Smart Boy, Smart Boy!
Tommy—"Play store with me, mam-ma."
Mother (with a headache)—All right. But you must be quiet—very quiet.
Tommy—"Sure, we'll pretend I don't advertise."

'Atta Girl
Wife (reading paper)—"Think of it, James, a couple got married after a courtship of fifty years."
Jim—"Poor fellow, too feeble to hold out any longer, I guess."

You Just Know It
Said a flapper to a fellow named Lee. As she sat herself down on his knee. "If you kiss me, of course, you will have to use force— But I'll bet you are stronger than me."

Proverbs of Methuselah
Hearken unto me, my son, and be wise—for a woman's last kiss does seem better than her first.
Giveth a man enough rope—and verily will he smother himself to death.
Like unto Dumb Dan is the absent minded prof. who, leaving his home in the morning, doth throw his wife out of the back door and kiss the garbage can good-bye.
Verily I say unto thee, my son, when amongst women, let not thy "right" girl know what thy "left" girl is doing.
When a man taketh unto himself a wife, verily he hath then a better half. But ye bachelors hath better quarters.
Be wise, my son, be wise.

Acclimated Digit
"Hey, waiter, you've got your thumb in my soup!"
"Oh, I don't mind, sir, it isn't hot."

No Foreign Entanglements
Paris decrees longer skirts—but American women refuse to wear them. Who says the Declaration of Independence was written in vain?

Rah—Rah—Rah
Thirty per cent of the college students work their way through school. The rest yell their way through.

Truth in Twelve Words
Five per cent in the bank is worth 10 per cent in the bottle.

Signs
For a Laundry—"Don't kill your wife—let us do the dirty work."
For a Restaurant—"Don't divorce your wife because she can't cook. Eat here and keep her for a pet!"

Brow Wrinkler
"What is the difference between a young man, an old man and a worm?"
"There is no difference—the chickens get them all."

Don't Try This on Your Flivver
Here lies the body of William Jay. Who died maintaining his right of way. He was right—dead right—as he sped along. But he's just as dead as if he'd been wrong.

Good Philos
It takes 65 muscles of the face to make a frown and 13 to produce a smile. Why waste energy? asks Lazy Larry.

Apologies to Coue
Day by day in every way I'm getting sicker and sicker. All I do is rave and rave. For beer, light wine and lic'eer.

International Manure Spreader

Run Your Eyes Over These Best-yet Features:

1. Roller Bearings. Roller bearings at seven points—the only spreader so equipped.
2. Double Ratchet Drive. Walking beam transmission from main axle eccentric and extra large ratchet wheel give easy, strong, steady feed. No pounding or jerking, due to extra-long movement of pawls on ratchet wheel—only two power impulses on ratchet for every revolution of 46-inch drive wheels. Box tapered to eliminate friction on box sides. Six feed speeds.
3. Oscillating Front Axle. Auto-type, permitting short turn. No pole whipping. No strain on frame.
4. Power: Both Wheels. Power is transmitted direct from main axle to beaters, wide-spread spiral and manure conveyor—not through beaters to conveyor or vice versa.
5. Wheels Track. Rear wheels track with the front wheels, lightening draft.
6. Tight Bottom. There is no clogging, jamming apron, because the spreader has a tight bottom. Spreads anything. Retains all liquid manure.
7. Two Beaters. Two all-steel beaters with chisel-pointed square teeth work from both top and bottom of the load. Allow extra-high load.
8. Wide-Spread. The spiral behind the beaters gives the manure a third beating, and spreads it finely and uniformly beyond the wheels.
9. All-Steel Main Frame. Does not check, rot or warp. Wood box sides hold only the load. Frame holds operating mechanism independently of box; keeps alignment perfect.

The New International—made in two sizes—is unquestionably the best spreader value on the market today, and when you consider it in connection with its price, it is so far ahead of all others that there is really no comparison. We have a sample spreader set up for your inspection. Come in and look it over.

Uncle Johns Josh

Smart Boy, Smart Boy!
Tommy—"Play store with me, mam-ma!"
Mother (with a headache)—All right. But you must be quiet—very quiet.
Tommy—"Sure, we'll pretend I don't advertise."

'Atta Girl
Wife (reading paper)—"Think of it, James, a couple got married after a courtship of fifty years."
Jim—"Poor fellow, too feeble to hold out any longer, I guess."

You Just Know It
Said a flapper to a fellow named Lee. As she sat herself down on his knee. "If you kiss me, of course, You will have to use force— But I'll bet you are stronger than me."

Proverbs of Methuselah
Hearken unto me, my son, and be wise—for a woman's last kiss does seem better than her first.
Giveth a man enough rope—and verily will he smoketh himself to death.
Like unto Dumb Dan is the absent minded prof. who, leaving his home in the morning, doth throw his wife out of the back door and kiss the garbage can good-bye.
Verily I say unto thee, my son, when amongst women, let not thy "right" girl know what thy "left" girl is doing.
When a man taketh unto himself a wife, verily he hath then a better half. But ye bachelors hath better quarters.
Be wise, my son, be wise.

Acclimated Digit
"Hey, waiter, you've got your thumb in my soup!"
"Oh, I don't mind, sir, it isn't hot."

No Foreign Entanglements
Paris decrees longer skirts—but American women refuse to wear them. Who says the Declaration of Independence was written in vain!

Rah—Rah—Rah
Thirty per cent of the college students work their way through school. The rest yell their way through.

Truth in Twelve Words
Five per cent in the bank is worth 10 per cent in the bottle.

Signs
For a Laundry—"Don't kill your wife—let us do the dirty work."
For a Restaurant—"Don't divorce your wife because she can't cook. Eat here and keep her for a pet!"

Brow Wrinkler
"What is the difference between a young man, an old man and a worm?"
"There is no difference—the chickens get them all."

Don't Try This on Your Flivver
Here lies the body of William Jay. Who died maintaining his right of way. He was right—dead right—as he sped along. But he's just as dead as if he'd been wrong.

Good Philos
It takes 65 muscles of the face to make a frown and 13 to produce a smile. Why waste energy? asks Lazy Larry.

Apologies to Goue
Day by day in every way I'm getting sicker and sicker. All I do is rave and rave. For beer, light wine and lic'eer.

International Manure Spreader

Run Your Eyes Over These Best-yet Features:

1. Roller Bearings. Roller bearings at seven points—the only spreader so equipped.
2. Double Ratchet Drive. Walking beam transmission from main axle eccentric and extra large ratchet wheel give easy, strong, steady feed. No pounding or jerking, due to extra-long movement of pawls on ratchet wheel—only two power impulses on ratchet for every revolution of 46-inch drive wheels. Box tapered to eliminate friction on box sides. Six feed speeds.
3. Oscillating Front Axle. Auto-type, permitting short turn. No pole whipping. No strain on frame.
4. Power: Both Wheels. Power is transmitted direct from main axle to beaters, wide-spread spiral and manure conveyor—not through beaters to conveyor or vice versa.
5. Wheels Track. Rear wheels track with the front wheels, lightening draft.
6. Tight Bottom. There is no clogging, jamming apron, because the spreader has a tight bottom. Spreads anything. Retains all liquid manure.
7. Two Beaters. Two all-steel beaters with chisel-pointed square teeth work from both top and bottom of the load. Allow extra-high load.
8. Wide Spread. The spiral behind the beaters gives the manure a third beating, and spreads it finely and uniformly beyond the wheels.
9. All-Steel Main Frame. Does not check, rot or warp. Wood box sides hold only the load. Frame holds operating mechanism independently of box; keeps alignment perfect.

The New International—made in two sizes—is unquestionably the best spreader value on the market today, and when you consider it in connection with its price, it is so far ahead of all others that there is really no comparison. We have a sample spreader set up for your inspection. Come in and look it over.

Young Animals Are Generally First Affected and Suffer Most From Parasites.

SYMPTOMS ARE QUITE PLAIN

Unthriftiness Followed by Dulness, Rapid Emaciation and Marked Anemia—Dropsical Swellings Often Appear.

Lambs and young sheep are generally first affected and suffer most from stomach worms. Older sheep often suffer also from attacks of these worms but they are more resistant and can tolerate an infection much better than lambs.

Treatment for Worms. Treatment consists in drenching with a solution containing 1 per cent of copper sulphate and 1 per cent of tobacco infusion.

Champion Hampshire Down Rams.

One-half gallon of boiling water, using enamel, porcelain or earthenware container. Put one-quarter pound finely ground or powdered tobacco into one-half gallon of boiling water, cover and let stand overnight.

Losses from stomach worm disease may be prevented by avoiding as far as possible wet lowland pastures and keeping the animals from drinking water from stagnant pools or ponds in infested areas.

DRIED WHEY IS PROFITABLE

One of Various New Ways of Utilizing Dairy Products—Excellent for Laying Hens.

Dairy by-products are now being used in various new ways as a result of investigations by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Good results have been obtained particularly in the manufacture of dried whey. From 100 pounds of the whey were obtained 4 pounds of crude sugar and 1 1/2 pounds of dried whey containing about 20 per cent of albumen.

Dried whey and dried buttermilk are being fed experimentally to laying hens at one of the department farms. In the first half of the 12-month experiment the pair of hens receiving dried whey produced eggs at a rate comparing favorably with results obtained with other kinds of feed.

USING PEAT AS FERTILIZER

Material Is Not to Be Compared With Stable Manure for Increasing Various Crops.

Do not count too much on peat. Its fertilizer properties are questioned by federal investigators. It is not to be compared with stable manure or mineral fertilizers as a means of increasing crop production.

By introducing bacteria into peat, remarkable fertilizing results are alleged, but tests have not substantiated such claims. No satisfactory process for bacterization of peat has been discovered which materially improves it for fertilizer.

FARM WOODLOT MANAGEMENT

It Will Prove Profitable to Leave Standing Large Percentage of Desirable Trees.

The owner of a farm woodlot who is looking to the future as well as to the present will prefer "improvement harvesting" to a hit-and-miss cutting of his timber crop. It will pay the farmer to leave standing a considerable percentage of the kinds of trees he wants to encourage in his woodlot. These trees will seed the soil and fill up the gaps left by the cutting.

SWINE NEED PLENTY EXERCISE IN WINTER

Absolutely Necessary That Animals Be Kept Dry.

Size and Thrift of Next Spring's Litters Depends Greatly Upon Care and Attention Given During Cold Weather Season.

Farmers should plan to get their hogs through the winter economically and in a healthful condition. The size and condition of the litters next spring will depend upon the care given this winter.

The main thing is to provide plenty of exercise," says R. W. Clark of the Agricultural college at Fort Collins. "They should have the run of the fields as soon as possible. It stimulates vigor and hardiness and reduces the feed bill. The weather is never too cold or unpleasant for hogs to take a trip to the fields."

A Well-Finished Lot of Pigs.

The next thing is to provide dry, clean, sanitary sleeping places. These need not be expensive and they can be made of any kind of timber, cheap lumber and straw, poor quality hay or other waste roughage. Hogs should not sleep in manure piles. It reduces their vigor and encourages disease.

If hogs have the run of fields, they pick up a great deal of their living and if given a pound or two of grain a day per head, along with alfalfa hay, a little beet pulp, skim milk or even silage, they will go through the winter in good shape at a very low cost. The dry land farmers lack some of the foods mentioned, but they have corn and by feeding a little tankage with it they will secure equally good results.

FEEDING CATTLE ON SILAGE

Cows Can Be Fed on Material All Year Round Without Danger—Guard Against Moulding.

The question is often asked how long cattle can be fed on silage consecutively without injury. Cows can be fed silage 305 days in the year without danger. The only possibility of damage is that the feeder may be careless and give them spoiled silage, or the cows may not be allowed a sufficient amount of fresh air and exercise to maintain their good health.

Many farmers are equipped with silos for winter feeding and for summer feeding. For summer feeding it is desirable to have a silo somewhat smaller in diameter, as ordinarily the cows are not fed quite so much, and, in addition, the silage should be fed off at a somewhat deeper depth than in the winter in order to insure against moulding from day to day.

Production of Manure.

The New York State College of Agriculture estimates that a dairy herd of 20 cows will produce 120 tons of manure in six months. By six months of exposure in the barnyard, 25 to 35 per cent of the plant food in this manure is lost. The New York college figures that each ton of manure is equivalent to 100 pounds of fertilizer containing 12 per cent nitrogen, 5 per cent phosphorus and 10 per cent potash. The loss which occurs from exposure of manure to the weather can thus be easily appreciated.

SPREAD MANURE IN WINTER

Fertilizer Lost Exposed to Weather Will Lose Good Qualities Before Spring.

Don't postpone your fertilizer until spring. Well-rotted manure is the best form that can be used. Fresh manure spread during the winter and plowed under in the spring is better than spring spreading and turning under, while fresh. Manure left under the eaves of the barn or out in the rain this winter will lose most of its fertility before spring comes.

GOOD VENTILATION OF BARN

For Mature Horses and Cattle Structure Should Not Be Kept Warmer Than 45 Degrees.

Ventilation of barns is an important consideration during cold weather. For mature horses and cattle, stables and barns should not be warmer than 45 degrees Fahrenheit. Animals that are accustomed to cool, well-ventilated stables are known to be freer from disease than those that are not so hardened.

Clean Orchard and Garden.

Make up your mind that you will have a clean orchard and garden this year—not only clean of grass and weeds but free of insects and diseases as well. Only by such practice can you expect to have first-class fruit and vegetables.

Big Loss of Manure. Soil scientists estimate a loss of $50,000,000 annually from the careless handling of barnyard manure.

The KITCHEN CABINET

It is true that often the things we hope for fail to put in their appearance, but think of the wonderful compensation we get in the good things that appear so unexpectedly.—Lloyd.

TIMELY TIPS

Use glycerin instead of oil to lubricate the egg beater, meat cutter and such utensils, as such utensils, as it will not impart a taste to the food.

Rub the grater lightly over a harned cake, holding it so that the crumbs will fall out. If carefully done all of the scorched cake will be removed.

To dry lettuce quickly for serving, wash and wrap in a large cloth, step out on the porch and whirl the cloth several times. This will wring the lettuce. If time is not pressing, just hang it in the cloth.

Any chest of soft wood, well oiled once a year with oil of cedar is just as effective against moths as the best cedar chest.

To clean a rusty knife, thrust it into an onion and leave it for a short time. When washing soapy water undergarments, add a tablespoonful of sugar to the rinsing water; it will stiffen and give them the new look after ironing.

Clean velvet with gasoline-moistened cornmeal; rub well, repeat until all soil is removed, then brush with a stiff brush. Very delicate velvet can be cleaned with flour and gasoline, making a paste, then proceed as above. White gloves may be cleaned with this same method.

A few drops of kerosene on a cloth will keep the bath tub and sink clean. Save all bits of paraffin left from jelly glasses. A small bit added to the hot starch will keep it from sticking when ironing. A piece used with the stove cloth will keep the range shiny and clean; it will also keep it from rusting, if the stove is not in use.

Into a pan which has been scorched, place a teaspoonful of soda and cold water to cover. Set on the back part of the stove and the dish will be easily cleaned after standing an hour or two.

Buffalo bugs and moths do not enjoy turpentine. Put a small wad of cotton batting moistened with turpentine in boxes or drawers where such insects are found.

What you fear, you attract. Eliminating fear does not mean a total lack of caution, but it does mean freedom from that which would hamper and withhold you from success.—Atkinson.

SEASONABLE FOODS

A most attractive sauce to serve with cold lamb is:

Green Olive, Mint Sauce.—Take one-fourth of a cupful of vinegar, one-fourth of a cupful of each of orange juice and chopped olives, one tablespoonful of sugar, one-fourth of a cupful of finely minced mint leaves.

Let stand after mixing on the back of the range for an hour. Serve cold.

Lamb, Oriental Style.—Take one pound of the shoulder of lamb, one-fourth of a cupful of chopped onion, one cupful of lamb broth, two cupfuls of canned tomato, two cupfuls of string beans, pepper, salt and six tablespoonfuls of flour. Cut the lamb in two-inch pieces, brown in a hot, well-greased frying pan, then put into a casserole. Put the fresh beans, onion, tomato, salt and broth onto the meat and cook until tender, well covered. Remove the meat and vegetables to the center of the platter; around this place a border of cooked rice and pour the gravy around the rice. Sprinkle with parsley and serve.

Bread, Cheese and Custard Dish.—This is a good dish for supper or luncheon: Spread slices of bread with a thin coating of butter and sprinkle generously with grated cheese. Place the bread in a well buttered baking dish. When bread and cheese sufficient to serve the family is placed pour over a custard, using a pint of milk, two eggs and a bit of salt and paprika. Dust the top of the dish thickly with paprika and bake in a moderate oven until the custard is set. Serve hot from the dish. Properly baked this dish will be like a puffy omelet.

Chopped Steak en Casserole.—Put two cupfuls of finely chopped steak in a well-buttered casserole, season with celery salt, salt, pepper, mushrooms and tomato catsup or Worcestershire. Surround the steak with rice, pour over two cupfuls of boiling water and bake for an hour and a half in a moderate oven. Keep covered while cooking. Serve with tomato sauce or brown gravy.

Chicken Terrapin.—Chop one cold roast chicken and one parboiled sweetbread fine. Make a cupful of rich white sauce with cream and four tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour cooked together. Add the chicken and sweetbread, cut into pieces, season with salt and pepper to taste. Let it heat over hot water for fifteen minutes and just before serving add the yolks of two eggs well beaten and one-fourth cupful of orange juice.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

DUCKS AND GEES

"I am rather an interesting creature, if I do mention it instead of waiting for someone else to mention it," said the Duckbill or Platypus.

"The whole trouble is that I am afraid if I do not mention it myself no one else will, and rather than let it go by without being mentioned, I speak of it myself."

"I see," said the Barnacle Goose. "Well, I wish you would say more than that," said the Duckbill or Platypus.

"I wish," he added, "that you would say that you agree with me too."

"That would be pleasant to hear," "Well," said the Barnacle Goose, "I suppose you are interesting if you say so. For I've never found that you didn't tell the truth. Of course you may not tell the truth for all I know, but I have never heard that you weren't truthful, so I will believe you."

"I will tell you the truth," said the Duckbill or Platypus. "I think it is foolish to tell anything else except the truth," he added.

"I am interesting and it is the truth. Yes, it most certainly is the truth."

"I am called the Duckbill or Platypus because I have a bill like a duck and yet the Mrs. Duckbill or the Mrs. Platypus ladies lay eggs like nice Mrs. Duckbills and nice Platypus ladies would."

"I come from Australia, too. That surely is interesting. Of course perhaps I might be more interesting still, but I didn't say that. I simply said I was interesting. And it is something to be somewhat interesting."

"It is something indeed," said Mr. Barnacle Goose. "But while I think you are fairly interesting I think I am very interesting. And I will tell you my story."

"It is well worth that each of us thinks himself to be interesting. After all, we are ourselves and it is well to be pleased and satisfied."

"Do go on with your story," said the Duckbill or Platypus.

"In early times," said Mr. Barnacle Goose, "people thought that the Barnacle Geese were not hatched from eggs like other birds or fowl, but that we came from barnacles which grew on the trees near the water."

"Quite a funny idea, eh?" "Very funny," said the Duckbill or Platypus.

"They have pictures of us, or rather of members of our family," said Mr. Barnacle Goose, "from way back in the year 1597. My Barnacle Geese are really very interesting and worthy of notice."

"Yes," said the Duckbill or Platypus. "I really do think that if one cannot be a Duckbill one might as well belong to the Barnacle Goose family."

"And it is interesting to think that museums which only care for interesting creatures care for us."

"I have a dark throat and the end of my tail is dark and my neck is dark in color," said Mr. Barnacle Goose, "but my body is gray and white in color. Yes, I have handsome gray and white feathers."

"Well," said the Canvas Back Duck, "I wear a suitable costume for my name. The color of my back is the color of canvas."

"But I wear a brownish red color around my throat to brighten up my gray feathers."

"Ah, yes; to be a duck or to be a goose is the most important thing, but to be a duck is more important than to be a goose."

"Depending on which one is," said Mr. Barnacle Goose. "For my part, I wouldn't be anything else."

"For my part, I say the same," said the Duckbill or Platypus.

"And for my part I say the same, too," said the Canvas Back Duck. "It is good we are all satisfied," said Mr. Barnacle Goose.

GHOST EASY TO ACCOUNT FOR

Mrs. Carter Evidently Had Perfect Appreciation of Her Husband's Peculiar Affinities.

Mrs. Carter awoke with a violent start and found her husband sitting on the edge of the bed.

"John!" she exclaimed. "Whatever is the matter? Are there burglars in the house?"

"Worse'n that!" John exclaimed in a hoarse whisper. "I've just seen a ghost!"

Mrs. Carter gave a sigh of relief. Burglars she was afraid of—they were real. But in ghosts she had not the slightest belief.

"You're dreaming," she told hubby. "Get back here into bed and go to sleep!"

"But I tell you I saw a ghost!" John insisted. "It wasn't the ordinary ghost of a man or a woman that you read about. This ghost was shaped like a donkey!"

Mrs. John laughed. "John!" she exclaimed. "Come on and go to sleep and don't be afraid of your shadow!"

FATHER SAT IN JUDGMENT

Daddy's Realization of Audience's Suffering Brought Amateur Performance to Sudden Close.

Maggie was ten years of age, I but eight. We were on the program of a public school exhibition for a diet and considered ourselves letter perfect. Maggie played the accompaniment, repeating the last line of each verse for an interlude. There were four lines to each verse.

It was about "Three little graves ranged side by side," and was most pathetic.

After we had been singing a while my father surprised me by coming up and grasping one of my arms; without saying a word, he led me away from the stage. I don't know how Maggie left the stage.

"Why, pa," I exclaimed, "we weren't half through. There were thirty-three verses and we had sung only eleven of them."

"Yes," father replied, "and that was more than enough!"—Chicago Tribune.

WHY PROFESSOR LEFT TOWN

Slight Misunderstanding, but Altogether More Than He Feared Might Be Able to Explain.

Some years ago, while a professor of an eastern university, I made a trip west, stopping en route, where I was entertained at dinner by friends socially prominent in that city. Our three relatives of the host were invited, including an elderly woman whom I believed to be Mrs. Anderson.

Discussing marriage and the number of unmarried women in New England, I made this sage remark: "I have been told that since the opportunities for marriage are so much greater in the West, it is considered a disgrace to be an old maid."

My hostess now kindly informed me that the woman directly opposite me on her left, was Miss Anderson—the fruit Free Press.
