers" are being used everywhere; the tried and trusty mule team has carried the census takers out on the desert regions; and snowshoes have become the trusted aides of the census takers in the northern states and Alaska.

Enumerators Turn Rescuers. In the central part of New York State, near Oswego, a few days ago an enumerator making his rounds on snowshoes arrived at an isolated farm dwelling only to find that an abandoned man was needed more than a census taker as the man of the family had been sick in bed for several days and the farm animals were suffering for lack of food and water.

Trials All Have Value. Trials never discover forces within. Says Victor Hugo: "There are instincts for all the crises of life." A deep perplexity awakens a flash of insight; a bitter opposition sets the soul on fire; a grave peril opens our eyes to horses and chariots of fire; a severe catastrophe evokes a heroism of which the sufferer had not thought himself capable.—W. L. Watkinson.

Oiling the Wheels. No one can afford to let another person exceed in politeness, and there is nothing in the world that will oil the wheels of life like the lubricant of courtesy. Try it in your daily life and see. No one will chide you for not being in good form, even if you should slip in a few obsolete terms.

Metric Denominations. The metric denominations and values for measures of capacity are as follows: Kiloliter or stere, 1,000 liters, equals one cubic meter; hectoliter, 100 liters, equals one-tenth of a cubic meter; dekaliter, ten liters, equals ten cubic decimeters; liter, equals one cubic decimeter; deciliter, one-tenth of a liter, equals one-tenth of a cubic decimeter; centiliter, one-hundredth of a liter, equals ten cubic centimeters; milliliter, one one-thousandth of a liter, equals one cubic centimeter.

Be Kind Always. One great trouble with unkind thoughts is that it is so very difficult to keep them only thoughts; sooner or later they find utterance. We may fancy that we are keeping our uncharitable opinions to ourselves, but they are almost certain to express themselves in look or tone, if not in word. The only way to be really kind is to be kind clear through.—Exchange.

BADGERS PAY RECORD TAX

Madison, Wis.—Wisconsin people are paying the highest tax bill ever assessed in the state this year. The local county and state taxes collected on real and personal property of the state this year, will reach over $71,000,000, according to the compilations which are being made at the office of the state tax commission.

In 1906 the total tax collected for local, county and state on the general and personal property of the state was $23,267,646. The tax rate throughout the state averaged 10.95 mills.

In 1909 the total real estate and personal property taxes collected through out the state were $29,287,107. In 1914 taxes collected reached the sum of $41,756,035 and the average tax throughout the state was a rate of 13.87 mills.

A part of this increase in real estate taxes has been caused by the soldiers' bonus legislation. The net amount of cash which will come from state income taxes under the regular law will approximate $6,000,000. The soldier bonus sur-tax on incomes will produce $7,000,000 additional and the soldiers' education law with another surtax adds $1,400,000. The railroads pay about $5,355,000.

Taking all of the taxes, real estate and personal, the regular income taxes and the sur-taxes on incomes and the railroads, the tax bill in Wisconsin this year is over $90,000,000. This is the largest amount of taxes ever collected in the state.
