FIELD DAY A GRAND SUCCESS

The second Wisconsin Dairymen's Field Day held on the Schroeder farm near West Bend, last Saturday was a grand success, one which will long be remembered by those in attendance. It is estimated that about 6000 people were present, coming from all over the state of Wisconsin and United States. The entertainment of the day consisted of band concerts, music was furnished by the Fond du Lac Military band, base ball for the children and other games. From two o'clock on several interesting speeches were delivered by prominent speakers. Jerry Rioson of Mayville, the chairman of the executive committee for the Field Day presided. Other speakers of the day who spoke very favorably of the great progress that has been made in the dairy industry of Wisconsin, were Prof. G. A. Humphrey of Madison, Burt Williams of Milwaukee, W. B. Barney of Iowa, Commissioner of Agriculture John J. Jones, Jr. and Chas. Hill of Rosendale. The State Board of Health had an exhibit on the grounds, consisting of miniature models of farms, showing the filthy old barn and ramshackle house, and the modern barn and farm house.

NEW FANE DEFEATS NEWBURG

New Fane's baseball team defeated Newburg Sunday in one of the hardest fought games ever staged in the latter village by a score of 8 to 3. It took eleven innings to decide the battle. Fred Schramm, pitching for the winners, fanned 15 men and allowed only six hits. Foley, losing hurler, struck out 14, gave six hits and five bases on balls. Stutz, who relieved Foley in the ninth, struck out one and was nicked for six hits. Newburg scored its run in the second inning with four singles and two errors by Wickert. New Fane did not score until the eighth when Wickert scored after stealing two bases. After two were out in the ninth Wickert hit a home run with Ramthun on base, tying the score. The game was won in the eleventh when, with the bases full, Schramm unloaded a three base hit, which was followed by a double and two singles for five runs. Next Sunday New Fane will travel to St. Kilian to play the team of that place.

Another June Wedding

REV. F. GREVE, WHO HAS HELD PASTORATE OF EV. LUTH. ST. LUCAS CHURCH FOR THIRTY-NINE YEARS, RESIGNS

The members of the Evangelical St. Lucas congregation, as well as the citizens of this village and vicinity were sorry to learn that Rev. F. Greve, pastor of the church for the past thirty-nine years had tendered his resignation as pastor of the congregation, last Sunday. The resignation will take effect as soon as another minister has been installed to fulfill his place. The resignation as presented by the pastor reads as follows:

silver tray bearing the initials of the choir, the donors of the tray, and the name of their director, Rev. Greve. The silver dollars presented by the members of the congregation and the tray plainly showed the high esteem and respect in which the Reverend is held by his flock. On September 3rd, in the same year, Rev. and Mrs. Greve had the occasion of celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary, at which time they were again presented with many valuable gifts, not only by the congregation, but by other citizens as well.

Through consistent work, and the continual growth of membership, the church in which he was ordained became crowded, and in 1913, a large new modern church was erected which is not only a credit to the congregation but to the village and community as well. The new structure, a brick building cost $16,000. The remarkable low figures at which this church was built was mainly due to the fact that all of the members assisted in building same without compensation. On February 1st, 1914, the new church was dedicated.

Rev. Greve states that he and his wife are planning to leave for Minnesota, after a new minister has been installed. It is with regret that we learn of their intentions of leaving this village. For they were good citizens, not only working for the welfare of the congregation, but for the benefit of the upbuilding of the community in which they lived.

He was born at Schneveringen, Hanover, Germany on the 24th day of December 1860. His early education was received in the "Volkshule" of Hansalbin. In 1877, he came to America and entered the Northwestern University at Watertown, Wisconsin, where he studied diligently for five years. In 1882 he entered the Theological Seminary of the Ev. Lutheran Synode of Wisconsin and other states which at that time was located at Milwaukee. After finishing this course he, in August 1884 accepted the position as pastor of the local church and on January 11th, 1885, was ordained pastor of the congregation, by five years.

Further hearings in the case of Henry Leisner, who claims he went bankrupt as a result of transactions of Froehlich, was postponed until July 10.

In 1902, the congregation together with the venerable pastor celebrated the 25th anniversary of the organization of the church, and on January 11th, 1910, he celebrated the 25th anniversary of his ordination and installation as pastor of the local church, at which time he was presented with a large number of silver dollars which were kept up on a beautiful

HIGHWAY 15 SCENE OF WILD ORGY

Automobile mishaps of any other mishaps, when caused by accident, are had enough when they occur, causing serious injury and possible death; but when a person seemingly takes it on to himself to woefully and willfully seek revenge by using his car to inflict great bodily harm, or to damage another person's car by evidently using his machine as a weapon, we think it is time that the law steps in and inflicts severe punishment, by revoking that individual's license, and once and for all time settle the question of his ever being able to operate another car. An incident of this kind apparently occurred on State Trunk Highway 15, this week, when John Thomas, South Milwaukee, performed the stunt. The Fond du Lac Commonwealth of Wednesday's issue gives the following account of same:

ROADWORK ON HIGHWAY 55 IN FOND DU LAC COUNTY

The Lampert Construction Company is setting along fairly good with their work in concreting highway 55, in Fond du Lac Co. Three-quarters of a mile has been paved and about three miles of grading has been finished ahead of the paver near Waucousta, south to a point where the Schaefer & Brogan Construction Co. started concreting last year. The work has been held up on account of hauling difficulties over a very hilly road.

The first repair work to be done on Highway 55, Fond du Lac county, was started at the bridge located at Flood's corner north of Eden, where two blocks of paving had to be torn out at each side of the bridge, and additional crushed stone dumped at the approaches to bring the pavement up to the desired level. This being a relocation of the road, a new bridge with fourteen foot abutments was built along the line of the new location. The fill at both sides of the bridge gave away allowing the two sections of pavement nearest the bridge to sag to a depth of three inches. This made quite a pronounced bump at the bridge approaches.

Money which had been withheld from the final settlement with the Froemming Construction Company, is now being used to make the repairs.

DEATH OF MARY HOUSER

At 9:30 A. M. Tuesday, June 19, 1923, at the St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, occurred the death of Miss Mary Houser, after an illness of two weeks with an abscess. Deceased was born December 17, 1848, at Oconto, where she resided until about fifteen years ago, when she came to New Fane, her present home. She leaves to mourn, her grief stricken mother, Mrs. L. Houser, one brother Lewis at home, and one sister, Mrs. Joseph Weiler of the town of Scott, and a number of other relatives. The body was shipped to this village on the 2:30 train on Wednesday afternoon, from where it was transferred via auto to hearse to the Houser home at New Fane, where the remains laid in state until Friday, when the funeral was held at one o'clock in the afternoon, from the residence, with services in the St. John's Lutheran church. Rev. C. J. Gutekunst officiated. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery.

NOW IS THE TIME TO DO YOUR SPRAYING

The third application of liquid lime sulphur and powdered lead arsenate should be made some time between now and June 30. Use 14 gal. of liquid lime sulphur, 14 lbs. lead arsenate to 50 gal. of water, this being the same formula used in the first two foliage sprays. If dry lime sulphur is used instead of the liquid form use 3 1/2 lbs. to 50 gal. of water.

This spray application serves to control the cooling moth larvae, now hatching and the curculio beetle which is very busy at this time. Canker worms may also be present and, if so, will get their dose of arsenate of lead.

The scab spores which are still spreading and causing the infection and disfigurement of the fruit and leaves are destroyed by the lime sulphur.

Spray apple, pear, cherry, plums, currants and gooseberries at this time. Every square inch of fruit and leaf surface must be thoroughly covered with the spray solution.

According to statements made by relatives, Mr. Pautsch has had a number of accidents during the last fifteen years, such as auto smashes, runaways, about a year ago he was struck by a train near Waupun. Three months ago, Arnold, a son was caught under a falling tree and his left leg had to be amputated.

FARMER KILLED BY TRACTOR

At about 7 p. m., last Friday, Herman Pautsch, 45 years old, was fatally injured when he was caught under a tractor which tipped on him. The accident occurred at the Wm. Rehwinkel farm, near the Pautsch place in the town of Chester, Dodge county, where he was assisting in harvesting hay and was driving a tractor, when, without warning, the machine suddenly turned over backwards and fell on Mr. Pautsch. Other men who were working nearby rushed to the scene of the accident and with the aid of timbers raised it sufficiently to get the unfortunate man from under it. Mr. Pautsch staggered to his feet and walked toward the Rehwinkel house, where he reached the steps of the home he collapsed. He was immediately rushed to the hospital at Fond du Lac where he died. Mr. Pautsch leaves to mourn his wife and eleven children.

KILLED NEAR THERESA

While on their way from Milwaukee to visit with the Silverstein family at Lomira, a Ford which was occupied by Max Geller, Frank Gillman, Sam Karb and Miss Lenore Geller of Milwaukee and Miss Fanny Silverstein of Lomira, crashed into a stone fence two miles south of Theresa on Sunday afternoon. Max Geller, 18 years old, suffered a fractured skull and broken jaw and other injuries when he was thrown from the back seat on a pile of rocks. He was picked up unconscious and rushed to the hospital at Fond du Lac, where he died without regaining consciousness. Gillman's left hand was badly crushed and cut when it was jammed between the steering gear and the body of the car. Sam Karb, Lenore Geller, a sister of the dead man, and Fannie Silverstein, were unhurt. Karl sitting in the rear seat, was thrown through the wind shield.

Out of the Darkness

"You do?" I asked.
He answered slowly: "Yes. That was easy enough to discover. But to prove it before a jury will be almost impossible."
Just then the train came in and he said no more. On my way back to the house I pondered deeply over his last remark, but could find no clue to his meaning.

CHAPTER XII
In which the Robbery is Solved.
I had intended to spend the next morning in either fishing or playing golf, but I had left in such a hurry that I had given me no instructions as to what I was to do in his absence. When I awoke I found a telegram from Mr. Slyke. I knew it was from him. He had written twice, "You will hear from me," and I know I will. I am going to get a good night's sleep and see what he wants to communicate to me."
To my surprise Bartley listened gravely almost reverently. When he had finished he said he knew of a very good case and would try to arrange for him to come to the house for a session if she desired. This proposal pleased Miss Potter very much, and she accepted at once. She told us that many people in Saratoga believed in spiritualism, including Doctor King. For a while they discussed various manifestations, and I listened to Bartley in astonishment, as he told of receiving messages from the dead, for I knew he did not believe in them.

We were interrupted by a knock, and the butler entered with a telegram for Bartley. It had been sent from the house at Saratoga. Bartley took it and read it. "There seems to be no news from my family to be glad of," he said. "The little difficulty between Mr. Potter and Slyke does not seem to have been found and all the papers are accounted for. His lawyer, however, discovered a large sum of money in the safe when it was opened. Then he proceeded down to the car and he had directed the boy to follow us to Slyke's."

The Boy I Wanted to See Slouched Out From a Back Room.

When we entered the car and started down the road, I said that I did not suppose she knew anything about the $200,000 whisky deal. His answer was as quick as a flash: "I never thought she did. The strange thing is that in the safe, after his death, his lawyer should find $100,000 and that he should have made a deposit of $100,000 that same afternoon."

With grave face Bartley took the telegram from my hand, and reread it; then he asked Miss Potter if Slyke had had a visitor the afternoon before his death. She said she did not know whether he had or not, as she had been away most of the afternoon. After a few more questions, we bade her good-night. In the doorway Bartley paused to say something to her, in so low a tone that I could not catch his words; but I did hear her eager answering "Yes."

As we climbed into the car and started down the road, I said that I did not suppose she knew anything about the $200,000 whisky deal. His answer was as quick as a flash: "I never thought she did. The strange thing is that in the safe, after his death, his lawyer should find $100,000 and that he should have made a deposit of $100,000 that same afternoon."

Moscow, June 18.—Thousands have perished in repeated earthquake shocks in the mountainous district of north-west Persia, according to information received by the Persian embassy here. The dead are already known to exceed 6,000.

Details received show a picture like that of Messina on a small scale. Five prosperous villages were perched on the hillside overlooking a fertile valley north of the town of Torbat. Shortly after midnight, while the population was sleeping in rough cottages of un-mortared stones, the first shock suddenly brought roofs down on their heads.

The second shock, severer than the first, hurled the whole plateau, on which the village rested, off the mountainside down with an appalling crash. Of 3,000 persons peacefully sleeping ten minutes before, not one survived, and their remains are buried under millions of tons of rocks.

Paved Yards Save Feed and Labor

Floor Is Sanitary and Does Away With Unsightly Mud Holes in Barnyards.

No farm is complete without a concrete feeding floor as part of its equipment. It is hard to estimate the amount of feed that has been lost and wasted through being fed in the mud. A paved feeding floor is sanitary and does away with the unsightly mudholes so common to barnyards.

Easy to Build.
Concrete barnyard pavements, as shown in the illustration, are easy to build, and the man who has never had experience with concrete can acquire what is necessary in a short time by carefully following a few instructions. Not all of the pavement need be built at one time. A strip 20 feet wide is enough for a beginning. Additional strips can be added as desired.

Plan for Paving

In paving a feeding yard with concrete, first grade the site so that it is practically level. If the drainage is not good, drain tile should be laid. A sub-base of several inches of gravel or cinders is sometimes advantageous. The concrete should be mixed in the proportion of 1 part of cement, 2 parts of sand and 3 of pebbles or broken stone. A thickness of four inches is the allowable minimum and five or six inches is safer, especially where heavy loads are likely to be put on the floor. The surface should be made to slope toward one corner, with a pitch of not more than one-fourth inch per foot, and it should be finished with a wood-float, which leaves a gritty surface that can be easily cleaned, yet affords a firm footing for the stock. After the concrete has been laid it should not be used for at least two or three weeks.

The following table shows the amount of materials required to build pavements of various areas, using one-two-three mix and a thickness of four inches:

Square Ft.	Sacks of Cem.	Yds. Cub. S.	Yds. Cub. G.
300	28	2	3
600	56	4	6
900	84	6	9
1,200	112	8	12
1,500	140	10	15

Sweet Corn Is Superior for Feeding in Summer

In making plans for summer feeding, the value of sugar corn should not be overlooked. In certain dairy sections where its worth is recognized, it is not unusual to find almost every dairyman planting a moderate-sized patch with which to meet the mid-summer period when pasturage is short and green feed at a premium.

In the choice of the variety to plant it is well to choose the later maturing sorts such as Country Gentleman and Evergreen. The earlier varieties will mature as a rule before there is real need for them in dairy feeding. The earlier varieties of sweet corn are lacking in stalk and leaf as compared with the larger and later sorts.

Fowls in Orchard Kill Many Injurious Insects

Any fruit which grows high enough to be out of reach of the hens is benefited by their presence. Better crops are produced and greater growth is in evidence. Some years ago Cornell university made a test which showed very conclusively that the presence of chickens in an orchard did more good towards killing injurious insects than all the liquid sprays that could be applied.

Little Improvement in Quality of Seed Helps

It has been estimated that more than 14,000,000 pounds of seeds, exclusive of seed potatoes, seed sugar cane, and other vegetative planting stocks, are sown or planted annually in this country. Even a small improvement in the quality of seed planting would result in larger crops at little or no additional expense or in the same production on a smaller acreage.

Ducks and Geese Are Not Susceptible to Cholera

Cholera is a disease which attacks turkeys, ducks, geese and chickens, and it is the same specific germ in each case. However, ducks and geese are not very susceptible to this disease and it is not likely that they would become affected. A few hours of sunshine will destroy the germs and thus diminish the possibility of infection.

Consider Farmer First in Establishing Routes

When establishing routes for good roads, the interest of the farmers is the first thing that should be taken into account. As it is over them that all that goes to clothe and feed the hungry, unartful world must be transported, let the slogan of roads be "Farmers First."

Cucumber Beetle Will Injure Garden Crops

Pests Make Their Appearance Suddenly.

This striped cucumber beetle attacks and injures seedling cucumbers, melons and related crops, but especially the cucumber, as it is the most common. They even burrow down to injure them before they come above the ground. They devour the tender stems and leaves before the plant is fairly started, and the older stems and leaves are eaten as they are carried to succulent diseases. They make their appearance suddenly and in great numbers, and as they work rapidly an entire crop may be destroyed in a few days. The slender white worm-like larvae injure the plants later in the season by tunnelling the roots and underground parts of the stems.

The control measures which have given the greatest promise of success are preventives, repellents, farm practice, and the use of insecticides, particularly nicotine dust and arsenate of lead.

In spraying, special measures, the department commends that young and delicate plants in small gardens be protected with tight coverings. If an excess of seed is planted, the attack will be distributed, and some of the plants will escape the beetles. Nicotine dust should be applied directly and arsenate of lead used as a spray, either alone or in combination with bordeaux mixture. Care should be taken to cover every portion of infested plants, both surfaces of leaves, vines and stems. Clean culture with trap plants is an aid. Active co-operation of neighboring growers of cucumbers in these methods is desirable. Community effort in observing these methods will undoubtedly lessen the danger of losses from this pest in the course of time.

"Yellowing" Cuts Deeply Into Alfalfa Production

"Yellowing" is one of the most serious troubles of the alfalfa grower. In the East, says the United States Department of Agriculture, it is responsible for a greater reduction in yield every year than any of the diseases or insects. In the past few years it has been observed in the West, but in the rest of the country it has been known almost as long as the crop has been grown on a commercial scale.

Although the cause of "yellowing" has never been definitely determined, it has been attributed to a number of unfavorable conditions. In some cases it has been thought that soil conditions were responsible, as the same symptoms occur in the absence of sufficient lime, plant food, or drainage. But it also occurs where all these conditions are favorable, as is shown by the quick recovery of the plants after the old growth has been cut. When the cause is lack of lime, food, or drainage the plants die soon after cutting.

The treatment recommended for "yellowing" is cutting of the fields regardless of the stage of development of the plants. The new growth generally comes along normally.

Fall Calving Desirable on Many Dairy Farms

Under most conditions on the dairy farm, says the Department of Agriculture, fall calving is desirable. The calf receives milk for the first few months of its life, and when it is ready to be weaned from this food good succulent pasture is available. During the winter it has learned to eat grain and roughage while it has been getting whole milk, skim milk, or milk substitutes, and when grass comes it can make the change without getting a setback. There is another advantage in fall calving, as the cow gives the largest flow of milk at the season when prices are usually the highest. Also calves are at the right age so that if well developed they may be bred to calve in the fall. From the standpoint of profits on milk, local conditions, such as cost of feed and price of milk in different seasons, should have consideration.

Without Good Pasture Hogs Are Unprofitable

All through the summer season hogs should have access to pasture. Sows with pigs cannot do their best in small, dry enclosures, and they will not be profitable when so confined. "It is natural for hogs to exercise in fields, root in the ground and choose their ration from the variety of plants to which they have access," says R. W. Clark of the Colorado Agricultural college. Man cannot furnish a ration comparable to pasture in all other respects. A pasture is the first thing that should be provided in pork production and pigs should have constant access to it from the time they are born until disposed of.

Horses' Shoulders Need Bathing in Salt Water

Since the power of a horse is applied through the collar, it is of utmost importance that the collar should fit the neck and shoulders. Carelessness in using badly-fitting collars not only develops sores, and ugly scars, but many times causes horses to become balky. Horses' shoulders should be bathed in salt water every evening, in order to harden them.

Odd Crop Repellent

Somebody suggests using tobacco dust on turreted corn as a crop repellent. It surely ought to dry the seed. The first dose of tobacco will make about anyone sick. Would the crows come back for another—as humans do?

Start Thinning Beets

Start thinning beets as soon as they are up. You can't plant beet seed thinly. They will always come up in bunches. Leave them six inches apart.

PLYMOUTH SELF-FEED ENSILAGE CUTTERS

"Plymouth" Feed Cutters are the result of twenty-five years' experience and practical study of conditions and needs in the farm and dairy field. They embrace every advantage known to other similar machines, and many vital features which are original with us and can be had only on the "Plymouth Self Feed." Below are some mighty strong points for you to think about before you buy a feed cutter.

Automatic Self-Feed—This feature consists of a traveling feed chain, made of heavy iron and recently riveted to a chain which passes over the lower feed roller. Throw the fodder into the feed box and the "Plymouth" does the rest.

Damage-Proof Self-Feed Rollers—Here's another strong feature original with the "Plymouth." It consists of four large rollers of cast iron. The traveling feed chain passes over the front roller, just passing the lower front roller, which is six inches in diameter, and smooth. The two upper and lower hind rollers are ribbed. The 8-inch automatic roller at the top, to the special feature of the "Plymouth." It acts as a lever or weight to keep the fodder passing continuously, depending on its own gravity to keep the material going through without a hitch. Two coil springs serve to exert an even and steady pressure on the automatic roller as the volume of fodder increases in going through. The spring feature is entirely automatic and is only to be had in the "Plymouth." It absolutely prevents clogging.

Embarrassing Moment. Embarrassing is an inadequate way to describe the soul-freezing sixty seconds in which I realized that I—a respectable citizen and mother of a freshman and junior (thank heaven, they will never know)—was dreaming that I actually was sitting in my accustomed pew at church, my head reverently bowed in prayer and my eyes slowly, surely convincing me that under my correct suit jacket there was no companion skirt. Just one of those staple black screens—that fatal ring of the phone as I was dressing—that lasty grabbing afterward of jacket, hat and Bible. Merciful heavens! I can no longer dwell upon those harrowing moments. I realize now why the heroes of battles will not recall its horrors.—Chicago American.

AT CROSS ROADS

CROSS roads are dangerous places. In the Great War allied and German soldiers alike shunned all points where roads crossed. When a motor truck or an ambulance or an ambulance wagon neared such a point, the driver put on full speed and rushed past in the direction he had decided to follow.

There was no hesitating and wavering, backing and filling. This was because it was just about as dangerous to stand at a crossroads on a railroad track as it is to stand on a railroad track. If you stood long enough at the crossroads a shell would hit you. If you stood long enough on a railroad track a train would hit you.

The cross roads of life are just as dangerous as were the cross roads in Flanders and France.

When you come to a parting of the ways, make up your mind quickly which is the right way to go, and go. Sooner or later you will come to a situation where you can save yourself a lot of trouble by departing from your usual rule of truthfulness and telling a lie.

That is a cross road.
If you linger at it, wondering which way to turn, vacillating between the two courses, the chances are greater that you will take the wrong road—the road of the lie.

Your first impulse will be to take the course of truth. You will know it is the right road. Don't stand at the crossroads. Go full speed down the route you know is the right one. Next time you come to a crossroads with the same signs displayed, it will be easier to keep right on going.

And if you select the road of truth you will come to fewer puzzling corners than you will on the road to lies. It will be much easier to stay on the right road than to get back to it. Sometimes it is impossible to get back. The same thing will be true of every road parting which you encounter. To linger there will be dangerous. To wobble back and forth between the two routes will mean that you are liable to be engulfed in a disastrous chain of circumstances before you have made your move. It is just like the soldier who stands at the crossroads until a shell scorching him out and its explosion destroys him.

The armies shelled all cross roads at frequent intervals because they knew that somebody was likely to be there, either because of congested traffic or because of indecision as to which way to go.

Chief among your enemies are your own weaknesses and habits. They will deliberately attack you while you are at the parting of the ways.

Do not linger there.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"PICNIC"
DURING the early years of the past century it was customary for those who were invited to an outdoor entertainment to bring their own refreshments. A list of what was considered necessary would be made out and passed around among the guests, and each person would agree to furnish a certain portion of the repast, the name of each article being then crossed, or ticked, off the list. For this reason, this form of what the French refer to as fete champetre became known as a "pick-and-tick," referring to the selection or picking of the various articles and the crossing them off upon the card, and, through the usual contraction, the central word was dropped and the term shortened to "picnic."

Though this word does not appear to have been used prior to 1802, outdoor entertainments of this nature were common during the two centuries which preceded. Malinwaring, in a letter dated November 22, 1613, describes a birthday party for the Prince of Wales, at which "every man did bring his dish of meat." "Sir George Young's invention," adds the writer, "was four huge brawny pigs, piping hot and harness'd with ropes of sausages, all tied in a monstrous bag pudding."

SCHOOL DAYS

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

DISCONTENT
THERE are those who are continually complaining about some mysterious power which is holding them back. They begin to grumble at the breakfast table and keep airing their discontent until night, when their mood changes and they don their best clothes and hurry away for their customary frolic.

These are the individuals who pile upon the backs of humanity its heaviest burdens of unhappiness. They are always out of step, lagging behind, contentious, gruff-voiced and ill-humored.

They would like to sit in the high places, give orders, read the law of department to subordinates, but they lack the spirit to make themselves capable, so they keep scuffling along their gloomy way and acquiring bearish dispositions.

It involves too much work, too many deprivations of things which they consider essential to their body-comfort, so they loiter along through the best years of their life, envious, unruled and wretched.

When the awakening comes, as it eventually does, they find themselves so enslaved to pernicious habits that they are powerless to break away. Their customary diversions have lost their lure. Old associates with whom they idled their precious years have disappeared. There is nothing ahead but blankness and emptiness.

Study and books are a bore. Anything that calls for thought or fixed attention of the mind cannot be endured. They never meditate, never reach out for the great, glorious ideals which have been hovering around them all their life, begging recognition and acceptance.

If you would not be among these hapless souls when the shadows begin to lengthen, seek while you are yet in the flower of youth to improve yourself. Make the start today.

You cannot hope to achieve and attain except by hard work, long solitary hours of study and constructive reflections.

At the top there is boundless room for the faithful. The air is large and free and inspiring. The world is calling for creative thinkers, offering them their richest treasures and highest honors. Heed the call while youth flushes your cheek. Press forward, keep going and help yourself.

SEA MOSS AND ITS USES
SEA moss or carrageen is not well enough known to any but our New England friends, who have used and enjoyed it for years. The whitish seaweed which has the pleasant tang of salt water may be gathered freely on the coast or may be purchased at stores in various places. A pound goes a long way as a substitute for gelatin, sago and rennet.

Of course in its preparation it should be carefully washed in several waters, until every individual piece is clean. Tie the moss in a piece of cheesecloth or put into a small bag, drop it into the milk and cook for a half hour, or until the sea moss is well softened. Remove the moss, add such flavoring as desired with sugar to sweeten. A good flavor is orange, almond or caramel, while honey is also good; a plain unflavored blanc mange served with maple syrup is especially delicious. A bit of salt, a few chopped almonds with almond extract makes a dainty dessert.

Peach Pudding
Add one-third of a cupful of sea moss to one quart of milk and cook for half an hour in a double boiler. If fresh peaches are to be used add two or three crushed peach kernels to the milk or three peach leaves. Strain and partly cool, add one stiffly-beaten egg white, four tablespoonfuls of coconut, a little salt and one-fourth of a cupful of peach jam. If fresh peaches are used add sugar to sweeten and heap the sliced peaches in the center of a dish, cover with marshmallow cream or whipped cream and surround with the blanc mange.

PLAITS IN SHEER FABRICS; CLEVER COSTUME JEWELRY

GETTING designers have the knack of giving you some outstanding item in decorative style and using it with originality and superb effect. The exercise of this happy faculty appears in the simple and pretty frock for summer afternoons shown here, in which plaits have been made the most of. Fashion just now is engrossed with plaits.

The simple, youthful and altogether delightful frock pictured is made of blue and white printed voile, and combs, bracelets, brooches and girdles play a part in the ensemble.

Costume jewelry, not being made of precious metals and stones, is inexpensive and must be worn with discretion, or two pieces at a time. Many materials are used for making the daintiness in workmanship with enchanting color and sparkle, give it real value.

Earrings were neglected for many years but since their revival, the mode one who sews will find it easy to copy—once the plaiting is done. Unless one owns a plaiting machine this work is taken to a professional who has one. Two wide ribbons are sewed to a plain straight undershirt and the bodice fastenings of the plaited top onto a plain yoke. This yoke and the frills about the armholes, are bound with a bias fold of velvet in blue, like the darkest shade in the fabric. A girle, cut on the bias of the goods, is also bound with velvet and finished with a rosette. The bodice is joined to a guimpe of Italian cutwork, in fine ba-

In them has gone to extremes. The designs are borrowed from the jewelry of all periods and countries and include barbaric splendors. Very long pendants are in style and antiquies find themselves the last word in elegance. The happy possessor of old-fashioned jewelry now wears it with great satisfaction and copyists make replicas of it in mock jewels.

and all colors represented in transparent glass and in opaque beads. Combs in all colors and in many shapes and sizes are made of translucent celluloid and studded with colored stones or rhinestones; a novel pattern appears in the picture imitating tortoise shell set with rhinestones. Bracelets of glass provide another means for punctuating the costume with a point of brilliance and color.

Just now women—rich and otherwise—are reveling in the vogue for costume jewelry, accessories chosen with respect to color and design and intended to finish off the toilette. These finishing touches are even more fascinating than mere clothes. Necklaces and earrings lead in demand, but Breakfast Nook Seats.

Breakfast nooks are a great invention. They have become immensely popular, and deservedly so. But we have all rushed so headlong into them that there are a few things that we forget to have properly arranged in regard to them. For instance, the seats should not be made horizontal to the floor and the backs at a right-angle with them. This makes a very uncomfortable seat. The seat and back should be at right angles with each other and then tipped slightly back. Box in the under part and have the seat on hinges.

The Luxurious Chaise Longue.
Have you a wicker chaise longue in your home? Is it upholstered in attractive cretonne? If you cannot answer "yes" to both of these questions, comfortable chairs, and still more so, you'll enjoy shopping for one of these. They are suited to secluded porches and to any room in the house.

The KITCHEN CABINET

It is wise to look ahead to the season when fruits will be ripe for preserving, save recipes which appeal, and be ready to put up some new conserves, at the same time providing for desserts for the winter.

Gooseberry pies and tarts are delicious; just plain canned berries may be used at any time and when they are fresh and in season they are very appetizing.

Prepare a baked shell and just before serving fill with the following: To three cupfuls of gooseberries, add one and one-fourth cupfuls of water and one cupful of sugar. Cook until soft, add the yolks of two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of flour and a little sugar to bind the flour; cook until smooth. Cool and pour into the pastry shell and cover with a meringue made with the whites of the eggs and six tablespoonfuls of sugar. Bake until the meringue is brown. Less sugar may be used in the meringue and half a dozen marshmallows added, making a very pretty top to the pie.

Gooseberry Bar le Duc.—Heat and tall six pounds of gooseberries, add four pounds of sugar and one pint of vinegar. Cook for 20 minutes and add four more pounds of sugar. Continue cooking for 45 minutes, or until thick. Put into glasses and let stand in the sun well covered until thoroughly set. Cover with paraffin when cold.

Rice and Gooseberry Compote.—Steam two-thirds of a cupful of well-washed rice in one cupful of water in a double boiler until the water is absorbed. Now add one cupful of hot milk, one quarter of a cupful of sugar and a little salt; cook until the rice is very soft. When cool turn into a shallow dish and surround with mounds of gooseberry jam and alternate with whipped cream in mounds.

Sour Cream Frosting.—Take one cupful each of sugar and sour cream, and the same of nuts. Cook the cream and sugar to the soft ball stage, add the nuts and beat until creamy and cool enough to use as filling.

Gooseberry Jam.—Weigh the prepared berries, adding three tablespoonfuls of water to start the steam, allow three-fourths as much sugar by weight as berries, and when they are boiling add one-half of the sugar, half five minutes and add the remainder.

To know what you prefer, instead of humbly saying "amen" to what the world tells you you ought to prefer, is to have kept your soul alive.—H. I. Stevenson.

GOOD THINGS FOR EVERYDAY

Peanut butter is a food that may be used in various ways. It is nice for sandwich fillings, good added to any stuffing used for green peppers or stuffed onions, and will be found an addition to many dishes.

Peanut Butter Biscuit.—Take two cupfuls of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, three tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of milk, one-half cupful of peanut butter and two tablespoonfuls of seedless raisins. Mix and roll in a sheet, spreading with the peanut butter and sprinkling with the raisins. Roll up and cut into small slices and bake in a hot oven fifteen minutes.

Kentucky Pie.—Steam six large tart apples and run them through a sieve; stir in white hot one tablespoonful of butter. When cool add the yolks of three eggs, the rind and juice of a lemon and one cupful of sugar which have been beaten together. Cover a deep plate with a rich pastry and fill with the mixture, baking in a moderate oven forty minutes.

Apple Punch.—Cut six tart apples into quarters without paring, add one cupful of raisins, two bay leaves, a small piece of stick cinnamon, the grated rind of three lemons and two quarts of cold water; let come to a boil and boil thirty minutes; drain and when cold add the juice of three lemons, two pounds of sugar and serve with ice.

Doughnuts.—Take two cupfuls of sour milk, one cupful of sour cream, one and three-fourths cupfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of soda, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, nutmeg to flavor and flour to roll. Chill well and they can be handled with much less flour, making a more tender and delicate cake.

Raisin Candy.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one-half cupful of chopped raisins, one-half cupful of roasted almonds. Heat the sugar until a golden brown sirup, remove from the fire and add the raisins and nuts, stirring them quickly. Pour into ungreased pans and mark off in squares.

Woman Holds Honor.
The first woman to talk by telephone is said to have been Mrs. E. G. Sovereign. In 1874, when Alexander Graham Bell was making his first experiments with the telephone at Brantford, Ont., Mrs. Sovereign was teaching school in that place and helped the inventor string the wires and set up his first telephone instruments.

Tarantula Found in a Bunch of Bananas

There was quite a little excitement at the fruit store of Reba & Blumenfeld last Saturday morning, when a large tarantula was discovered in a bunch of bananas. Stewart Rochwhite was in the basement of the building cutting off some fruit from a bunch and happened to see the large spider. He lost little time in getting away from that bunch.—Hartford Press.

Gas Tank Explodes

Milford, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Johann of Hamilton, was seriously burned about the face on Monday when he lit a match to look into a gasoline tank, resulting in an explosion of the tank, the full force of which he received in his face. Dr. Katz who was at the Johann home at the time attending another member of the family, rushed out when he heard the loud report and carried the little chap in the house where he administered first aid. All of the boy's hair was singed from his head, and his face was badly burned. There is hope that the child's eyesight may be saved.—Cedarburg News.

Fast Driving Ends Disastrously

When a chessmaker by the name of Pauly, hailing from Jackson, undertook to go faster than good judgment should permit in passing the intersection of another highway, Wednesday morning at the intersection of highways 15 and 29, town of Peik, he landed squarely against the large Packard of J. B. Day, of Hartford. As Mr. Day swung from 29 to go to West Bend, Pauly evidently thought to head him off, going over on the opposite side of the road directly in the path of Mr. Day's car. The Pauly car, a converted Ford truck, was struck amidships, the driver being hurled over the side of the road. Mr. Day's car, dazed and suffering slight injuries and cuts about the face, Mr. Day, who saw that he was unable to get away from the reckless driver, had about stopped his machine when the collision occurred, and thereby escaping personal injuries, although the bumper of his car was torn off, the right front fender and headlamp bent up and the right front wheel smashed. He estimates the damage to his car at $300 which Pauly has agreed to pay through his insurance company. The Ford was badly twisted. Mr. Day estimates that Pauly was going at least 30 miles an hour in trying to negotiate this corner. Mr. Day was able to drive his Packard home following the collision, while the Jackson car was turned over to a garage for rebuilding.—Hartford Times.

Cash-in-Advance Talk

¶ We wish every subscriber thought enough of this paper to pay his or her subscription strictly in advance. Many of them do, but some do not. We think a great deal of our subscribers. There is nothing within the bounds of reason we would not do for them. But some thoughtless souls overlook some things concerning this paper which we now bring to their attention.

¶ Subscriptions do not sustain this paper. It takes lots of advertising to make up the deficit between the cost of running this paper, and the subscription revenue.

¶ It costs money, time and effort to secure subscribers and keep them regular. That cost must be passed on to subscribers and advertisers. The losses in the business must be absorbed by the profits, if there are any.

¶ Certain credit arrangements are essentially necessary in any business. We have been pleased to extend a reasonable credit on subscriptions to subscribers who needed credit. But we cannot believe that all who accept credit need it. Certainly credit should not be considered for an indefinite period.

¶ Our subscription list is a permanent asset of this paper. Many subscribers have been listed for years and years. They are like old friends to a publisher. If we had to go out and renew every subscriber, our subscription costs would be prohibitive. We are striving to furnish a high class publication at a low cost. Your cooperation in the matter of subscription payments is earnestly requested.

If Stomach is Sour, Food Won't Digest

No stomach filled with sour poisons can digest food. Everything you eat turns into more poison and gas, making you nervous and weak. Simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adlerika, expels all sour poisons and gas from BOTH upper and lower bowel. Removes foul, decaying food-matter you never thought was in your system which caused sour and gassy stomach. Adlerika is EXCELLENT to guard against appendicitis. Edw. C. Miller.—Advertisement.
