MANY DEATHS THE PAST WEEK

CARL MEINHARDT

On Wednesday, March 15th, at 2 a. m., at his home in the town of Wayne, occurred the death of Carl Meinhardt, after an illness of two weeks, with rheumatism, followed by a paralytic stroke, which is attributed as the cause of his death. Mr. Meinhardt was born on May 21, 1847, at Roth Government, Circuit of Koblenz, Rhine Province, Germany. In 1861, he immigrated with his parents to this country, settling in the town of Wayne, later going to West Bend, where he learned the blacksmith trade, which occupation he followed up for some time at Nenno, and during the Civil War he went south with the Union Army as blacksmith, when he returned he followed his trade in the northern part of the state for a number of years, when he returned to the town of Wayne where he has since resided. He was married to Mrs. Anna Maria Meinhardt, nee Feilchen, who preceded him in death in 1901. The following children survive him: Jacob on the homestead; Philip and Fred and Mrs. Philip Lillian of Milwaukee; Mrs. Carl Bauer of Cedar Lake. 15 grand children and 6 great grand children also survive. The funeral was held on Friday, March 17, Rev. Foesch officiated. Those from afar who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Philip Meinhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meinhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lillian and son Philip, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bauer, Mrs. J. J. Schaefer, Mrs. Geo. Bauer, Mrs. Schaefer, Mrs. M. and Mrs. Paul Schultze and son Reinhold and Mr. and Mrs. Jac. Werking, all of Milwaukee.

MRS. MARIA BRAASCH

On Monday, March 20, 1922, the grim reaper, death, entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Volk of the town of Auburn, and took from the family midst Mrs. Maria Braasch, mother of Mrs. Volk, after an illness of two years with a complication of diseases, brought about by infirmities of old age. Mrs. Braasch was found dead in bed on Monday morning, which came as a great shock to the family, as nothing serious was thought of her illness and on Sunday evening she appeared as usual. Deceased was born Sept. 12, 1851, in Schleswig, Holstein, Germany. In 1882 she immigrated to America, settling in Milwaukee, where she resided the greater part of her life, coming to her present home four years ago. On April 19, 1876, she was married to Wm. Braasch, who preceded her in death a number of years ago. Five children were born of this union, two dying several years ago. Those surviving are: Charles, her eldest son, South Dakota; William of Milwaukee; Frieda, (Mrs. Hugo Volk) of the town of Auburn. The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the residence with services in the Reformist church at Elmwood. Rev. Hartman officiated. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery.

IN LOVING REMEMBRANCE TO MRS. FLORENCE KLEINHANS

The death angel has again visited us. And taken from our midst, a loving wife, daughter and sister, although the parting with the loved is so sad, What a rejoicing for the one, that can go. Although young in years, God called her, and we cannot say no. She was loved and respected. And her friends can never forget her. For her loving face has gone from our midst. We sympathize with you all in your sadness. The laws of God cannot be changed. We can only say, farewell, dear Flora. When some time we hope to meet again. Some God calls us to our home. L. Hangartner.

CARD OF THANKS

The undersigned desire to thank all those friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted them during their recent bereavement, the illness and death of their beloved father, Martin Moldenhauer, to the pall bearers, to those who furnished cars, for the floral offerings and to all those who showed their last respect for the departed one by attending the last sad rites. We also desire to thank Rev. Greve for his consoling words. The Surviving Children.

PAVING CONTRACT IS AWARDED

The County Highway Commission met at West Bend Thursday for the purpose of further considering the bids handed in by contractors upon the paving of Highways 15 and 55 in this county, and after going over the matter carefully awarded the contract for the completion of the pavement on Highway 15 to the George Gross Construction Co. of Appleton. The contract involves the laying of 8.23 miles of 18-foot cement highway. The section is the remaining unpaved gap in Washington county, connecting with the present pavement two miles west of Slinger and continuing to the Dodge county line and where it will join onto the paving to be laid by that county this summer and which will then permit of continuous traffic from Milwaukee to Green Bay over pavement. The figures at which the contract was let were $154,615.98. The state is to furnish the cement and the contractor the gravel and crushed stone. Figures for the square yard of paving, including the ingredients, with exception of the cement, are $1.16. Excavating will amount to 79 cents a cubic yard. The total net cost to the county to build Highway 15 this year will be about $25,000 a mile. The cost last year by contract was in excess of $36,000 a mile, a net saving of $11,000 a mile, or in the neighborhood of 55 per cent less than costs established last year.

Bids were asked for on Highway 55 running through West Bend, Barton and Kewaskum. This stretch of road is 11.12 miles long. It was divided into two sections, Sections A and B, and bids asked for three days—upon the road as a whole and upon the two sections individually. Rogers & Monroe, contractors from East Jordan, Mich., were the low bidders upon Section A, which is the south 5.52 miles of this project. Their bid figures were $78,689.85, the county to furnish the cement and all of the material. Figures per square yard of cement laid were 74 cents and excavating at 73 cents the cubic yard. The fact that all material is to be furnished to the contractor upon this section of 55 accounts for the low figures upon the laying of the paving.

Froeming Bros., Milwaukee, were low bidders upon Section B, Highway 55, being the north end. Their figures for the 5.6 miles were $122,637.64. Froeming Bros. likewise handed in a figure on the whole of this one project, the price being $208,909.26, $6.50 higher than the combined price of Rogers & Monroe and Froeming Bros. The figures as handed in on the north end of Highway 55 are somewhat higher than those of the south half, owing to the fact that there is considerable grading to be done and the contractor will be required to furnish a portion of the paving ingredients.

Bids for the paving of 55 are being held up pending the investigation of the records and ability of the firms quoting upon same. If the reports are satisfactory, it is probable that the contract will be awarded for the paving of this road at the meeting of the County Highway Commission at West Bend Thursday.

Bids for the paving of Highway 15 and 55 were opened in the office of Division Engineer Weymouth at Milwaukee on Tuesday. Some ten contractors had bid on Highway 15 and seven on 55. Highway 15 is a federal road. Its total net cost will be in the neighborhood of $200,000. Of this amount the federal government will pay one-third, the state one-third and the county the balance. As Washington county has been given a premium of $75,000 by Milwaukee county if it would pave this road this year, Highway 15 will be paved at practically no expense to the county. Highways 29 and 55 are likewise state trunk lines and as such the state must pay one-third of the cost. Under this plan the county will have a snug sum of bond money left at the end of the year, which will be available for finishing up the paving next year.—Hartford Times.

VILLAGE AND TOWN PRIMARIES HELD

The caucuses held here on Tuesday were very quiet, only 114 votes were cast. The fact that there was but one opposition for the office of supervisor in which N. W. Rosenheimer and Emil Backhaus were the candidates, no great interest was taken in the caucus. Mr. Rosenheimer was nominated. Following are the candidates nominated: President, E. L. Morgenroth; Trustees, Chas. Groeschel and Geo. Kippenhan; there were only two candidates in the field for the office of trustee, and as there were not enough votes cast for any one person at the caucus to have a five per cent majority over his opponent no trustee was nominated to fill this vacancy; for clerk, S. N. Casper; for treasurer, Jos. Mayer; for assessor, Edw. F. Miller; for supervisor, Newton Rosenheimer; for justice of the peace, Geo. H. Schmidt; for constable, Fred H. Bass.

In the town a great deal more interest was taken, there being opposition for supervisor, assessor and treasurer. The following candidates were nominated: for supervisor, Geo. H. Schmidt; for clerk, Adolph Haback; for treasurer, Emil Siegel; for assessor, Nick Boedeker; for justice of the peace, Henry Mueckeheide; for constable, Michael Jehanne.

PROTECTION OF FISH AND GAME

The newly organized Washington County Fish and Game Protective Association had the pleasure to listen to an interesting and inspiring address by Chairman W. E. Barber of the State Conservation Commission at the court house at West Bend last week Tuesday evening. Mr. Barber spoke of the conservation of wild life, which in European countries has been practiced for centuries past and which in this country has been taken up only in later years, when the effects of unrestricted hunting pressed themselves upon the conscience of the nation. The extinction of the passenger pigeon which formerly was seen around here in immense flocks, was cited as an instance of disappearing wild life. The last of these pigeons is believed to have died in August 1914, and all efforts to trace any more, even with large rewards offered, were in vain.—West Bend News.

COMMUNITY CLUB MEETINGS HELD

Last fall five communities of Washington County organized groups of not less than 10 ladies and not more than 15 ladies to meet once a month for five months during the winter with Miss Sadie McNulty, Home Economics Extension Worker. At these meetings the various questions relating to sewing, etc., and finally the making of a paper dress form. These meetings were so well attended that plans were made for a meeting of all five groups at a central point.

About 125 ladies representing these community club groups responded to the call for a group meeting of these organizations held at the West Bend Commercial Club Hall, Tuesday, March 14.

The forenoon meeting was given over to the chairman of the five groups, who reported the progress of their respective group. These reports brought out the interesting fact that in the five groups seventy dress forms had been made at a cost of about $125 a piece. An inquiry as to what these dress forms were worth brought the following statement from several ladies, "If I could not make another, I would not sell mine for $10.00."

At noon the group adjourned to the Geib Hotel, where the entire dining room was given over to the ladies. In the afternoon, addresses on various extension subjects were given by Miss Sadie McNulty, and Miss Gladys Stillman, Home Economics Extension Workers; Milton H. Button, County Agent; M. T. Buckley, County Supt.; and Miss Kathryn Huber, Supervising Teacher.

Plans were made by the ladies to push a county wide milk campaign, this spring or next fall.

Late in the afternoon a demonstration of how to make a dress form was made. After this the meeting was adjourned, everyone leaving with the feeling that the first community club gathering in Washington County had been a decided success.

Plans are being made to have more group meetings next winter. Any group of ladies who would be interested in having such a series of meetings in their community are requested to notify County Agent, Milton H. Button.

NEW CLOVER CROP NOT UP TO TESTS

The extravagant statements regarding Hubam, the annual white blossom sweet clover, and the big advantages claimed for the crop in the mass of propaganda circulated around the country has caused considerable unnecessary excitement among farmers, but so far all the experimental work carried out at the Wisconsin Experiment station for three years fails to show any advantages over other crops that should warrant the high prices demanded for the seed, according to R. A. Moore, of the agronomy department of the University of Wisconsin.

Similar results have also been obtained at Ohio, Missouri and North Dakota experiment stations in their tests.

During the three years at Wisconsin the crop was a failure with a nurse crop; gave a very poor crop when broadcasted because of the competition with weeds and wild grasses; gave a poorer quality of hay than the biennial white blossom variety; it did not increase the organic matter of the soil as well as sweet clover as alfalfa and alsike clover and the biennial white blossom sweet clover.

"Where the crop was grown as cultivated crop under garden conditions in rows, five bushels of seed was obtained from an acre. When grown under these conditions the crop proved of value to be men as a honey crop. As long as farmers are willing to pay exorbitant prices for the seed it will pay to grow it for seed, but so far the experiments have shown that it is a crop that can begin to compete with our common clovers and alfalfa as a forage crop. There is a possibility for it as an emergency hay crop but its worth has not as yet been demonstrated in Wisconsin."

History was made and a world record broken upon the Badger Stock Farms, Lawrence F. Murphy, proprietor, of the town of Erin, this week, when Pieterje Ormsby Mercedes Frieseb, a 2-year-old purebred Holstein heifer of the famous Murphy herd, broke the existing world's record as produced by a Holstein cow, when she set a mark of 42.91 butterfat in seven days or 452.1 pounds of milk for a 2-year-old. The existing record which was considered high, was set by Eco-Sylv Belle, owned by A. C. Hardy of Brockville, Ontario, Canada. Her record was 439.7 pounds of milk and 31.16 pounds of butterfat in seven days. The Murphy heifer shatters this record which had stood for some time. The Canadian cow had been valued at over $25,000, and is a daughter of the famous Carnation Farms bull, which the Oconomowoc milk condensers paid $106,000 for two years ago and who now heads the famous Carnation Farms herd upon the Pacific coast.—

U. S.-BRITISH PLOT CHARGED

Senator Borah Credits Such an Admission to Morgan Lawyer.

SENATE DEBATE IS VITRIOLIC

Speech of Paul D. Cravath Is Said to Have Announced a "Secret Understanding" for the Control of the Pacific.

Washington, March 22.—A speech by Paul D. Cravath, attorney for J. P. Morgan and other international banking interests, was introduced in the senate in evidence of a "secret understanding" between the United States and Great Britain for control of the Pacific in connection with the four-power treaty.

Senator Borah of Idaho produced a stenographic transcript of the Cravath speech. In the opinion of the senate authorities the "secret agreement" mentioned by the Morgan attorney constituted not only an act of treachery to the other powers in the treaty, but would be undeniably provocative of war.

The Cravath speech was delivered at a private gathering of the Council of Foreign Relations, an association of New York bankers, held in New York city February 17. Although the meeting was not open to the public, Senator Borah obtained the stenographic transcript of what Cravath said in assuring his fellow bankers that the secret understanding had been formulated at the arms conference.

Opponents of the treaty say it is an effective weapon by which to defeat ratification.

Lodge and Underwood, members of the American delegation, denied that such an agreement existed. Borah came back with the statement that, although he knew nothing about it, he refused to believe the story untrue.

Later in the day Borah was shown a statement issued by Cravath in his New York office denying the existence of such an agreement, to which Borah replied:

"I have the record. I am satisfied with it."

The most important development of the publication of Cravath's remarks was the inauguration of a movement to have the treaty sent back to the foreign relations committee and have Secretary Hughes, Edwin Root and Cravath summoned as witnesses to tell what they know about it.

A motion to recommitt the treaty will be made by Senator Shields of Tennessee. This will put Lodge and the rest of the Republican majority on record as to whether they want all the facts disclosed or will insist upon a vote to ratify without any more information than the senate may have.

Lodge visited the White House and discussed the treaty situation with President Harding, who expressed a desire to have it ratified without the Harding-Brandee reservation now before the senate. Lodge told the President this could not be done; that unless the reservation is attached the treaty will be rejected.

Borah produced the Cravath document at the very beginning of the senate session. At once it plunged the senate into the most vitriolic and exciting debate which has been witnessed since the strife over the treaty started.

Lodge and Underwood lost their tempers in most righteous fashion in playing they ever discussed the treaty with Cravath or with any other representative of the international banking interests. Both admitted to a vague and hazy notion of what Cravath is, but declared they did not talk with him.

In bringing the Cravath statement before the senate Senator Borah said the interpretation given by Cravath constituted an alliance, adding:

"Without regard to what the four-power treaty does in the matter of forming an alliance, there is no question that the secret understanding does form an alliance. Coming as it does from a man who professes to know, the statement by Mr. Cravath becomes of considerable importance. It simply discloses that once we enter into the business of making a political alliance there is no limit to which we may not go in arriving at secret understandings that bind us to our future course of action."

Taking the floor to deny having talked with Cravath, Underwood said:

"I never made such a statement to Mr. Cravath, or to any one else. So far as I know there is no truth in it." Then Lodge got up and said:

"Mr. Cravath had no authority from me to make such a statement, as I have had no conversation at all with him, and so far as I know, there is not a word of truth in it. I thought I knew something about the treaty, but I never heard of any such understanding having been made."

AFRICAN REVOLT ENDS

Miners' Strike Called Off; Fighting Ceases.

Troops Captured Over 6,000 Prisoners—Tanks, Artillery and Airplanes Used Against Rebels.

Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, March 18.—The strike of miners which has held South Africa in its grip for more than two months has been called off.

The decision was taken by the old South African industrial federation, as distinct from the federation's augmented executive.

It announced first, that the general strike was null and void; second, that the augmented executive would call off the mine strike, and third, that complicity in the revolution against the government was repudiated by the federation.

Order has been completely restored. The police declared they have voluminous evidence showing that a Bolshevik plot was responsible for the revolution. The revelations will be astounding, they assert.

A government official declares that the prisoners exceed 6,000 and that those among them responsible for outrages will be dealt with.

The railwaymen have resumed work. The whole of Fordburg has been occupied by government troops. It is officially announced, and all armed resistance has ceased.

Transvaal Scottish forces took Dunsford on Sunday by a frontal attack with the bayonet. Every house on the main street of Benoni, captured last week, was found fortified, and barricades had been placed in the streets.

Artillery, tanks and airplanes were used in the capture of Fordburg from the revolutionists. They disregarded notices dropped from airplanes, giving them until 11 a. m. to surrender, but capitulated after 75 minutes of bombardment.

DEFEATS FIRE, MUTINY, AT SEA

Yankee Captain Saves Big American Liner in a Sixteen-Hour Fight.

TRICK TAUGHT IN WAR USED

Captain McLeod of the U. S. Steamship Potomac Takes "Thousand to One Chance" and Prevents an Ocean Catastrophe.

New York, March 21.—A thrilling tale of fire at sea, with 164 panic-stricken men and women locked in their staterooms and stokers held at their posts under threat of drawn pistols, was related by passengers of the United States liner Potomac when it arrived here from Bremen.

It was a tale of Yankee pluck and ingenuity—a skipper's refusal to give up his ship until every hope had been abandoned, and of his acceptance of the "thousand to one chance" which turned a threatening catastrophe into a merely narrowing experience for those aboard.

The fire was discovered at midnight March 2, a few hours after the Potomac, with Capt. William McLeod in charge, sailed from Bremen.

It had been steaming along on a smooth sea when suddenly with howls of warning the Spanish and Filipino stokers banded from the hold and started for the lifeboats.

Officers, with drawn revolvers, ordered them back to the fireroom, which had become an inferno of smoke, with flames billowing from an adjoining compartment.

The cry of "fire" spread quickly. The 104 passengers broke from their staterooms and made for the lifeboats.

Chief Engineer E. M. Garland already had paced guards over the boiler room crews, who, with streams of hose, were spouting tons of water on the blaze. The engine and fire-rooms were flooded, but huge clouds of smoke pouring from the hatchways and the almost unbearable heat around the stokers, next to the fire, gave evidence it was gaining headway.

At 1 a. m. the fire had become so fierce that the decks were hot. At four o'clock the Potomac slowed down to half speed. At 4:50 Captain McLeod ordered the engines stopped and the blazing craft stopped sluggishly along while the crew turned fire-fighters.

Seamen went over the sides in bos's chairs with sledge hammers, smashed in the cast-iron port lids, and directed their hoses into the heart of the fire, but without effect.

At 8:20 a. m. after the S. O. S. had been sent out and a rescue vessel was heading to, to await the result of the battle, Captain McLeod decided that, rather than beach his ship he would try a stunt he learned during the war while dodging enemy submarines.

He steamed ahead at top speed, until the whole ship throbbled with the vibration and her outline was almost obscured by the dense smoke sweeping astern.

Suddenly he ordered the rudder hard-over. As the vessel careened in the "come about" its starboard side lifted so sharply as to throw the tons of water in its hold up and over the side and over the heart of the fire. Immediately the flames subsided, and at 4 p. m., 16 hours after the alarm was sounded, the fire was under control and the vessel resumed its voyage.

The Potomac still had about thirty tons of water in its hold when, with a list to port, it steamed in.

KILLS U. S. POTASH INDUSTRY

Petition to Congress Declares German Government Deliberately Plotted Against American Firms.

Washington, March 21.—The German government has deliberately plotted to wipe out the American potash industry, according to charges set forth in a petition filed in both houses of congress by the American Potash Producers' association.

So successfully has the plot been carried out, the petition states, that $30,000,000 in property of American citizens has, to all intents and purposes, been destroyed during the past 12 months.

The 44 potash promoting concerns signing the petition declare they have found "the markets closed to us, our great investments nonproductive, our plants and factories compelled to shut down completely and thousands of employees set of work through evasions of the laws of the United States by the German potash monopoly controlled and directed by the government of Germany."

Dependability An Essential Element

Dependability means the possession of those qualities that make you able to depend upon a man--or a bank. It can't be measured in money, or in promises. It's the day-in and day-out testing of it that determines its value to you. We ask you to put this Bank's dependability to the most severe test.

Distances of Stars Measured

New Method Being Employed by Astronomers at Harvard College Observatory.

BASED ON STUDY OF SPECTRUM

Vast Collection of Photographs Now Being Used and Exact Figures No Longer Depend on Old System.

Cambridge, Mass.—The distances from the earth of hundreds of stars are now being measured for the first time at Harvard College Observatory by recently developed methods based upon a study of the spectrum. It has been found that the large collection of photographs of star spectra, assembled at Harvard during the past generation and amounting over 300,000 plates, can be put to a new use in determining the distance of stars, and the work of measurement is going ahead rapidly.

Many of the vast number of stars whose distances are still unknown are the bright, comparatively nearby southern stars, because nearly all the observations were made in the northern hemisphere. The Harvard astronomers are therefore concentrating much of their attention upon photographs of southern stars at the Harvard station at Arequipa, Peru.

New Method.

The new method of measuring the distance of a star by a study of its spectrum are based upon discoveries by a number of astronomers. A remarkable contribution to the subject has been made by Dr. H. N. Russell, an East Indian, who is assistant professor of physics in the University of Calcutta.

Until recently the only available method for measuring star distances has been the parallax method, which consists of triangulation, using the diameter of the earth's orbit as a base line. In other words, observations of a star are made at intervals of about six months. During this period of six months the observer is carried by the motion of the earth to a point some 186 million miles from that of his first observation, and using this distance as a base line he can work out the distances of the nearer stars.

Almost all the stars, however, are so vastly remote from the earth that even with a base line of 186 million miles their distances cannot be triangulated.

It is for these more distant stars that the new methods are used. At the Mount Wilson observatory, W. S. Adams and his associates have succeeded in developing a procedure depending on the lines in the spectra of stars as photographed with large telescopes fitted out with powerful spectroscopes. The lines are now to the absorption of light from the star's surface by the clouds of iron, nickel, calcium and other elements that form its atmosphere. Dr. Bertil Lindblad has provided another method, based upon the examination of the so-called "cygnoid" bands in the spectra.

These new methods have been carefully checked by the older ones.

The Next Problem.

Now that methods of measuring star distances from a study of spectra have been worked out, standardization and checked, the next problem is to apply these methods to those thousands of stars whose distances are still unknown. One of the fundamental tasks of astronomy is to determine how the stars are distributed through space, and this can never be known until the distances are measured.

It is this task of applying the new methods for which the Harvard collection of photographs of stellar spectra has been found to furnish excellent material. To give a single example, photographs made at Cambridge thirty-five years ago give the distance of Alpha Ursae Majoris, one of the "pointers" in the big dipper, as about seventy-two light years. In other words the light now coming in from that star began its journey about 1850, and the light photographed at the Harvard plates in 1887 started in 1815.

BRONX HEALTHY FOR BABIES

Most Congested District of New York Has Fewest Deaths—Chicago Rate 89.68.

New York.—The Bronx, reputed to be one of the country's most congested communities, has the lowest baby death rate in the United States, according to figures made public recently by the Babies' Welfare federation. Buffalo and Pittsburgh are tied for the highest rate of all, 93.6 a thousand births.

The report shows that of 15,397 babies born in the Bronx last year, only 972 died before a year old, a percentage of 63.1 for each thousand births. In Greater New York the death rate was 77.1.

Los Angeles has the lowest rate, 66.13. Although Chicago and St. Louis were not included in the official figures, an unofficial report shows Chicago to have had an infant mortality rate of 58.63 and St. Louis 61.7.

Italians Scoop Up Earth From Roosevelt's Grave

Oyster Bay, L. I.—Four Italians got off the 2:30 train at Oyster Bay one afternoon, inquired the way to Young's cemetery and plodded the mile and a half up the hill to the grave of Colonel Roosevelt.

They crossed themselves, knelt in prayer a moment, crossed themselves again and placed flowers on the grave. Then they ascended the attendant, by scrapping away the railing and gouging out frozen earth with their fingers, stuffing it into their overcoat pockets.

"What's the idea?" demanded the attendant, straggling over to them. "This week," the spokesman of the quartette explained, "we go back to Italy. We loved Colonel Roosevelt. Colonel Roosevelt loved Italy. All Italians love him. We take back with us this earth from his grave and all our families will be glad to get a little of it."

The attendant said no more. It was learned that the four pilgrims came from Chicago, where they had lived for 20 years.

Race Antedates Cliff Dwellers

Harvard University Explorers Make Interesting Discovery in Northeastern Arizona.

RELICS ARE WELL PRESERVED

Ancient People Were Intermediate in Development Between Basket Makers and the Pueblo Cliff Dwellers.

Cambridge, Mass. — Explorations made by the Peabody museum of Harvard in the Marsh pass region of northeastern Arizona have resulted in the discovery of the remains of an ancient people who once inhabited that section and were intermediate in development between the basket makers, the earliest race known to have lived in that region, and the Pueblo cliff dwellers, whose remarkable stone villages along the Arizona cliffs have attracted wide-spread interest.

The Harvard expeditions to this semi-desert region, over 100 miles from the nearest railroad, were begun in 1914 by A. V. Kidder and Samuel J. Guernsey of the Peabody museum staff, and were later continued under the able direction of Mr. Guernsey. Prior to 1914, commercial collectors had found traces of the basket makers, but facts about these earliest people of the region had never been secured by trained archaeologists until the Harvard expeditions began.

Preceded the Cliff Dwellers. These expeditions have not only contributed a mass of information concerning the basket makers but now show the existence of a people who followed the basket makers in point of time, but preceded the cliff dwellers.

The post-basket makers, as these newly discovered people are called, resemble the basket makers in many particulars, but were clearly in a later stage of development. The basket makers had no permanent dwellings, whereas these later people had stone houses in caves and in the open. They also had pottery, crude in some respects, but with the beginnings of decoration, and some of it was fired. This is the earliest pottery known to have been made in the southwest.

Instead of burying their dead in caves, as did the basket makers, they seem to have lived in the caves and to have conducted their burials in the open. Their more settled life is attributed to their success in agriculture. They grow corn or a primitive variety.

Skulls Long Instead of Round.

Skeletons show that both the basket makers and those successors had rather long skulls, whereas the cliff dwellers who followed them were a round-headed race and always had the back of the skull artificially flattened by the hard board headrest of the cradles in which the babies were placed. The relationship of these various peoples is still a matter of doubt. It is believed the post-basket makers probably were descendants of the basket makers, but whether they in turn were ancestors of the cliff dwellers is not certain. It seems doubtful on account of the marked difference in the shape of the head, even aside from artificial flattening.

The basket makers had dogs. The mummified remains of two were found during the Harvard explorations and are now an exhibition at the Peabody museum along with a quantity of other objects illustrative of basket maker life.

Many of the objects found in the dry caves in this region are in an extraordinary state of preservation, on account of the dryness of the climate, despite their great age.

How many thousand years ago these primitive people lived in northeastern Arizona is unknown, or how they were related to the Indians of the present day. The scientific study of the region is still in its early stages.

FROGS AND SNAILS ON MENU

London Hotel Explains That Americans Have Acquired Taste for Them.

London.—Frogs and snails have just been put on the bill of fare at the Savoy hotel. This news is accompanied by the explanation that English and American officers who have served in France have acquired a taste for them and want to be able to get them here.

Those who have tried snails report that the snail part is tough, and the trimmings taste too much of garlic. Perhaps the Savoy snails will be tender and the garlic kept in check a little. At any rate it is related that Sir Hall Caine has gone in for the new items on the bill of fare at the Savoy.

The important commercial fact is that 2500 frogs and 200 snails are now being brought by airplane from Paris to London each day. It seems a shame to hurry snails that way, but the daily order is going to be doubled.

Distinctive Spring Wraps; School and Play Garments

IF ONE plans to buy a spring wrap and a new frock to wear under it, well and good! If, however, one must choose between the two, considering the fickleness of spring weather, the better part of wisdom is to decide in favor of the wrap.

There is calm assurance in the happy possession of an outer garment which not only bespeaks style, but which fortifies against cool breezes.

Paris says long waist lines and blouse effects. The advance coat models show these tendencies.

Another style point is contrasting color effect. The lining, together with tractiveness. The ideal garment must stand the wear and tear of romp and play, and still look neat and pretty. From the kiddie's standpoint, "where is the fun of being all dressed up when we go wading or turn somersaults, or make mud pies, or play ball? What we children want is something that won't spot or muss or look all wrinkly."

Which leads to an interesting item, viz., handbags and hosiery; also hats are designed this season with a view to carrying the color scheme throughout the costume ensemble.

As to fabrics, peraline, kasha cloth, poret twill, and especially tweed in heavier colors are favored.

As to jersey knit juvenile garments, they are a blessing to mother as well as to child. First of all, they are economical. In the accompanying illustration, all the above mentioned style points are verified in a handsome model of navy kasha cloth lined with sand colored maroon crepe.

With the thought of playtime clothes for children, to the unadorned the rosette view presents itself, of spick-and-span garments daintily fashioned with frills and fluttering bows.

Are you as justly proud as this boy's mother?

DARYL WILSON is the kind of baby every mother wants her child to be. He is strong, sturdy, handsome. He has been voted the best baby in two baby shows in Milwaukee, Wis., where he lives.

Mrs. Wilson attributes his fine health to Eagle Brand, on which he was raised. Mrs. Wilson was an Eagle Brand baby too, so of course she brought up her little son on it. This is one of the thousands of cases where Eagle Brand has been the accepted baby food for several generations in the same family. In some cases grandmother, mother, and child were all reared on it. For Eagle Brand has been the standard for sixty-four years.

No thoughtful mother would experiment with her baby. Mother's milk is best, of course, but if it fails for any reason, Eagle Brand is the natural substitute. Eagle Brand is not a "prepared" food at all. It is nothing but pure milk and pure sugar combined. Mothers all over the country have written us of the wonderful results they have had in feeding it to their babies. And doctors recommend it in stubborn feeding cases—it is so very digestible.

Eagle Brand Milk is entirely safe, pure and uniform. Each can is like the last, so that there is not the slightest variation in baby's food—a most important consideration according to

FARM CHEAP LAND

Why Western Canada Agriculturists Are Smiling.

Low Overhead Expense and Bountiful Crops Have Enabled Them to Overcome Agricultural Depression.

The recent agricultural depression brought to the eyes of the world the fact that one of its basic industries was likely to suffer a severe blow unless steps were taken to secure a remedy. Physicians after physician applied remedies, but even parliamentarians and newspaper writers were unable to place their finger on the pulse that would respond. As it appears today, it was a spasmodic wave due to the ebb and flow of the tide of readjustment that was bound to follow a disturbance such as the Great War caused.

Psychologically it was bound to change; there was certain to be a reflex movement that would bring agricultural conditions back to the place where they normally and rightly belong.

Efficiency and sound business judgment are needed more in agriculture today than ever before and are as important to the farmer as to a railroad company, or to a great steel corporation.

The farmer must endeavor to secure an equal footing in the competition for a lower cost of production. In Western Canada the farmer has come through the dark era with that fortitude and determination so peculiar to a new country, and is meeting the changed situation with energy and a smile. In Western Canada the farmer is not hampered by an annual overhead expense of heavy interest on high-priced land. He is able to produce at a minimum, because his land value seldom exceeds $50 an acre.

Going to the fact that he is farming land the price of which is from $25 to $50 an acre, producing crops of wheat running from 20 to 40 bushels per acre, and other grains in proportion, he is able to produce at a low cost. In addition to this, a fact which should not be lost sight of, is the large area that he can farm at low cost, giving him an added advantage in reducing the cost of production.

The corn that the farmer fully expected to bring him over a dollar a bushel, he saw carried away to the market, and being back a 20 or 40 cent check. Wheat for the whole of Canada averaged 86 cents a bushel in 1921 as compared with $1.82 in 1920; oats 37 cents as against 53 cents; barley 47 cents as against 52 cents. Other grain prices similarly fell. While other parts of the continent, where grain-growing is carried on, have suffered in like manner by deflation in prices, they have had to face a much higher cost in production, such as high rents, high-priced farms, and high taxes. Farmers had calculated on receiving near or nearly the figures for their grain and therefore were amply justified in submitting to the tax that soaring land prices set upon them. Western Canada fortunately did not suffer from inflated land prices. Therefore, when grain prices fell, the losses sustained were not so great; they did not cut out the margin of profit, excepting in some cases where some climatic conditions caused it.

THE COTTAGE GARDENER

SETTING PLANTS AND TRAINING TO STAKES

FROM COLDFRAME TO YOUR GARDEN

Plants Should Be Acclimated to the Outside Conditions Before Setting.

PROTECTION MAY BE NEEDED

Boxes or Small Boards Will Save From Sun, Wind and Frost—Water Before Transplanting—Garry Con.

It is assumed that the wide-awake gardener has been busy long before the weather is warm enough to sow any seeds in the open ground; that a window box or hotbed has been provided, and that a supply of plants of tomatoes, peppers, early cabbage, and eggplant are under way to set in the garden as soon as danger of frost is past.

If plenty of south window space is available, the United States Department of Agriculture advises that such crops as snap beans, cucumbers, muskmelons, and even sweet corn may be started in flower pots, paper bands or berry boxes filled with good soil, and they will be of considerable size by the time the air is warm enough to plant them outdoors. Plants that grow in the house or in the hotbed must be hardened or adapted to outdoor conditions before they are set in the open ground. This is accomplished by gradually exposing them to the open air during the warmer part of the day and later at night, care being taken that they are not caught by a sudden cold snap.

Hardening Early Plants. When the plants are grown in boxes or trays, the boxes may be carried into the open each day and the plants allowed to become gradually accustomed to the outdoor conditions. If they are in a hotbed or coldframe, the sash or other cover is lifted off during the day and replaced at night. Later the covering is left off entirely; however, it should be kept close at hand to be put on at any time that the weather should turn cold.

Plants set in the open ground may be protected from frost by turning small boxes over them and covering the boxes with a little earth. Old berry boxes are sometimes used for this purpose, but should be covered completely with soil, as the plants will freeze just as readily underneath the exposed boxes as if left in the open without any cover whatever. A good method of protecting plants is by setting a common roofing shingle or a small piece of board at an angle over each plant. These shingles can be set on the side to protect the plants from the sun during the daytime, or they may be placed on the opposite side in order to protect the plants from the wind and allow the sunshine to reach them.

In some cases gardeners have provided small frames, on the top of which are fitted single panes of glass, and one of these frames is set over each plant or hill to protect it. The glass should be so arranged that it can be partially removed during the warmer part of the day in order to prevent the temperature becoming too high inside the frame. These protectors give good results when used over hills of cucumbers, muskmelons and summer squashes, as well as over plants of sweet pepper, eggplant and tomatoes.

Points to Remember. There are a few points in connection with the transplanting of house-grown plants to the garden that are worthy of special attention. In the first place, the plants to be transplanted should be watered a few hours before they are to be handled; this will cause the dirt to adhere to the roots and give them a better start when they are planted out. If the plants are grown in flower pots, in paper bands, or berry boxes, they should be carried to the garden in their containers. For grown plants should be loosened by inverting them gently and knocking the edge of the pot on something solid. The plants then are set with the ball of earth adhering to their roots.

If the plants have been grown in paper bands or berry boxes, the sides of the bands or boxes should be slit with a knife and removed as the plants are set. Where the plants are grown in trays or in a hotbed, a knife should be run between the rows, cutting the earth in both directions, and each plant lifted with a cube of earth attached to its roots.

Use Fresh Furrows. The holes or furrows in which the plants are set should not be made until ready to transplant the plants. If made too soon, the soil will dry out and cause the plants to wilt. Under all circumstances, it pays to apply a little water around the roots of each plant as it is set; this causes the soil to form a close contact with the roots of the plant. After the water has soaked into the soil, dry earth should be filled in around the plant and slightly firmed. Plants set in this manner will invariably start without wilting.

It is always a good idea to have a few more plants than are required for filling the space in the garden, in order to replace any that die or are destroyed by insects.

BOYS AND GIRLS' GARDENS

Youngsters Gain Valuable Knowledge From Tilling the Soil; Increase the Food Supply.

Junior gardeners and members of the boys and girls' clubs have been important factors in increasing America's food supply. In many cities this work has been joined with the school-garden movement. This kind of work not only produces more food but teaches the youngsters self-dependence and the value of work.

Teachers have reported that the effort with the boys and girls has been more than repaid by the knowledge of Nature gained by the pupils. Both the bureau of education, through the schools, and the United States Department of Agriculture, through the boys and girls' clubs, are giving official help to the junior garden movement.

SUNFLOWERS AND SHRUBBERY

Sunflowers have not received the attention they deserve. The tall-growing, large-flowered sorts, as well as the dwarf many-flowered varieties, are useful when skillfully employed in mixed plantations with other herbaceous annuals. The golden yellow disks are like sunbursts among the shrubbery. The tall habit and dense foliage of some varieties make them suitable for backgrounds and screens. Because of their long stems and extraordinary lasting qualities they are of value as cut flowers.

PLANTS REQUIRE MOISTURE

Plants take in moisture through their small feeding rootlets and discharge it through the surface of their leaves. As a result of the breaking of the roots in transplanting, the supply of moisture is cut off and the plants wilt. To prevent the wilting of the leaves, says the United States Department of Agriculture, water should be poured around the roots before the dirt is filled in; also the tops of the plants should be shaded and protected from the wind for a day or two to reduce the evaporation from the leaves.

WHAT TO EAT

After using the center from an Edam cheese, save the shell and use it for a shell to bake macaroni with cheese. Cook one cupful of macaroni in salted water until tender, drain and put with well seasoned white sauce into the shell, cover with well buttered crumbs and let brown in the oven. Wrap the outside of the shell with a thick paper to keep the heat from destroying the color of the shell.

Green Butter.—This is nice to serve with various dishes on any occasion when green is to be the color note. Wash two ounces of fresh parsley and cook until tender in just the water that clings to the leaves, adding no more unless there is danger of burning. When tender pound to a paste with a little anchovy for flavor and mix with three ounces of butter, mixing well. Press the whole through a fine sieve and keep on ice until ready to serve. As a garnish for fish this is especially attractive.

Ribbon Salad.—For each serving place a slice of fresh or canned pineapple on two or three heart leaves of lettuce; on the pineapple place two sections each of orange and grapefruit free from all membrane; between these sections place an eighth of an apple, with a bright red peeling left on. Serve with mayonnaise.

Hot Rice With Hot Chocolate Sauce.—Mix one-half cupful of rice with one teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, one-third of a cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of raisins, with one quart of scalded milk. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake slowly for two hours, stirring occasionally during the first hour. After two hours add one pint of cold milk and continue baking three-fourths of an hour longer. Serve with hot chocolate sauce.

Sponge Cake Custard.—Spread slices of sponge cake with raspberry or currant jam. Arrange them in a buttered, paper-lined pudding dish, sprinkled with finely crushed peanut brittle. Beat three eggs, add one-half teaspoonful of salt, three tablespoonfuls of sugar and a pint of hot milk. Pour over the cake and bake until firm. Serve hot or cold.

Maple Sugar Cream Cake.—Mix one cupful of maple sugar and one egg, add one cupful of sour cream, a level teaspoonful of soda, two cupfuls of pastry flour, one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon and a pinch of salt. Mix well and bake in layers, top each with boiled frosting, substituting one-half the quantity of maple sugar for the frosting.

Cheese Cakes.—Scald two and one-half cupfuls of sour milk, strain through a cheese cloth and add one cupful of sugar to the drained curd, four egg yolks slightly beaten, the juice and grated rind of a lemon and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Line small patty tins with pastry, fill with the mixture and sprinkle with chopped almonds and nutmeg. Bake until the mixture is firm in the centers.

Fig Souffle.—Cook five washed figs in a light sugar syrup until very soft, drain and cut in very fine bits. Beat the whites of four eggs until stiff, add one-half cupful of sugar and a pinch of salt; continue beating until well blended then fold in the figs and add grated orange peel to flavor. Turn the mixture into buttered and sugared custard cups, set into a pan of water and bake until firm. Serve with sugar and whipped cream.

Creoles.—Beat three eggs until thick, add gradually one cupful of soft, light brown sugar. Mix and sift three-fourths of a cupful of flour with one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of ginger. Add to the first mixture and beat three minutes. Add one and one-half cupfuls of pecan nut meats. Fill small fluted tins two-thirds full of the batter and bake fifteen minutes. Spread with maple frosting and decorate with one-half of a pecan nut pressed in the center of each.

Tomato Celery Sauce.—Chop one onion, one green pepper and a large bunch of celery. Mix, add two and one-half cupfuls of canned tomato from which the liquor has been drained, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt, two tablespoonfuls of all-spice berries and two-thirds of a cupful of vinegar. Let simmer one and one-half hours.

Wishing for sleep is a poor way to get it

A LITTLE wisdom in the daytime is a better assurance of rest than any amount of anxious wishing when nerves are a-jangle at night.

What you do at noon often has more influence on sleep than what you want and hope for, at midnight.

Coffee's drug element, caffeine, whips up the nerves, and when its use is continued there's usually a penalty which no amount of mental effort can avoid.

The part of wisdom, as so many thousands have found, is to turn away from nerve-stimulation and adopt rich, delicious Postum as the mealtime drink. Postum delights the taste, but brings no disturbance to nerves or digestion. Even the little children can share in the enjoyment of Postum at any meal.

It's better to anticipate warnings than to be driven by them. It's better to encourage and preserve sound nerves and complete health than to listen to the clock ticks at night and say, "I wish!"

You can get Postum wherever good food or drink is sold and served. An order today may be the beginning, for you, of the great satisfaction and comfort which so many others have found in Postum.

Your grocer has both forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

To enjoy abounding health you must become enthusiastically "out-door" minded. Saving is also a habit that grows.

Western Canada Offers Health and Wealth and has brought contentment and happiness to thousands of home seekers and their families who have settled on her FREE homesteads or bought land at attractive prices. They have established their own homes and secured prosperity and independence. In the great grain-growing sections of Western Canada fertile land is still to be had on easy terms.

Fertile Land at $15 to $30 an Acre

Land similar to that which through many years has yielded from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre—oats, barley and flax also in great abundance, while raising horses, cattle, sheep and pigs is equally profitable. Hundreds of farmers in Western Canada have raised crops in a single season worth the whole cost of their land. Healthful climate, good neighbors, churches, schools, rural telephone, excellent markets and shipping facilities. The climate and soil offer inducements for almost every branch of agriculture.

HERE IS IDEAL PHILOSOPHER

Happy Man Gets Rid of Troubles by the Simple Process of Burning Them Up.

"By George, but this is a fine day!" exclaimed one man as he met another on the street.

"Yes, so it is," was agreed. "You are looking very happy this morning."

"Happy? I haven't been so happy in three months."

"What has occasioned your happiness?" was asked.

"When my mail came in an hour ago it brought to me a coal bill, a bill from the grocer, a letter from my landlord raising my rent, and a doctor's bill two weeks old. As a matter of fact my taxes had not been paid and a gas and electric light bill."

"It was enough to fairly crush one and I can't see how you can be happy."

"Why, it is a very simple thing. All I had to do was to put the bills in the fire, and forget all about their arrival. Yes, sir, it is a mighty pleasant day. When you have trouble on your mind the best way is to burn it up."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Romance.

Amundsen, discoverer of the south pole, is getting ready for a trip to the north pole.

He will fly around the top of the world, taking moving pictures from his two airplanes.

A wireless telephone will keep him in touch with his family back home.

Polar exploration used to be the pinnacle of romance. Soon mechanical inventions will finish eliminating the romance and make the trip about as thrilling as going into the cellar.

Why these McClaren Tires are the pick of careful motorists

Autocrat Cord

THE McClaren Autocrat Cord is extra oversize. It is built big and burly, to give greater mileage. Experts designed it, with the materials properly distributed to give uniform wear—greater mileage. Notice the Double Grip Groove Tread—a positive non-skid feature.

Allroad Fabric

FOR those motorists who desire fabric tires, the McClaren Allroad will give the utmost in service. It, too, is backed by twenty years of tire experience. It has been given every known test—the hardest pounding over roughest roads. Its tough tread wears slowly over long miles of hard road travel.

Whether your need is cord or fabric tires, you will find McClaren Tires a real, economical buy Family Spirit in France.

Country ties in France hold the family together. Each family clings to its traditions. Each class has its prejudices. They do not try to mix in no country do birds of a feather flock together more surely. The result is a social structure of extreme solidity. It is the work of the women of the race. In every family women hold their share of the purse-strings in spite of the law, not because of it. Apparently woman is subject to man; in reality, man is ruled by her. In all classes of society the woman of the older generation stands for in Familie, le Foyes and la Patrie.

Thomas Carlyle had a room built in his house in Chelsea with double wall, so that he could not hear any of the noise from outside, and in this room he wrote "The French Revolution." Gaurier, on the other hand, could not think well unless he was in a newspaper office where there was lots of noise and racket going on. The human brain gets accustomed each day to a certain time for action and it works better and is more active at that time than any other time in the 24 hours.
