THE RACE AGAINST TIME

ON thousands of farms, the yearly race against time in the Barley fields is won with either a McCormick or a Deering Binder. These dependable machines operate steadily, with little danger of breakdowns and delay. Besides the McCormick and Deering Binders, we carry a complete line of repairs for either machine. When in need of repairs give us a call.

Family Spirit in France

Family ties in France hold the country together. Each family clings to its traditions. Each class has its prejudices. They do not try to mix. In no country do birds of a feather flock together more snugly. The result is a social structure of extreme solidity. It is the work of the women of the race. In every family women hold their share of the purse-strings in spite of the fact that the man; apparently woman is subject to man; in reality man is ruled by her. In all classes of society the woman of the after generation stands for la Famille, la Religion and la Patrie.

Jewish New Year's Day.

New Year's day as observed by the synagogue, is not a day of religious merriment such as is to be seen at the beginning of the secular year. It is a day of mourning, on which the law is reinforced of duty and responsibility as a citizen. Tradition places the New Year celebration on the first day of the seventh month rather than the first month of the Jewish calendar. The reason it is said to be that this day daughter Frances and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Meixensperger of Campbellsport were callers at Theresa Sunday.

Messrs. Wm. Brandstetter and Wm. Schell and Miss Betty Block of Milwaukee spent Sunday with Wm. Schell and family. Mr. Brandstetter was accompanied home by his wife and family, who have been spending the past two weeks here.

PRETTY SUMMER FROCKS; NEW FALL SUITS ARRIVE

SHEER materials hold the center of the stage for midsummer and there is no end to the pretty ways in which they are made up.

The first suits for fall are making their debut, in variations of several promising styles that forecast the modes for fall.

TWO PRETTY DRESSES FOR A YOUNG GIRL.

with machine bonneting and pleated edges make the way of the seamstress easy. Two pretty dresses designed for the young girl, are shown here and even the amateur dressmaker will undertake them with confidence.

very short skirt is dead and buried, and they reveal only the ankles of their wearers. Coats are at least fingertip length and many of them are longer.

CONSERVATIVE AND HANDSOME SUIT

tion are set in the blouse and in the skirt and they are outlined with little ruffles of the net having picot edges. The round neck is finished with a binding and the sleeves with the embroidered insertion.

of exceptions to this idea. The character of this suit is carried out by silk pockets at each side, and its plainness serves to emphasize the importance of three huge and handsome buttons that look so capable as a front fastening.

The Nightcap is Smart? Back to the old-fashioned nightcap that ties beneath the chin. No matter what hairdressers say about ventilating the hair at night, the newer nightcap—which is the older nightcap in glorified form—is winning favor.

This last is the unanswerable argument. Now it's Felt Hats for Summer. It is no use to hotly deny the accusations of the humorous man who loves to say: "Ah! Winter has come. I see a straw hat! Not this season at any rate. For the smartest summer hats are of felt. Going into a shop to purchase a midsummer hat, the chances are one will not be able to resist the lovely soft felts in all-white, white and black, or bright colors.

TWO-TOED SLOTH

"It's more sociable to be a Two-Toed Sloth," said the Two-Toed Sloth. "More sociable than what?" asked the Gaviol from his pool near by.

"I'm not a silly," said the Gaviol. "I am a Gaviol. And I am also a crocodile. That isn't difficult for me to be both those things, pretty smart of me, I think."

"I Hang on the Branches."

"I'm not in the zoo. I have a very elongated snout. Isn't that word elongated quite delicious?" "It can't be eaten," said the Two-Toed Sloth, "and so I don't think I would call it delicious. It's a nice word, though."

"I feel that a word is delicious if it is nice, as much as food is delicious when it is nice," said the Gaviol. "Yes," the Gaviol continued, "I am not short, either. I am twenty feet long, they say. I am lying in my pool of water, here in the zoo, so that only my eyes and the top of my head are out of the water."

"The rest of me is soaking, pleasantly soaking. But Two-Toed, you started in to say something about being sociable. What did you mean by that?" "I will tell you," said the Two-Toed Sloth. "I will eat in the zoo and I will enjoy zoo life, and I will be nice and will show them that I am sociable and at home with them whereas my cousin, the Three-Toed Sloth, is very different."

"He won't eat anything when he is in the zoo, and therefore they cannot have him here. He doesn't like zoo life and so he shows his extreme dislike of it by refusing to eat."

"Listen to the talk among the snakes! They're hissing all sorts of dreadful things. The Black Snakes are saying that they will eat other young snakes but not their own, and some of the other young snakes including their own if they happen to be hungry."

"The Garter Snakes are saying they wouldn't eat their young or any young snakes, which makes their sound superior."

MORE GOOD THINGS TO EAT

Here is a dish to be used where fresh fish are to be obtained: Fish Pudding.—Cook one cupful of rice in boiling water until tender, drain and pour through it enough cold water to separate the grains. Cook two pounds of picked, bass or other fresh white fish until well done, steam in a steamer or tie in a cloth and cook in water. Flake the fish, removing all skin and bones. Combine the rice and fish, add two well beaten eggs, one cupful of fish stock and the same of milk, season with two teaspoonfuls of salt or more to taste, one-half teaspoonful of pepper, two tablespoonfuls of butter, using the seasoning between the layers of fish and rice. Bake one hour and serve hot with drawn butter or sauce.

Dakota Potatoes.—Pool eight medium-sized potatoes. Into a saucepan place a teaspoonful of sugar, and when melted add two tablespoonfuls of hot water. Put the potatoes into the pan cut in quarters lengthwise, one large onion chopped fine and one tablespoonful of parsley, one teaspoonful of salt, two bouillon cubes, one-half teaspoonful of paprika and just enough boiling water to cover and simmer until the potatoes are tender. Put unbroken. Remove the potatoes with a skimmer to a hot dish. Thicken the liquor with two tablespoonfuls of flour mixed with a little cold water. Pour over the potatoes and sprinkle with another tablespoonful of minced parsley on top.

Cherry Cake.—Cream three tablespoonfuls of shortening with one-half cupful of sugar; add an egg well beaten and two-thirds of a cupful of milk alternately with two cupfuls of pastry flour which has been sifted, with one-half teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix well and spread evenly in a long sheet in a baking pan. Over the top place a quart of pitted cherries, sprinkled lightly with a teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-half cupful of sugar. Bake in a moderate oven. Diced or canned cherries may be used. If the first are well soaked and the latter drained from some of the juice.

Fattigan Bakelite.—Beat two eggs until very light, add one tablespoonful of sugar and three tablespoonfuls of flour which has been sifted, with one-half teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix well and spread evenly in a long sheet in a baking pan. Over the top place a quart of pitted cherries, sprinkled lightly with a teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-half cupful of sugar. Bake in a moderate oven. Diced or canned cherries may be used. If the first are well soaked and the latter drained from some of the juice.

Let this be your teaching: Anticipate nothing but good in the future. Burn all other prophecies. They are lies. Some evil must befall you but those about which you are certain will never come true. The devil is no prophet.—Frank O. Haddock.

GRADING USE OF FRESH FISH

With quick transportation and refrigeration, there is hardly an inland city of any size in which sea food or fresh water fish may not be had once or twice a week. This applies not only to the finny tribe, but also to shell fish. With fish, as with many other foods, certain ideas, many of them false, have gained circulation. One is that fish and milk or any milk or cream dishes, such as ice cream, or milk as drink, should never be taken with crabs, oysters or lobster. When these combinations have been found to disagree with a person, such food mixtures should be avoided, but there is no reason why the average person may not combine the two, provided the fish or lobster is not served with an acid sauce.

In buying salmon the steaks are always the most expensive, though there is almost no waste. The red or Chinook salmon is considered best; then the pink and chub salmon, all good, but varies as to flavor as well as price. The practical housewife will use the cheaper grades for all made dishes, as the nutrient is the same. The more of this grade demanded will tend to lower the price of the red, which is now selling at a high figure. There should be no reason for the absence of fish on our tables, even if far inland, as canned fish are always obtainable.

Next to salmon and tuna comes the sardine in popularity. The sardine is not found in American waters—that is the true sardine. Millions of cans are imported from Spain, Portugal and Scandinavian countries. There are, however, certain small fish caught in large quantities off the coast of Maine, known as American sardines; they are good, and relatively cheap. Pounded for food, fish is not considered by most dietitians as nourishing as meat, as fish has a larger percentage of water, but it is much more easily digested, and in most places more economical.

Work Brains—Not Digestion

HERE'S an ideal hot-weather luncheon! Two packages luscious Little Sun-Maid Raisins—one cool glass of milk. Big men don't need more.

290 calories of energizing nutriment in the little raisins. Pure fruit sugar, practically predigested so it acts almost immediately, yet doesn't tax digestion and thus heat the blood.

There's fatigue-resisting food-iron also in this lunch. Vital men eat like this and resist the weather. Don't work their digestion because they want to work their brains.

Try it for a few days and you'll feel better.

Curious Fire Engine. What might be described as a double-tandem bicycle, with four wheels arranged like those of a wagon, and four seats for riders, two in front and two behind, and carrying a hose reel, rotary pump, etc., was exhibited recently in Paris. The machine is intended as a fire engine in small towns. When the scene of fire is reached the pedals are thrown into gear with the pump, the hose is unrolled, and the riders, resuming their seats, work the pump by means of the pedals. It is claimed that this machine can outstrip any fire engine drawn by horses on the way to a conflagration, and that its pump is at least as effective as those of the hand engines used in many towns.

Companion to the Goodyear All-Weather Tread

By long wear, superior traction, freedom from skidding, and ultimate economy, the Goodyear All-Weather Tread has won unquestioned leadership.

As a companion to this tire there is the Goodyear 30 x 3 1/2 Cross-Rib Fabric.

Built of the same high grade Egyptian fabric and with a long wearing but differently designed tread, this tire offers unusual value.

Over 5,000,000 of these tires have been sold in the last five years.

Their quality and serviceability have proven to thousands of motorists the folly of buying unknown and unguaranteed tires of lower price.

Ask your Goodyear Service Station Dealer to explain their advantages.

on Sale Now

The New & Better "USCO" $10.90

USCO set the high value mark for 30 x 3 1/2 tires when it originated the $10.90 price last Fall.
USCO today betters that mark with a new and greater USCO—an USCO improved in many important ways.
For instance, a thicker tread—with a surer hold on the road—thicker side walls, adding strength and life to the tire.
And the price is $10.90—with the tax absorbed by the manufacturer.
Men have always looked to USCO for the biggest tire money's worth on the market.
They always get a bigger tire money's worth than they expect.
