PRETTY WEDDING AT DUNDEE

A wedding of much interest was solemnized at the St. Michael's Catholic church in the town of Mitchell, last week Wednesday at 9:30 A. M., when David Gegan of Cascade united in bonds of matrimony, Edward Browne and Miss Rose Genevieve Mulvey, both of Dundee. George Twohig Jr., acted as acolyte.

The wedding march was played by Miss M. Larey on the violin accompanied by Mrs. W. Walls at the organ.

The groom and his attendants, Clement Browne, as best man and Vincent Mulvey as groomsmen, George Twohig and Charles Kennedy as ushers, entered the church first and took their places at the altar rail. They were followed by Miss Myrtle Mulvey who was maid of honor and who was attired in a peach Canton crepe dress, carrying an arm bouquet of pink and white carnations and ferns. Then came the bridesmaids, Miss May Murphy, a niece of the groom, dressed in a blue Canton crepe gown and carried an arm bouquet of carnations, and Miss Irene Mulvey, a cousin of the bride, who wore an orchid pink periwinkle dress and carried carnations and maiden hair ferns. These were followed by flower girls, nieces of the groom, Rosemary Beggan and Margaret Pesch, dressed in white organza and carried baskets of roses.

Next entered the bride on the arm of her father. She wore a gown of cream silk embroidered Canton crepe trimmed with pearls and a beautiful silk embroidered veil with pearl trim arranged in corona effect. She carried a shower bouquet of Columbia roses and Swanson's.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in the town of Scott, where a wedding dinner was served at 12 o'clock to about 75 invited guests. The house was prettily decorated with pink and white crepe paper and white bells and cut flowers and potted flowers.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mulvey of the town of Scott, where she is well known and liked by all. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Adon Browne of Dundee. He is a prosperous farmer. After a wedding trip to the dells and Devils Lake, the young couple will go to housekeeping on the groom's farm at Dundee where they will be at home after August 1st.

FOURTH WAS A VERY QUIET ONE IN KEWASKUM

With the exception of displaying the National colors on all business places and dwelling houses, the Fourth of July was the quietest one ever witnessed in Kewaskum. This is the first time in the history of the village that no celebration of any kind was held here on Independence Day, Kewaskum, this year was satisfied in letting neighboring cities and villages do the celebrating, and consequently attending these celebrations. Quite a number attending the dells at West Bend, some at Campbellsport, and others went to Random Lake and Cedar Lake. Next year Kewaskum will beyond all doubt again have its part in the ring and give a hammer of a celebration in honor of the day.

NEW FANE DEFEATS WAUBEKA

The New Fane base ball team journeyed to Waubesa last Sunday, where they defeated the team of that place by a score of 11 to 2. The result of the game is as follows: Three base hits, Garber, Miller. On the Fourth of July the strong Topic Cigar team of Milwaukee defeated New Fane at the latter place by a score of 5 to 1. The game was a thriller throughout. The breaks of the game however, were against New Fane. Next Sunday New Fane will journey to Fond du Lac to play the Pirates of that city.

FIRE BLIGHT ON APPLE TREES

In all sections of Washington county the ravages of the fire blight on apple trees are apparent. The brown blossoms with withered and blackened young fruit and fruit spurs with black or dark brown leaves at the tips of the limb, indicate the presence of this disease. If allowed to go unchecked, this may kill many of the trees before fall. Fire blight may be controlled in the following manner: Cut off diseased limbs, making the cut from 6 to 8 inches below the dead wood. This disease spreads through the sap and goes down into the tree under the bark unless we cut the limb below the dead part. Between every cut the knife or pruning tool should be thoroughly disinfected by dipping in strong corrosive sublimate solution. Unless the knife is disinfected each time the disease will be carried from one limb to another.

CARL O. GUTH ARRIVES HOME

During his seven years absence Carl was with the army at the Mexican border, the 32nd Division in France, the American Peace Delegation at Versailles, made a trip through southern Europe and northern Africa. He was a member of the United States Grave Registration bureau with France and spent the past four months with a friend in Connecticut. He will remain here for a lengthy visit.—West Bend News.

BADLY BURNED WHEN AUTO CATCHES FIRE

Vernie Puerner was badly burned when his auto caught fire at about 8:20 Monday night. He was under the car extracting some gasoline to use for a primer and after flames broke he was unable to replace the pin on account of the darkness. His hired man, who stood about three feet away, struck a match and the flames of the gas ignited and set fire to the gasoline under the car. One of Vernie's hands were badly burnt while he was still beneath the car. He crawled out from his precarious position just in time, as the car was soon a mass of flames. In his efforts to remove the car from its close proximity to the barn he was severely burnt from his shoulder to the hand of the arm hitherto untouched by the fire. The car is a total wreck.—Jefferson Banner.

Overcome By Heat

Fred Folske, one of the truck drivers employed by the local Standard Oil Company, was overcome by the heat Saturday evening, and was unconscious for over two hours, being in a serious condition. Mr. Folske had delivered a tank of gasoline about six o'clock in the evening and before the gasoline was all out of the truck tank, he began to feel dizzy from the fumes of the gas and the heat. As soon as possible he went home and while sitting in a chair, he became unconscious, in which condition he remained for about two hours.—Hartford Press.

May Lose Eye Through Prank

Experience is a harsh teacher, as small "Jumbo" Harrar doubtless now realizes. He has long been in the habit of running out into the street in front of on-coming automobiles, and then quickly dodging out of the way, just for the fun of hearing drivers jump on the brakes and swear luridly when they missed the lad by a hair. Tuesday evening about seven o'clock he "got his," at last, in front of the home of H. C. Krater. The lad was picked up and taken home where examination of his injuries found a severe injury over one eye where he was struck by the car's fender and there is some probability that he may lose the sight of that eye.—Port Washington Star.

Neighboring News SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC A SUCCESS

With weather conditions favorable, the Sunday school picnic held under the auspices of the E. Peace congregation of this village, at the South Side Park last Sunday afternoon, was a success in every respect. The picnic was attended by a large crowd, people from far and near were in attendance. The day proved to be a happy one for the youngsters, who enjoyed taking part in the various contests and taking a chance at the grab bag and fish pond immensely. The music furnished by the Kewaskum Concert band was greatly appreciated. A room full of supper in cafeteria style was served in the large tent by the ladies of the congregation. Nearly everyone present partook of this sumptuous meal, all of whom enjoyed same and passed words of praise in the manner in which it was dished out.

WISCONSIN SWINE INJECTED

According to investigations made by representatives of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, it was learned that hog cholera has again appeared in several localities in Wisconsin. The counties in which cholera has been found are Dane, Walworth, Fond du Lac and Rusk. All infected herds have been vaccinated, and efforts are being made to prevent a spread of the disease. Farmers are advised to have their hogs vaccinated while they are still healthy, as hog cholera vaccination is only a preventive and not a curative agent. If hogs show evidence of any disease, call for experienced aid quickly, as the trouble may be cholera, and if it is, only quick action will prevent a heavy loss. Keep hogs free from worms, as a wormy hog cannot be successfully immunized against hog cholera.

The sheriff will deputize such men on request of the county highway commissions and has the power of revoking such authority by the bill provides "Such special deputy sheriffs may arrest at any place in the state with or without warrant any persons who in their presence, shall violate any law relating to the public highways or their use or the maintenance of order upon or near the public highways."

BARN BURNS IN TOWN JACKSON

Mrs. George Garkade's barn in the town of Jackson caught fire in some manner on Tuesday evening of last week at about 7:15 o'clock and in a short time was totally destroyed. All of the equipment in the barn and a goodly lot of machinery also burned, as did also six tons of hay and about 300 bushels of oats. The Jackson fire department was summoned to the fire and managed to save nearby buildings. The barn was insured for $950, the machinery for $200 and the barn equipment for $150. Luckily the wind carried the fire from an opposite direction from nearby buildings and this aided the firemen in saving the residence.—West Bend Pilot.

U. S. SENATOR PREDICTS 5 PER CENT BEER

Detroit, Mich.—Five per cent beer will be allowed the people of the United States by the next national congress through a liberal interpretation of "intoxicating liquor" as it relates to beer, Senator Couzens, Detroit, predicted on returning here from a vacation in Canada. "Five per cent beer is not intoxicating and to ask a man to drink a beverage containing only 5/100 per cent of alcohol is ridiculous," Senator Couzens said. The senator was not sure as to what percentage of alcohol should be allowed in wine, but said he was in favor of "light" wine.—Port Washington Herald.

FOREST LAKE HOTEL DESTROYED

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the Forest Lake Hotel, located at Forest Lake, about five miles northeast of Kewaskum, on Wednesday morning. The fire was first noticed by one of the resorters, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, when he noticed smoking emerging from the roof of the building. He immediately notified Mr. Kuert, owner of the resort, and an effort was then made to save the building, but the fire made such rapid headway that nothing could be done except through the aid of the Campbellsport volunteer fire company which was summoned for help to save the other buildings at the resort from destruction. The building destroyed, was located just north of the dance hall, kitchen and grocery store, and was used mainly for lodging. It was a large frame structure, constructed eighteen years ago by Peter Van Blarcom, who now resides at Fond du Lac. The loss is estimated at about $4,000 with only $2,000 insurance to cover same.

Wm. Kuert, who purchased the resort only a few years ago, contemplates erecting another hotel as soon as possible. The loss sustained by the fire greatly handicaps Mr. Kuert in housing the resorters.

The furniture on the first floor was saved, while that on the second floor was consumed by the flames.

Called Home by Death of Husband

Mrs. Earl Mahoney and son, who arrived here last week Friday from Marshfield, for a few days' visit with Mrs. Mahoney's sister, Mrs. Adolph Backhaus and family, received the shocking news on Monday evening of the death of her husband, who was instantly killed in an automobile accident, shortly after five o'clock Monday evening at Marshfield. From unaffirmed reports received here, Mr. Mahoney and another gentleman were riding in a Ford coupe, and while crossing a bridge, the driver in some manner lost control and the car plunged off the bridge, instantly killing Mr. Mahoney, and his companion was so badly injured, that hopes for his recovery are doubtful. Mr. Mahoney was employed at the depot of the Chicago & North Western Railway at Marshfield, which position he has held for the past seven years. He was born at LaCrosse, Wisconsin, and had attained the age of 35 years. A year ago last October he was married to Miss Emily Krahn of Loyal. Besides his grimly stricken wife he leaves to mourn his sudden demise, two sons, Robert, aged 11 years and Alan aged 14 years. His parents also survive. Mrs. Mahoney left on Tuesday morning for Marshfield, from where she will leave for LaCrosse to which place the body was shipped on Wednesday, where the funeral services were held.

REVEALS PLOT TO CRUSH LABOR

President Harding Tells How He Saved the Unions From Capitalism.

SAYS HE AVOIDED EXTREMES

Discloses in Helena Speech How Organized Employers Tried to Get Him to Aid Move Against Collective Bargaining.

Helena, Mont., June 30.—In one of the most remarkable speeches of his administration and of his present tour of the Middle West and West, President Harding here proclaimed himself as a staunch defender of organized labor against the assaults of capitalists who sought and had expected him to help them break it down.

The President also made a fervent appeal for revival of religious sincerity among the American people; uttered a stirring pronouncement on behalf of American womanhood; insisted that the present standard of American wages must be sustained, rebuking capitalist systems which have tried to use the Republican party to help back this standard; and in the most virile language reiterated his opposition to the Bolshevism of Russia.

Here, where the I. W. W. movement was cradled, the President's words were enthusiastically received, and, earlier in the day at Butte, where he spoke on somewhat similar lines, he received a good hearing.

In his address here the President said, almost at the outset, that the capitalists of America had expected him to break down the position in the social structure reached by labor as a result of the war.

"On capital's side of the line," said the President, "were those who hoped that the administration would lend itself to their program of breaking down organized labor and sending it back to the era of individual bargaining for the individual job.

"On the labor side of the line were those who hoped, by exorbitant demands and an attitude of uncompromising insistence, to force the nationalization of some of our most important industries and services.

"Between these two extreme groups, and confident that we had behind us the overwhelming public opinion of the nation, we have tried to hold the scales even—to prevent on the one side the destruction of organized labor and, on the other side, to frustrate those programs which look to the ultimate destruction of private capital and the nationalization of all the national instrumentalities of production."

British Labor Upholds Their King and Queen

London, June 30.—A resolution declaring that the royal family no longer was a necessary part of the British constitution failed in passage by an overwhelming majority at the Labor party's congress. George Lansbury voiced the party's attitude regarding royalty when he declared that it was immaterial now whether the British have a king or not. "I used to think that the monarchy made the workers poor," Mr. Lansbury said. "Since I have dined with royalty I have decided that they are ordinary clay like anyone else. They talk like you, only a little worse."

WISCONSIN NEWS

Important Events of the Week Around the Badger State.

Watertown—Foul brood, the most prevalent of bee diseases, has been virtually eradicated from Jefferson and Dodge county apiaries as the result of the activities of the state inspection system, of which S. D. Fracker is head. Both Jefferson and Dodge counties have undergone the area cleanup and process, and as a result foul brood has, with exception of a few cases, practically been exterminated. The disease was brought into this section by bees imported to Watertown and sold in both counties. When the first inspection of Jefferson county apiaries took place, a total of more than 100 affected by the disease was found. The number has been reduced to four or five which are easily under control. The disease, officials state, does not affect older bees or the honey and only tends to weaken the bees by destroying baby bees.

Tomah—A fatal accident was averted through the presence of mind of Mrs. Gustave Stanke, Tomah, who was struck by an auto and dragged 75 feet. Had not Mrs. Stanke hung on with almost superhuman strength to the bumper of the car which was driven over by Frank Fuchs, she would no doubt have been struck and fatally injured by another car closely following. Mrs. Stanke stepped from between a line of cars parked in the center of the street when she was struck. The driver did not discover what had happened until called to by W. L. Howes who was on the sidewalk and noticed the woman clinging to the bumper.

Clinton—Two hours after they had been thrown out of a car in which their father, A. L. Peich, was seriously injured, the two Peich boys, picked up by Clarence Owens in another car, figured in another accident when Owens collided with a car belonging to Archie Pve. In the first accident, the car driven by Peich skidded on a gravel road north of Clinton and jumped a dry creek bed before it landed, bottom up, with Peich and Gus Carlson pinned underneath. Peich was unconscious when taken from the wreckage. Physicians say he will recover.

Watertown—At the dispersal sale of the famous Holstein herd owned by the Cudahy Packing Co., a full blooded bull brought $1,525, being sold to the farm of John Harness & Son in the town of Vinland. Although the date for the event has not been definitely set, it is probable the picnic will be held July 18. This is the first time the Valley association has held its picnic in Winnebago county and the event will be of considerable interest to Guernsey breeders, particularly those living in the northern and central sections of the county. Breeders from Outagamie, Brown, Calumet and Winnebago counties make up the membership of the valley organization.

La Crosse—The Wisconsin State Telephone association, in session at La Crosse, by unanimous vote began a movement designed to enlist the active co-operation of telephone associations all over the United States in a concerted effort to procure reductions in fire, general liability and compensation insurance rates. Present insurance rates were characterized as exorbitantly high in a resolution which calls for the appointment of a committee to investigate the practicability of organizing a mutual insurance company which may become a part of the Telephone association.

Fond du Lac—Delinquent taxes for Fond du Lac county amounting to approximately $10,052.42 will be collected within the next several months by Sheriff F. W. Schlaak and his deputies, according to an announcement made from his office. A tabulation of the delinquent taxpayers showed that in the unpaid taxes in Fond du Lac county would easily total $10,000. This is approximately the same amount that was turned over to the sheriff's office for collection last year.

Madison—The railroad commission has announced that it had been advised by the interstate commerce commission that a petition by western trunk lines for a 10 per cent increase on coarse grain rates was denied as to territory including Wisconsin. The commission estimates that granting of the petition would have resulted in increased cost of feeds to Wisconsin consumers amounting to nearly $250,000 annually.

Racine—Racine Milk Producers and dealers after an all day session failed to come to an agreement in fixing the price of milk for July. They will hold an adjourned meeting July 10. The producers asked for $2.85 per hundred weight, but the highest the dealers would agree to pay was $2.80. The producers are receiving $2.40 this month.

Antigo—The Crocker Chair company's factory in Antigo has received from Ottawa, Ill., a carload of oak and walnut logs to be sawed at its mill. So far as is known this is the first shipment of logs from Illinois to a northern Wisconsin sawmill.

Platteville—Arthur Jackson, a resident of Cuba City, aged 60, was fatally hurt when he fell from a cherry tree, sustaining a fractured spine. He was removed to the Buck hospital, Platteville, where he died of his injuries.

Elkhorn—Reid Kemmett, 4-year-old son of Henry Kemmett, Fontana, was accidentally drowned in Lake Geneva. It was believed from evidence obtained. On account of a burise on the boy's body, it was at first believed he might have been struck by an auto and his body thrown in the lake. Investigation by doctors, however, showed the injury had been received when the child fell from the bank into the lake. It was also shown that the boy was seen to cross the road to the lake but 20 minutes before the body was recovered. Examination also showed water in the boy's lungs, which would not have been the case had he been killed before striking the water, doctors said.

Tomah—A fatal accident was averted through the presence of mind of Mrs. Gustave Stanke, Tomah, who was struck by an auto and dragged 75 feet. Had not Mrs. Stanke hung on with almost superhuman strength to the bumper of the car which was driven over by Frank Fuchs, she would no doubt have been struck and fatally injured by another car closely following. With the Wisconsin Legislature

Madison, Wis.—All motor trucks, delivery wagons, passenger buses and tractors must be re-registered with the secretary of state, effective July 1, and the new license fee established by the weight tax law paid. Pleasure cars have until Jan. 1, 1924, to comply with the requirements of the licensing statute signed by Gov. Blaine.

While Fred Zimmerman, secretary of state, asserts that it is physically impossible for him to comply with provisions of the statute in the time allowed him, he advised the owners of motor vehicles other than pleasure cars that they must get new licenses or face prosecution.

Following are the rates to be assessed against the trucks: If the gross weight is one and one-half tons or less, $10; more than one and one-half tons and less than two and one-fourth tons, $15; more than two and one-fourth tons and less than three tons, $20; more than three tons and less than four tons, $30; more than four tons and less than five tons, $45; more than five tons, $45 plus $5 for each additional quarter ton or fraction thereof in excess of five tons.

The gross weight is defined as the weight in pounds of the vehicle added to the advertised maximum load carrying capacity of the vehicle in pounds, divided by 2,000.

Trucks, delivery wagons, buses and tractors that are registered on or after July 1, 1923, are entitled to a discount of 25 per cent of the regular fees, and credit for the fee previously paid in 1923.

The weight fee for passenger cars ranges from $10 on the lightest machines to $26 for the heaviest, graduated as the weight increases. This measure through its various fees is designed to produce $6,000,000 annually for highway purposes.

Northern Parks Bill Passed The Blighen bill for the purchase by the state of the so-called "Northern Lakes" park in Sawyer and Price counties was given final passage in both houses of the legislature. The measure now goes to Gov. Blaine. He has not indicated whether he will sign it.

The 8,000 acre tract, which it is proposed to convert into a great natural park, will be acquired for $250,000. This money, under amendments adopted by the legislature, will be raised by a surtax on corporation and individual incomes in excess of $3,000 a year. The surtax rate will be equivalent to one-twentieth of the normal rate. The surtax feature to the bill was adopted, 23 to 5, by the senate, while there was no roll call on the bill proper.

Two years ago a bill was passed by the legislature for the purchase of the northern lakes park, but at that time in view of the state's financial condition, Gov. Blaine vetoed it. Late, a movement was launched to raise funds by popular subscription to buy the park, and although upwards of $60,000 was raised the project proved a failure.

Will Not Hold Investigation State officials will be spared an investigation of charges of malfeasance that have been made in the last few weeks. By a single vote the senate rejected a resolution for a special probe committee. Gov. Blaine's close friends in the senate united with other opponents and were able to muster 17 votes against the investigation to 16 votes for it. Two weeks ago the Severance resolution, covering similar ground, was defeated, 18 to 12.

The resolution offered was prepared on the petition of the committee of 100, an organization of Madison citizens banded together for law enforcement. It was recommended for adoption by the committee on procedure, Senators Roethe and Cashman dissenting.

A lowering of taxes on ships laying up at Wisconsin ports was voted by the senate as a means of bringing back shipping to this state. The new tax on vessels, of importance to every port city in Wisconsin, is to be 1 cent a ton if the assembly concurs in the senate action. The present tax is 3 cents.

The senate refused, 17 to 16, to override Gov. Blaine's veto of the gasoline tax bill, following an attack on the governor's action by highway committee members.

The bill proposing that all automobile drivers carry identification cards, which would have been issued by the secretary of state, was killed in the assembly.

Old age pensions for Wisconsin citizens reaching the age of 70 without means of support, were favored by the senate with endorsement of the Carey bill, 17 to 14.

Without a roll call the senate defeated the Caldwell bill for the practical repeal of the teachers' retirement system. This measure would have prohibited new teachers coming under the law and asked for the settlement with those teachers now under the system.

SESSION SIDELIGHTS All hope for unemployment insurance legislation at the present session ended with a 17 to 16 vote of the senate against an interim investigation of the subject. There was no direct vote on the issue of job insurance itself.

Surtax Four Appropriation Bills Four large appropriation bills have been surtaxed by the assembly in the fight to shift the taxes. All these proposals will reach the senate within a short time and probably will be defeated.

The assembly is attempting to retaliate on the senate for defeating tax bills by attaching surtax amendments to all the larger appropriation bills. Following are the four proposals to which surtaxes have been attached by the assembly.

University appropriation bill, carrying $5,335,000 for the biennium, to be financed by a surtax of one-half of the present income tax rate, computed on all incomes in excess of $3,000.

Normal school bill, carrying an appropriation of $1,765,000 for the biennium, to which a surtax has been attached of one-half of the present income tax rate.

Northern Lakes park of 8,000 acres, carrying an appropriation of $250,000, to which a surtax has been adopted of one-twentieth of the present income tax rate.

Eradication of bovine tuberculosis, for which an appropriation of $1,000,000 is provided with a surtax of one-tenth of the present income tax rate.

A surtax amendment to the board of control appropriation bill was defeated in the assembly.

State Fish Laws Revised The Wisconsin fish laws were revised with Gov. Blaine's signature to a bill sponsored by the fish and game committee of the assembly. The measure goes into effect at once.

Under provisions of the new law there is to be a closed season for all varieties of game fish between March 1 and June 1 each year, unless otherwise provided by the statute. The exceptions to the regular season are for bass, trout and sturgeon.

Sturgeon of all varieties are protected by a closed season for which no exceptions are made. The season for large and small mouth black bass is from June 15 to Dec. 31, with a bag limit of ten. Trout season is from May 1 to Aug. 31, with a bag limit of twenty-five fish.

The size limit is removed but the following bag limit established for fish: for muskellunge one; pike ten; pickerel fifteen; rock bass thirty; white bass fifty; bullheads thirty pounds. With certain exceptions in definite localities, there are no further bag limits.

Feb. 22 Again State Holiday February 22, Washington's birthday, again will be restored as a legal holiday in Wisconsin as a result of a bill which has passed the legislature. The measure will no doubt receive the governor's signature. It was introduced by Senator George Czerwinski, Milwaukee.

In 1919, a bill sponsored, it is said, by the department of public instruction, was passed removing Washington's birthday from the list of legal holidays in this state.

During the debate on the bill just passed, Senator John E. Cashman, Denmark, recalled that the former bill was slipped through "about the time pro-British histories maligning Washington and other great Americans were put into our schools."

Prior to the passage of the bill in 1919, Washington's birthday had been a holiday for more than fifty years.

Senate Passes Probe Fund The Heck bill calling for a $5,000 appropriation to be used by the state board of public affairs in investigating state departments, boards and commissions was passed by the senate by a vote of 17 to 9. The measure was immediately messaged to the lower house.

Senator Max W. Heck, Racine, author of the bill, declared that through a thorough survey thousands of dollars could be saved the state. He made it clear that he was not charging any department with inefficiency, but that in the public interest an investigation would be advisable.

Private detective agencies of the state will not be forced out of business as a result of the senate's action in defeating an assembly committee bill, 19 to 13. The bill, the agencies contended, would have forced them out of business, by forcing their operations to register at every place they performed any work and by imposing a heavy license fee.

PLEASEANT DAY

"Now, it isn't right to take advantage of people and it isn't right to take advantage of animals, but it is all right to take advantage of us," said the day—Thursday.

"I don't mean," Thursday continued, "that it is wrong to get pleasure out of people and enjoyment and assistance, but it is wrong to take advantage of people—to let them do more than they know they should do, to let them do without for you while you have all yourself."

"Such things are dreadful to the mind. Those who forget (friendship) and kindness and sacrifices are really cruel, for they do not know that suffering they cause from thoughtlessness and their selfishness."

"But, as I said, with a day it is different. I want every one to take advantage of me. I am here for that. I can't accept anything from people because I have always gone in the same circle and always shall. Not that I am an snobish. By no means, I want every one to share me. But I want exactly plain games with them or with them in their own language."

"The friends I know are Mr. Monday and the King of the Clouds and Mr. Monday and Mr. Moon. They want every one to get all the enjoyment out of me they can."

"I heard a little girl say that she wanted to take advantage of this day as she was anxious to wash her dolls' clothes and have them nicely so she could press them next day."

"Thursday Sang a Little Song."

dress all her dolls up in fresh, clean clothes again. And that pleased me enormously.

"Then I heard some other say: 'Let's take advantage of this beautiful day and go on a picnic and take swimming suits along.' That pleased me so much, too."

"Then I heard some other say: 'Let's take a ride in the old automobile and we'll take along our umbrellas and our supper and we'll have a holiday—all of us—and we'll sit by the roadside and eat.'

"We will spend this wonderful day out-of-doors and take advantage of it, that pleased me very much."

"Then I heard a lovely lady say: 'I shall sit out on the back porch this morning for it has been damp and rainy lately and I have not been able to get out. But I will take advantage of this beautiful day.'

"That pleased me ever so much for I could see how the lady did love a pleasant day."

"And then I heard some one else say: 'A pleasant day makes me feel so happy!'"

"I am saying that to tell to Father Week when I get back home. He will be delighted. But I could not do all this without help, and Mr. Sun is my greatest helper."

"I somehow think that we all need help from one another. I don't believe anyone could be pleasant unless they had known what joy is, and what happiness it excited with it to be pleasant."

"I know what Mr. Sun can do and I am helped by Mr. Sun. We do all we can for others. And it is so nice to be a pleasant day. Every one does us kindly toward a pleasant day and our compliments are ever so nice to have."

"And a day likes to be taken advantage of because it is always in so much a way, but to take advantage of people in a mean and thoughtless way is something very different. I repeat it more."

"Ah, yes, I'm a pleasant day and I think I shall sing a little song like this."

So Thursday sang a little song like Mr. Wind joined in the chorus and the Breeze Brothers, too, none of them singing but just humming a bit. This was Thursday's song:

I'm a pleasant day
And I hope I may
Stay that way
All day, all day.

I'm happy, you see,
As happy as can be.
Mr. Sun shines with glee,
And that rejoices me.

Oh, I'm a pleasant day
And all day I'll stay that way!

The people did not hear Thursday's song, but there was

Out of the Darkness

By Charles J. Dutton

CHAPTER XIII—Continued. "But, Bartley, the lights are turned out, how do you know that you did not write the message yourself?"

before his return, I saw Doctor King steal a look at his slate, and from that he, too, had received a message.

The man whom the butler ushered in was the medium that Bartley had secured in New York. He was very tall and thin, dressed in black, with white, unhealthy face, shifty eyes, and hair a bit too long.

After he had been introduced, Bartley told us that we were to begin the seance at once. The first thing to be done was to place the medium in a chair in the corner and tie his hands and feet firmly. Roche was selected to draw the rope through the rings of the chair, tie his hands behind his back, and place a gag in his mouth so that he could not speak.

Bartley spent some time in making sure that we were arranged in the proper manner. I was seated with Currie on my left, my little finger clasped around his thumb, and Bartley himself on my right. He rose and turned off the lights, then groped his way back to my side, and a second later his finger closed around mine.

I confess that I felt a bit like a fool as I waited there in the pitch darkness. What we were doing seemed childish; yet back of it all there was such a general air of expectancy that I was tense with excitement.

The great draperies had been drawn over the windows, and not even a ray of light penetrated the room. Just what it was that we were waiting for I did not know.

Suddenly, when I was least expecting it, I felt the table under my fingers sway back and forth for a second, then fall back upon the floor with a little bang. Currie breathed hard.

"I have come back to place my hand on the person that killed me," as if afraid; and his grasp on my fingers tightened. Then without warning came a series of ten knocks, faintly, as if someone were knocking at a distant door.

Silence again, then more raps, quick little running raps, never very loud, that would start and stop a second, then trip away like little feet running to and fro.

"Are you there?" Bartley's voice asked, hesitatingly. "Almost before his words had died away, there came a series of loud raps, almost falling over each other.

Then Bartley's voice again, cool but low, "Can you communicate with us?" I had expected that the raps would reply at once, but instead there was a long silence.

"At length he asked, 'Shall we try some other method?' Raps answered, tumbling over each other in their eagerness, and the table tipped so violently that I expected it would fall over.

A shrill, thin voice, ghostly and far away, said brokenly, 'Oh—oh—I—f-f-fear you; I know—you re—there—there—' whispered to her, and she settled back. I now recognized the voice as that of Slyke, a little choked, it is true, but enough like it to be easily identified. I was too dazed to think; the raps, the darkness, the voice, and the fear that was creeping into my heart, were almost more than I could bear.

"Silence again, broken only by the uneasy moans of the medium. Then, without warning, someone cried in terror, 'Look! The stars, the stars!'"

Almost in front of us was the stairway leading to the tower room. There upon the top step, was a tiny light, unlike any light that I had ever seen. It was hardly larger than a silver dollar, of an unearthly whiteness; then it began to grow larger and larger, until it changed into a luminous arm floating in the air. I heard someone gasp in fear, then all was silence again.

"The figure took a step toward us, the table before us fell over on the floor with a crash, and a voice almost at my elbow cried in terror, 'For God's sake, turn on that light. Don't let that d—d thing touch me.'"

As suddenly as it had appeared, the figure vanished, and we were left in the darkness.

CHAPTER XIV

The Murderer Speaks. Who turned on the lights I do not know. As soon as they flashed on, we looked at each other inquiringly, our eyes filled with fear. Who had cried out in terror and broken the circle? Bartley motioned to us to sit down again, and took his stand back of the table.

"There was a murmur of astonishment. Currie looked at me appealingly, but I knew no more than he. Roche whispered to Black, and they exchanged looks of bewilderment.

"I know that some of you doubt if we can prove that Mr. Slyke was murdered. You say there are no clues, and I admit that I have never seen a case in which there were so few. There is no doubt, however, that he was murdered, though it is difficult to say what the motive was. In the case of Briffeur, it was very simple."

"Simple?" Roche gasped. "Yes, simple. There was but one reason and one way, and even one person, that could have killed him."

"This statement was too much for Roche; he shook his head in disbelief. 'Let's consider Mr. Slyke's death for a moment,' Bartley continued. 'After the party was over, Slyke asked Mr. Lawrence to stay behind and offered to sell him some whisky. They had a drink, then Lawrence went home. But we found three glasses, showing that someone besides Lawrence had drunk with Slyke. Let us say this third person killed Slyke. Understand me; I do not believe that, when he came, he had any intention of killing him—that came later. We will assume that Slyke and this third person went upon the balcony, for what reason I cannot say, but I am sure that Slyke was the one that suggested going there. No murderer would have selected it, voluntarily, as a place in which to kill his victim.'"

"He paused for a second, then continued: 'After Slyke had been killed, the thought occurred to the murderer that it was possible to make his death look like suicide. He undressed the body in the room above the bedroom, and later carried his clothing downstairs, placing it on a chair beside the bed. But he overlooked a stocking that had fallen on the floor behind the door of the room above. Criminals, no matter how shrewd, always make some mistake that betrays them; this person drew the bedclothes up around Slyke's neck. If he had not done that, I doubt if we would ever have suspected that Slyke was murdered. The shot took effect at once. It would have been impossible for him to have drawn the bedclothes up around his own neck, and placed his hands by his side before he died.'"

"The doctor's voice sounded perplexed as he said, 'But, Mr. Bartley, this is all a rather fine-spin theory.' 'I expected that someone would say that,' Bartley smiled. 'It is more than an unsupported theory. However, let us proceed. The murderer brought back to the living room and went down to the living room and brought back with him two cards, which he threw on the floor of the room where the glasses were. If its being suicide was questioned, then the finding of the cards would throw suspicion on the members of the card party.'"

"(TO BE CONTINUED.) Denominational Privilege. 'We were out in the park one day, my little girl and I,' writes Mrs. B., 'when we came to a path with a sign over it. Glancing up at the sign my little girl said: 'Oh, mamma, we can't go down there—it says, 'For Presbyterians only.''"—Boston Transcript.

$310,000,000 U. S. SURPLUS

Vindication of Budget System Seen in Showing for Last Fiscal Year.

MORE THAN WAS EXPECTED

Gen. H. M. Lord, Director of the Budget, Issues Statement of Receipts and Expenditures of the Government.

Washington, July 2.—The government closed the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, with a surplus of approximately $310,000,000, according to a statement issued by Gen. H. M. Lord, budget director. This is an even more favorable showing than was estimated two weeks ago when President Harding announced that the fiscal year would end with a balance of ordinary receipts over expenditures of approximately $200,000,000.

"The reduction is the total expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, as compared with the total expenditures for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1922, will be approximately $205,000,000," General Lord said. "One year ago, the estimated receipts and expenditures indicated a deficit of $82,000,000 for the fiscal year 1923. The difference of $1,133,000,000 between this estimated deficit of $82,000,000 and the present estimated surplus of $310,000,000 is accounted for by an increase in receipts of $707,000,000 and a reduction in the 000,000.

"The difference in receipts was occasioned by an increase of $213,000,000 in customs receipts, $123,000,000 in internal revenue receipts, and $131,000,000 in miscellaneous receipts. "The difference of $305,000,000 in total estimated expenditures was the result of a reduction of $151,000,000 in general expenditures and $45,000,000 in interest on the public debt, and a net decrease of $170,000,000 in capital outlays, operations in special accounts, returns of tax receipts and retirement of the public debt required to be made from ordinary receipts."

STRIKE CASES DEAD

Charges Against Coal Miners and Operators Dismissed.

Attorney General Daugherty Urges Move, but Declares He Still Believes Defendants' Acts Were Unlawful.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 29.—Criminal conspiracy cases against 127 coal operators, union officials and miners, and 69 corporations all growing out of the 1921 coal strike were dismissed in the Federal court here by Judge A. B. Anderson.

The cases had been pending since indictments were returned February 25, 1922. They were dismissed on the personal petition of Harry M. Daugherty, United States attorney general, who appeared in court.

The indictments, nolle prossed charged that the 1921 strike constituted a gigantic conspiracy. Belief that a conviction could not be obtained formed the basis for the motion for dismissal. Mr. Daugherty said in a statement to the court. He declared, however, that many things done at a joint meeting of operators and miners constituted a conspiracy.

NEAT COLONIAL TYPE BUNGALOW

Makes Attractive Home of Compact Convenience.

HOUSE THAT WILL WEAR

Arrangement of the Rooms Helps the Fortunate Mistress of It to Keep It as Neat and Tidy as Proverbial Pin.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 187 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

There is a nicely-proportioned entrance to this bungalow, using Colonial detail to excellent advantage, and flanking it are windows dressed with grates, which give character to the whole. The quaint sidelights flanking

Our doors will be genuine mahogany, or some wood finished in that cherry-red color characteristic of mahogany. The floors can be of hardwood; or they may be of soft wood overlaid with linoleum in some neutral tint, unpatterned, and which would make the most of the small-dimensioned rooms.

For the walls many varieties of finish suggest themselves. We can choose between wall paper, paint or kalsomine. Wall paper always lends itself to a Colonial interior, and the smaller patterned the paper the better. In the bedrooms could be used bright cheerful patterns, with pink and blue predominating. A man will not like a pink room, nor will a woman; it is apt to be tiresome, but pink grouped in with other colors in a flower-patterned paper is cheerful and welcomed by either sex. In other words, it is not a purely feminine prerogative to enjoy pink or any other of the so-called pastel shades. It should be so handled as to be characteristic instead of being innocuous.

As to the window draperies, the brighter-colored chintzes and cretonnes suggest themselves for a house of this type, with the actual window curtains themselves of some simple white material, such as white dotted swiss or marquisette. The shades should naturally be white, so as to cause no disagreeable break in the uniform white the entrance light a very pleasingly proportioned hall. In this our house's first convenience is noted, for there is a handy clothes closet to accommodate the wraps of the family and of guests. A colonnaded doorway to the left leads into the living room—an unusually cheerful place, what with its three-windowed bay, its fireplace flanked by windows and ingie seats, and built-in bookcase on the opposite wall. We are able to walk directly into the dining room through the long French doors which divide it from the living room, and looking through other French doors we look out on an attractive enclosed porch which can readily form an extension of the dining room proper and give us a real outdoor dining room through the hot days of summer. The dining room is a very attractive place, what with all these windows, and the conveniently placed buffet, which is right alongside the door leading to the kitchen—a detail which makes serving easy.

The kitchen, while small, is compactly arranged, so that the most is made of all available wall space. Provision is made for cases and shelving on two walls, so much so that a pantry, as such, is not needed, the refrigerator being placed on the rear porch. The two bedrooms are well-isolated from the main portion of the house, but both are very handy to the bathroom, to which access is had through the hall. Off this hall opens a linen closet and a clothes chest leads to the basement.

A house like this should carry out, in its interior arrangements, the plain, neat, serviceable decorative note sound-finish of the exterior, for it is naturally assumed that the owner of this house will have it painted white. This is a house which will wear well, which will never go out of fashion, and which will never appear at a disadvantage, regardless of how pretentious a mansion may be built alongside it. And that is a test few small houses can meet.

"I'd like to know what we'd do with a one-seat car," came the prompt rejoinder. "We can't all get in the car we did get."

Filipino Women. Filipinos have some customs which seem queer to us. A woman does not drive a horse or automobile, or ride a bicycle. She may wish to be a nurse, but men and boys occupy this field. She can do fine embroidery, but the men design the patterns. Yet twice the percentage of Filipino women are earning their living in comparison with Canadian women. Co-education exists throughout the islands.

PLYMOUTH SELF-FEED ENSILAGE CUTTERS

"Plymouth" Feed Cutters are the result of twenty-five years' experience and practical study of conditions and needs in the farm and dairy field. They embrace every advantage known to other similar machines, and many vital features which are original with us and can be had only in the "Plymouth Self Feed." Below are some mighty strong points for you to think about before you buy a feed cutter.

Automatic Self-Feed—This feature consists of a traveling feed chain, made of heavy iron shafts, recently riveted to a chain which passes over the lower feed roller. Throw the fodder into the feed box and the "Plymouth" does the rest.

Danger-Proof Self-Feed Rollers—Here's another strong feature original with the "Plymouth." It consists of four large rollers of cast iron. The traveling feed chain passes over the lower roller, just passing the lower front roller, which is six inches in diameter, and smooth. The two upper and lower hind rollers are ribbed. The 8-inch automatic roller at the top, to the right, is a special feature of the "Plymouth." It acts as a lever or weight to keep the fodder passing through continuously, depending on its own gravity to keep the material going through without a hitch. Two coil springs serve to exert an even and steady pressure on the automatic roller as the volume of fodder increases in going through. The spring feature is entirely automatic, and is only to be had in the "Plymouth." It absolutely prevents clogging.

BILL BOOSTER SAYS

"ADVERTISING IS JUST A FORM OF BOOSTING! THE ONLY WAY TO MAKE MONEY WITHOUT ADVERTISING IS IF YOU'VE GOT A BACKBONE AND NOT JUST A WISHBONE. THEN YOU'RE AN ADVERTISER!"

—Miss Crescence Stoffel, who is studying for trained nurse at the St. Mary's hospital, Milwaukee, returned home Friday evening for a two weeks' vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Stoffel.

—Carpenters are busy remodeling the show windows of the L. Rosenheimer store in this village. The front will be lowered about two feet, and other necessary changes will be made, and when completed, will make a marked improvement over the present show windows now in use.

—Lawrence McEnroe and Miss Florence Fitzpatrick of Eden had a queer and exciting experience last Sunday afternoon. While driving along the road east of the village they encountered a swarm of bees, which took possession of their coupe. The young people found it wise to vacate until the little terrors could be driven out. Luckily neither of the occupants of the car received any severe stings.—Campbellsport News.

—About fifty relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Schaefer last Saturday evening where they helped Mrs. Schaefer celebrate her birthday anniversary. The evening was enjoyably spent in games and social conversation. At 11:30 a delicious lunch was served to which all did ample justice. When the guests departed for their respective homes they helped Mrs. Schaefer many happy returns of the day.

—Mrs. N. W. Rosenheimer entertained a number of little girl friends for her daughter Linda, at her home on Tuesday afternoon in honor of the latter's birthday anniversary. Those present were: Ione Schmidt, Aneda Hafermann, Ruth Hepp, Reta Jane Rosenheimer, Marcella Schief, Charlotte Lay, Magdalena Weddig, Marie Harrington and Linda Rosenheimer. The afternoon was enjoyably spent in playing games. At five o'clock a delicious lunch was served, after which the guests departed for their homes.

—Up to the present writing, no one has joined the "Ham-and" club of this village, as the result of not parking cars right or turning around between crossings. The village ordinance governing the parking of automobiles is being strictly enforced to prevent accidents, and up to now same is being obeyed remarkably well. Marshall Brandt had a few occasions to warn drivers of machines to be more careful. Anyone being arrested can rest assured that his or her name will be published in the columns of this paper as a warning to others. So be careful.

—William F. Schultz, proprietor of the Republican House, had a large awning put up by the Fond du Lac Tent and Awning Company on the west, south and a portion of the north side of the hotel building. The new addition together with the electric lamps on each corner of the large cement porch which he had built onto the hotel last fall make a decided improvement on the general appearance of the hotel. The porch as it now is is indeed a very cool and comfortable place to sit, during the hot summer days and evenings.

—While at Fond du Lac last Monday, a representative of the Statesman had the pleasure of meeting an old resident of Kewaskum, namely D. Percy. Mr. Percy owned and managed the South Side Saloon and Park about 1890, and since that time he has been in the employ of the late Henry Schneider later on, Mr. Percy is now a traveling salesman out of Fond du Lac, located at 491 South Main St. He is in excellent health and wanted to be remembered to his old friends at Kewaskum. A very interesting, resplendent chat on old times and friends was indulged in.

—Maurice Rosenheimer, who in partnership with his brother Adolph Jr., own and operate a sail boat on big Cedar Lake, is making a decided mark in the Cedar Lake Yacht races this year. Maurice won a silver loving cup organized by taking first honors in Sunday's races. Making the distance of four miles in thirty-six minutes and five seconds. The sail boat goes under the name of "Rosie." "Att-Aboy," owned by Klingler, won second place, making the distance in thirty-six minutes and fifteen seconds. "Astern," owned by Porth, covered the route in thirty-six minutes and fifty seconds, thereby winning third place. On July Fourth, the most exciting and interesting races seen on Cedar Lake in very close, were held. The races were quite as well as on Sunday, winning second place by covering a distance of eight miles in one hour, fifty-five minutes and thirty-six seconds. "Tack" owned by Spinkman, won first, making the distance in one hour fifty-five minutes and eleven seconds. "Attention" came in third covering the eight miles in one hour, fifty-five minutes and thirty-nine seconds. The Cedar Lake Yacht races are getting quite popular, drawing hundreds of people from far and near, who are keenly interested in the work being done. Here's congratulations to Maurice for his success. May he be the winner of many more races, is the sincere wish of the Statesman and his many friends here.

—L. C. Brauchle, dentist of Milwaukee, who will open a dental office in the place formerly conducted by the late Dr. W. X. Klumb, was in the village Tuesday getting things in shape preparatory for his opening. Mr. Brauchle who recently graduated from Marquette College, Milwaukee, and whose home is at Columbus, Wis., has taken the state board examination, which if passed, entitles him to his degree as doctor.

—A benefit dance will be held in Nick Schiltz's hall at New Fane on Wednesday evening, July 11, under the auspices of the New Fane baseball team. Good music will be furnished. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

—The Washington County Fish and Game association will have their days. Last week Friday evening they received twenty-four cans of black bass from the state conservation commission. The bass were planted in several lakes of the county.

—Mrs. L. D. Guth returned home last Saturday from a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brandt and family at Watertown. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Brandt and daughter, who visited over the Fourth here with the Guth family and other relatives and friends.

—Henry Schoofs, William Schoofs and family, Miss Mary Schoofs and Frank O'Meara and family of West Bend and John Schoofs of Jackson visited last Saturday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thodore Schoofs, being called here on account of the serious illness of their father. Mr. Schoofs is now on his way to recovery.

—Mrs. Joseph Hermann was at Milwaukee last week Friday, where she attended the funeral of her grand son, Orville Sable, who died at his home at Milwaukee last week Tuesday, at the age of nine months. The funeral services were held in the St. Gall Catholic church on Center street, and burial was made in the Holy Cross cemetery.

—Clemens Reinders, was busy raising one of the sheds in the rear of his furniture store. The shed had been used as a shop and store room, for a number of years. It also marked the first home of the Kewaskum Statesman, at the time this paper was organized twenty-seven years ago, the building at that time was located on Main street.

—The following were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ramthun and family on the Fourth: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schimmelpennig of Campbellsport, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Schimmelpennig and son of Marsville, Mrs. Charles KoNe of Connecticut, Mrs. Louise Wilke and daughter Gladys, Leta Wilke, Charles Jandrie and Albert Ebert of the town of Scott.

—Peter Dricken of West Bend, a former resident of this village, received many congratulations last Sunday. The day marked the seventy-ninth milestone of his life. Mr. Dricken is one of the few civil war veterans left, he is still very active and enjoying the best of health. Here is hoping he will continue in his good health that he may live to celebrate many more happy birthdays.

Quality of Horse Stock Improving Market Prices for Good Big Animals Afe Better and Demand Is Strong.

Although the number of horses in the country has been steadily decreasing and the number of stallions registered for service in the various states has been on the decline in recent years, according to an analysis of the situation by the United States Department of Agriculture, there are indications that this downhill movement is coming to a halt.

Horses Show Decrease. At the end of 1922, there were 209,000 fewer horses and 30,000 more mules in the United States than at the beginning of that year.

A study of the stallion enrollment figures from 22 horse-producing states shows that the number of purebreds has been decreasing at a lower rate than the total number.

In a recent publication of the department, "Stallion Enrollment and Horse-Breeding Situation," by J. O. Williams and E. B. Krantz, it is shown that in 22 states, including the principal horse-producing sections, there are a few more than 13,000 stallions.

Although there was an increase of 30,000 mules shown at the beginning of the year, the number of jacks standing for public service decreased more than the preceding year.

Destroy Weeds by Using Iron Sulphate Solution Tests in Wisconsin were successful in eradicating wild mustard from grain fields by the use of a solution of iron sulphate applied at the rate of 52 gallons per acre.

Colony Poultry Houses Gives Fowls Free Range The "colony system" for poultry means a spacious run and a number of small coops into which the fowls are subdivided.

Arsenate of Lead Potatoes to Destroy Potato Bugs Paris green has long been a favorite poison for killing potato bugs.

Barley Production Is of Great Importance Nearly as Valuable as Corn in Fattening Cattle.

Barley production in the United States is undergoing some changes and is becoming of increasing importance in American agriculture, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

Barley generally is considered about 90 to 95 per cent as valuable as corn for fattening live stock.

To Prevent Robbing by Strong Colonies of Bees To avoid strong colonies of bees robbing the weak colonies of their supply of nectar, it is necessary to reduce the entrance to the hives of the weak colonies.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobwhite Are Friends of Farmer Mr. and Mrs. Bob White and their numerous young ones are the best friends a farmer can have.

Black Teeth of Pigs Has No Special Significance The belief that black teeth often found in the mouth of new-born pigs have some dire detrimental effect upon the animals, seems to be about as prevalent as is belief in "hollow horn" and "wolf in the tail."

Close Confinement Will Cure Hen of Broodiness Broodiness of hens means decreased egg production. Hens that want to sit in summer may be broken up by close confinement.

It Pays to Keep Garden Busy Throughout Season It pays to keep every foot of the garden busy throughout the growing season.

LITTLE MISS By MOLLIE MATHER

THE stranger was weary with his long journey, and the great old house in the restful cool green grounds looked most refreshing.

Another pretentious old family in reduced circumstances, Amnsden thought. He lifted the enameled knocker of the blue forget-me-nots and waited.

"The girl, Miss Dollie," the old man said, "wanted some luncheon. Shall I bring it on a tray to the arbor, or will you serve in the big dining room?"

"That," replied Miss Dollie, "comes with the atmosphere. I never quite banish the feeling myself. This great place of my fathers, long gone, was willed to me by my grandfather while I was busy in a city office.

White House Etiquette. It's White House etiquette for the President to be served first at dinner. Serving the president first is simply a relic of the old royal custom of dishing the several "traditions" we copied from Britain when we set up national house-keeping.

(Plants 3, 4, and 5, Detroit, where the Big Six, the Special Six and Service Parts are made, are not shown in this illustration.)

Vast Resources Make Possible High Value at Low Price in Studebaker Light-Six

Studebaker's vast resources are utilized to manufacture (not assemble) the Light-Six complete in the newest and most modern large automobile plants in the world.

The Corporation's resources, consisting of $85,000,000 of actual net assets, including $45,000,000 of plants, make it possible for Studebaker to offer a six-cylinder car, at less than $1,000, that is emphatically superior in design, construction, performance, comfort and dependability, to any car within hundreds of dollars of its price.

By complete manufacture, Studebaker not only guards the quality of each part, but saves the middlemen's profits, with the result that no other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six.

Evidence of its mechanical superiority is found in its practical freedom from vibration. This is accomplished by the perfect balance of the motor. Perfect balance is obtained largely through the complete machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods. This requires 61 precision operations.

This method is followed exclusively by Studebaker on cars at this price. In fact, very few other cars have this feature, and their prices are from three to ten times as great as that of the Light-Six.

It is significant, therefore, that the sale of more than 80,000 Studebaker cars during the first six months of this year broke all records.

Buyers are justified in expecting more for their money in a Studebaker than in any other car.

Something for Merchants to Think About!!!

Name ten merchant princes who never advertised. No? Name nine, then. Six? Two? One. Why, what is the meaning of this? Your knowledge of history and current affairs is comprehensive; your memory is excellent. Why, then, can't you name the great leaders of commerce who built up their enterprises WITHOUT ADVERTISING? It's never been done, has it? On the other hand, great commercial successes, since the dawn of history, have been erected largely by advertising, of one sort or another. And as the means of advertising improved, the number and extent of business enterprises increased correspondingly. Cause and Effect. But this has to do with big city successes, you say? Wrong again. Read the following: Newspapers come first on the advertising budget of Fred P. Mann, Devils Lake, N. D., country merchant whose store does nearly a million dollar business a year. This much he told retail dealers who gathered at Boulder, Mont., recently for their annual convention. He sends out grocery specials and personal letters. Mr. Mann is known the country over for his achievements in building a million dollar store business in a small community started in business with a $75 capital. Through a wholesale house he was given "time" on $1,600 stock. A newspaper friend urged him to tell the public about what he had to sell through newspaper columns. He did this when other merchants were satisfied to carry only a card in the paper. The first year Mr. Mann did a business of $23,000. He continued to use newspaper space judiciously and has kept at it ever since. Now the fixtures in his store alone are valued at $40,000. Mr. Mann said that after taking the presidency of the North Dakota association, he sent out questionnaires from which he learned that seventy-five per cent of the merchants of that state did not advertise and that ten per cent advertised only because they wanted to help out their local papers. At the same time, he said, the mail order houses were sending seventy-two carloads of catalogues into the state and it was reported by wholesale houses that seventy-two per cent of the merchants were insolvent. He said he took up a campaign to induce the country merchants to go on a cash basis and to advertise, and he has since succeeded in bringing 200 of them around to his system. Mr. Merchant you don't have to do business in Dakota nor belong to his system. Mr. Merchant you don't have to do business under his system. Start now. Right here in your own town. TODAY. Your publishing friend is trying to help you when he lays down his own money to furnish you with a big advertising service like THIS.

SECRETS OF HEALTH

Headaches are in the majority of cases, caused from Eye Strain. Normal eyes use 15 per cent of the total energy generated by the human system - Strained eyes must use more. Daily they rob some other vital organ of its share - but without protest - for headaches and "symptoms" are but nature's warning of abuse. LOOK WELL TO YOUR EYES.

Concrete Silos

A Concrete Silo is the safest and best investment a farmer can make. It is cheap in first cost, yet permanent. Requires no additional expense for repairs or painting and will not blow over. You can feed twice as much live stock with little additional cost, by the use of a silo. Feeding silage when the pastures are dry or in the winter, keeps the cows up to their maximum milk production. If you intend to build a silo, now is the time to arrange for it. We can build silos and other circular work of 6, 10, 12, 14 feet and larger diameters. We also build concrete roofs on silos and do all kinds of other concrete work. Our prices are right and our work guaranteed to be satisfactory. Phone, write or call. Phone 1168 Newburg Line.
