An Ever Growing Surplus

An accurate gauge of the growth, earning power, service, efficiency and conservative management of this bank is found in its ever enlarging surplus because an increasing surplus shows that some of its earnings have gone back into the business—earnings more than sufficient to pay dividends to its stockholders and running expenses, too.

Therefore the security back of the depositors' money here is growing stronger and stronger all the time—reinforced by a larger reserve. Therefore also we solicit checking or savings accounts from timorous people who seek solid, substantial and quick resources which are continually bettering themselves.

An accurate gauge of the growth, earning power, service, efficiency and conservative management of this bank is found in its ever enlarging surplus because an increasing surplus shows that some of its earnings have gone back into the business—earnings more than sufficient to pay dividends to its stockholders and running expenses, too.

Therefore the security back of the depositor's money here is growing stronger and stronger all the time—reinforced by a larger reserve. Therefore also we solicit checking or savings accounts from timorous people who seek solid, substantial and quick resources which are continually bettering themselves.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

NICK AND NANCY

"Once a year," said Daddy, "we all like to have a talk and read our best wishes and our love to our many little friends all over the country."

"Oh yes," said Nick, "the most certainly do."

"It's fun," said Nancy, "to think that though we cannot see all our friends they know us through newspapers, and we know so many of them because we hear of the letters they write."

"We love to hear of the letters," Daddy said.

"Oh, yes," said Nancy, "and last year I remember we heard of so many children who asked all about us. They wrote in what they liked to do and what stories they liked best, and what they wanted to hear about mostly."

"We all share our stories, yes we can share these stories with all our friends. Some of them wrote and said they liked animal stories best, and some wrote and said that bird stories were their favorites, some wrote and said they liked all the stories."

"Some said their favorite stories were about zoo animals, and some liked the funny, greedy pigs the best! I must admit I rather like old Porky myself!"

"And one," said Nick, "wrote and said that stories about game were nice."

"Yes," said Nancy, "and another wrote and said that stories about the fairies were the best of all. And oh, how many friends Billie Brovne has. How many do enjoy his adventures and his trips just as we do."

"The Queen of the Fairies is always loved, of course, and so are Witty Witch and old Mr. Giant, Ethel Elf, Ollie Oaf, Fairy Princess Twilight-Bell, Fairy Princess Joy, Fairy Wondrous Secrets, the King of the Clouds, and Fairy Ybab."

"Yes," said Nick, "and there were letters about Jolly old Mr. Sun and the Snow King and Old Man Winter and the Old Weather Man and Jack Frost and his brothers, Master Chilly and Master Very Cool, and all the others."

"And dear me," said Nancy, "you mustn't forget the letters about the Dreamland King and the Fairy who does up the Dream packages, and Father Week and his children, the Days, who live in his pockets when they're not working."

"Yes, they were favorites, too, and then there were many who love Mistress Springtime, and old Grandpa Frog had many a friend. So did the flowers and the butterflies."

"It's so wonderful we can all share the secrets of the different creatures with so many other boys and girls, too," said Nick.

"Well," said Daddy, "we will send out word as we have before that we hear of the letters that come in, but they must all be sent to the one who writes up our stories for us."

"So we hope that all our friends, all the boys and girls who like to read of the animals and the fairies, the birds and the flowers and the trees, the frogs and the wild creatures and the gentle ones, will write as they have before to Mary Graham Bonner."

"She will write one letter in answer to each one she receives, and these letters must be written and addressed as follows:

Mary Graham Bonner, 607 West 137th Street, New York City, New York.

"We want all our friends to write of their favorite stories. When the animals get most votes, she writes more animal stories than any others. Many letters ask her for stories about creatures that are not well known, so she sees how many votes there are for stories of this sort, too."

"And we will hear of these letters. We will hear of our friends that live up North and down South, out West and in the East, and in the central parts of the country, too."

"We will hear of their favorites among the characters we know so well, we will hear how they enjoy sharing our stories and having them all written ready for them to read and have read to them."

"We will feel that though the country is so big that it's like a cosy, small place, too, for we can be friends with those who live so far away—all friends, and we call ourselves the Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale Club—that's what we call ourselves and all of our friends!"

FATHER OF BLOCK SIGNALING

Name of William Robinson Written Large in the History of Railway Transportation.

An automatic electric system of railroad signaling was put into successful operation for the first time 50 years ago. It was the invention of William Robinson, and the trial to which he submitted his signaling appliances was made early in September, 1872, at the town of Kinzua, on the old Philadelphia & Erie railway in northern Pennsylvania.

Mr. Robinson is very generally referred to as "the father of automatic block signaling." His invention is recognized as the forerunner and at the same time the basis of "practically every automatic electric block signaling system in use on railroads today."

MORE TIMBER IS NEED OF NATION

United States Produces More Than 95 Per Cent of Entire Lumber Cut of World.

SUPPLY RAPIDLY DECREASING

Where Americans Need Forests Most Is on 80,000,000 Tree-Denuded Acres Which Could Be Made Productive Again.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
 The United States produces more than half of the entire lumber cut of the world, says Col. W. B. Greeley, chief of the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture, "and uses 95 per cent of that amount right here at home. The exhaustion of our timber supply is coming about not because we have used our forests freely, but because we have failed to use our timber-growing land. The problem, in a nutshell, is the enormous area of forest land which has been so logged and burned that it is producing little or nothing.

Many Idle Acres.
 "We have more than 80,000,000 acres, an area greater than all the forests of France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, Spain and Portugal, which have been denuded to the point of absolute uselessness so far as the production of any timber of commercial value is concerned. We have other enormous areas of unproductive land now growing but a fraction of the amount of timber which they might produce. And we are adding to these areas of idle or largely idle land from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 acres every year as destructive logging and still more destructive burning progress.

"This situation," the forester points out, "cannot long continue without grave consequences. If we are to remain a nation of wood users, we must become a nation of wood growers. By some means or other we must see to it that forest lands not needed for agriculture are not allowed to lie idle but are kept at work growing timber.

Where Forests Are Needed.
 "Where Americans need more forests," states Colonel Greeley, "is largely on those 80,000,000 tree-denuded acres, which could be made productive again with proper attention and protection against fires." Some of the chief reasons why these forests are needed are as follows:
 "Our manufacturing centers are drawing at an enormous rate upon our timber supply—from two to four times as fast per capita as the country at large.

Proper Methods Conserve Forests for All Time.

 "Our average American uses 125 pounds of paper a year—made largely from wood—and the growing circulation of our newspapers and magazines is increasing that very generous per capita allowance.
 "Our average well-kept farms—using the upper Mississippi valley as an instance—require 2,000 board feet of lumber annually for repairs and improvements.
 "Our Florida citrus crop alone, for marketing, takes 13,000,000 boxes, of 5 1/2 board feet each, every year."

TAKE GOOD CARE OF MANURE
 Deteriorates at Least One-Half in Value if Allowed to Stand Out in Weather.
 When a person stops to consider that, at the present prices of commercial fertilizer, one ton of average fresh stable manure is worth about $1 per ton and that the same manure is worth only a little more than one-half that much after it has been allowed to stand out in the weather for a few months, he will see the value of taking proper care of this material.

PERSONALITY IS BIG ASSET
 Neat, Intelligent People Have Many Advantages in Disposing of Farm Produce.
 Personality is a great asset in marketing anything—farm products are no exception. Neat, intelligent, well-informed people have many advantages over the ordinary in selling direct, or to dealers. Know your business; be able to teach the other fellow; if he really wants information. But please, rather than preach to him.

Price of Potatoes.
 The general range of potato prices this season was from one-third to two-thirds that of the corresponding time last season, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

No Money in Poultry.
 Some farmers say there is nothing to be made in poultry. Those who feel that way about it had better keep out of the poultry business.

BOYS AND GIRLS VIE IN HUGE EXPOSITION

Twelve States Represented by Teams at Sioux City.

More Than 130,000 Club Members Made Demonstrations—Received Instruction in Better Farming and Home Making.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
 Farm boys and girls rolled as club members by extension agents cooperatively employed by the United States Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural colleges were represented by champion demonstration and judging teams for the 12 central states at the interstate boys' and girls' club exhibit and encampment at Sioux City, Iowa, over 3,000 of these teams competed in 1921 for representation at Sioux City, putting on nearly 10,000 public demonstrations of club activities. The total enrollment in the 12 states last year was more than 130,000 club members, whose production was valued at $2,640,000.

The United States Department of Agriculture co-operated this year with the state agricultural colleges and the fair association in the installation of a striking series of 12 booths in the special boys' and girls' club building, exemplifying the leading lines of club work, as follows: Illinois, corn; Iowa, poultry; Kansas, pigs and sorghum; Michigan, handcraft; Minnesota, bread; Missouri, home management; Montana, clothing; Nebraska, radio; North Dakota, potatoes; South Dakota, food; Wisconsin dairying; Wyoming, canning.

The fact that farm boys and girls are making a substantial contribution to the agriculture and life of their communities was strongly emphasized throughout the exhibit. In addition to putting on exhibits and demonstrations these young farmers and home makers received practical instruction in better farming and home making and in developing their abilities for leadership.

Tree Commandments

1. Do not allow roots to be exposed to the sun, drying winds or frosts.
2. Prune with a sharp, clean cut any broken or injured roots.
3. Have the holes large enough to admit all the roots without cramping.
4. Plant in fine loam, enriched with thoroughly decomposed manure.
5. Do not allow any green, unfermented manure to come in contact with roots.
6. Spread out the roots in their natural position and work fine loam among them, making it firm and compact.
7. Do not plant too deep. Let upper roots be set an inch lower than before.
8. Remove all broken branches and cut back at least one-half of the previous year's growth of wood.
9. If the season lacks the usual rainfall, water thoroughly twice a week.
10. After culture—Keep soil in a good degree of fertility. Mulching the trees in autumn with manure is beneficial.—Draper.

ROTATE TO DESTROY INSECTS

Working Soil at Different Seasons of Year Keeps Down Weeds and Injurious Bugs.

Weeds and insects are more easily controlled by practicing a rotation because, for different crops, the soil is worked at different seasons of the year, and thus weeds which are prevalent at one season may be destroyed by growing a spring crop and those prevalent in another season by growing a crop for which the ground is worked in the fall. The same is true of insects which affect one crop but not another; thus, by rotating crops on a field insects are also largely destroyed.

MANY PASTURES NEGLECTED

Much Attention Is Given to Fertilizing Soil for Grain Crops—Grass Is Neglected.

Why is it that pastures are overlooked and neglected? More attention is now given to fertilizing ground for grain crops than ever before, but not much attention is given to pastures. Those who have areas which they wish to keep in grass may help matters very materially by applying ground limestone to these lands.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

A Trying Period Through Which Every Woman Must Pass

Practical Suggestions Given by the Women Whose Letters Follow

Phila., Pa.—"When I was going through the Change of Life I was weak, nervous, dizzy and had headaches. I was troubled in this way for two years and was hardly able to do my work. My friends advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am very sorry that I did not take it sooner. But I have got good results from it and am now able to do my household work most of the time. I recommend your medicine to those who have similar troubles. I do not like publicity, but if it will help other women I will be glad for you to use my letter."—Mrs. FANNIE ROSENSTEIN, 882 N. Holly St., Phila., Pa.

The critical time of a woman's life usually comes between the years of 45 and 50, and is often beset with annoying symptoms such as nervousness, irritability, melancholia. Heat flashes or waves of heat appear to pass over the body, cause the face to be very red and often bring on headache, dizziness and a sense of auto-cast.

Another annoying symptom which comes at this time is an inability to recall names, dates or other small facts. This is liable to make a woman lose confidence in herself. She becomes nervous, avoids meeting strangers and dreads to go out alone.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted to help women at this time. It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. Let it help carry you through this time of life. It is a splendid medicine for the middle-aged woman. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

SOCIETY MEN WEAR CORSETS

Fad Spreading in England, and Said to Be by No Means Confined to Fops.

The corset-wearing habit among men is coming into vogue again, says an investigator in England.

"A leading London corsiere who supplies most society men, puts down a good customer's bill at $750 per annum. Let no one imagine that it is only fops who wear them. The majority of wearers are military men, who, I learn, require a greater amount of padding than civilians. Others are ordinary well-dressed men, given to nautical sports, and by no means effeminate. "A man's figure has to be gradually coaxed into shape, and it is put first of all into a soft silk corset with scarcely any bones, until he attains by degrees to the full glory of the perfect figure. "This process usually takes three months, and five special makes of corsets are employed in the development, or perhaps it would be more accurate to say the 'repression,' of the figure."

He Wants to Know.
 "This production is reputed to outstrip anything hitherto attempted for the screen."
 "Hum. Is it a beach drama?"

Don't imagine that you are the center of gravity.

Western Canada

Wonderful Stock Raising Country

Vast stretches of undeveloped fertile agricultural land of the highest productiveness await the settler in Western Canada. The land possesses the same character of soil as that which has produced the high quality of cereals that have carried off the world's premier honors so many times in the past ten years.

Native Grasses are Rich and Abundant
 Cattle fatten upon them without any grain being fed. Limited capital on high-priced lands is not a success, neither can the tenant burdened with high rents hope to succeed. The place to overcome these is in Western Canada—where land is cheap, where a home may be made at low cost, and where stern, mixed farming and stock-raising give an assured profit.

Land may be purchased from the Railway Companies or from responsible land companies or from private owners. Free homesteads of 160 acres each are available in the more remote districts.

"The Green Archer"

By EDGAR WALLACE

In THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

Beginning Thursday, November 2

The story—the newspaper serial story—has become the habit, and a very good habit, of the great majority of American newspaper readers. The reason is not far to seek. as one of the one hundred and sixty victors in the contest.

The Chicago Daily News is pre-eminently a family newspaper, and its long established daily installment of a high-grade serial story is a feature intended specially to commend it to the home circle. Conditions of the Award of $3,000:

1. To the reader from whom The Daily News receives by mail at its publication offices, 15 North Wells street, Chicago, the most complete and correct solution in all its details of the entire mystery in "The Green Archer," as it shall be disclosed in the final chapter of the story, to be published Wednesday, December 13, in The Daily News, the sum of $1,000 will be paid. The entire sum of $3,000 will be awarded in 160 prizes as follows:

The interval between Friday, December 1 and Saturday, December 9, inclusive, will be allowed for forwarding the solutions of the mystery.
3. The final installment of the story, disclosing the mystery, will be published in The Daily News Wednesday, December 13.

Richard Lloyd Jones says

How Wisdom Will Win

Quite to its amazement Wall Street woke up one morning recently to find Henry Ford the richest man in the world. What amazed them most was that he had grown rich in spite of them.

Time was when Wall Street refused to help Ford, when it looked upon him as a questionable risk and wanted eleven per cent. Now Ford is popping up the plutocrats of wobbly Wall Street with a loan of nearly $200,000,000. With finer spirit he is letting them have it at four per cent.

Mr. Ford made his mammoth fortune in a clean and splendid way. It is no crime to be rich. It is not ethically wrong to acquire the greatest fortune if you have gained that fortune by helping men instead of hurting them.

John D. Rockefeller acquired a great fortune. Much of his fortune was made by the most despicable practices. He brazenly defied the laws of the land. He was not a man-helper. To gain his own ends he would cruelly crush. His ambition was to corner a commodity. He bought up hundreds of patents and suppressed them because they were organized for the consumer on oil consumption.

Ford created something. He made an instrument that consumes more Rockefeller gasoline than all the oil-consuming devices known before. By his inventive mathematical and mechanical genius Mr. Ford caused an enormous increase in the Rockefeller wealth. Compared to him John D. was a one-cylinder affair.

Rockefeller is not a loved name. He is not revered. He is a very old man now. His face is criss-crossed with lines. Years ago a troubled conscience overtook him and he set out to square himself. It is possible for a man to do that—that is, if our Christian faith is practicable.

Polluted water will run itself pure, so will tainted money. Rockefeller began his substantial philanthropies by the endowment of a theological school in Rochester, New York. Then he hurled a great university into one city and a hospital into another. Since then he has been bolstering up weak colleges, creating great pedagogical and research foundations, and splendidly subsidizing a benignant life-rescue work through bacteriological laboratories, hospitals and feeding stations the wide world over.

With all his undeniable iniquities, the Rockefeller who defied our court's will die. The Rockefeller who is trying to save life all around the world and after saving it to lift it up to higher and finer altitudes, is the Rockefeller who is going to live.

What will Henry Ford do with all his fabulous wealth? Unlike Rockefeller, he has not cramped his character to get his money. He is not burdened with Rockefeller's handicap. But with all Rockefeller's handicap, Rockefeller may yet overtake Ford in the enduring race, unless Ford does more wisely with his greater wealth.

When wealth reaches beyond the proportions of supplying rational personal needs, it becomes not an asset but a responsibility. Henry Ford has proven himself to be 100% the right-minded fortune builder. Future generations will measure him not by his ability to acquire but by his power to serve through spending.

The Rockefeller-Ford race for riches is over. Ford wins. Now the race for wise spending is on. In this great race wisdom will win.

HOME COMFORTS REFLECTED HERE

Ties of Family and Domicile Keep Residents Vitality Interested in Community

MAKE GOOD CITIZENS

"Home is where the heart is," is a definition largely tinged with sentiment, but it is none the less true. Many a resident of Kewaskum bears a strong affection for this community because for him it holds all that is dear to him. He is resolved that he will let nothing be undone that may make Kewaskum a better town, so that his home and those who are in it may be surrounded by all the loving care that he can bestow on them.

On the other hand, the man who is a wanderer is without abiding interest in any town. Nothing holds him to this or that place, and it is of little consequence to him whether he resides here or at the next place. The ties of home are stronger than any material ties. "Home" is merely a name like "country," but any honest citizen will pour out his last drop of blood in fighting for either. Never was a greater truth propounded than when the poet wrote: "Be it ever so humble,"

"There's no place like home." You cannot translate it into terms of money for the poorest but may breathe more the true spirit of home than the richest palace.

THE COMFORTS OF HOME

When you talk to a hard-headed business man about such intangible things as "love" and "patriotism" you have to "show him." Mere words do not go very far when it comes to a matter of separating him from his money, yet no man who maintains a home and does not neglect those in it need hesitate about approaching such a business man for an extension of credit in case of necessity. Surprisingly large sums are advanced on a small amount of tangible security to a man building a home because such a man is a good "moral hazard."

The man who owns their homes are the backbone of such a community as Kewaskum. They must own them, because the business of renting habitations to others, which has been largely developed in big cities, has happily not spread to communities the size of ours. The home-owning citizen is the bulwark of the nation. The nations of Europe in which Bolshevism is unable to make any headway are those in which the people own their own homes while the ones in which its ravages are greatest are those where throughout the years it has been impossible for them to acquire even so little property as this. The scourge, therefore, has had little menace for the United States, because so many people can own their own homes, or if they do not own them, they know they can any time they want to, and nothing is to be gained through violence on others in the possession class.

This is of great significance to Kewaskum.

HOME COMMUNITY BEST

No man without conviction establishes a home in any land except the one he considers the best on God's green footstool. Those who are transients in our land, live at rest, and return to their native land when they have amassed what then represents a fortune. They are a negligible element when it comes to good citizenship. And he who considers the best on God's green footstool, he does so because he believes it is the best among all those communities or he would not stay here.

Where there is a large percentage of home-owners, as here, the community spirit is as strong as the combination of "home" spirit in the breasts of its respective citizens. The pride they take in their homes is only a part of the pride they take in their city.

Where lawns are neatly kept and houses well painted, there you will find good streets, corner lights, fire protection and honest officials. The presence of women and children spells schools and churches, libraries and a clean civic life. The man who owns his home is the best booster a town can have—he is never sick of his bargain, and he is a living argument why a man should lose no time in acquiring a home of his own.

The home-owner and the home merchant are the hope of Kewaskum. As long as both remain with us, this city will continue to prosper. The one will assure it of a sound social and civic existence, while the other will assure it of the financial soundness which will keep business active and attract to its bounds new enterprises. These two are interdependent.

MARKING A GOOD CITIZEN

If we want Kewaskum to be a city of homes, owned by those occupying them, we must provide the magnet to attract this class of citizens. The independence of a town that is largely self-sufficing, that patronizes its home merchants and that owns no divided allegiance to a distant metropolis, is just what provides this attraction. A man who builds a home of his own is no "bird of passage," for if he did not expect to remain permanently he would defer building until he reached some place he liked better. He casts his lot for life with his community, and it is not unlikely that the generation following him will likewise be coming a fixture, because the planning of such a citizenship is certain to build up a community that can hold its own with any in this part of the state. Kewaskum faces a glorious future. It is in the midst of no less glorious present. The way is plain, so that all who have the welfare of Kewaskum at heart may do their "bit" in making this period of reconstruction a permanent step forward in the up-building of Kewaskum.
