ARTERIAL SIGN PLACED AT EDEN

The village of Eden is considering the placing of an arterial "stop" sign at the corner where the Fond du Lac road turns into Highway 55. A shed so obstructs the vision of motorists approaching from either direction that the corner will be extremely dangerous without the protection of arterial signs.

The placing of such a "stop" sign will not make an arterial highway of the road but will prevent accidents by warning motorists of the possible danger ahead. The signs will be regulation arterial highway signs made of green enamel with the lettering white. They will be placed in a conspicuous position and the bold white letters will be clear to every passerby.

With highway 55, now all paved from Milwaukee to Fond du Lac, traffic has increased considerably, and will continue to increase from time to time. A similar "stop" sign ought to be placed at the intersection of the village board of Kewaskum at the intersection of Fond du Lac avenue and Main street. This is a dangerous corner and unless steps are taken to safeguard against accident serious consequences may follow. Another good place to put a sign is at the intersection of Fond du Lac avenue and Center street. Motorists driving east on Center street, upon approaching Fond du Lac avenue, are unable to see the approach of cars from either side, both visions being obstructed by buildings.

FROELICH GETS TERM OF FIVE YEARS

William H. Froelich, who was secretary of state for Wisconsin from 1899 to 1903, and until last April cashier of the Jackson State Bank, was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary at Waupun when he pleaded guilty to five charges of embezzlement, at his trial in circuit court at West Bend on Tuesday morning. Judge C. M. Davison. Froelich was sentenced to serve five years on each count, the sentence to run currently. Last April when Froelich was arrested, he was placed under a $10,000 bail which he was unable to furnish, he was lodged in the county jail where he was held up to the time of his trial. It is reported that during the time he spent in the county jail, he seemed to be perfectly contented, ate and slept well. The charges of embezzlement brought against him totaled $4600, the sums being $200, $200, $200, $500 and $500.

WITH OUR DEAR DEPARTED ONES

DEATH OF ALBERT OSTERMANN

Albert Ostermann, who was associated with the Lehman Aarons & Son Co., of Milwaukee, died at his home at Milwaukee on Wednesday after an illness of three months. Mr. Ostermann was well known here having made frequent visits to this village. He generally had charge of the ladies coat department at the annual sale at the L. Rosenheimer store. The Milwaukee Journal of Thursday's issue gives the following account of Mr. Ostermann:

"Albert Ostermann, 738 Shepard-av. a resident of Milwaukee for many years and a director in the Washington Park Zoological society, died at his home Wednesday after an illness of three months.

"Mr. Ostermann was born in Germany in 1842 and came to America when he was 17. He was employed by the Friend Brothers' Clothing Co. until 10 years ago. He had been associated with Lehman Aarons & Son since then. Through his personal efforts many European collections have been obtained for the Milwaukee zoo.

"Mr. Ostermann is survived by two sons, Edwin C. Ostermann, secretary and treasurer of the Friend-Ostermann Co., and Arthur I. Ostermann, Plymouth, Wis., and three daughters, Mrs. A. Heilmann, Mrs. M. Leierer, Chicago, and Mrs. A. Livingston, Paducah, Ky.

"Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Friday at the home. Burial was made in Greenwood cemetery. The services were under the auspices of the Masons.

C. A. SCHROEDER MAKES TON LITTER

In the Washington County Ton Litter contest, C. A. Schroeder is the only one who has entered to bring his litter through so that it qualified as a "Ton Litter". Mr. Schroeder's litter in this contest was a litter of 11 pure bred Duroc-Jersey pigs farrowed, April 16. On October 2, Mr. Grant, from the same department of Wisconsin, weighed these 11 pigs when they were brought to the fair. In order to qualify as a "Ton Litter" at this age of five months and fifteen days, the litter had to weigh 1750 pounds. When Mr. Grant weighed the pigs he found a total weight of 1783 pounds which made the "Ton Litter". As a reward for getting this ton litter, Mr. Schroeder gets a premium of $25.00 from the local fair association and $50.00 from the National Three-Jersey Breeders Association.

DEATH OF MRS. AUGUSTA STAUTZ

After an illness of four weeks, death claimed Mrs. Augusta Stautz, (nee Prietel) on Saturday, Oct. 13, 1923, at Batavia. Deceased was born Sept. 28, 1846, in Germany. She leaves to mourn five sons: Paul C. of Dakota; Edmund W. of Le Sueur, Minn.; Charles F. of Boltonville; Arno O. of West Bend; and Fred J. of West Bend. Two daughters and one son died several years ago. Deceased also leaves 20 grand children and 3 great grand children, to mourn her demise. Mrs. Stautz went to Batavia to visit her grandson Elmer Firme, while there she was overcome by a stroke of paralysis, which is attributed as the cause of her death. Stray 22 Buller Hits Girl's Eye

Miss Evangeline Broman, fourteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Broman, will lose the sight of her right eye from the result of being hit by the bullet of a 22 rifle. While leaving school at noon Monday she was suddenly hit in the eye with what at first was thought to be a stone from a slingshot. Upon further investigation it was found that it was a bullet from a rifle shot by Earl Hopkins, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Garvin Hopkins. He was shooting at a croquet mallet that had been thrown on a radio aerial and hung there. He was in the yard when shooting and it appears that the bullet glanced off the mallet going in the direction of the pupils leaving school. Miss Broman had just turned upon making some remark when it struck her.—Randolph Advance.

FORMER TOWN OF WAYNE CITIZEN KILLED

Hugh O'Donnell was found dead on October 4, on the Dundas road, on the county line of Calumet and Outagamie counties. The unfortunate man, in some unexplainable manner was thrown out of the buggy and was caught between the thills and wheels, crushing his head. Mr. O'Donnell was owner of a farm in the town of Stockbridge. He is a native of the town of Wayne, Washington County, Wis., where he was born March 1867. In 1895, he moved onto a farm near Stockbridge, where he has since resided. On Jan. 12, 1897 he was married to Miss Jennie Barre, who together with ten children survive. The funeral was held Oct. 6, at Stockbridge.

Farmer Loses Forty-nine Hogs

Herman Monte, living about two miles south-west of Hartford and one of the well known farmers of that section, suffered a heavy loss, between $450 and $500, last Friday when he lost 49 head of his hogs by hog cholera. Mr. Monte early in the summer arranged with John Reik to receive the garbage collected in the city and had been feeding it to his hogs. Ordinarily this makes good hog feed, but in some manner, probably one of them getting a hold of an affected piece of scrap meat, nearly all of his hogs contracted the disease. Dr. Gettleman of Hartford at once recognized the trouble as hog cholera and treated many of them, but to most of them the treatment came too late and forty-nine of them were killed.—Hartford Press.

AUTO TOLL IN STATE

Fifty-two persons were killed and 157 were seriously injured in accidents on highways of Wisconsin during July and August, the State Highway Commission said in a report recently made public. Accidents during July included 204 on straight stretches of road, 54 on curves, 27 at intersections; 12 at railroad crossing and 7 due to loose gravel and other causes. In August, 146 occurred on straight roads, 5 at curves, 19 at intersections, 13 at railroad crossings, 13 on hills and 9 at other places. Recklessness is listed as causing nearly half of the accidents. Passing other cars ranks next, broken mechanism third, and drunkenness fourth. Other causes listed were improper lights, narrow bridges and culverts, drivers falling asleep, weather conditions, parking or driving on the wrong side of the road, and loose gravel or sand.

If all goes well the factory building of the Barton Axle Co. will be used for the manufacture of what is known as the "Ogren" automobile. A meeting was held in West Bend on Wednesday of last week, the promoters meeting with officers of the West Bend Commercial club to bring the proposition to some kind of head. Atty David Rose of Milwaukee was most enthusiastic over the prospects of the proposed new enterprise. The company proposes to build three hundred cars, to sell at from $5,000 to $7,000 each, and it feels sure that there will be ready sale for all cars built. The new company hopes to have its offices in West Bend.—West Bend Pilot.

The machine slid off the top of the embankment, two of the wheels buried themselves into the loose gravel causing the machine to stick to the side of the grade, had this not been the case, the car would have dropped down a twenty-two foot embankment. The occupant who undoubtedly received the scare of his life can congratulate himself upon his lucky escape. The machine, as it appeared on the side of the grade on Monday morning certainly would have made a most realistic and thrilling picture for the movie film.

MRS. HINGKLEY NERVOUS WRECK

Tells Women How She Was Restored to Perfect Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Memphis, Tenn.—"Two years ago I was completely run-down and my nerves were a wreck. I could not sweep a room without resting. I could not do my work except a little at a time, and the doctor's medicine did not help me. One day some one threw your little book on to my porch, and in it I read several testimonials of women who had been like myself. I went right out and got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken the whole of that bottle I knew it was helping me. I took six bottles, and then in about three months I took two more. Now I am in perfect health. I do all of my own work and could do more. I can truly say that I know Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave me my health."—Mrs. O. J. HINGKLEY, 316 Union Ave., Memphis, Tenn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. This book contains valuable information.

ARE YOU A SUFFERING WOMAN?

Health is Most Important to You. Lincoln, Neb.—"At one time I became very miserable with weakness from which women suffer. I suffered all the time. One of my neighbors urged me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription because it had cured her of similar symptoms, so I decided to try it. The first bottle made me feel so much better. I took four more, and feel certain that in that one experience 'Favorite Prescription' saved me from the operating table and the surgeon's knife. Two years afterwards when the turn of life commenced, I took the 'Prescription' again with the result that I came through strong and healthy and am still maintaining wonderful health."—Mrs. Martha Strayer, 218 So. 19th St. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's, Buffalo, N. Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

CALENDAR OF YEARS

HE WHO aspires to make his mark should endeavor always to choose the best investment for his time and energy.

The golden hours of opportunity occur swiftly away, and when night hovers about us, we who are resolved to rise above the common level, frequently ask ourselves whether we have improved or wasted the vanished day.

If we have stood on tip-toe, reached up to the highest point to make an imperishable mark, we seldom find cause for self-reproach, though we may not be wholly satisfied with our well-meant accomplishments.

As a matter of truth, the man or woman who is never fully contented with past achievements, who ever feels that he or she by exerting a little more effort might have gone a stride or two farther, is already marching sure-footed toward the glorious heights.

And this is so in every field of worthy endeavor, whether it be preaching or teaching, weaving or forging, or making love.

As fast as we progress, if we have within us the determination to keep going, we find there is some splendid treasure lying in our path designed for us to pick up and store away for future use.

By retaining this precious thing, to which we prudently add others, we in time acquire capabilities whose value is everywhere recognized.

The learning we get in this manner gives us wisdom. The experience we obtain from patient work, close observation, civility and hard rubs, teaches us how to apply our wisdom to the best advantage.

Experience is as essential to achievement as is wisdom.

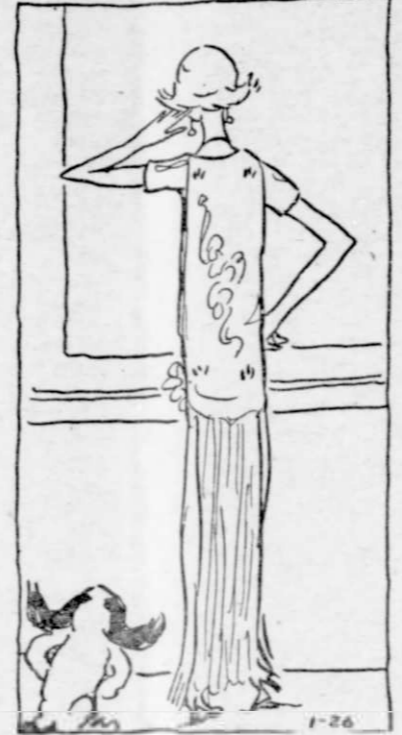

On the other hand, those feeble and frivolous humans who run one day and shamble the next, never certain of their course, become notoriously inefficient, unable to avoid the dust in the rear, while they struggle along with weary feet and broken hearts.

Every day you will see their wistful, disappointed faces.

And if you listen, you will hear their bitter words of self-condemnation rustling along the walls of their frowning prison of servitude, from which there is no escape, except by the turn-back of the calendar of the years.

Uncommon Sense

GOOD BOOKS

IN A MAN'S hours of relaxation he needs human companionship. He cannot play without somebody to play with. And he needs play to develop his intellect evenly as much as he needs work.

Men who do not know how to play are to be pitied. They grow dull and morose. Nobody wants to associate with them. They lead unhappy, lonely lives, and die unlamented.

But the wise youth makes a budget of his time as the shrewd business man makes a budget of his expenses. Leisure must be apportioned wisely—a part to be spent in the company of men—a part to be spent in the company of books.

Books contain the best that there is in reality great men.

Not only are they necessary to development, but they are splendid company.

The lad who spends his time with dull companions in a pool room when he might be listening to Emerson, or Huxley or Spencer is a very foolish youth.

Novels, if they are the right sort, are almost, if not quite as instructive as works on philosophy and science.

The learning that the great novelists disclose in their stories incites a desire for information. Many a man has acquired and allayed a thirst for education by a passage in a good novel.

If you are in doubt as to the best books to read, consult a librarian in any public library.

He or she, if you state your desires, will jump out for you a useful course in reading.

THE TALISMAN

By GRACE E. HALL

IT WAS a little vine-wreathed cot.

Just within the edge of town, Mosses hung to eaves and trellis, And their petals drifted down, While a tragic scene was acted Just inside the cosy room, Where a man and woman labored, Lost to morning cheer and bloom; Gathered here and there the objects Dear mementoes—now forlorn— Of the day they entered gaily On their happy wedding morn.

From the wall he took a picture, From a shelf she lifted books, Silently they stripped the cottage, Leaving bare its pleasant nooks; Eyes and voices cold and lifeless, Each avoided other's way, Soon they cleared the little parlor Of the things they'd meant to stay; When, from out a crowded trunk-hill Tumbled something small and white, And a flood of burning tears-drops Hid the object from their sight.

Just a baby's shoe, quite shapeless, With a hole in one wee toe, But it told a heart-break story Of their dreams of long ago; Each one stooped to grasp the token That was lying on the floor, And at last two hearts were broken From their icy chill once more; Sobbingly two voices mingled In a name that came to mind, While hands clasped o'er a baby's shoe That Fate had chanced to find!

Naturally. "I have kleptomaniacs." "What are you taking for it?" "Everything I can lay my hands on."—Yale Record.

Mother's Cook Book

The bravest battle that ever was fought— Shall I tell you where and when? On the maps of the world you will find it not. 'Twas fought by the mothers of men. Nay, not with cannon or battle shot, With sword or nobler pen. Nay, not with eloquent word or thought, From the mouths of wonderful men. But deep in the walled-up woman's heart. Of women that would not yield, But bravely, silently, bore her part, Lo! there is the battlefield.

GOOD EATS FOR THE FAMILY

ANY fresh fish may be baked in the following manner; but halibut is especially good:

Baked Halibut.

Arrange six slices of salt pork in a dripping pan. Cover with one sliced onion and add a bit of bay leaf. Wipe two pounds of halibut and place on the pork and onion. Cover with a paste prepared with three tablespoons each of butter and flour mixed together. Over all sprinkle three-quarters of a cupful of buttered cracker crumbs and arrange five strips of pork over the crumbs. Bake 50 minutes. Serve with a sauce from two tablespoons of fat in the pan, two tablespoons of flour, one cupful of milk. Season well to taste and serve garnished with lemon and parsley.

Cheese Sandwiches.

These are nice with a cup of tea or as a supper dish. Cut stale bread in one-quarter-inch slices, spread with butter and sprinkle with salt and cayenne. Put a slice of cheese between each two slices of bread and fry in a little butter until delicately browned on both sides.

Oyster Croquettes.

Has Anyone Laughed At You Because—

By ETHEL R. FEYSER

You forget anniversaries? Haven't you been laughed at in rather a weepy way because you forget birthdays, or your wedding anniversary, or the child's birthday or the mother-in-law's something of other? Haven't you been pretty much involved in keeping your home on the outside of its inhabitants? Should you have kept your note book in your mind you would probably not have done your job well. Yet there is no gaining the man that can or the woman that can combine these little big things with the big little things is a wonder; there are few of us who have the kind of make-up that can do the job well and remember every little detail of home life, too.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER
TOUCHING THE MOON

Off in the distance was the moon. It was a very enormous moon, too. Oh, yes, old Mr. Moon was looking his best.

"I'm in the best of health," he seemed to be saying. "Just see how I actually glow with health. In fact I'm not a pale moon at all but a ruddy moon."

"I've come and they say that when a creature has lots of health. It means that that creature has lots of health. "I almost look sunburned, too. You see I'm a golden-red moon, which makes me look both sunburned and the owner of a fine color. But I must explain this.

"When I am a pale moon it does not mean that I am not well. To be pale is natural to me. Of course I like to say I look so healthy now, and healthy I do look. But I am equally healthy when pale. Some people have to go to the doctor's when they look very pale. But not Mr. Moon.

"In the first place if I did have to go to a doctor I don't know what I would do as there is no doctor up in the sky.

"Mr. Sun never needs a doctor. Neither do I. He is like a doctor himself and sometimes he has been called Doctor Sun.

"Yet sometimes when doctors do feel well they go to other doctors. Mr. Sun never feels poorly so he never has to think of another doctor.

"Still it would be a waste of thought, for as I've already said, there is no doctor up in the sky.

"Wouldn't it cause a commotion if some one should come up to the sky and bang out a sign over one of the clouds which would read:

"Bright Sky, M. D. Office hours from one to five and Sundays by appointment."

"Yes, it would be absurd and the poor doctor would have no patients. "We might go to call on him to pass the time of day, or night as it were, but we would not want his sky pills if he had any, nor his sky tonics.

"I must explain why it doesn't mean anything because I am pale most of the time.

"To be pale is the moon's usual way and it doesn't mean anything like a sickness coming on any more than it means that I must add weight when I am only half a moon.

"I will get back to being a full moon in good time without having to eat fattening foods. Oh, yes, I'm a healthy moon all right."

"The moon seems to be touching that hill over yonder," she said.

"Oh, dear, how I do wish I could go and touch the moon. I would like to stroke Mr. Moon's face and perhaps if I stroked it with a feather Mr. Moon would grin and squirm as I do when my face is tickled by a feather. Oh, that would be a good joke."

Now the little girl spoke to her brother about touching the moon and her brother said that no one could touch the moon even though it seemed to be right on top of the hill, and even though it looked as though if one went to the top of the hill one could touch it. But he was willing to take her to the top of the hill to let her see for herself. And the little girl went with her brother.

Up to the top of the hill they climbed and when they got there Mr. Moon did not seem to be touching the hill at all.

In fact he was far off in the sky and yet it had not seemed as though they had seen him move.

"I can't tickle Mr. Moon's face," the little girl said, "for you were right, brother. I don't believe anyone can touch the moon."

Mr. Moon grinned to himself as the sky messengers came hurrying along to tell him what the little girl had said.

"Touch me," he said. "I should say not! I'm not proud or anything like that, but Mr. Moon is not a creature to be handled by humans. They might forget I was a moon and treat me as though I were an enormous ball or something of the sort.

"At any rate I'm not taking any chances. I'll smile at every one, but I also say to every one:

"Keep your distance! Keep your distance!" "And I'll see that they do it, too!"

I Wonder? Matty—I wonder if Professor Kilder meant anything by it? Charlie—By what? Matty—He advertised a lecture on "Fools," and when I bought a ticket it was marked, "Admit One."

Two Ways. "Whose little boy is this, I wonder?" asked the old gentleman. "There is two ways you can find out," said the small boy. "How so, my son?" "You might guess, or you might inquire," replied the small boy.

Less Than That. Professor X—Define the word "deficit." Student Y—A deficit is what you've got when you haven't as much if you had nothing.

Essential to Profitable Farming

The Utility Express Truck $550 Chassis Only f.o.b. Flint, Mich. Fits any Standard Truck Body

No business can succeed unless its product is profitably sold. Most farms have a fine production department but no sales department. They grow crops and stock bought by buyers who set the price.

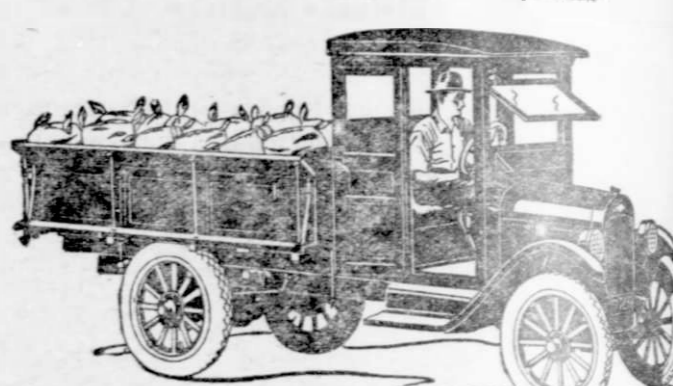

One of the chief reasons for this unprofitable situation is the average farmer's poor facilities for moving his crops or stock to the place where he can sell or ship to the best advantage. Because of the time and expense of horse delivery millions of dollars worth of produce spoils annually on American farms. The saving of this waste would, in many cases, change a losing farm to a money-maker.

This low-priced, high-grade, reliable truck was designed as a money-saver and money-maker for farmers and business houses needing fast low-cost haulage of heavy or bulky goods. It fits any standard type of ton truck body. Ask any Chevrolet dealer for price of the style of body you require.

RAPID PROGRESS IN THE AIR

Recent Strides Made in Aeronautics Has Been Almost Baffling in Extent and Variety.

Recent progress in aeronautics has been almost baffling in its extent and variety. The world's speed record now stands at nearly 245 miles per hour. Awe-inspiring endurance records and a nonstop coast-to-coast flight are likewise the credit of our army air service.

Engines on full-power tests are now expected to run 250 hours continuously. Gliders remain aloft for many hours with nothing but air currents and the skill of their pilots to sustain them. Helicopters have risen vertically, hovered over a given point, made complete circuits in horizontal flight. Airplanes have been attached to dirigibles while both types of aircraft were in rapid flight. Metal is displacing wood in the construction of airplanes. Finest planes carry out complicated evolutions.—Scientific American.

Shoies' Prediction. Christopher L. Shoies, inventor of the first typewriter to be commercially successful, is said to have predicted that his invention would prove one of the greatest factors in the emancipation of women by enabling them more easily to earn a living.

How Women Mail Letters. Femininity has its own way of posting a simple, ordinary letter according to one good observer. Why the Doctor asks: "Do you drink coffee?"

If you are troubled with headaches, insomnia, indigestion, or sluggishness of the liver or bowels, probably one of the first questions your doctor asks is, "Do you drink coffee?"

He knows, better than anyone else, that the drug, caffeine, present in coffee, tends to irritate the nervous system and is a frequent cause of disturbance to health.

If coffee causes trouble, and you value health, stop coffee and drink Postum.

Postum is a pure cereal beverage—absolutely free from caffeine or any other drug. It has a delicious flavor, that many people prefer to coffee.

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms. Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

Camera Films Inside of Egg

Various Stages of Incubation Recorded—Baby Oysters Also Photographed.

New York.—The process of making motion pictures through a glass window set in the side of a fresh egg and tracing the changes in the stages of incubation until the heart of the chicken is beating has been demonstrated at the laboratory of Dr. Charles F. Horn, formerly of the American Museum of Natural History.

Driven by a time clock the camera automatically flashes strong light every ten minutes through the glass window into the interior of the egg and snaps a picture. This process goes on night and day for 33 hours, at the end of which time the heart of the chick has been formed and started to work. The glass window is inserted after a section three-quarters of an inch square has been removed from the shell. The window is sealed in place by paraffin, and does not interfere with the development of the egg in the incubator.

Taking microscopic pictures automatically, every ten seconds, every two minutes or at any interval desired, this machine can also record the details of chemical reaction, the action of white corpuscles and the growth of new tissues in the healing of wounds, the building up of fine crystals from solutions, or the gradual changes inside the egg of a fish from the original clear fluid to the fully formed baby fish.

Operated in an observation night and day for two and even three weeks, this camera has made records of scores of biological and chemical processes hitherto incompletely observed.

To Film Cancer Action

One of the experiments soon to be filmed is that of placing a group of healthy cells and a group of cancer cells together in a solution to show the attack by the malignant bodies. The camera is a development from an earlier type used by Doctor Horn to assist Dr. Alexis Carrel in studying the protecting and healing action of white corpuscles in wounded tissue. It is planned to use the instrument for the diagnosis of many obscure plant diseases.

A series of scientific and educational films made at Doctor Horn's laboratory at Pelham was shown at the Pelham theater to a party of scientists and others including Dr. William Firth Wells, biologist of the state conservation commission, and George N. Pindar and Harry F. Hoers of the American Museum of Natural History.

One of the most interesting of these films was a microscopic study of the life cycle of the oyster. This film is expected to have a practical bearing on the problem of rearing oysters artificially and using their eggs for seed to stock beds from which the oysters have disappeared. The film was made under the direction of Doctor Wells, who has worked out a system of making oysters lay billions of eggs for the state as a means of restoring the breed in parts of the Long Island coast and other places where spells of bad weather, parasites or other enemies have temporarily wiped out the shellfish.

Baby Oyster's Life Perilous

The oyster lays eggs by the thousands and scatters them in an unfertilized condition in the water. The male oyster impregnates the water with great quantities of sperm which, individually so minute as to be difficult of detection by the microscope. The chance meeting of the two varieties of cells fertilizes the eggs and starts the young oyster on the career which is ended ninety-nine times out of a hundred by predatory minnows. Those which escape, however, are still numerous enough to keep the oyster industry flourishing.

Doctor Wells improved on nature by opening the female oyster during the egg season and scooping out the eggs by the million and raised the eyes in water which has been intensively fertilized by the male. The film showed the process from the beginning. The floating sperm met the floating egg, attached itself to the egg membrane and finally pierced through to the interior and awakened the vital processes.

Cilia or whiplike processes soon appeared with which the new hatched oyster rowed itself through the water with great speed. Just how the minute oyster larva propelled itself was not known before. It shot about with a speed which prevented the movement of the whips to be observed by the naked eye.

Taking the pictures through a microscope at high speed and then showing them at low speed, however, made the rowing motion discernible. After acquiring the whips which enabled it to charge in all directions for food the oyster gradually acquired one shell, then another, and its after life was uneventful.—New York Herald.

New Perfume Bottles Made to Resemble Dogs

London.—Lifelike miniatures of foxes and dogs daintily fashioned in glass blown as finely as a soap bubble, are the latest craze in scent bottles.

They will captivate women more than any novelty introduced for many years past. There are perfect models of every kind of dog, from the fluffy toy Pekingese to the great St. Bernard. The scent is stored in the bodies of the dogs or in the brush of the fox. A cork is fitted in the mouth.

Women on Island Wear Odd Hair-dress—Scientist Has Large Field Here.

Washington.—The Bezanozanos of Madagascar, where radium has recently been found, are wearing their hair in coiffures which produce the same effect as the shimale, "last word" in hairdressing among the ladies of fashion at Iye and Newport, says a bulletin of the National Geographic society from its headquarters here.

The Madagascan lady, however, platts her locks in fine braids and coils them in flat disks low over her forehead and ears and over her head to the base of her neck.

The Bezanozanos tribe is one of the great number of races and tribes of Malaya and Polynesian origin which inhabit this third largest of all the great islands of the world, lying off the southeastern coast of Africa.

The ethnologist who is hunting a combination of occupation and amusement will find stimulating traces of the traditional Vazimba who were powerful before the coming of the conquering Hova, the fairest and most intelligent of all the islanders; the warlike prelatives of the dark frizzly-headed Sakalava; in the human fish characteristics of the Vezo, who seem to be as much at home in the water as on land; in the despised and down-trodden but happy Betsimisaraka and

In its 230,000 square miles of territory, larger than the areas of prairie France, the mother country, and Belgium combined, the botanist, the zoologist and the mineralogist will also find stimuli for their various bent. The botanist's paradise includes a wide range, from the sparse vegetation of the drought-parched plains of the west and south to the forest belt with its flowering figs, tree-ferns and fungi, bamboo and ravennas or "traveler's tree." From the leaf-sheaths of the last mentioned tree a pure, cool supply of water is obtained. The leafy thatched shelters the tribal conclaves of native chiefs, and the bamboo yields a rich oil.

The zoologist has an interesting field for his endeavors. Though none of the large animals which make hunting in the interior of Africa so exciting are to be found in Madagascar, the island has one animal found nowhere else in the world—the aye-aye, a squirrel-like specimen about the size of a cat, which is nocturnal in its habits. Very little is known about the aye-aye. The natives regard it with dread as they believe any person who kills it will die within the year. The wild boar and the lemur are the greatest of the fauna of the island. But cattle, ostriches and sheep are now being raised in great numbers, and millions of fish abound in the streams.

Hammock Is Common Carrier.

To him who seeks the wilds untrammeled by civilization Madagascar holds out fascinating roads—roads are almost totally non-existent throughout the island, in many places the only possible means of conveyance being a crude hammock swung on a pole and carried on the shoulders of natives. This feature, of course, constitutes one of the greatest drawbacks to its development at the present time.

Gold and precious stones for many years have been brought from this land, and the recent find of radium merely adds one more rich treasure to the long list which the island's mines have been yielding. Its graphite output is the largest in the world—even larger than that of Ceylon, iron, nickel, copper, mica and uranium, the mother of radium, abound.

Next day the lieutenant was back on the job again, but with a partner for aerial cruises, for Mrs. Namer is spending her honeymoon in the plane with hubby, acting as a lookout and radiophone operator.

Easy Way to Make Home Improvement.

Almost every man likes to do little jobs of building, particularly when by doing them he can make permanent, labor-saving improvements around his home.

If you have been wishing for a sidewalk that will keep the house clean and the feet dry—non-slip steps and porch floors, ornamental gateposts—any one of dozens of improvements, you will be interested to know that you can now obtain complete directions free of cost.

The best concrete construction experience has been drawn upon to provide these directions. You will find everything you need to know about small jobs—how much cement to use, how to mix the concrete, what tools to use, and all the rest.

A request to the Portland Cement Association, 111 West Washington Street, Chicago, will bring this free booklet, "Concrete Around the Home," by return mail.—Advertisement.

Back Given Out?

It's hard to do one's work when every day brings morning lameness, throbbing backache, and a dull, tired feeling. If you suffer thus, why not find out the cause? Likely it's your kidneys. Headaches, dizziness and bladder irregularities may give further proof that your kidneys need help. Don't risk neglect! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands have been helped by Doan's. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

A Michigan Case

Chris Jurgens, 1124 Holmes Ave., Menominee, Mich., says: "I was sore across my kidneys and my back ached. I was so weak I had to lay off work. My kidneys were so weak I had to get up every night and the secretions contained sediment and burned in passage. Four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills fixed me up in great shape."

A Complete History of The Community

Of course, the whole family eagerly reads the "Home Town Paper." The whole family wants to know the happenings of the community; wants to read the news about what the people they know for miles around are doing.

The "Home Town Paper" is a complete history every year of you and your neighbors. It tells of the comings and goings, the births, the marriages, the joys and the sorrows—all the events that go to make up community life.

History? Why, the average "Home Town Paper" contains at least TEN THOUSAND NAMES in the 52 weeks of any year! Just reflect a bit and realize what that means. If you sat down and read a voluminous history of the whole world from the birth of creation, you would not find that many names in it. And yet the "Home Town Paper" makes a regular yearly custom of printing ten thousand names and sometimes twice that number.

The "Home Town Paper" is a sedative, a tonic to the nerves, a relief after hard work with hand or brain, an entertainment to you, your wife, your son and your daughter.

Have you subscribed for the KEWASKUM STATESMAN yet? If you have not, you are missing 52 issues a year of the very cleanest and most wholesome reading matter you could place in your homes. The subscription price is only $2.00 a year, most people spend double this amount a year for ice cream cones, and think nothing of it. Call in, phone or write us, and we will do the rest.
