REMARKABLE DOG FEATURE IN "THE SILENT CALL"

A distinctly pleasing novelty is "The Silent Call," the current feature photodrama at the Opera House Sunday evening, May 6. In this picture a Laurence Trimble-Jane Murfin Production, presented by the St. Michael's Dramatic Club on Thursday, May 10 and Sunday, May 13 at 8 p. m.

The picture is a double plot, being accomplished through the agency of Strongheart, the world's most marvelous police dog, who is the real hero of the photoplay.

Herein lies the first element of novelty in this picture; the importance of the role played by Strongheart and the remarkable and dramatic performance contributed by him. Never for a moment does the behavior of the dog detract from the wonderful dog who does what to do or how to do it; never for a moment do we feel that it is a trick-trained animal we see on the screen.

The second element of novelty lies in the remarkably beautiful scenery of the production; all of the exterior shots were filmed in the region of the High Sierra Mountains, many miles away from the nearest settlement; and as a result, we see nature's glorious handiwork in all its untrammeled grandeur.

A third feature that is distinctly novel about "The Silent Call" is the cast. This consists, in addition to Strongheart, of seven men and one girl each of whom gives a remarkably polished performance, so that the entire dramatic personnel stand out as living personalities. The picture presents a veritable page of life and to their stellar portrayal, John Bowers, Katharine McKee, William Dyer, James Mason and William W. Wong are especially worthy of honorable mention; Robert Fisher, Nelson McDowell and Ray Howard are also fully adequate to their roles.

Jane Murfin, who adapted the photoplay, shows the direct dramatic value she has practiced in her various stage successes; Laurence Trimble, the director, confirms again the critical judgment that long ago placed him in the forefront of the screen before and about C. B. Dreyer and G. M. Anderson, who were responsible for the photoplay, have given the films a number of shots that are veritable artistic masterpieces.

All in all, "The Silent Call" is a picture for the entire family to see. It contains, besides the universal appeal of any other worthy photodrama, numerous distinct features that will endear it to the memory of its every beholder, irrespective of age, sex or economic condition. Every member of every family should visit the Opera House Sunday evening.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO WASHINGTON COUNTY JUNE 16

It will be Wisconsin Dairymen's Field Day, and the residents of this county will extend a big glad hand to the dairy farmers of this and other states. Headquarters for the gala occasion will be established at Cedar Lawn farm, operated for upwards of a half century by C. A. Schroeder, breeder of champion Holsteins and widely known for his successes in farming.

Elaborate plans for the occasion—the second of its kind ever held in the state, are being made by a committee headed by Jerry Koordin, famed for his prowess on gridiron and for his accomplishments in the development of high producing Holsteins. Assisting Koordin in the staging of this event are committees of business men and farmers from this and adjoining counties.

The executive committee includes Kiordan, George Blank, Milton Buton, Thomas Campbell, Watotona, and William Druhie of West Bend.

It is the purpose of the committee with E. G. Governor of Wisconsin, L. Philipp of Hartford, and C. J. O'Connell of West Bend, F. S. Claussen of Hartford, L. P. Rosemeyer of Kewaskum and Isaac of Rockfield.

A committee consisting of M. T. Buckley of West Bend, Kiordan, Wake, E. D. McDonald of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, and William Reinke of Hubbardus has charge of the program for the event. As now planned the speakers for the occasion will be Dean H. L. Russell of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, Frank Louden of the Holstein-Frisian Association of America, and John J. Blake, Governor of Wisconsin.

A publicity committee is already at work acquainting the dairy men of the state with the event. Serving on this committee are Henry Kampfer of the West Bend News, Don Hubrick of the Kewaskum Statesman, C. R. Hathaway of the Hartford Times, and Fred LeComte of the Hartford Press.

DEATH OF NIC. HAUG SR.

The sad news was received here on Tuesday of the death of Nicholas Haug Sr., a former pioneer settler of Kewaskum, Wis., his death occurred at his home at West Bend on Tuesday at 9 a. m., after an illness of six days, brought about by the infirmities of old age. Deceased was born Dec. 6, 1840 in Germany. When four years of age, he immigrated with his parents to America settling in the state of Ohio, where they resided four years when they came to Washington county. On Jan. 7, 1871, he was married to Miss Katherine They. After their marriage they made their home on a farm in the town of Kewaskum, where they resided until twelve years ago, when they returned from farm life, and moved to the village of Kewaskum, where they resided until two weeks ago when they moved to West Bend.

Deceased leaves besides his widow, the following children to mourn his demise: Katherine at home, Mrs. Fred Allen of Portland, Oregon, Nicholas Jr., of the town of Kewaskum, Mrs. F. Schroeder of Oshkosh, Mrs. Henry Muckerheide of the town of Kewaskum, Mrs. Ed. Mack of West Bend, Mrs. R. J. Bauer, who has moved to Calgary, Canada, who had to be absent in the celebration, thus the loved ones of the parents that they might on this occasion one more see all their offspring around them was not fulfilled, but the messages of love and of congratulation that had arrived from the absent children and which were read to the couple after dinner, were a consolation to them and helped to fill out the space which the personal absence of these, their loved ones, had caused.

The hours of the afternoon and evening were pleasantly spent by the singing of hymns accompanied on the organ, the recital of appropriate poetry and the exchange of personal experiences.

Mr. Hillenberg, who is now 73, and his wife, whose age is 69, were both born in the United States where they lived together for 33 years. Seven years ago they came to Canada and settled down on a farm south of Medicine Hat. During the last seven years the couple have been living in this city.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

The following clipping was received from William Hillenberg, of Medicine Hat, Alta., Canada, giving an account of the golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hillenberg, former residents of the town of Kewaskum. The article was printed in the Medicine Hat News, and reads as follows:

"On Wednesday, the 21th of April, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hillenberg, of 820 Balmoral street, were privileged to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day.

Five of their seven children, together with their families and a number of friends, were present on the occasion. It was a touching scene. Shortly before dinner the children and their families gathered about the aged couple singing a hymn of congratulation and presented to them as an expression of their love and gratitude a beautiful bouquet of daffodils, to which were attached on small ribbons some gold coins corresponding in value to the number of years their parents were united in marriage.

Rev. V. Wolff, pastor of the St. Nicholas church, of this city, then addressed the couple, wishing his warmest wishes for long and happy years of service with God.

It was regretted that two of the children, Mrs. (Rev.) B. Schupp, of Decoria, Ill., and Mrs. (Dr.) C. Hoffman, of Pasadena, Cal., and also their parents, Rev. R. J. Bauer, who had to be in Calgary that day, could not participate in the celebration. Thus the loved ones of the parents that they might on this occasion one more see all their offspring around them was not fulfilled, but the messages of love and of congratulation that had arrived from the absent children and which were read to the couple after dinner, were a consolation to them and helped to fill out the space which the personal absence of these, their loved ones, had caused.

U. S. SENATOR DIES ON TRAIN

Knute Nelson of Minnesota Victim of Angina Pectoris Attack.

CALLED "GRAND OLD VIKING"

Was One of Senate's Picturesque and Influential Characters — Greeting Tribute Paid to Dead Senator by President Harding.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 30.—United States Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota died on a Pennsylvania railroad train en route from Baltimore to Chicago. According to the railroad company, Senator Nelson was found dead on the train which left Washington at 6:50 p. m.

The train crew said that as the train was passing through Timonium, Md., eleven miles from Baltimore, the aged senator had an attack of angina pectoris and died in a few minutes.

Senator Nelson was born in Norway on February 2, 1843.

With the senator were his niece, Mrs. Edith Truscott of Jennings, La.; George A. Wells, Jr., insurance commissioner of Minnesota, and Walker W. Heford, deputy insurance commissioner.

Washington, April 30.—The sudden death of Senator Knute Nelson (Rep. Minn.) on a train en route from the senate one of its picturesque and influential characters.

Popularly known as "the grand old Viking" Senator Nelson had been a conspicuous figure in congress for nearly thirty years by reason of his blunt and outspoken habits, inherited from his Norse ancestors.

President Harding said: "He was a stalwart American, and performed a most useful public service with a record of great work accomplished. Senator Nelson was an inspiring example of American opportunity. He came to us in poverty from Norway, acquired a competence, served in the war for the Union, was governor of his state, and had a long and honored career in the senate. I held him in very high regard and deeply regret his passing."

GOOD TREATMENT OF LEGUMES IS NEEDED

Alfalfa and Clover Insist on Plenty of Lime in Soil.

Type of Material to Use is the One That Gives the Most Calcium Carbonate or Its Equivalent of Proper Fineness.

Legumes, since they are such a valuable part of agriculture, have a right to demand, as they do, that conditions for their growth shall be as they want them. That alfalfa and red clover, for example, insist on a fair supply of lime in the soil, is pointed out by the New York state agricultural college at Ithaca.

If the soil contains limestone, is neutral, or even slightly acid, no lime need be added, but if the soil is very sour, lime should be put on before seeding red clover. Where clover fails frequently or does not thrive and produce a good crop, lime is usually necessary, and should be applied every time clover is seeded at the rate of one ton or more per acre in the form of limestone, or its equivalent in other forms.

Three forms of lime are in general use: Limestone, "hydrated" lime, and burned or quicklime, together with smaller quantities of marl and oyster shells.

The form of lime to use is the one that gives most calcium carbonate, or its equivalent, of proper fineness, spread on the land for each dollar paid out for lime, freight and labor of hauling and spreading.

For red clover it is usually not necessary to neutralize the acidity fully. Alsike stands more acidity, white vetch and white clover, peas and field beans, are still more resistant to soil acidity. Soy beans respond to conditions favorable to red clover. Alfalfa and sweet clover need more lime than does red clover, and it is desirable to know something of the lime content of the subsoil down to 20 to 30 inches below the surface.

TURKEYS RAISED FOR PROFIT

Purebred, Healthy Stock is to Be Preferred Always and of the Large Varieties.

Not very many of us ever have stopped to think of the possibilities in raising turkeys for profit. Purebred healthy stock is to be preferred always, and of the large varieties, birds that bring down the scales to more than the required standard for the large breeds. For the large type purebred Bronze or Narragansett turkeys are the largest breeds, and are as easy as any to raise. The Bourbon Reds also have become quite popular, but are not quite so large.

COB MEAL INFERIOR TO CORN

Cattle With Large Digestive Systems Seem to Appreciate Ground Cobs.

Hogs are not nearly so well adapted to handling the cobs which are contained in corn and cob meal as are cattle. Cattle with their large digestive systems oftentimes seem to appreciate the ground cobs in corn, and cob meal. Any addition of crude fiber to the fattening of hog ration, however, seems to be a positive handicap. Experiments at the Iowa station indicate that corn and cob meal is inferior both to shelled corn and to ear corn for fattening hogs.

"MOTHER" INCUBATOR CHICKS

To Succeed With Young Fowls One Must Be Patient and See That They Learn to Walk.

If you would succeed with incubator chicks, "mother" them a bit. Be patient with them and see that they contrive in some way to learn to walk in the days of their youth—extreme youth. The mother hen, if you will observe her closely, teaches each of her children how to scratch, paying particular attention to the backward pupil. If we small chicks are to become great sturdy pullets and cockers, they must early get the habit of exercise, of "rustling" for their feed.

FORESTS NOT LAND PROBLEM

Not Only Should Best Soils Be Used But Sited to Trees, but Also Intensively Managed.

In its larger aspects forestry is not merely a land problem but an agricultural problem, says Col. William B. Greeley in the annual report of the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture. Not only should lands best suited to forests be used for forests but these forests should be intensively managed, as farms are intensively managed.

Avoid Needless Changes

Don't change the positions of the roosts, nests, hoppers or water fountains unless absolutely necessary. When this is done frequently the birds become bewildered and irritated, and frightened hens lay few eggs.

Corn and Soy Bean

Experiments with corn and soy beans show that one may expect just about the same yield by weight as from corn alone. The advantage in adding soy beans comes by getting a crop richer in nitrogen.

Diarrhea in Chicks

One of the great causes of chick mortality is diarrhea of various kinds. A large number of chicks develop diarrhea due to neglect. Others develop digestive disorders due to bacteria or a specific disease.

Elderberry Flowers Early

The red elderberry flowers early and has an abundance of red fruit about the first of July. Birds are very fond of this fruit and prefer it to cultivated fruits.

Find What CANADA has to offer YOU!
If your dream of success seems like a hopeless ambition, if you are discouraged trying to get ahead on high rent land, if your present location fails to give you opportunity, there is a new deal for you, a new chance in the fertile farms of Western Canada, where wheat produces 20 to 6 bushels to the acre, where the 1922 crop was biggest in history, where oats, barley and hay and feeder crops are the basis of a big dairy industry, and a man's work brings him success and prosperity.

Low Priced Land—the Last Great West
In Western Canada you still can buy virgin prairie land at $15 to $20 per acre, on long terms if desired, near to town, railroads, etc.—land such as has for many years produced the world's price winning wheat, oats, barley, flax, etc. Canada has no "war time" land boom; prices are not inflated—you get in on the ground floor.

Taxes Favor the Farmer as Values Increase
The tax laws of Western Canada encourage the producing farmer. The tax on land is reduced when it is brought under cultivation—while on your buildings, machinery, improvements, personal property, automobiles, there is no tax at all. A single crop is often worth more, acre for acre, than the cost of the land.

Rent Now—Buy Later
Pay Out of Profits
Canada welcomes the industrious settler. What you have now isn't so important. If your capital is small, or you cannot sell your present holdings to advantage, rent a fertile Canadian farm and "try it out" for a season or two. Make a good living, increase your capital, and buy later. Farms may be rented from successful settlers on easy terms in some cases with option of purchase.

Buy on Exceptional Terms—32 Years to Pay
For the benefit of those wishing to buy land a national non-profit sharing organization—the Canada Colonization Association—has been established with head office at Winnipeg, and United States office at St. Paul. This Association offers selected land convenient to railways—much of it at $15 to $20 per acre—on very small cash payments; no further payment until third year; balance extended over thirty years, but purchaser may pay up and obtain title at any time desired. Interest six percent per annum—determined by payment.

Special Excursion Rates to Western Canada
In order that you may inspect the land—see for yourself—judge of its value and test the special excursion rates of inspection will leave United States ports on the first and third Tuesdays of each month. Single fare plus $2 for the round trip, available from all principal centers. Take advantage of these low railroad rates to inspect for yourself the opportunities which Western Canada has to offer you. Seeing is believing. The nearest Canadian Government Agency will give you all information. The men in charge are Government officials, interested only in the service of the prospective settler. We help you find your opportunity. Let us know something of your position and receive free book with maps and information how special railway rates can be arranged for a trip of inspection. Mail the coupon.

Find British Army Buttons

Revolutionary Camps Around New York Are Still Yielding Up Relics of Conflict.

New York.—Many British army buttons which were dug up in sections in and near New York where the British had their encampments. These little mementos of the various corps of the British army are remarkable for the variety of types which they display and for their perfection of workmanship. For 40 years William L. Calver of the field exploration committee of the New York Historical society has been bringing them to light and collecting them.

"The British late Eighteenth century military buttons," says Mr. Calver in the quarterly bulletin of the society, "are distinguishable by the numeral they bear, or by the initials letters of the corps, as described below. Numerical titles were bestowed on the regiments of the British army in 1751; previous to that time they had been named for their colonels, and it was decreed in 1767 that the number of each regiment be placed upon the buttons of its uniform."

"At the time when the first numeral button was issued—September 21, 1767—it was stated that the number of each regiment was to be placed on the buttons of the uniforms of the officers and men of the British army. The royal warrant of December 19, 1768, as it pertained to the cavalry, reads as follows: 'The number of each regiment to be on the buttons of the uniforms of the officers and men, except the regiments of Dragon Guards. The initial letter of the title of those corps to be on the buttons.' For the infantry the warrant directs: 'The number of each regiment to be on the buttons of the officers and men.'"

Copied the French. "We cannot say positively that the uniform buttons of the British soldiers were first numbered in 1768. There are evidences that numerical designations were placed upon the buttons of some regiments earlier than the date mentioned above. We may presume that in this detail the British followed closely after the French, who prescribed numbered buttons for the troops of the line December 11, 1762. We must confess that we find no specimens whatever of numbered, or inscribed, buttons of practically every regiment of the British army present on these shores during the war. There can be no doubt that the British regulations as they pertained to the buttons were strictly observed, and the practice was promptly adopted by the Americans at the beginning of hostilities.

"The results of the order were far-reaching. The numbered buttons identified, alive or dead, the officers or men who wore them; rendered desertion or any dereliction of duty more difficult, and to a considerable degree made esprit du corps. The units of the army came hither, then, marked for identification, and the buttons which we find today represent the first inscribed types worn by old regiments. From the camps and barracks sites, or happily from scenes of conflict, or from an occasional grave, we gather the little metallic discs whose numerals constitute a roll of the British regiments in America.

"Some few regiments, as will be seen, had their numbers expressed upon their buttons on a plain surface, or field. Some buttons had a plain field with a cord, or milled border, while others again bear profuse decorations.

Fashioning of the Buttons. "The officers' buttons have, as a rule, thin reponse silver, or gilt, faces and bone backs. The space between the face and the cone-like back was filled with a paste or cement, but before the button was assembled a stout cord, or bit of gut, was passed through four holes in the back, and knotted on the inside of the button, and by means of the loops thus formed the buttons were sewn to the uniforms.

"The privates' buttons were universally of white metal, or pewter, and had as a rule iron wire shanks, which were cast into a boss on the backs of the buttons.

"In addition to the buttons referred to as of 'officer,' or 'private,' we have a type distinct from either of these. The variety in question is very rare—in fact, no two of a regiment have been recovered. They have white metal convex faces and thinned iron backs, with iron recovered wires. The specimens so far recovered are of the Seventeenth, Thirty-third, Thirty-seventh and Fifty-seventh regiments. It is surmised that these were worn by some particular officer of the regiment who had a special button of his own, regardless of what was worn by the other officers or the men. It was the guess of the late S. M. Milne that these hollow buttons were worn by the quartermaster sergeants of the regiments. The very remarkable thing about the collection herein figured is that it was garnered almost entirely from sites within the limits of Greater New York, and that to this day such sites have escaped the hand of 'improvement,' and remain in an almost primitive condition. Furthermore, it has been the button hunters' good fortune, that invariably the sites have been a 'no-man's-land,' where the explorers could work undisturbed by owner or overseer."

Tut's Widow in Royal Romance

Sought to Wed Son of King of Hittites While Pharaoh's Body Was Not Yet Cold.

Luxor, Egypt.—An ancient Hittite document, recently unearthed in Anatolia, discloses an amazing royal romance in which Queen Ank-h-Amen, consort of Pharaoh Tut-Ankh-Amen, was one of the principals. It also appears that the queen was banished by Tut-Ankh-Amen's successor, Pharaoh Ay.

"This remarkable document has been translated by Prof. Archibald H. Sayce, one of the leading Babylonian and Egyptian scholars of Great Britain. It reveals the extraordinary fact that, while King Tut-Ankh-Amen's body was still upon his bier, awaiting burial, his twenty-seven-year-old wife dispatched an ambassador to the King of the Hittites, who was then besieging the ancient city of Carchemish, between Mesul and Damascus, to induce the king to give her one of his sons in marriage.

Message of Queen. "My husband is dead," said the Egyptian queen to the Hittite ruler through her ambassador. "I have no children. Your son is said to be grown up. If you will give me one of them, and if he will give me my husband, he will be a great helpmate."

The king of the Hittites apparently doubted the motives and good faith of the Egyptian queen. He replied to her overtures: "The son of your lord (the king) where is he? Have you deceived me? The general of the army (Horenhub) has not nominated my son to the kingship."

The queen thereupon rejoined: "What is this you say? I have deceived you? If I had a son and my

SAMMY SAUSAGE'S PRIZE

"Grunt, grunt," said Sammy Sausage. "I won a prize."

"Let us see the prize; grunt, grunt," said Grandfather Porky Pig. "Yes, we take such an interest in you, grunt, grunt," said Sir Percival Pork.

"We do that," said Sir Benjamin Bacon. "Let us see your prize. We want to admire it, for we are sure it is a delicious prize."

"Delicious?" questioned Sammy Sausage.

"Well, surely it is something to eat," said Sir Benjamin Bacon.

"Surely it must be," said Sir Percival Pork.

"That is what I thought it was," said Grandfather Porky Pig. "I thought the same," said Miss Ham.

"And so did I," said Mrs. Pink Pig. "I did, too, grunt, grunt," said Pinky Pig.

"Well, I never said it wasn't food and I never said it wasn't delicious," said Sammy Sausage as he twisted his little tail and looked out of the corner of his right eye in a very amused way.

"Dear me, dear me," said Grandfather Porky, "whatever do you mean, Sammy Sausage? You don't explain yourself at all."

"First you tell us you won a prize. Then we all take a nice pig interest in what you have done and in your success and we ask you to show us the prize."

"Then when we say that without doubt it must be a delicious prize you seem surprised and you say 'delicious' in a very surprised manner."

"Then when we say that surely we thought it was something to eat you

IN DEFENCE OF THE TRUTH

By THE REV. H. C. HENRELL, Ph. D.

Reprinted from the Capital Times of Madison, Wis.

In the past I have often urged, in written articles and lectures, the sympathetic consideration of justice to the worker. The conviction has been growing upon me recently that the whole institution of private capital is becoming unjustly discredited in the mind of the public in general and of employees in particular by the unfair propaganda of many prominent self-styled "progressive" politicians whose aim is to ride into power by heading an agitation to nationalize the railroads and other big industries of the country. Not only private capital, but labor as well, that is to say, the whole nation, is in need of friends and defenders against these unscrupulous agitators, among whom are even a few United States senators.

These agitators deceive the people both by flattery and by partly ignorant and partly dishonest misrepresentation of facts. They flatter the dear people by pretending to work for the operation of the railroads, the mines and other big industries by the people themselves. That seems to imply the extension of more and more power to the people. It is called "progressive."

The progressive politicians tender rather dubious flattery to the people, however, in assuming that the latter do not perceive that the transfer of industry from private owners to the public really means the management of the industry by the politicians. Private capitalists have their faults, but they are paragons of efficiency in serving the public compared to the majority of politicians. The latter are too lazy or incompetent to care properly for the streets and alleys of a small city like Madison. . . .

Public ownership and operation of the railroads and of other big industries would indeed be a calamity in America, where professional politicians are grounded in a tradition of craft and incompetence. If the politicians of today, given authority and a mandate from the people, are so grossly incompetent in the business of government that they cannot keep the streets and alleys in proper order, how can they be expected to manage competently and economically the greatest highways of the country, the railroads? It is not really a question of public or private ownership of the railroads, but of public or private management of the railroads. Under public ownership and operation the politicians would do the managing, or rather mismanaging, and the public would be compelled to pay for the economic waste incurred by men who traditionally do not know or care enough about business to run a peanut stand successfully.

The senatorial and other demagogues in our American political life who are coveting their neighbor's goods, are not only attempting to flatter the people into the extravagance of public ownership, but they are deliberately misrepresenting the facts regarding the railroads and other big industries. Many of them are shameless liars in their propaganda for a socialism in which they hope to be dictators and bosses. A few examples of such lying will suffice to justify my rather blunt statement.

We are constantly told that the Esch-Cummings act "guarantees" the railroads a return of 5% per cent per annum. Since August 31, 1920, there has been no guaranteed return of any per cent to any railroad in the country. If, in the face of constant governmental regulation and revision of rates and wages any railroad is so marvelously well managed as to be able to show a net return of 5% per cent with which to pay interest on its bonds, etc., it is, under the Esch-Cummings act, entitled to the 5% per cent, but no more, no matter how efficiently it may be managed. Thus, while the Esch-Cummings act limits the possible net earnings of the railroads to a maximum of 5% per cent, it no more guarantees anything to the railroad than the Volstead law guarantees one-half of one per cent alcohol to the users of near beer.

We are further told that the railroad stocks are largely "water" and that the poor, long-suffering public is expected to guarantee 5% per cent return to this "water." This charge is also false.

The physical valuation, without reference to stocks or bonds (capitalization), made under the LaFollette valuation law of 1913, plus actual cash investments made since, less depreciation, is greater than their capitalization by millions of dollars. In other words, there is no room for the alleged "water" in the railroads even under the Eighteenth amendment.

It may be true that shady deals in over-capitalization (watering) of railroad securities may be proved in some notorious instances, but these cases should be specifically named and condemned without involving all the railroads. It is unjust to make sweeping generalization preparing to depreciate the value of railroad securities to the value of German marks, a process which amounts to ruthless confiscation of the property of railroad stock and bond holders. Russian socialism goes no further than this.

A further lie against the railroads that deserves to be nailed is the charge of excessive freight rates, of rates so high as to rob the farmer and other producers and the consumer alike.

Records show that the average freight rates on western railroads are only about 40 per cent higher than they were seven years ago, while wages are 80 per cent; taxes 90 per cent; fuel 100 per cent higher than they were at that time. Stories of freight rates higher than the total price received for wheat, etc., are pure humbug. In January, 1923, wheat was $1.25 a bushel at Minneapolis, that is, 40 cents higher than in 1913. The freight rate from points as far as South Dakota was only four to five cents higher than in 1913.

I hold no brief for the railroads or for any other industry, but I love fair play and detest unfair propaganda. I am a Catholic priest, but I write neither as a priest nor as a Catholic, but as an American citizen who views with alarm the creation of prejudice and class hatred by men and organizations, not recognized as socialists or communists, but imbued with the same destructive philosophy, and pursuing the same ruthless methods. Ignorant or malicious, they are endangering American ideals of freedom of opportunity in favor of the servile state in which citizens in business as well as politics, will be the prey of scheming politicians.—Advertisement.

 Headaches are in the majority of cases, caused from Eye Strain. Normal eyes use 15 per cent of the vital energy generated by the human system—Strained eyes must use more. Coming to Fond du Lac DR. DORAN

 in internal medicine for the past twenty years
 DOES NOT OPERATE

Will Give Free Consultation on Tuesday, May 15th

Palmer Hotel
 from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

ONE DAY ONLY

Dr. Doran is a regular graduate in medicine and surgery and is licensed by the State of Wisconsin. He visits professionally the more important towns and cities, and offers to all who call on this trip consultation and examination free, except the expense of treatment when desired.

According to his method of coming to your nearest city to see patients he gives all sick people an opportunity to obtain the best that medical science can offer right at home. He does not operate for chronic appendicitis, gall stones, ulcers of the stomach or other chronic diseases.

He has to his credit many wonderful results in disease of the stomach, liver, bowels, blood, skin, nerves, heart, kidney, bladder, bedwetting, catarrh, leg ulcers and rectal ailments.

If you have been ailing for any length of time and do not get any better, do not fail to call, as improper measures rather than disease are very often the cause of your long standing trouble.

Remember above date, that examination on this trip will be free and that his treatment is different.

Married ladies must come with their husbands, and children with their parents.

Address: Medical Laboratory of Dr. Doran, 315-316 Boston Block, Minneapolis, Minn.

 U. S. COMMISSIONER FROZEN "Billie" Marx of Teller Found Frozen to Death on Unstaked Teller-Shishwarit Trail

Wm. N. Marx and John Reed left Ear Mt., where they had been doing assessment work, Monday, Feb. 26th, 1923. They encamped that night at the Nulok river. Next day, although it was cold and windy, they combed the hillsides and started out for home. After crossing the divide, instead of following Straight Creek to the south, they traveled too far toward the east, ascending a high slope overlooking the Agiapuk river, Marx in the lead. Near the top of the ridge Reed lost Marx's trail and his dogs took him over the rim of the hill and over a precipice perhaps three to four hundred feet high at an angle of perhaps 70 degrees. One dog was killed in falling; he lost rifle and shovel, but otherwise suffered no damage. The wind and drifting snow made it very difficult for him to untangle his dogs, so he stayed there almost an hour before he was able to get away. He shouted repeatedly for Marx, but could hear no answer. It was utterly impossible for him to ascend the precipice so he came down to the Agiapuk river a hundred yards below, later making his way to the dredge on Swanson Creek about twelve miles from Teller. He reached Teller the following morning. Mr. Reed, Mr. Winfield and Rev. Dahla, the day following, March 1st, went to look for Marx. His body was found about 25 miles from Teller, about two miles from the precipice, about 10 yards from Reed's trail. His sled was found demolished near the brow of the cliff, just a short distance above the steep take-off. The dogs were all loose about the sled. Marx's trail was found where he slid down the mountain side. Presumably Marx, after finding Reed missing had back-trailed or climbed about his sled, rough looking, had slided against rocks and had broken all the stanchions on one side and most of them on the other, making the sled useless, just above the place where Reed had fallen over the edge. Had Marx's sled gone fifteen feet further it might have dropped to the place where Reed landed. Mr. Marx, unstrapped the dogs from the towline, coiled the line, took an extra pair of seal skin pants, and tied them with a rope about his waist; took his rifle and pistol and slid over bare rocks and glare snow and the irregularities of the ground in the descent, and, unstrapped, rolled, became untrapped, doubled, knotted unconscious, lost rifle and pistol, both found part way down. In this unconscious state he may have lain no one knows how long. Regaining consciousness, he walked ahead some two miles. The seal skin pants he wore and his underclothing were ripped and torn in many places exposing the bare skin. When found the new seal skin pants were still tied about his waist showing that he either was not conscious of the cold or had no strength to put them on. The mitten was off one hand as he lay face up, knees slightly drawn up his face showing perfect repose.

How Billy Marx's Death Might Have Been Prevented

The trail between Teller and Shishwarit (and Ear Mt.) has been traveled for years by miners, travelers, missionaries and natives, yet in this most dangerous country, no attempt has been made by the authorities to make it safe for travel. Had this trail been staked as it should have been for years, Mr. Marx would not have sacrificed his life. Yet the total community spends its thousands and tens of thousands in making it a bit easier for a select few to earn a few additional dollars, yet they are unwilling to spend a comparatively small sum to save lives. Hasn't Alaska Gold taken enough toll, needlessly? Why not spend a few dollars given us by our government to make traveling safe in the out-of-the-way districts where the dangers are greatest.

International Manure Spreader

Run Your Eyes Over These Best-yet Features:

1. Roller Bearings. Roller bearings at seven points—the only spreader so equipped.
2. Double Ratchet Drive. Walking beam transmission from main axle eccentric and extra large machine wheel give easy, strong, steady feed. No pounding or jerking, due to extra-long movement of pawls on ratchet wheel—only two power impulses on ratchet for every revolution of 46-inch wheels. Box tapered to eliminate friction on box sides. Six feed speeds.
3. Quill Front Axle. Auto-type, permitting short turn. No pole whipping. No strain on frame.
4. Power: Both Wheels. Power is transmitted direct from main axle to beaters, wide-spread spiral and manure conveyor—not through beaters to conveyor or vice versa.
5. Wheels Track. Rear wheels track with the front wheels, lightening draft.
6. Tight Bottom. There is no clogging, jamming apron, because the spreader has a tight bottom. Spreads anything. Retains all liquid manure.
7. Two Beaters. Two all-steel beaters with chisel-pointed square teeth work from both top and bottom of the load. Allow extra-high load.
8. Wide-Spread. The spiral behind the beaters gives the manure a third beating, and spreads it finely and uniformly beyond the wheels.
9. All-Steel Main Frame. Does not check, rot or warp. Wood box sides hold only the load. Frame holds operating mechanism independently of box; keeps alignment perfect.

The New International—made in two sizes—is unquestionably the best spreader value on the market today, and when you consider it in connection with its price, it is far ahead of all others that there is really no comparison. We have a sample spreader set up for your inspection. Come in and look it over.

Concrete Silos

A Concrete Silo is the safest and best investment a farmer can make. It is cheap in first cost, yet permanent. Requires no additional expense for repairs or painting, and will not blow over. You can feed twice as much live stock with little additional cost, by the use of a silo. Feeding silage when the pastures are dry or in the winter, keeps the cows up to their maximum milk production. If you intend to build a silo, now is the time to arrange for it. We can build silos and other circular work of 6, 8, 10, 12, 14 feet and larger diameters. We also build concrete roofs on silos and do all kinds of other concrete work. Our prices are right and our work guaranteed to be satisfactory. Please write or call. Phone 1188 Newburg Line.

LIFTS BOOZE BAN ON SHIPS AT SEA

High Court Rules Liquor Fleet Off Coast Is Within Law.

PORT PROHIBITION IS VALID

Places U. S. and Alien Boats on Same Footing—All Vessels Must Leave Supply Outside Three-Mile Zone.

Washington, May 1.—The Supreme court of the United States by a 7 to 2 division handed down a decision of far-reaching consequence and wide ramifications in the long controversy over extension of the American prohibition law to vessels at sea.

The principal points in the decision, Justices Sutherland and McKeynolds dissenting, were:

American ships may carry liquor and sell it as a beverage to passengers beyond the three-mile limit.

Foreign vessels may not bring liquor within the three-mile limit, even if sealed as ship's stores.

The claim that "prohibition follows the flag," heretofore maintained by the government, is not sound and must be bolstered up by additional law to make it effective.

Congress has power, which it may exercise at will, to prohibit intoxicating beverages on American vessels anywhere at any time.

One feature of the new situation, according to lawyers, is the legalization of rum row off the New Jersey coast and the inconsistency of naval action against the smugglers beyond the three-mile limit.

The decision, instead of disposing of the controversy, promises to intensify and complicate it. It opens up a prospect of involved diplomatic exchanges and bitter parliamentary battles.

As Justice Sutherland, in his dissenting opinion pointed out, the majority decision threatens to lead to "international misunderstandings" and is likely to invite retaliatory measures by foreign nations. The State department probably will have a busy season of notewriting before the question is settled.

Skeleton of Northwestern University Student Found

Chicago, May 1.—Student hazing in Northwestern university added a shock to its annals when the skeleton of Leighton Mount, a youth who disappeared in September, 1921, was found imbedded in the sand under an old breaker at the foot of Lake Street.

Ernest Young, Mount, a Northwestern freshman, vanished from his classes in the midst of a spirited controversy over the evils of hazing nearly two years ago.

HUGHES BACKS COURT

Says Institution Is Good Old U. S. Doctrine.

Secretary of State Declares It Is Not New—Long Been American Policy.

Washington, April 28.—In a carefully studied effort to check the rising tide of opposition to the administration's world court plan, Secretary of State Hughes, addressing the American Society of International Law here, declared that the United States is joining the court would incur no risk of becoming involved in the League of Nations.

Replying to the criticism directed at the court plan by Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho) and other irreconcilables, Mr. Hughes insisted that the connection existing between the court and the league was so remote that the United States could not become entangled in the league.

Moreover, he contended, every possible danger suggested by the critics of becoming involved was met by the reservations he suggested to the senate when President Harding submitted the court protocol to the senate.

"Those who desire that by this method the United States shall become a member of the league are indulging in vain hopes and those who are alarmed at such a possibility are entertaining vain fears," said Mr. Hughes.

Five Injured in Ku Klux Riot in Indiana Village

San Pierre, Ind., May 1.—At least five persons are known to have been injured in a riot which broke out here when an unidentified man fired a shotgun into a meeting of the local Ku Klux Klan. WISCONSIN HAPPENINGS

Important News of the Badger State Arranged in Condensed Form

Fond du Lac—E. C. Pommerening, former secretary and treasurer of the Van Dyne Co-operative association and former head of the Wisconsin Union of the American Society of Equity, charged with the embezzlement of approximately $700 of the association's funds, was freed in municipal court at Fond du Lac, Judge Henry M. Feilenz holding that the charge did not support the charge brought by J. J. Lamb. The defense contended that although Pommerening did draw a check for $700 for his own use, he did not do so with intent to defraud the Van Dyne association. Judge Feilenz held that there was insufficient evidence to bind the defendant over to circuit court and suggested that the matter might be settled in a civil action.

Watertown—Taken for a prowler, Darrell Donovan, 19 years old, was shot and killed by Dr. F. C. Haney, Watertown city health commissioner. Donovan was slain when Dr. Haney Donovan from a window of his home, according to police. Donovan had made no attempt at burglary, according to police, who were unable to explain his reason for leaving the street on his route home. Dr. Haney said that he was awakened at his wife and infant in the belief that a burglar was seeking to break into the house.

Marinette—All the farm buildings, including barn, machine shed, silo and buggy shed, wood shed and two store houses of the Joseph Schroeder farm near Loomis, Marinette county, were destroyed by a mid day fire. The house of Samuel McCormick and the garage of Mr. Schroeder, located nearby, were set afire by sparks. The flames were extinguished. School session was dismissed and the teachers and pupils assisted the bucket brigade.

Sheboygan—A new addition to St. Nicholas hospital, for which contract has just been awarded, will give Sheboygan additional hospital facilities which are very much needed. The new fireproof building will replace the last of the originally constructed units of the hospital. The complete cost of this new structure and remodeling of operating departments will approximate $135,000.

Rice Lake—Sidney Kalmarth, 7, a pupil in the first grade of the Jefferson school in Rice Lake, died suddenly in the school room. He had complained of a headache early in the day, but was apparently in normal health when he suddenly shrieked and fell to the floor unconscious among his little playmates. He died shortly after a physician arrived. The cause of death was given as cerebral hemorrhage.

Waukegan—A physical examination conducted in the city schools of Waukegan recently revealed five hundred and twenty of the students out of a total enrollment of seven hundred and seventy-eight were defective physically. Bad teeth claimed three hundred and forty-three; twenty-two had defective eyes and sixty-one had tonsils. County Nurse Barton, who conducted the examination, reported.

Oconto—A little thing like getting held up isn't bad if the robber goes fifty-fifty, declares Charles Livens, who recently came to Oconto from Poland. Charles bought a horse and set of harness. On his way home a handit took the harness away from him. "Why should I kick," Livens said. "In Poland the robber would have taken the horse, too. These American robbers are all right," he said.

Green Bay—Sullivan Post American Legion band, Green Bay, of thirty pieces will make its first public appearance under the direction of Prof. Alex Enns in a Memorial day parade. It was announced. The band has been recently organized.

Stevens Point—June 12 to 14 have been definitely approved for the annual convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, which is to be held in Stevens Point.

Birchwood—Additional plic acid is being purchased by farmers and settlers near Birchwood to carry on the land clearing plans of most rural residents. The shipments of plic acid is the second to be received this year from the government supply bases. The explosive is salvaged war time material and is now being supplied to farmers and settlers to aid in clearing land. Washburn county has received two carloads of the explosive this year and Birchwood obtained a large supply from the recent shipments. It is believed that as much land will be cleared this year in Washburn county as was cleared during the association campaigns of clearing.

Madison—The seed corn situation in Wisconsin this spring is very gratifying, according to George B. Mortimer of the field crops staff of the state college of agriculture. There is enough seed of good quality for every one, he said. "No one need do without good seed, and there is no need to use seed which is doubtful in germination. Within a month corn planting will be well under way. Now is the time to give the seed corn the necessary attention. With the excellent drying conditions prevailing last fall, there should be little need for making an ear germination test this spring."

Green Bay—Labor will be scarce and wages high in Brown county during the construction season this year, according to all present indications. The report of the government free employment office for the past week shows an increased demand for farm labor over the previous week and other cities is growing in volume every day. It was stated. Brown county will employ more than 1,000 men on road work alone and it is expected that many hundreds of men will be needed for general construction projects now under way or which will be started within a short time.

Minocqua—Charles L. Kirsham, one of the best known guides in the Minocqua lake region, was found dead in his shack near Squirrel lake. It is believed death was due to heart disease. Kirsham came to this locality from England twenty-five years ago. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in England but for some unknown reason he left public life and sought the solitude of a hermit.

Green Bay—Graduation exercises for rural school pupils of Brown county will be held in the auditorium of West Depe's new $135,000 high school June 5th, it was announced by County Superintendent E. A. Seymour. The graduation of more than three hundred pupils from rural schools each year is a gala day in this history of the county, and business men have made it a practice to assist in making the day an epoch in the lives of rural school pupils and their parents.

Waupaca—A physical examination conducted in the city schools of Waupaca recently revealed five hundred and twenty of the students out of a total enrollment of seven hundred and seventy-eight were defective physically. Stevens Point—June 12 to 14 have been definitely approved for the annual convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, which is to be held in Stevens Point.

With the Wisconsin Legislature

Madison, Wis.—Gov. John J. Blaine has announced that he was opposed to an interim committee of the legislature to study the tax situation and added that there was sufficient information on hand to pass just and equitable tax legislation at this session.

The statement came in a letter to Senator Henry Huber in which he says that there is no foundation to the report that he favored the interim committee plan. "So far as a revision of the income tax laws is concerned, there is available to the legislature every necessary fact to pass a just and equitable income tax revision bill in compliance with party pledges," Gov. Blaine said.

"Will you kindly convey to the joint finance committee the information that I am opposed to any delay in fulfillment of pledges which have been fully discussed, the facts necessary to carry out these pledges fully prepared and presented, and specific legislation in accordance therewith presented."

Has New Type Eugenic Law

A new type of eugenics law which would do away with the necessity of ante-nuptial physical examinations is to be proposed by Senator John Schumann, Watertown, he announces. Senator Schumann said that he intends to ask for reconsideration of the vote by which the senate killed the Spoor bill repealing the existing eugenics statute, that has been in force since 1913.

Under his proposed law, both the prospective groom and the prospective bride would be required to sign a statement under oath, before issuance of a marriage license, that they were free from venereal diseases. Should it prove after marriage that either had misrepresented themselves, the fact could be used as evidence in obtaining a divorce, should the proposed Schumann bill become a statute. "This plan should prove acceptable to all of those interested in eugenics legislation," Senator Schumann said. "It gives no basis for religious objection and would prove fully as effective as the present method of examination. The moral effect would deter persons affected with these objectionable diseases from being married."

Governor's Signature Makes Laws

A number of bills became laws with signatures of Gov. John J. Blaine. One of these is the Kamke bill providing that only five per cent instead of 10 of the previous vote for the governor of the party before a candidate in the primary can have his name placed on the ballot at election time. Last state election the Democratic party was wiped out because no candidate could pool enough votes to have his name placed on the ballot. The bill was introduced by Assemblyman Richard Kamke, only Democrat in the Wisconsin legislature.

Inspector Bill Vetoes

The appropriation to the compensation insurance board was vetoed by Gov. Blaine on the ground that an unjustified increase was allowed by the legislature. In 1919 the appropriation was fixed at $29,000 for the biennium and that has remained unchanged since, and the board of public affairs recommends that such appropriation should not exceed $20,000 for the biennium," the governor said. "This bill increases the appropriation for the biennium $6,000, in spite of the fact that the appropriation heretofore has been more than sufficient."

"The purpose of the increased appropriation is to provide for a perambulating inspector or auditor. The board has been doing good work and from all reports I am convinced that its functions have been exercised satisfactorily and there is no need for taking on a traveling inspector or auditor."

Senate Kills Rent Bill

The senate voted on record as opposed to state regulation of rent. With only six members dissenting, it killed the Teasdale bill limiting charges to a profit of 10 per cent on the building investment and operation cost. The bill placed the value of the building at 120 per cent of assessed valuation.

Forest Fire Prevention

Forest fire prevention is one of the biggest problems confronting Wisconsin today. Assemblyman Blomberg of Price county declared in advocating his bill on the subject before the assembly state affairs committee. No one opposed the bill.

"Prevention and suppression of forest fires is an essential part of our reforestation program," he said. "Thousands of dollars and years of labor spent in rehabilitating our forests can be wiped out in one day as a result of one match carelessly thrown into the brush. Immediate action is imperative."

Mr. Blomberg's bill would empower the conservation commission to establish as many as eight fire protection districts in the state, each to be in charge of a warden or forest ranger. The ranger or warden would be authorized to establish lookout towers, telephone lines and provide tools for fire fighting. The bill would further make any person responsible for the forest fire liable for the damage done, and would require tractors operating in forest sections to be equipped with fire preventive devices.

The senate voted to cut the maximum hours of work for women from 10 hours a day and 55 hours a week to nine hours a day and 50 hours a week, by concurrence in the Olsen bill, already passed by the assembly. The measure now goes to Gov. Blaine.

Gov. John J. Blaine has signed the Warden bill giving five-sixths of a jury in civil cases power to give a verdict. The governor has already signed a bill giving five jurors power to bring a verdict in a jury of six in civil cases.

SESSION SIDELIGHTS

The assembly engrossed without opposition the Miller bill creating the "public education memorial fund" from money paid into the state treasury as inheritance taxes. Interest on the fund would be used to support the public school system. The governor signed the Heck bill, requiring all ex-service men and women to register their discharge from service with the county register of deeds.

The fight against one-man street cars in Milwaukee was carried to the legislature when Senator Hirsch, Milwaukee, Socialist, introduced a bill making operation of one-man cars in Milwaukee unlawful. Senator Hirsch contends that one-man cars increase the accident hazard to passengers and pedestrians.

The house killed the Eber bill for the registration of a certificate of ownership of automobiles with the secretary of state.

Blue Law Laid Jolted by Vote

The Wisconsin assembly voted 61 to 42 to modify the Sunday observance laws to permit "public observance, dancing, sport, game or play." By this action the lower house reversed its stand taken last week against modification of the state blue laws, which have stood undisturbed for three quarters of a century.

The liberal forces held the upper hand on all roll calls, defeating two amendments aimed at restriction of the scope of the Grahn bill, modifying the existing statute. One amendment was adopted which opened the way for legalized dancing and sports.

In urging passage of the bill, Assemblyman F. J. Peterson, Milwaukee, declared the present Sunday observance law was "so generally violated that it tended to bring disrespect for all laws." He declared that "all Sunday legislation is religious legislation and therefore un-Christian and unconstitutional."

Assemblyman A. E. Matheson, Janesville, opposing the bill, warned that if it became a law motion picture houses and persons engaging in sports could expect an attack that would put them out of business. He declared the bill, instead of legalizing diversion, still left the way open for prosecution of persons who accepted pay in engaging in these diversions.

Senate Votes $255,000 Fund

An appropriation of $255,000 annually was voted by the Wisconsin National guard by the senate after attempts to lower the amount and to repeal the guard's continuing appropriation had proved unsuccessful.

After the vote was taken and the measure sent to the assembly, Senator H. J. Severson, Iowa, rose and asked the senate if it knew what it had done. He declared the bill as passed failed to repeal the present continuing appropriation of $600,000 annually and that as a result the grant made by the senate allowed $855,000 annually to the guard.

The senate accepted the Gary amendment to the guard appropriation bill, reinstating the continuing appropriation, and allowing an annual appropriation of $255,000. It then turned down a substitute amendment offered by Senator Schumann, repealing the continuing appropriation and granting $255,000 annually.

The senate action, Senator Severson said, would cause some of the members to "dig gopher holes so that they can crawl out of their positions."

Senator Timothy Burke, Green Bay, said that while he voted for a $255,000 appropriation he had hoped that the present grant of funds would be continued.

Inspector Bill Vetoes

In 1919 the appropriation was fixed at $29,000 for the biennium and that has remained unchanged since, and the board of public affairs recommends that such appropriation should not exceed $20,000 for the biennium," the governor said. Senate Kills Rent Bill

The senate voted on record as opposed to state regulation of rent. With only six members dissenting, it killed the Teasdale bill limiting charges to a profit of 10 per cent on the building investment and operation cost. The bill placed the value of the building at 120 per cent of assessed valuation.

Senator Teasdale declared that with the building boom in the state many more homes are being created, but that in spite of this fact rents are going up.

Teasdale's bill would have subjected landlords to a fine up to $500 and a sentence as long as a year in jail for charging more than enough to give them a 10 per cent profit.

Senator Werden asserted that there is still a housing shortage and that building should be encouraged rather than discouraged.

Amnesty for political prisoners and repeal of the espionage act are asked of President Harding and congress in two joint resolutions concurred in by the Wisconsin assembly. They were previously adopted by the senate. Another senate resolution concurred in would ask congress to submit to the states a constitutional amendment protecting the right of workers to organize and prohibiting legislation and injunctions against labor.

The Miner bill providing for the examination and licensing of chiropractors by a state board was passed to engrossment in the assembly. There was no opposition or debate.

The military formality of stacking rifles will not be a part of the University of Wisconsin military bill this year. It was announced by student leaders, as a result of objections voiced by members of the legislature. A feature of the bill was to have been the stacking of rifles around the rotunda of the capitol.

The Freehoff bill putting teeth in the corrupt election practices act was killed by the assembly without a debate and without a record vote.

The fight against one-man street cars in Milwaukee was carried to the legislature when Senator Hirsch, Milwaukee, Socialist, introduced a bill making operation of one-man cars in Milwaukee unlawful. Senator Hirsch contends that one-man cars increase the accident hazard to passengers and pedestrians.

The house killed the Eber bill for the registration of a certificate of ownership of automobiles with the secretary of state.

FRIENDS SPEAK OF BIG CHANGE

"Tanlac Simply Banished Troubles," Declares Mrs. Fetha.

"I have no stomachache, no headache and energy since taking Tanlac. I can't praise this wonderful medicine too highly," declared Mrs. Anna 1434 1/2 Third Ave., Milwaukee. "I suffered from stomach troubles until I became so run down and my little housework. I was always miserable from nervousness, and I never after eating. My nervousness was so strung I couldn't get a good night's sleep, and splitting headaches and sharp pains across my forehead were a burden of my troubles all the time. "But now I don't remember an ailment ever felt so well. Tanlac has banished all my troubles, and I have regained my health, and I have gained ten pounds. My friends often say I never fail to put in a word for Tanlac. Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute, one million bottles sold.—Advertisement.

covered, and will shoot the first one that moves."

There was but one thing to do, and we all did it. With our hands high in the air, we turned to the doorway to see who the intruder was. He was a tall, heavy-set man, with a round face, holding a revolver in his right hand.

Who could this second man be? For a second I thought it must be some friend of the chauffeur; but one look at his astonished face told me he knew no more who the man was than we did.

The man stood still for a moment before advancing into the vault. It seemed to me that he was startled at finding four of us there. He came to the center of the vault, and stopped, keeping several feet away from us.

"Starting with the man on the right," he said, "come over here, one by one. I am going to search you. No foolishness now; I will kill the first man that starts something."

"My, what a pleasant man," I heard Currie mutter.

The first man on the right happened to be Bartley. He stepped forward, his hands high in the air. I wondered if he would submit quietly to being searched. He allowed the left hand of the man to go over his clothing until it reached the revolver in his pocket; then like a flash he grasped the hand holding the gun at his chest, and gave it such a quick jerk that the weapon fell to the floor. The fight was on. Both Currie and I started to assist him, but Bartley called to us to watch the chauffeur. I picked up the revolver and covered the man.

It was not a long fight, and Bartley soon had his antagonist subdued. As he dragged him to his feet, and began to search him, he stopped with an amused cry. On the man's vest was a little badge.

"Why didn't you tell us you were a detective?" he asked.

The man, his face red with rage, answered, "Why I—should I?"

It took me only a few moments in Bartley's car to reach the woods again; but, when I arrived, I saw two other cars already parked on the roadside, and knew that the police had preceded me.

I found Roche and two of his men in the vault, conferring with Bartley and Black. It had been decided to guard the place until morning, when the whisky could be removed.

When we reached the house, Mrs. Currie came to meet us. At the sight of her husband's black eye, which by this time was very noticeable, and the ruin of Bartley's white suit, she gave a little cry.

"What under heaven has you been doing?" she asked.

Currie gave me a wink. "Looking for whisky," he answered.

He went to a nearby table, took something from each pocket and placed them carefully upon it. He then stood looking down at them proudly.

"A little souvenir of the night's work," he remarked, pointing to two bottles of whisky which he had taken, without our knowing it, from the box that Bartley had opened in the vault.

Mrs. Currie wanted to hear the story of our adventures; and when Bartley recounted what had taken place, I noticed that he expressed no opinion as to what was back of it all.

That was a hard question to answer. We had been through so much, so many apparently unconnected events, that I scarcely knew what to think. Then, too, I knew very little of what had taken place after I had left him at Slyke's, or what new things he had observed there.

I had been wondering all day if he would find any clues of value. I knew what a careful search he must have made, and his statement that he picked up very little of importance surprised me.

Bartley watched me for a moment or two before continuing. Then he told me of his day's work. They had been unable to find the chauffeur either at the garage or anywhere else around the estate. No one had seen him since the butler saw him on the stairs early in the morning.

Bartley had learned also that there was ill feeling between Miss Potter and the chauffeur, and he had questioned her about it. She refused to say what it was, and seemed to consider Bartley's presence as an intrusion. He had secured nothing new from her. When asked if she knew whether Slyke had any enemies who might want to take his life, she replied she did not.

Repeating questioning could not shake her story that the step-daughter Ruth had not been expected home that night, and that she had not known the girl was in the house until we had all heard her voice on the stairs. As the girl carried her own key, she could easily, she said, have returned without her knowing it.

Then there was the dog to be considered. He had slept as usual in the big living room on the night of the crime. The girl's story of his walking to the foot of the stairs with her when she came in, proved that he was there the entire night. Bartley remarked that it was very strange that the dog should have made no sound.

Paterson's Really Brilliant Idea for Deceiving His Very Much "Better Half."

Old Paterson had been seen home by his friend at a very late hour on the previous night; they had both been to a dinner or they might have had very important business that had detained them to a late hour, but that does not matter. They had arrived home late; that had been the unpleasant point at the time.

Chic Knitted Sports Togs; Show Charm and Dignity

When one a-vacationing goes, it is part of the play to brighten the landscape with vividly gay sports togs. Here is where the knitted arts bear forth in triumphant display. For that matter, "knitted" is a vastly important word these days throughout the entire category of dress. From formal to informal attire the knitted arts are supplying the demand in a resourceful way which challenges admiration.

Matched Sets Acme of Knitted Artistry.

Glance faillie silk, toning from purple hues to golden, is the foundational material covering this chic bonnet-turban. The grapes reflect nature's true colorings from light to dark in-terspersed with frosted green effects.

This picturesque ensemble of sweater, hat and scarf is carried out in gay Italian colors, and one of its chief style points is that it is of brushed wool, for shaggy effects are very fashionable just now.

Group of Charming Hats.

Turbans of gold lace cloth are wrapped tightly about the head and left unadorned save for a buckle or a knot of the material. The smart effect to give is that of an oriental turban which is wound before each wearing.

Orchid Downs. Judging by the displays, orchid gowns will be popular for the bridesmaids and tulle seems to be a favorite fabric. An attractive model in mountain haze (the new orchid shade) is of georgette. It is made up with draped sleeves and side panels over a tucked skirt.

On New Hats. Ribbon is probably the most favored trimming for spring hats. It is used for bindings, cockades and bows.

The Kitchen Cabinet

Somehow, in poetry, as nowhere else, there flows along, side by side with words skilfully used, a current that carries us beyond the intrinsic value of the sense.

GOOD HEALTH FOODS

Use the whole wheat fresh from the granary when obtainable, soak overnight and simmer until each kernel is cracked and surrounded with cooked starch.

Oran Muffins.—The alimentary tract needs a good brushing occasionally to cleanse it and to stimulate the action of the digestive juices.

Onion Chowder.—Peel six or eight large onions, slice very thin and cook in four tablespoonsful of melted butter or pork fat until a light yellow.

Cabbage Salad.—Shred cabbage to make one and one-half cupfuls. Soak in cold water for half an hour, drain and salt well.

Maple Trees. Fortunate indeed are they who may have their own maple trees, as the price on the market is largely prohibitive to the ordinary pocketbook.

Orange Cookies.—Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar and the grated rind of an orange.

Ripe Olive Salad.—Take one package of cream cheese, break with a fork and mix with two tablespoonfuls of orange juice; when soft enough to mold add ten ripe olives cut very fine and mold the mixture into small balls; roll these in minced parsley and arrange on lettuce. Serve with French dressing.

French String Beans.—Use either fresh or canned beans. Melt one tablespoonful of sweet lard and add one-half of a clove of garlic, cut in wafer-like slices. Cook for five minutes, remove from the fat, mixing all together. Serve very hot.

Gypsy Stew.—Prepare and cook together young onions, small new potatoes, carrots and green peas. Fry a slice of salt pork, diced, add to the mixture when cooked, and milk and seasoning to taste. Serve as a vegetable.

Various Uses of Honey. Honey can be used safely in diseases where other sweets are interdicted. In diabetes honey and saccharine replace other sweets.

Small Boy's Idea. A juvenile companion, having observed the corner stone of a public building inscribed "A. D. 1812," made the statement, "I suppose that means 'All done, 1812.'"

Buy It Either Way Tablets or Liquid PE-RU-NA A Great Medicine

Mrs. M. J. Riley, R. R. No. 1, Box 101, Calvert, Texas, writes: "I have used Pe-ru-na and know it is good for colds, coughs and catarrh. It cured my children and no one else when I use Pe-ru-na. It is a great medicine."

During the last fifty years, Pe-ru-na has been looked upon as the reliable medicine for catarrh of every description, whether it be of the nose and throat, stomach, bowels or other organs.

By keeping Pe-ru-na in the house for emergencies, serious sickness may frequently be prevented. Use after the grip or influenza.

C. St. P. M. & O. Ry.

STATEMENT

To Its Patrons:—The railroads are a part of every farmer's farm, every manufacturer's factory, every merchant's store, and, indeed, they constitute a vital part of every industry.

¶ In view, therefore, of the announced purpose of a few men in public life to continue to use railroads as easy vehicles to political preferment, it is apparent that every farmer, manufacturer, merchant, and, indeed, every thoughtful person everywhere should devote some time to a study of railroad problems.

¶ It is likewise apparent that the railroads should lend all assistance possible to those willing and, as we believe, anxious to learn the true facts.

¶ Therefore, it is the purpose of the Chicago and North Western Railway Company to present, through the local press in communities in which it operates, statements from time to time bearing upon the particular railway problems in which our patrons and the public are vitally interested.

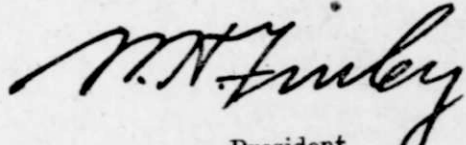

¶ This Company wants to continue to be a helpful factor in the material and social progress of every community that it serves. It wants to render the best possible service at the lowest rates consistent with fair compensation for its employes and a reasonable return upon its investment.

¶ To this end it is essential that the Railway Company and its patrons undertake, in a spirit of mutual helpfulness, to arrive at a better understanding of the fundamental facts underlying the problems which pertain to railway maintenance, operation and financing.

¶ We believe that the outstanding and predominating characteristic of the average American citizen is his love of justice and fair play. That if the public be kept advised of the true facts, the railroads have nothing to fear from public regulation.

¶ We therefore ask the readers of THE STATESMAN to study the statements which this Company will publish in future issues. We invite constructive suggestions and earnestly urge a study of railway problems uninfluenced by political prejudices.

¶ The railroads constitute the greatest industry in America, and indeed in the world, outside of agriculture. This is true not only because of their common carrier functions but also because they are the largest employers of workers—both skilled and unskilled—and the largest purchasers of supplies and materials. Their success or failure is of vital concern to all.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that sealed bids and proposals will be received by the Board of Education of Joint School District No. 5 of the Village and Town of Kewaskum, up to and including the 22nd day of May 1923, at 1:30 P. M., for the furnishing of all materials and doing all work necessary and required in the construction of a High School Building, to be located at Kewaskum, Wis., according to the accompanying plans, elevations and details drawings as furnished by the architects and superintendents, Robert A. Messmer & Brother, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

The following branches of work are to be figured:—

Excavation, Concrete, Cement and Mason Work, Cut Stone Work, Lathing and Plastering Work; Steel and Cast Iron Work; Carpenter and Joiner's Work; Terrazzo, Marble & Slate Work; Galvanized Iron and Tin Work; Painting Work; Electrical Work; Temperature Regulation; and Heating Work.

The successful bidders will be required to furnish a Surety Company bond in a sum not less than the total contract price. The form of bond will be such as the Board of Education may approve and determine.

Separate and General Proposals will be accepted.

No bid or proposal will be considered from any person, concern or otherwise, which is not operating under the so called Compensation Law of the State of Wisconsin.

The successful bidder will be required to carry and pay for all insurance required in this contract, upon the work and building, and likewise carry and pay for such Liability Insurance as is required and approved by the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin, and such additional Liability Insurance as in the opinion of the Board of Education will fully and completely protect it from any and all nature of liability by reason of said work and contract.

Plans and specifications for said work will be on file at the office of Robert A. Messmer & Bro., architects and superintendents 1005-Majestic Bldg., and the Builders and Traders Exchange, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Each bid and proposal must be accompanied by cash or a certified check in the sum of 5 per cent of the total bid, and each bidder in so presenting with his bid and proposal such cash or check, does so upon the express understanding that if his said bid and proposal be accepted, he will, upon notice from the said Board of Education, forthwith execute contract and bond thereto attached and in this notice herein before described; and in the event of his failure to do so, that the sum of the cash so deposited is then to be forfeited and becomes the property of said Board of Education and by it retained as damages for such break and failure.

Bids and proposals will be sealed and addressed to "Board of Education, City of Kewaskum", and there shall appear upon the envelope of each bid and proposal the name and address of the bidder.

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any and all bids, or form any combination of bids which they may see fit.

Dated this 23rd day of April, A. D. 1923.

Board of Education,

Signed:

F. L. Morgenroth, Director,
L. D. Guth, Clerk,
A. W. Koch, Treasurer.

Are You Budding?

"All the world's a stage and life's a show," runs a paraphrase of Shakespeare's famous line.

Life is a show and a show-off.

There are two lines from a famous vaudeville recitation that read:

"A front, a bluff and a little paint
And the world will think you're what you aint."

It is time now for everybody to doll-up, dress-up—time for "a little paint"—time to emulate Nature, to be resplendent, beautiful.

If the merchants who supply you with things to beautify you and your surroundings are not represented today in the advertising pages of this newspaper they ought to be.

And if represented here you ought to read their announcements and patronize them.

Gas From Food

Presses on Heart

If food does not digest it turns into poisons which form gas. This often presses on heart and other organs causing a nervous, restless feeling. Simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as used in Adlerika, removes foul, decaying food-matter you never thought was in your system which caused gas and pressure on heart. Adlerika expels poisons and gas from BOTH upper and lower bowel. EXCELLENT to guard against appendicitis.—Edw. C. Miller, Kewaskum, Wis.—Advertisement.
