BIG PICTURE AT MOVIES SUNDAY

The W. K. Ziegler production, "The Black Panther's Club," starring Florence Bond, which is based on a scenario by the author of "The Black Panther's Club," is scheduled for a production which cost to produce more than $200,000. It is one of the best of the really big productions to be made in the East, and is accepted as concrete proof of the recent statement by several big producers that it is no longer necessary to go to California to make good pictures.

Mrs. Emma Gunter, Decatur, Ill.—At various times during my married life I have been greatly benefited by two of Dr. Pierce's medicines, Golden Medical Discovery and Favorite Prescription. The Golden Medical Discovery restored me to health at one time when I had a deep-seated bronchial cough and was in a weakened, debilitated state of health; and during one of my expectant periods Favorite Prescription proved not only to be a splendid tonic and service but I had practically no suffering. It is a pleasure to recommend medicines so reliable as Dr. Pierce's and I do so at every opportunity.—Mrs. Emma Gunter, 1215 N. Calhoun St.

COSTUMES FOR MOURNING; STYLES IN STREET DRESS

ANY observer who has been conversant with fashions in America for a period of years has noted a change in the attitude of women toward the wearing of mourning. It would be interesting to analyze the motives which have led so many of them away from the use of deep mourning apparel to that which is as inconspicuous as it can be made—but this change in costumes and customs reveals a progress during which women have learned to be governed by judgment rather than to be led by sentiment. In America the matter of wearing mourning, or not, is left to the judgment of the individual, without criticism of the decision one way or the other. Usually black is worn for brief periods and American mourning apparel is distinctive and elegant. It is unobtrusive and tasteful, following the most conservative lines of mode. French mourning appears to be more dramatic than ours, if one may judge by the costume made by Poiret, as pictured here. It is designed for a widow and reveals a straight-line dress, with full skirt. The Vogue for beaded garlands is appropriated and a wide one ornamented with square beads and ending in a long bead fringe, makes

Handsome Street Dress.

A wonderful point of interest in the gown. The beads are dull black. There is a full cape and long, ample scarf of the dull silk crepe used in the dress and the scarf is trimmed with bead ornaments and fringe. The coat dress has itself a permanent place for itself apparently, returning, along with other apparel for Styles for Fall. Fall suits are destined to simulate in many respects the lines of today's dress silhouette. One company introduces panels dropping from the short bloused coat of one number to interpret this latest suit fashion.

About Healthy Hair. The renewal of hair is a slow process, but if the physical condition be kept at normal and gentle massage of the scalp repeated for a few minutes every day excellent results in hair wear on the street, with each new season to find devotees waiting to welcome it. It arrived this season made of the same materials as suits and cut on lines suggestive of coats, with those of the Russian blouse held in especially high regard. As in all street dresses, its lines are simple. Poiret, nevertheless, tricotines, men's-wear series, velours, gromma, marvellous and other sate-like cloths share favor for street dress. Brown, in many shades gray, taupe, castor, navy blue and black are the dominant colors. The semi-frock becomes more coatlike when it appropriates a wide fur collar and the becomingness of fur causes this to happen very often. An example appears in the handsome model illustrated here, made of gray velours. Its plain, but belted with such ends is a point one finds frequently repeated in suits and coat-frocks—but occasionally such ends are omitted and a handsome metal clasp replaces them, or a silk ornament with long fringe terminates a belt of plaited silk braid. One of the latest arrivals in street dresses is a model with a smart military cape which falls only over one shoulder, leaving the long sleeve, on the right arm, uncovered. The model growth can be accomplished in a few months. The hair reaches its best point of development in early maturity, but if good blood and circulation are maintained in later years and no nerve depletion takes place the hair will keep its healthful appearance and not fade until past middle life.

Tweeds. Dark tweeds are promised great popularity. Imported plaid and checks, too, are being made into very snappy suits and coats.

'PEP' IN SCHOOL PLAYGROUND Authority Makes Plea for Games That Are Characterized by Energy and Vim.

Jellyfish gymnastics, or stupid, silly games, played half heartedly, have little place in the proper physical development of the growing child," declares Dr. E. Blunche Sterling, acting assistant surgeon, United States public health service, in commenting on the health of school children. In planning exercise with a view to the promotion of good posture, she suggests they should be simple and vigorous and play full of energy and vim.

The posture of school children cannot, however, be said to depend chiefly on any one condition, she holds. Ineffective vision, adenoids and bad tonsils tend to have a bad effect on the child's posture. Where hygienic conditions in a school are not the best there is an increase of poor posture. Good nutrition is a contributing factor to good posture, but by no means an indispensable condition. Condition of the teeth, she claims, has no effect. Doctor Sterling's findings are based on a study of three elementary schools at Bedford, Ind.

Bobby's Wish. "O dear!" grumbled Bobby when ordered to get busy with the soap. "I just wish I was a clock." "Of course I am," answered Senator Sorghum. "Why do you wish that?" his mother asked. "Cause I wouldn't have to wash my face and hands then," explained the youngster.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Births and Deaths in England. The report of the registrar general for England and Wales for 1920, just issued, shows the highest marriage rate yet recorded—20.2 per one thousand of population; the highest birth rate since 1909—25.5 per one thousand; and the highest natural increase by recorded in the history of the country. England and Wales added almost 500,000 to their population by natural increase during this year. The number of deaths was the lowest since 1922, when the population was half that of 1920.—The Living Age.

Are you among these thousands?

THOUSANDS of people keep on trying, year after year, to build health from food that has been robbed of certain elements required for perfect nutrition. —the food that enriches the blood, and builds sound, healthy bodies. Grape-Nuts is made from whole wheat flour and malted barley—baked for 20 hours, which develops the natural richness of the grains and makes for ready digestibility. If your food doesn't contain the mineral properties that go to build up nerve, tooth and bone structure, there is no other means by which you can get these vital elements. This is one reason why so many well-informed people eat Grape-Nuts. And Grape-Nuts is perfectly delicious—served with milk or cream, or made into an appetizing pudding for dinner. Get a package of Grape-Nuts from your grocer today, and give the family a help to health.

BOLTONVILLE AIDING MERCHANT ADVANCES TOWN

Out-of-Town Buying and Mail Order Support Should Be Discouraged so as to Retain Prosperity Here

BOOST BUSINESS HERE

You should buy from Kewaskum merchants because it pays you, as we have convinced you in the foregoing articles of the series. It means money in your pocket.
 And it means money out of your pocket if you don't. Our argument is as simple as a-b-c. If you make a practice of shopping at the city stores, or if you order your goods shipped in by mail, you have to figure up what the goods cost you, and compare the total with what the same bill of goods would have cost had you bought it at home.
 For instance, the railroad or trolley fare, your hotel bill, the time you waste, the goods you buy that you don't need, the higher prices you pay on account of the stupendous overhead at the city store—all these things must be paid out of your pocket in addition to the value of the goods themselves plus a reasonable profit.
DELAY IN GETTING GOODS.
 In the case of the mail order purchase, there are your money-order and postage fees, the time you have to wait for the arrival of the goods, the freight charges, time lost in exchanging goods that are not what you ordered, the annoyance of not getting the grade you thought you ought to get at the price—these and other charges must be added to what you actually pay for the goods.
 The so-called "bargain" is the lure that awaits the unwary customer in both instances.
 For every loss you sustain from these two methods of buying, the community gains a dollar more that you reside in the limits of Kewaskum and work there, or whether you reside outside and consider that residence on the farm frees you of all obligations toward the town, when you spend elsewhere for your needs that should have remained in the community, you weaken the business life of the community by just so much. What this drain would mean if every body in the community followed this short-sighted policy is not far to seek. Bankruptcy would be the result, with merchants being forced out of business, stores leaving "for rent" signs, the taxable property of the community suffering a decline and its attractiveness as a business and residence center suffering eclipse.
ASSUMES BIG RESPONSIBILITY
 To counteract these tendencies, the sterling leadership of the community's progressive forces must be sustained. Among all the stockholders in the future of the community the home-town merchants assume the largest responsibility, because theirs is the largest investment. Their confidence in the stability and in the growth of the city in which they live prompts them to build larger buildings and fill them with considerable stocks of goods, on all of which they pay their equal share of taxes. The ambition of every merchant and dealer in Kewaskum is to make his investment larger, the result being that the share that the community receives in the way of larger taxes is available for greater betterments.
 Every citizen that goes over the counter of the local merchants pays tribute to the entire community. It comes back to you in fullest measure. The merchant has the interests of the home town at heart. Even from a purely selfish standpoint, he is the best booster the home-town has, because the respect for the well-being of his citizens, the better the pay they receive for their labor, the more comfortable their homes are and the better the streets are kept, the more efficient the schools, the better the fire and police protection, the more attractive does the community prospect for others seeking homes, and therefore the greater is the number of his possible customers.
BUY OF HOME MERCHANT.
 Buy of the home-town merchant and you assure Kewaskum of a permanent booster. He does not plan to stay here for a certain length of time and then to move to some other place; he is here to stay, for it is his home, and the home of his children. Like every other parent, he wants his children to have the best possible start in life, and while he is working for this cause for his own family he is taking the lead among those other parents who harbor the same ambitions for their children.
 To maintain this leadership our home-town merchants must be supported. They set the pace and rally the forces of good citizenship. They are the roster of your merchants and convince yourself that this is so. The men in your general stores, in your drygoods and grocery stores, your hardware and implement dealers, your druggists, your harness shop and shoe store, your clothing stores, your produce dealers, your lumber merchants and dealers in building supplies, the men running your dairies and creameries, mills and factories, as well as other employers of labor, and others in the various affiliated lines, DESERVE STADY SUPPORT.
 Their leadership deserves the support of every good citizen in town. In fact, every man, woman and child in the community has a moral responsibility in the matter. These men work for the good of the home town, and therefore everybody who has the welfare of the community at heart is in duty bound to work with them and sustain them in the things they are trying to accomplish.
 Buy from Kewaskum merchants—NOW and ALWAYS!
